BACHMAN SAYS "WAIT AND SEE"

SEVENTEEN LETTER MEN IMPROVE FOOTBALL PROSPECTS

A Six Foot Line Is Probable—Two Veterans Out for Every Backfield Position

Always bearing in mind the fact that Missouri Valley football championships are won on the playing field and not on paper, the 1925 Kansas State eleven should be well up in the race for the mythical title, despite a difficult schedule. Seventeen letter men are expected back from last year's team, and most of them have been in Manhattan for the past two weeks working under Captain Harry McGee, Ramona, right guard, who was on the second All-Valley team last fall.

A Six Foot Line

While Coach Charles Bachman refuses to wax enthusiastic over prospects, he is equally reticent about giving out "bearish" reports, and has even gone so far as to predict a tough day for the Jayhawk bird on the seventeenth of next month.

With Tombaugh, guard last year, shifted to center, and H. Randells, Anthony, letter man in 1920, returning as an end, veterans will be available for every line position with the exception of one end.

The line should average over six feet in height, and be correspondingly heavy, while the backfield probably will be rather light with the exception of fullback, where Elwyn "Tiny" Feather, Minneapolis, letter man, will work with Jim Douglass, Burlington sophomore, and Dixie Wingfield, Junction City sophomore.

Backs Shifted to Line

Much of the surplus backfield material of last year has been shifted to the line, though even yet two letter men are competing for every backfield position except fullback.

Candidates for the various positions are as follows:

Ends—H. Randells, Anthony, letter man; Al Ehrlich, Marion, junior; T. A. Fleck, Wamego, sophomore; James Price, Manhattan, junior; A. R. Edwards, Fort Scott, sophomore; and Chester Hawley, Frankfort, letter man.

Tackles—J. W. Ballard, Almena, senior and two letter man; Jerry Krysl, Lucas, junior and one letter man; L. E. Keefer, Salina, two letter man; Kenneth Yandell, Wilson, one letter man; Zurlinden Pearson, Manhattan, sophomore; W. F. Woodward, Yates Center, sophomore; and O. M. Telford, Manhattan, sophomore. Guards—Captain Harry McGee, Ramona, one letter man; Myron Reed, Norton, one letter man; Kert Whitfield, Ness City, one letter man; Harold Dayhoff, Abilene, one letter man; C. W. Brion, Manhattan, junior; and C. H. Towle, Wakefield, junior.

Centers—S. J. Tombaugh, Kansas City, letter man; Charles Dean, Danville, Ky., sophomore, and E. J. Benne, Washington, D. C., sophomore.

BIG SISTER CAPTAINS AT WORK WITH FALL PLANS

Big sister captains have been working hard the last few days, getting ready for their fall program, and making arrangements to take care of the large number of new girls who will be enrolled at K. S. A. C.

Tuesday, Sept. 15, from 10 to 12, and from 2 to 5, the big sisters will have open house and serve tea in the home economics rest room. All girls are urged to come in either before or after enrollment and meet the big sister captains, the advisory board of the Y. W. C. A., and Mrs. Mary P. Van Zile, dean of women.

The annual all-girls party will be held in Nichols gym, Friday night. This is a get-together for the girls, and all are invited. There will be games, a program, refreshments, and other forms of entertainment.

The annual big sister rally will be held Friday from 5 to 5:30 in Recreation Center. Every Big Sister should be there as plans for the coming year will be discussed.

Big sister work has a high place in student life on the hill. There are seventeen captains, each of whom has a group of fifteen girls working under her. Each group has a big sister mother, who is either a member of the faculty or is interested in campus affairs. Each mother will entertain her group sometime during the fall.

Each one of the girls in a group takes charge of a new girl, who is designated as her little sister. It is the duty of the big sister to act as an advisor, friend, and associate of her little sister, and be of any aid that she can. Any girl who does not have a big sister, and wants one, should see Miss Lois Wildy, secretary of the college Y. W. C. A.

The big sister captains this year are: Irene Barner, Josephine Brooks, Sue Margaret Burris, Helen Hale, Betty Elkins, Fern Harris, Acsa Hart, Ruth Long, Helen Jerard, Merle Nelson, Dorothy Stiles, Margaret Schippert, Gladys Stover, June West, and Juanita Williams.

AGGIE PROFS TOUR EUROPE

Nine Spend Vacation on Continent—"Mike" Sees Ireland

Nine Aggie profs spent their summer vacation in Europe this summer, going over on pleasure trips, special investigation missions, or student friendship tours.

Miss Helen Elcock and Miss Helen Rushfield, of the department of English, visited in England and the Scandinavian countries.

Dr. Howard T. Hill, head of the department of public speaking, spent the summer in Europe as a member of the American Seminar which studied conditions on the continent.

Miss Lois Wildy, secretary of the college Y. W. C. A., was a member of the American Y. W. C. A. student friendship tour that traveled in most of the European countries.

"Mike" Ahearn, head of the athletic department, and his wife, spent part of the summer in Ireland, and other parts of Great Britain. The remainder of the time they spent on the continent.

Prof. Eric Englund, of the agricultural economics department, and Mrs. Englund, visited in England and the Scandinavian countries.

Miss Araminta Holman, of the art department, spent the summer in Paris studying.

Warns Against Overcrowding Cars
Riding on the top, on the radiator, the fenders, running boards, or overcrowding on the inside of cars must be stopped, according to Chief of Police Burt Frost. Chief Burt warned students to bear in mind that an ordinance prohibits such conditions and that it will be enforced.

Prof. H. W. Cave, of the dairy husbandry department, judged dairy cattle at the district fair at Bethany, Mo., last week.

Prexy Greet's Aggie Students With Glad Hand and Advice

Dear Students:

Probably no college in the United States excels K. S. A. C. in attracting a student body that represents the best in American ideals and traditions. You students have come here from substantial homes, in town and country, of which good citizenship, worthy ideals, self-respect, and spiritual and moral health are dominating features. You have every reason to be proud of your homes and you can justify your pride by your behavior as students and as citizens of the college community.

The time you spend at K. S. A. C. should be one of the brightest periods of your lives, and it will be if you will pay the price for making it so. To do this will require that you recognize the fact that you are now adults; with the opportunities and responsibilities of adults; that you follow a well balanced program of work and play, of technical and general study, engaging in each activity with enthusiastic determination; that you endeavor, consciously and persistently, to develop whatever talents you have for scholarship and responsibility, that you express in your behavior the wholesome attitude and good manners that characterize the first rate college men and college women everywhere.

The officers and instructors at K. S. A. C. are glad to welcome you and to assure you of their wish to be of any possible assistance to you in making your college life pleasant and profitable and satisfactory to you and to the homes you represent.

Sincerely yours,

F. D. Farrell,
President

SIGMA PHI EPSILON HOUSE ROBBED TUESDAY NIGHT

Thieves Obtain Clothing, Jewelry, and Cash from Four Members in Early Morning Call

Thieves relieved four members of the Sigma Phi Epsilon house of clothing, jewelry and money last Tuesday night when they entered the chapter house at 221 North Delaware, looted a downstairs bedroom, and escaped undetected.

The robbery was known to have occurred between three and six o'clock in the morning, as two members coming in on the early morning train were victims.

W. A. Eldred lost a watch, chain and knife; two suits of clothing; a goldstone bag; and $4 in cash. Lee Dory reported the loss of two pairs of pink crepe pajamas, a bath robe, a pair of glasses, two shirts, two suits, a Gladstone, and $11. The thieves obtained a watch, chain, belt and $8.50 in cash from John Hopkins. H. W. Wilkin suffered the loss of a watch, a suit of clothing, a pair of glasses, and a fountain pen.

The thieves gained admittance to the house through the front door which was left unlocked for members of the chapter returning to school.

"GLAD HAND" CELEBRATION

Street Dance, Parade, and Free Refreshments Features of Welcome

Aggieville merchants will extend the "glad hand" for the second year to returning students at Kansas State in a celebration set for Thursday night. A feature of the welcome home will be a parade in which every merchant in the college business district will have floats. Perhaps the most interesting feature to a large part of the student body will be a big street dance on Eleventh between Moro and Laramie. The entire block will be roped off for the occasion, and the Pines Serenaders orchestra will play.

Early in the evening the Manhattan Municipal band will give a concert.

Free refreshments and souvenirs will be distributed throughout the evening. All Aggieville stores will have special window displays for the occasion, and many will be open for inspection. Several stores have remodeled their interiors during the summer, and three new buildings have been erected.

WE NOW

"Now," to quote from educational courses designed by the late Mr. Underwood, or Mr. Remington, or perhaps Mr. L. C. Smith, "is the time for all good," (here the quotation ceases) newspapers to come forth with elaborate statements of what they expect to accomplish during the coming school year, welcome the students back, and proceed to forget about it.

Since the latter act can be accomplished at a minimum of time and trouble, The Collegian hereby notifies you that you may consider yourself welcomed. If it wasn't still so hot we'd get up and pump you by the hand.

But so far as making rash and elaborate pledges, The Collegian demurs. True, we have high visions of making the "old sheet" so new and readable as to completely eclipse issues of the past; we have beautiful but extremely vague ideas of leading the college into a better existence, of exposing sham, and of taking up arms against the commercialism which has engulfed Anderson avenue and even threatens the campus.

But the management has spent some years both off and on the campus watching editorial staffs good and bad usher the year in with high resolves and then put out the same sort of paper as in the past. It has decided to profit thereby, and promises only the same sort of paper as in the past. Then, if it does better, the reaction may be pleasant.

It has decided to promise only the same "Standard" Collegian. Then, if by any lucky chance an improvement should be made, the readers would be pleasantly surprised.

We are not going out into the highways and byways and down the alleys looking for things to combat. If we meet a sham walking down the street, openly, and without attempt at concealment, we shall haul out the trusty axe and smite it. But we refuse to be dragged off the beaten path to hunt for them, lest we be waylaid.

SOONERS TO BE STRONGER

Freshmen and Old Vets to Be Oklahoma Mainstays

Norman, Ok., Sept. 14.—Under the direction of Capt. Eddie Brockman, the University of Oklahoma football squad took to the field here Monday for preseason practice.

A Missouri Valley ruling forbids official practice before September 15. On that date the regular coaching staff augmented by Leigh A. "Polly" Wallace, former Oklahoma gridiron star, will take charge of the drill.

Letters from the university athletic association have been sent to fifty of the most promising members of last year's Boomer freshman squad urging them to return for the early workout.

Early predictions are that the Sooners will have a more formidable team this year than the freak organization which defeated Nebraska and then bowed in defeat to the weakest team in the valley.

Ben G. Owen, director of athletics and head football coach, will find himself depending on graduates of the freshman squad and a few scattered veterans of more than a year ago for the mainstays of his eleven.

SEVERAL CHANGES IN GREEK HOMES

ONE NEW AND THREE IMPROVED HOUSES

O. T. Es in New House Soon—Deltas, Pi Kaps and Farm House Remodel—Three Others Change

Several changes have been made in fraternity house locations this summer, and four fraternities have made extensive improvements, or built new homes.

The Delta Tau Delta fraternity, 1224 Fremont, has completely remodeled their chapter house, using very little of the material from their old home. The new home is a brick structure of colonial architecture. The interior has been beautifully finished, several new study rooms added, and one of the prettiest reception rooms in town completed. They have also purchased several hundred dollars worth of new furniture.

Pi Kaps Make Improvements

The Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity, 331 North 17th, has also made extensive improvements on their chapter house. The exterior of the house remains practically the same as it was last year, except for the addition of a dormitory which will accommodate 25 men. Improvements in the interior include the addition of five new study rooms, new shower baths, an entire new basement, to which the dining room and kitchen have been moved, and other minor changes throughout the house.

The new Omega Tau Epsilon house in the fifteen hundred block on Fairchild, is being rapidly completed and will probably be ready for occupancy in a few weeks. It is a large three story colonial structure with white woodwork throughout. The O. T. Es lived at 822 Poyntz Ave. last year.

Farm House Into New Home

The Farm House chapter has also remodeled the house at the southeast corner of 11th and Moro and made a beautiful home. The Triangulars, who were located at 1301 Poyntz last year, have moved into the house vacated by the Farm House fraternity at 1126 Blumont.

The Phi Lambda Theta fraternity, whose home last year was at 1401 Fairchild, have purchased the F. J. Rumold home at 1623 Fairchild and have moved to their new location.

The Alpha Sigma Psi has moved from their old location at 1425 Laramie, to 413 North 17th.

Other fraternities and sororities have made minor improvements on their houses. The advance guard of the fall enrolment has been here the past week getting the different houses ready for the winter term.

COLLEGIAN UNDER NEW STAFF

Thackrey, Shideler, and Ferris Control Destiny of Student Paper

At the final spring meeting of the governing board of The Collegian last spring, Fred M. Shideler, of Girard was elected as managing editor for the first nine weeks of the fall semester. Gerald Ferris, Chapman, was elected business manager and Russell Thackrey, Kansas City, as editor-in-chief for the fall semester. All three men are juniors in industrial journalism and members of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic fraternity. R. L. Youngman, Kansas City, will serve as assistant business manager.

Shideler has served as assistant editor, associate editor, and assistant business manager of The Collegian. Thackrey has served as assistant editor, associate editor, and sports editor. Ferris was assistant business manager last semester. Staff positions on The Collegian are open to all students in the college.

Plowed

No, children, the college authorities did not have the college campus plowed up so that it would be nice and soft for football practice. Neither was it, in spite of slanderous reports, to furnish the Ags with a home-like environment for the first few weeks.

It happened as the result of a bad case of bindweed, which threatened to "take" the entire campus. Plowing and summer following last summer, and probably all of next summer will be necessary before the grounds can be put back into blue grass again.

"K" HANDBOOK AID TO STUDENTS

BOOKLET CONTAINS SEVERAL NEW FEATURES THIS YEAR

Published by the Y. W. C. A., Y. M. C. A., and S. S. G. A.—Russell Thackrey This Year's Editor

Freshmen entering K. S. A. C. this fall will find the new "K" book a real aid in getting themselves properly oriented on the campus. Practically all the information needed to enroll, become acquainted with the college rules and traditions, and all other incidentals that newcomers on the campus have to know are included in the booklet.

Each year the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A., working in cooperation with the S. S. G. A., publish these books for the benefit of the students. Old students have nearly as much use for them as the new ones. They are distributed free.

Members of the committee were R. I. Thackrey, editor, Ruth Faulconer, Ruth Limbocker, Paul Puetze, and F. E. Wiebrecht.

The book this year is larger in size than it has been for several years. It is divided into fourteen sections: the president's letter of welcome, general information, activities, S. S. G. A., Aggie traditions, athletics, who's who, W. A. A., yells of the Wildcat, Alma Mater, organizations, churches of Manhattan, Y. W. C. A., and Y. M. C. A.

The material in the book is handily arranged and an index provided. The purposes of the different organizations on the hill are dealt with, athletic records, coaches, captains, and the schedule of games are given. Several pages are devoted to women's athletics and an explanation of the women's athletic association.

Many other features, such as a directory of professional and honorary fraternities, a list of social fraternities and sororities, a map of Manhattan, and the campus, and a Manhattan church directory, make the book a valuable aid for every student in the college.

The "K" books will be handed out to all students at the time of enrollment, but are available at the office of Dr. A. A. Holtz, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., for those who do not have a copy.

CONCERNING FRESHMEN

By Saturday night of this week you may have an entirely different conception of college, than the one which you brought to Manhattan last week end. You will have stood in line for hours at a stretch, only to be assigned to closed classes and have it to do over again. Probably you came to Manhattan without having read the college catalogue and went through "the mill" without being able to read the schedule of classes. Most of you had no idea as to which group of "electives" you wanted to specialize in, and no one to explain the system beforehand. By Saturday night you will be sorry you took the ones you did.

Some one will have insulted your intelligence by offering "with an ill-concealed grin, to sell you a chapel ticket. You will have dodged most of the best teachers in Kansas State because your friend told you they were hard, or else you will be frightened to death because you were assigned to one.

Thursday afternoon, all of you will come to class without your lesson, and be surprised and not a little discouraged to find that "it was posted" and you were supposed to have it. If you were "rushed" you will be half dead for want of sleep, and three days behind in your lessons. If you were not "rushed" and wanted to be, you will be only lonely, and vaguely resentful. If you were not "rushed" and didn't want to be, perhaps you will be recovered from registration and settled by Saturday night.

Whatever your mental state, college will be by Saturday night a different thing than it is today, and a much, much different experience than it will be by the end of the year. So Mr. Freshman, or Miss Freshman, don't pack up and go back home to the folks when Saturday night comes, or when mid-semester comes and you flunk your first exam. And don't pay a lot of attention to the upper-classmen's prattling about how they slipped through this course, or cut that class, or fooled the other prof.

Advice is inexpensive in the exatreme, so The Collegian, which has fooled as many "profs" as the next one, is giving you the tip to do what the funny looking fellow that teaches the class says. Next semester you'll find that your mental powers are equal to that of the rest of the campus. You will have learned to slick your hair back and go bare headed to save buying caps. You will be a full-fledged college student, and the title "Freshman" will not be visible on you at a block distant. But just now, "carry on."

Among the largest one-man shovels in the world is this electric giant engaged in open-pit mining on the Mesabi Range in northern Minnesota. It picks up eight cubic yards of iron ore at a gulp, which it dumps into a waiting car.

A day's work in a minute

Mesabi Range, renowned iron ore deposit, is yielding its mineral wealth at the rate of 16 tons for every bite of an electric scoop.

A man with a shovel would work a whole day to mine and load eight cubic yards of iron ore which this 300-ton electric giant moves in one minute.

Of course, all mining is not done on the surface. But there are many mines in which electricity has changed our conception of mining operations. Wires, penetrating even to the deepest shafts and galleries, have brought light, power, ventilation and added safety to those who must work in the very bowels of the earth.

Electricity's contribution to mining may be of particular interest to the student of mining engineering, but it is of general interest to all college men as still another example of how electricity is simplifying the world's work.

In every branch of mining operations G-E equipment is very much in evidence. And there are engineers of the General Electric Company especially assigned to mining problems and requirements, just as there are others specializing in all major applications of electricity.

A new series of G-E advertisements showing what electricity is doing in many fields will be sent on request. Ask for booklet GEK-1.

MILITARY STAFF KEPT BUSY DURING SUMMER AT CAMPS

Were Instructors in Seven Different Camps—Very Little Time Allowed for Vacations

Members of the faculty of the military department have had very little time for vacations this summer. With the exception of two members of the staff, every one of them has been at summer camps giving instruction to future officers.

Colonel Fred W. Bugbee was senior instructor at the R. O. T. C. at Fort Snelling, Minn. Other members of the staff who were at Fort Snelling during June and July are Captain C. W. Jones, Captain Gerald W. Fitzgerald, Sergt. M. G. Connolly, Sergt. M. M. Coffee, and Sergt. Pugh. Captain Fitzgerald also attended the Iowa National Guard camp at Camp Dodge, Ia., from August 1 to 15. He was an instructor in veterinary medicine.

Captain A. F. Bowen and Lieutenant J. B. Sims, the new officers at K. S. A. C., Captain W. P. Waltz, and Captain C. W. Jones, were instructors at the C. M. T. C. at Leavenworth during August.

Lieutenant R. E. McGarraugh is now at Camp Perry, Ohio, where he is a member of the coast artillery rifle team, which is competing in the national rifle matches.

Captain L. E. Spencer was an instructor in the organized reserve at the University of Minnesota. During the month of August he had a leave of absence and took a short vacation in California.

Major C. D. Pierce was an instructor in the R. O. T. C. coast artillery camp at Fort Monroe, Va.

Captain Wertz was an instructor in the anti-aircraft department of the Oklahoma National Guard at Fort Sill, Okla. He was also an instructor in a school for the organized reserve for a time.

Major E. L. Claeren and Private Wilson had charge of the school offices during the absence of the rest of the staff.

"PLAY" FOOTBALL GAMES ON ELECTRIC GRIDIRON

Sigma Delta Chi Will Follow Team On Out-of-Town Journeys

Football games out of town will be played for the benefit of stay at homes again this year on the electrically operated playing field of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic fraternity, according to R. I. Thackrey, president. The board will be ready for operation by the time of the Drake game October 10, and probably will reach its peak of popularity with the K. U. game October 17.

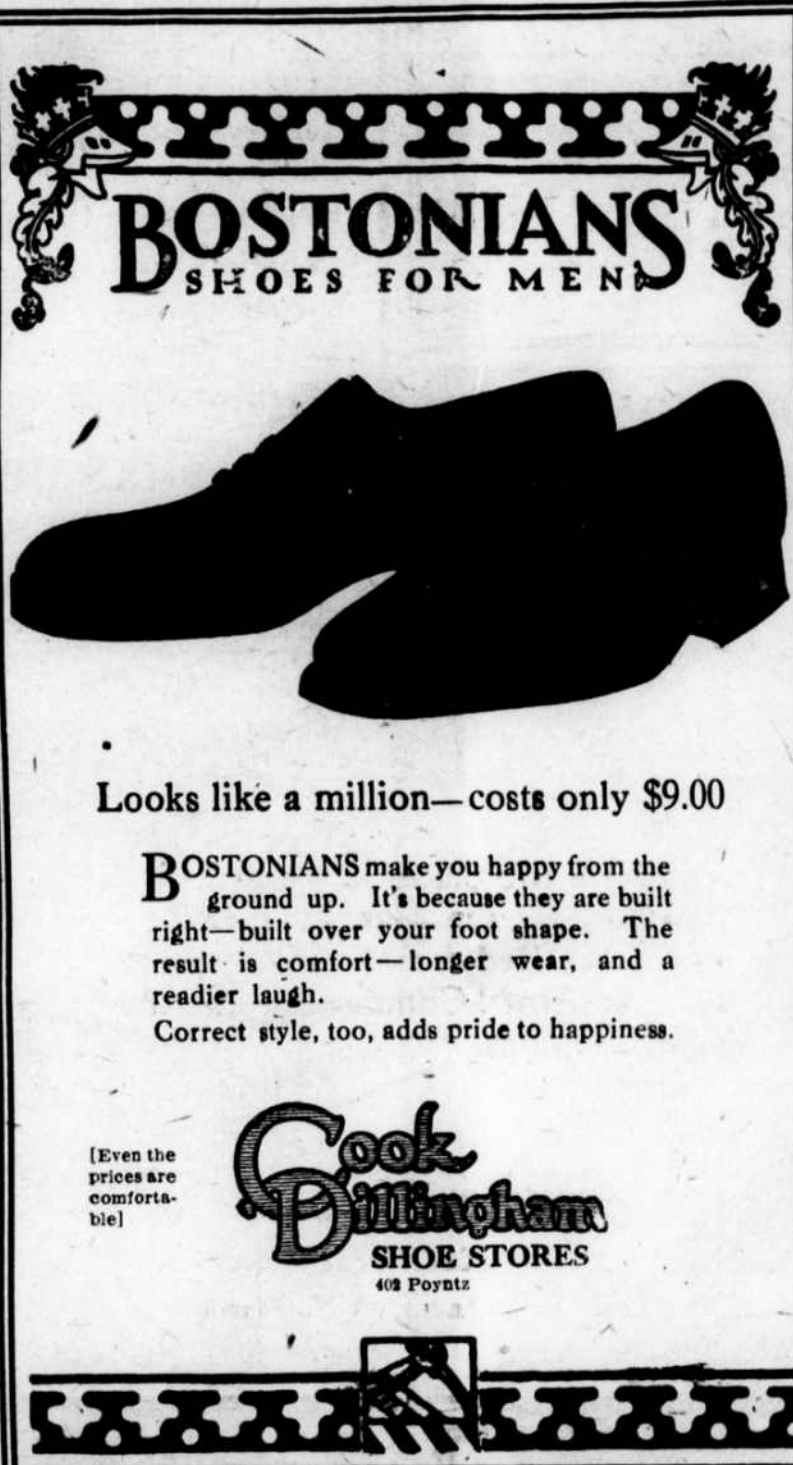

The Aggies will be away from home again November 7, making an 800 mile journey for an intercollegiate game with Marquette at Milwaukee, and also will finish the season away from home, meeting Iowa State at Ames. Representatives of Sigma Delta Chi trained in sports reporting will follow the team on every out-of-town trip.

The scoreboard shows the position of the ball in the field, the team in possession of the ball and the man who carries it. The scoreboard shows all details of the game, and plays it out before the eyes of the spectators in such a way as to be second only to seeing it happen on the field itself. A direct telegraph line from the field of play insures the home crowd of getting every detail immediately after it happens. The scoreboard was built for the fraternity last fall by Prof. E. T. Keith and Clarence Howenstine, of the department of journalism and printing, and was used during the 1924 football season.

NEW MEMBERS OF FACULTY NAMED

NUMBER OF INSTRUCTORS INCREASED OVER LAST YEAR

Several Well Known Members of Faculty Leave College—More Graduate Assistants Employed

Several new faces will be evident among the faculty members this fall, due to new appointments and resignations of instructors during the summer. Most of the changes this year are in graduate assistantships, and instructors, although there are a few changes in the personnel of assistant and associate professorships. More graduate assistants, who are engaged in either teaching or research work, or both, have been employed this year than for several years previous.

The New Appointees

The new faculty members who have been employed during the summer are:

Miss Ella J. Keys who takes the place of Miss Grace Jordan as nurse in the department of student health.

Miss Ella Barnd, who takes the place of Miss Ruth Root as nurse in the department of student health.

Y. M. C. A. MAKING PLANS FOR HELPFUL YEAR AT K. S. A. C.

Employment and Room Bureaus Used by Large Number—
Puetze Plans New Work

Plans are already being made by the college Y. M. C. A. to be one of the most helpful organizations on the hill this year, according to Dr. A. A. Holtz, general secretary.

The Y has been meeting trains for the past few days, and aiding new students whenever possible in getting properly located. Leonard Brubaker and Ted Johnson have been in charge of the arrangements for meeting the trains. C. I. Gilbert is in charge of the information clerks in the gym during the time of enrolment.

The date of the annual watermelon feed has not been definitely decided upon yet. President Farrell was unable to be present at the time set a few days ago, so it has been postponed. However, the annual event will be held within a few weeks. Milton Kerr is chairman of the committee in charge.

The Y office has been a busy place the past few days. Besides being a bureau for the finding of suitable rooms for students, the organization has an employment bureau, which places many students in good paying jobs during the school year.

Paul Puetze, this year's president of the Y. M. C. A., has been attending several conferences this summer, and it is expected that some of the new ideas that he has gained will be given a thorough trial at K. S. A. C.

The noonday student forum, which proved so popular last year, will start October 1, when a good outside speaker will be engaged. The forum this year will occupy only eight weeks in the fall and eight weeks in the spring instead of running throughout the winter.

Dr. Holtz has announced that the Y. M. C. A. office secretary for this year will be Miss Max Altmann.

ANIMAL HUSBANDRY PROFS ATTENDING FREE FAIR

Have Charge of Various Livestock Departments at Topeka—New Awards Offered This Year

Several members of the faculty of the animal husbandry department of the college are attending the Kansas Free Fair in Topeka this week, and are on duty as superintendents and judges of the various livestock departments.

Dr. C. W. McCampbell, head of the department of animal husbandry, is superintendent of the livestock division of the fair this year.

Other members of the department who will have charge of departments at the fair are as follows: Prof. D. L. Mackintosh, in charge of horses; Prof. C. E. Aubel, in charge of hogs; Prof. B. M. Anderson, in charge of cattle; Prof. H. E. Reed, in charge of sheep; Prof. R. H. Lush, of the dairy department, will be superintendent of the dairy cattle department at the fair.

A new program has been introduced into the fair this year by Dr. McCampbell. He has made an effort to spread the awards out to a greater extent in order that the small livestock man might become interested with some prospect for award, even though it be small.

TWO NEW OFFICERS HERE

Captain Bowen and Lieutenant Sims
New Military Staff Members

Captain A. F. Bowen and Lieutenant J. B. Sims have been transferred to K. S. A. C. by the war department to fill the vacancies caused by the transfer of Captain R. C. Stickney and Lieutenant J. V. Cole to Honolulu.

Captain Bowen comes to K. S. A. C. from Fairmount college at Wichita, where he has been an instructor for the past year. He is a graduate of the infantry school at Fort Benning, Ga. He was an officer at the C. M. T. C. at Fort Leavenworth during August.

Lieutenant Sims was transferred from Fort Sam Houston, Texas, where he has been on duty with the 23rd infantry. Previous to his connection with the 23rd infantry, Lieutenant Sims was with the 15th and 27th infantry.

Captain Stickney has been promoted to a major in the 29th infantry with headquarters at Honolulu. Lieutenant Cole is also stationed at Honolulu.

ROOMS MORE PLENTIFUL

Excess of Rooms Will Aid in Enforcing College Rules

Rooms will be more plentiful this year, according to Dr. A. A. Holtz, Secretary of the Y. M. C. A., who states that the reason for the unusual number of available rooms is the building of several new rooming houses. Fraternities building additions to their homes so that the entire membership may room in the house instead of renting rooms in adjacent houses will also make more rooms available.

During the summer months many students engaged their rooms for the fall term, which has facilitated the work of the bureau in finding suitable rooms for those arriving late. Last year, over a hundred rooms listed with the bureau went unrented, according to Dr. Holtz, and the fact that there will be more this year will make it easier for college authorities to rigidly enforce rooming house rules.

Prices for rooms are also lower this year than last, Dr. Holtz says. Good rooms near the college are renting for $12 to $15, which is $2 to $4 less than last year.

THIRTEEN VETS ON K. U. SQUAD

JAYHAWKS TO HAVE NEW PILOT AND FULLBACK

Coach Clark Expects Four Teams
Out for First Practice Tomorrow —Line Looks Good

(From the Journal Post)

Lawrence, Kan.—Coach "Potsy" Clark of the University of Kansas is of the opinion that when the season opens September 15, there will be more than four teams reporting for regular practice. Only a part of the men have returned for practice at the present date, but the remainder of the candidates are expected here by the opening of school Monday. It is possible that a few of the players will not be on the job again this year.

Thirteen letter men are expected to don the moleskins in answer to Clark's summons at the first official practice. In addition to the thirteen players who have won the coveted "K," several members of last year's varsity also will report.

Need a Quarterback

There also will be several likely candidates from last year's freshman team fighting for berths on the first string squad this fall. Five members of last year's team were lost by graduation, and Coach Clark faces a hard task in filling the places left vacant.

Barrett Hamilton, freshman quarterback last year, and Harold Schmidt, well known to Kansas sport followers, appear to be two likely candidates for the pilot position left vacant by Alex Hodges who called signals last year. The graduation of Harold Bprt, captain and fullback, left a big hole in the Kansas backfield. Charles "Stony" Wall, captain of the 1924 freshman team, is in line for the fullback position.

Others Pass On

Other players who made their letters last year and who will not be seen in action any more are Eldon Haley, guard; Clement Hardy, tackle; and William Anderson, end. Clark has good material from which to pick men for these vacancies.

Letter men who will report in the next few days to the K. U. coaching staff include:

Capt. Babe Smith of Independence, Mo. and all-Missouri Valley tackle; Harold Zuber, Kansas City, Kan., giant passer, punter and a good ball lugger; Wilbur Starr of Hutchinson, flashy halfback; Gene Hart, sturdy line plunger from Kingman; William Mullins of Lawrence, George Powers of Wichita, Harold Testerman of Lawrence, Frank Taylor, Moran; Harold Baker, Kingman; Lewis Davidson, Lawrence; Eddie Halpin, Kansas City, Kas.; Russel Smith, Winfield, and Wyeth Walter, Kansas City, Kas.

Other members of last year's varsity who will probably be out this fall when the season is officially started will include:

Outstanding members of last year's freshman team according to John Bunn, freshman coach, and who turned out one of the best freshman teams even seen at K. U. are:

OKLAHOMA AGGIES PREPARE FOR FIRST VALLEY SEASON

Eleven Letter Men to Return to Stillwater School for
"Big Time" Debut

Stillwater, Ok.—Glances at the calendar have caused Stillwater fans to begin figuring on the prospects of Coach Johnny Maulbetsch putting in the field an eleven that will bring credit to Oklahoma A. and M. college in its first gridiron campaign as a member of the Missouri Valley conference, in 1925.

Of the eighteen men who received the "O" last fall, seven have been graduated. So far as is known all of the remaining eleven will return.

With them will be a dozen or more men who played in parts of games last year, but who did not win the letter. Added to them will be the greatest array of sophomore material the A. and M. coaches have had at the opening of a practice season.

Veterans lost by the sheepskin route are Guy Lookabaugh, fullback; Vernon Wahl, captain and tackle; Ed Morrison, guard; Johnny Mason, quarterback; E. M. "Jim" Lookabaugh, center; Leone Bauman, tackle, and Adam Esslinger, quarterback.

Headed by Captain-elect Don

Rodgers, guard, the returning lettermen will be:

George Connor, end; Douglas Mitchell, end; Gordon Peery, halfback; Harold Weissinger, tackle; Aubrey Murray, tackle; Harold Harrington, tackle; Furd Taylor, halfback; Carter Crowe, center; Ralph Higgins, end and halfback; and Dick Walker, halfback.

Loss of both Mason and Esslinger will leave the quarterback position one difficult to fill. Peery, flashy and heady sophomore last fall, is the popular choice for the place but Maulbetsch may spring a surprise on the fans.

Fall practice will open one week later than usual this year, on September 15, according to Missouri Valley rules.

The schedule for 1925 is as follows:

October 3—Kansas university, at Lawrence.

October 10—Kansas State normal, at Stillwater.

October 17—Washington university, at St. Louis.

October 24—Texas Christian university, at Stillwater.

October 31—Grinnell college, at Stillwater (home coming).

November 7—Southwestern State Teachers' college, at Stillwater.

November 14—Open.

November 21—Arkansas university, at Fayetteville.

November 28—Oklahoma university, at Norman.

VALLEY CHAMPS OPEN 1925 SEASON AT TULANE

Missouri Tigers Follow New-Orleans
Game with Hard Battle Against Nebraska

Columbia, Mo., Sept. 14.—With the formal start of practice set for Tuesday, candidates for positions on the 1925 University of Missouri football team are already in Columbia, and with the handful of faithful ones who remained around the campus all summer, the Bengal squad is taking a daily turn on the cinder path to get into condition.

Included in those who are here are Capt. Sam Whiteman, Lloyd Thomas, Abe Stuber, Pete Jackson, Maurice Moulder, Don Swofford and Winn Casteel of last year's varsity backfield, and Doss Richardson and W. E. Gibson, linemen. Flammack, captain of last year's freshman team and a promising fullback; Tarr, a likely yearling end, and Studebaker, a tackle, have also reported, as have Rositzky, reserve center last year, Morgan, another center, Nichols and Miller, guards, and Clack and Lawrence, backfield men.

C. L. Brewer, director of athletics has taken a firm stand, refusing to permit the issuance of any sort of football equipment in advance of the date set for conference rules for the beginning of practice, but the men are taking a daily workout under the blazing September sun which has made clothing a matter of secondary consideration. The hot weather, however, is looked upon by the Tiger candidates as a boon, rather than as a handicap, since it is probably the sort they will face in their opening game of the season against Tulane at New Orleans October 3.

The members of the Tiger squad are particularly anxious to get into top condition for the start of practice this year because of the heavy burdens which they will face during the early part of the season, and the consequent work which they expect their coaches to heap upon them the early practice sessions.

Not only do the Tigers face in their opener Tulane, the strongest team in the South, but they will return from New Orleans on Tuesday with only a couple or three days in which to set their house in order for their encounter with the University of Nebraska eleven, which was the only team in the conference able to place a blot upon the Bengals' championship escutcheon last season.

1925 HUSKERS BEEFY AS USUAL

SIXTY CANDIDATES EXPECTED AT FIRST PRACTICE

Eleven Letter Men Among Nebraska
Eligibles—A "Scale-Busting" Aggregation

(From the Kansas City Star)

Lincoln, Neb.—History may repeat itself in Cornhusker football annals this fall. Over a long span of years University of Nebraska grid machines were known as among the huskiest in the country. Two years ago however, heavy material at Nebraska was missing and the Cornhusker lacked the beef of former years.

This fall, if the advance list of candidates may be taken as an indication, the Huskers bid fair to return to their former standing as a "scale-busting" aggregation.

Walter Kriemelmeyer, Cambridge boy, who will bid for a place on the line, tips the beam at 230 pounds, while Clarence Ralsch, Grand Island high school product, who is mentioned as a promising line candidate, has him bettered at 232 pounds. Then there is Cecil Molzen, heavy weight varsity wrestler and letter man, who stops the scales at 203 pounds. Roy Randels of St. Anthony and Alonzo Stiner of Hastings are also over the 200 mark.

Squad of Sixty Candidates

A squad of sixty candidates, selected from the 1925 spring training squad and including eleven letter men, is expected to report to Coach Bearg when practice opens at Memorial stadium September 15.

Letter men returning this fall are expected to include Ed Weir of Superior, All-American tackle, who led the 1924 team and will also captain the 1925 aggregation; Harold Hutchison of Lincoln, center; Roland A. Locke of North Platte, one of the speediest backs in the Missouri Valley Conference, who was credited with equaling the world record for the 100-yard and 220-yard dashes last spring; John Rhodes of Ansley, backfield star and letter man in track and baseball; Joe Weir of Superior, end; Cecil Molzen of Memphis, lineman and member of the wrestling team; Walter Kriemelmeyer of Cambridge, lineman and weight star on last spring's track team; Avarad Mandery of Tecumseh, backfield; Roy Mandery of Tecumseh, end, and Frank Pospisil of Wahoo, lineman.

Freshmen May Not Return

The freshman squad looked exceptionally promising last spring, but information reaching the university athletic department is to the effect that several of the candidates, including Zuver, James and Vorhees, linemen, will not return in the fall.

Leading candidates for the 1925 varsity squad:

Line—Capt. Ed. Weir, Superior; Joe Weir, Superior; Harold Hutchison, Lincoln; Joe Wostoupal, West Point; Frank Pospisil, Wahoo; Walter Kriemelmeyer, Cambridge; Cecil Molzen, Memphis; Roy Mandery, Paul J. Bass, Lincoln; Harold P. Conklin, St. Paul; Lynn Cox, Doniphan; Gilmore Decker, Washington; Ben Fisher, Dewitt; Merrill Reller, Princeton; Ira Resh, Brush, Col.; Henry Scott, Ansley; C. P. Swanson, Loomis; Lowell C. Waldo, Dewitt; R. I. Whitmore, Scottsbluff; Clarence E. Ralsch, Grand Island; Roy Randels, Anthony, Kas.; Henry Rock, Mason City; G. O. Shaner, Maxwell; Walter Scholz, Osceola; Leon A. Sprague, Line; Alonzo Stiner, Hastings; George Witt, Columbus; Roy Anderson, Bloomfield; D. C. Casey, Johnson; Robert H. Douglas, Belleville, Kas.; W. D. Dover, Madison; Harold G. Gillan, York; Lloyd E. Grow, Loup City; Ted James, Greeley, Col.; W. V. Lawson, Omaha; Dorsey McIntyre, Lincoln.

Six former University of Nebraska football athletes will comprise the staff of assistant coaches that will aid Coach Bearg in grooming the 1925 Cornhusker grid machine this fall.

The sextet of veteran Nebraska moleskin warriors announced by Bearg as his staff of assistants are Owen "Turp" Frank, backfield coach; Leo Scherer, end coach; W. L. "Bill" Day and Raymond "Bub" Weller, line tutors, and Melvin Collins and Laddimer Hubka, freshman coaches.

Pity the Sig Eps. Last week thieves broke into the house and "burgled" suits of clothes, cash, and traveling bags. But it is not for these that the Sig Eps mourn.

The wailing sound from Cemetery hill was caused by the fact that, written in cold, harsh pencil on the police report was, "Lee Dory reports the loss of a pair of pink crepe pajamas."

Campus Echoes suggests a Pan-Hellenic tag day to replace the loss. The poor boy might have to sleep in his nightgown, and think of the impression on the rushees.

Chief of Police Frost announces that "riding on radiators, fenders, and tops of automobiles is forbidden by law and WILL NOT BE TOLERATED."

Last year The Collegian announced that the athletic department was building sixteen new tennis courts for the use of the students. The Collegian was wrong. The story should have said, "The athletic department is putting up some fine fencing along Anderson avenue."

OVER 100 FRESHMEN CHECK OUT FOOTBALL EQUIPMENT

Squad Larger Than Last Year's—Scrimmage with Varsity Tomorrow Afternoon

C. W. Corsaut, head coach of the freshman football squad, was busy for three hours yesterday afternoon checking out the new equipment for this year's aspirants to the yearling varsity eleven. From the number of freshmen that started practice last night, it appears that the squad will be even larger than that of last year, which number totalled over 120.

A stiff workout will be given the freshmen tonight in an endeavor to get them in shape for a scrimmage practice against the varsity squad tomorrow afternoon. Although the frosh will not have had much opportunity for practice, they should show the regulars a run for their money as practically all the first year men have had considerable high school experience.

From all indications the freshmen will receive more than the usual amount of attention this fall because next year they, together with this season's sophomores, can possibly be built into a winning combination for the next two or three years in succession. This year's varsity will include several of last year's freshmen and from the size and the general appearance of the present yearlings there is a great store of material for future varsity players.

FEWER CHAPEL ANNOUNCEMENTS

Only Those of General College Interest to Be Accepted

For the purpose of improving assembly exercises an attempt will be made this year to reduce the number of announcements made in student assembly. In dealing with this matter, the Committee on Public Exercises will be guided by the character of the announcements and by the appeal which each announcement aims to make. Generally speaking, announcements will be made only when they are addressed to student groups having a practically college-wide status. Those addressed to organizations with a sharply restricted membership with reference to college departments will not be made.

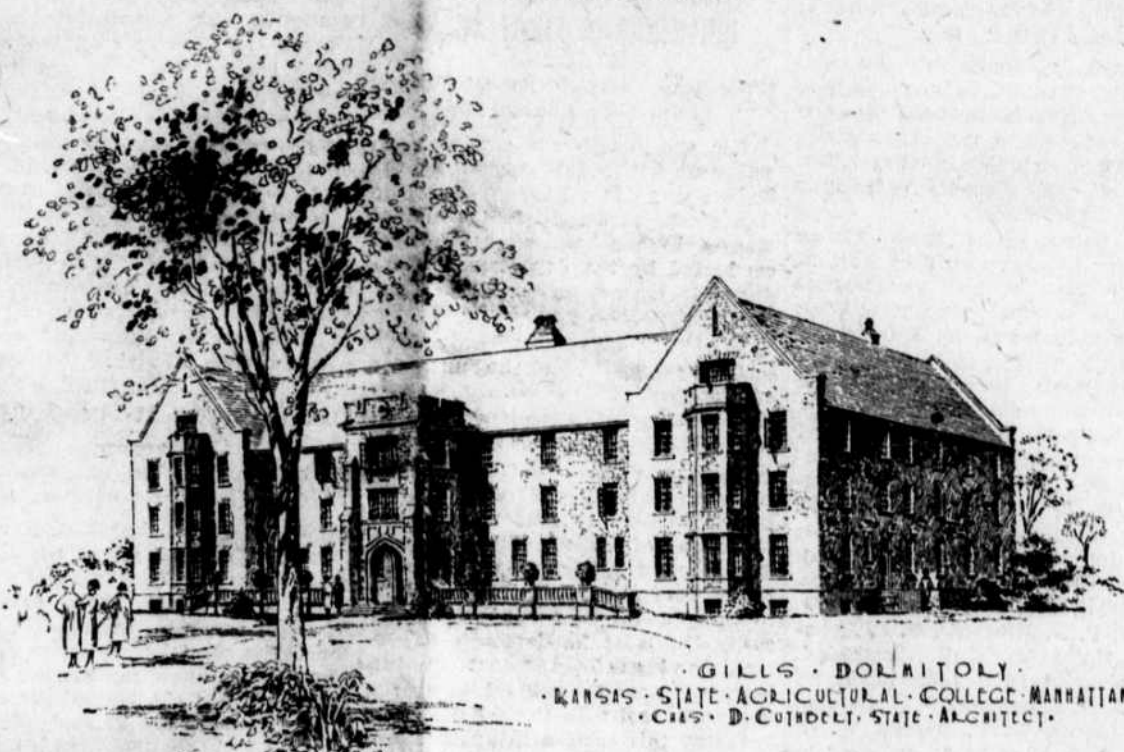

Hereafter no announcement will be made unless it is addressed to one or more of the following groups:

1. The entire student body.
2. All men students.
3. All women students.
4. A group of students, men or women, in an organization which is open to students from all departments of the institution.

As heretofore, announcements should be presented to Dr. J. E. Kammeyer, chairman of the committee on public exercises, as far as possible in advance of the assembly at which they are to be made. Each announcement should be briefly and clearly stated and should be typewritten before it is presented to Doctor Kammeyer.

Freshmen have been laboring under the strain of the usual intelligence tests this week. They were excused from classes both Wednesday and Thursday afternoons in order to take the tests.

VAN ZILE HALL

GILLS - DOMITOLY
KANSAS STATE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, MANHATTAN
CHAS. D. CURRIE, STATE ARCHITECT

WORK BEGUN ON VAN ZILE HALL

BARNs BEING MOVED FOR WAY OF NEW DORMITORY

Plans Made and Contracts Let—Ready for Occupancy Next September

Barns and other buildings on the hill at the northeast corner of the campus are being removed, and the ground put in condition for the construction of Van Zile hall, new girls' dormitory at K. S. A. C.

Appropriations totalling $200,000 were voted for this new building at the last session of the legislature, and the contracts for the construction, heating and plumbing work, and fixtures were awarded this summer.

The general contract work was awarded to Mont J. Green of Manhattan for $126,850. The heating and plumbing work was awarded to the Manhattan Sheet Metal Co., and the contract for the electrical work went to the Nelson Electrical Co., of Fort Scott.

Approximately $35,000 will be left after the amounts of the contract have been paid. This will be used for removing the barns, beautifying the surroundings of the dormitory, and aiding in the interior furnishing.

Building of Native Stone

The building will be of native stone, similar to the rest of the buildings on the campus. The first floor will have an open terrace in front, extending along the entire length of the main section. A large reception room, with three smaller adjacent social rooms and a library, will open on the terrace. French doors lead into the large dining room from the reception room. The dining room will have large windows on three sides.

The floor will be of maple, and it is planned to have parties and dances of different organizations on the hill in Van Zile hall.

The first floor also will have a suite of guest rooms, several rooms for girls, the house mother's and house director's suites, the kitchen, and men's and women's cloak room.

Buzzers in Each Room

Both the second and third floors, which are almost identical, are taken up with girls' rooms. Most of the rooms are double, although there are a few single ones. The double rooms will have two closets, two single beds, two dressers, and a common study table. A new feature in dormitories will be the individual buzzer in each room, saving the girls much time in calling the matron. The second floor has a roof terrace, and both floors have the social units, with accompanying kitchenettes.

The basement will house the student laundry, where every girl may do her own washing and pressing. Fixtures for shampooing will also be furnished. Rooms will be provided for the building help, such as the janitors, the women help, and the student help. The trunk storage room will occupy the front part of the basement. An elevator will be used to carry the trunks from the basement to the upstairs rooms.

Plan Beautiful Surroundings

The dormitory will be located diagonally in the northeast corner of the campus, facing toward the rest of the school structures. Arrangements have been made for the addition of two wings on either end of the main hall in future years. The road running north from Manhattan avenue, will be straightened, so that ample room will be had for suitable surroundings. Already the landscape architecture department of the college has started plans for a chain of lakes in the grove of maple trees at the foot of the hill where the new hall will stand. Other beautification plans have also been made.

Dean Van Zile, who has been working on the plans for the building for several years, and after whom the hall was named, wishes to have the students know that the dormitory is not for the exclusive use of freshman women but for upperclass women as well. Assignments will not be made to the dormitory, and rooms will be given to only those who ask for reservations. Expenses will be on an average, the same as those at rooming houses.

It is expected to have the new building finished in time for occupancy next September, if weather conditions permit.

Your Help, Please

- The cooperation of organizations, college departments, and individuals is requested in connection with the publication of The Collegian for the fall semester. As quickly as possible, students in the department of journalism will be assigned "beats" with a view to covering the campus as efficiently as possible.
- Because of the inevitable amount of inefficiency which must be reckoned with, The Collegian would appreciate phone calls or news "tips" mailed through the post-office. Reporters will be assigned immediately to such stories.
- The columns of the paper are open at all times to announcements, suggestion, and criticism.

MEMBERSHIP REQUIREMENTS FOR POULTRY TEAMS CHANGED

Any Four Year Student, If a Sophomore, Now Eligible—Two Long Trips Planned

Requirements for membership on the college poultry teams have been changed this year in order to enable interested students to eligibility. Any regular four year student, regardless of division, will be eligible for the team, provided he has a sophomore standing. Last year membership was limited to students of the agricultural division.

Another important change from former standards is the increase in the number of trips taken this year. The two important trips this year are to the American Royal show at Kansas City in November, and the Coliseum show held at Chicago in December. K. S. A. C. has entered teams in both contests.

Strong competition from other schools has been due to larger teams composed of older men. This year K. S. A. C. hopes to have a larger team than in past years of poultry judging.

The first meeting of the squad and all students interested in poultry judging, regardless of division, will be held Monday, September 21, at 5 o'clock in Ag. 255.

Mr. and Mrs. Hartzel (Ding) Burton have been visiting in Manhattan and are planning on making their home here.

Vernon Peterson, Oscar Woody, and Alden Woody, of Salina, spent the week at the Delta Sigma Phi house.

CHAPEL OPENS COLLEGE YEAR

PRESIDENT FARRELL DISCUSSES THE "FRESHMAN ORDEAL"

Lindquist Gives Vocal Solo for Opening Exercises—"Alma Mater" Opens Program

"There are several occasions which give cause for joy in the life of a professor. One of these is when the students arrive in the fall, and another is when the last class has met in the spring," said President F. D. Farrell in opening chapel exercises at the college Wednesday morning. "These two occasions likewise are shared by the students. I realize that the instructors sometimes are quite a trial to the students. They break in on your comfort, and disturb your day dreams, but I also want you to bear in mind that you quite frequently destroy our comfort, and break up our day dreams, so that if we didn't like you pretty well after all we'd never put up with you. It is this sort of reciprocity, this experience of mutual suffering and pleasure, which does more than anything else to cement faculty and student body together."

Vocal Solo

Prior to the talk of the president, Prof. William Lindquist, instructor in voice at the college, gave a vocal solo. Exercises were opened with "Alma Mater," followed by the invocation, given by Rev. O. E. Allison, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church here.

President Farrell explained that, "It is customary, I do not quite know why, for the college president to make a few remarks and give a little advice at the opening chapel each year, not because of any immediate good that it may do, but because a part at least of the student body will realize it later on, if he has said anything which is worth while and true, and will profit by it during the college year."

After discussing the parking regulations briefly, President Farrell went on to give his idea of the purpose of coming to college. "The student goes to college," he said, "presumably to develop such inherent abilities and attributes as he may possess. If his college career is based upon this principle, he will get more out of it than otherwise. The incoming student must learn self-control, and develop the ability to subordinate himself and his individual desires to the best interests of the community of which he is a member."

Face the Facts

Speaking first to the freshmen concerning the ordeal of getting adjusted to college life, the president extended to them his sympathies in the coming few weeks, telling of his own experience when starting to college. "You are in strange surroundings, starting on a college life with much increased obligations," he pointed out. "The work will be much harder, the distractions much greater, and the restraining influence of home gone."

"The best thing for you to do is first to face the fact that you are up against an ordeal, to diagnose what is the matter with yourself, and then start in to conquer. The freshman ordeal is a good thing. It gives one a taste of real difficulties, it helps to find out whether you are a real fellow or a quitter. One of the worst things you can do is to waste a lot of time and effort trying to avoid the inevitable."

The Eight Points

Eight "points" were laid down by the college head as rules of guidance for the new student. They were as follows: Do your work well every day as it comes. Select some faculty member, upper classman, or business man as an advisor, and tell your troubles to him when you feel like it. Make definite arrangements for a reasonable amount of play, but don't play when you work. Take good care of your health. Engage in wholesome social activity. Take an active part in college activities and develop lots of college spirit. Watch your finances. Make arrangements for your spiritual as well as your intellectual development.

Employment Bureau Busy

The employment bureau of the Y. M. C. A. has been kept very busy the past week taking care of calls for student work, and assigning work to those who have filled out application cards. Steady work has been obtained for students in over 20 cases, and odd jobs for about 50 students since the first of last week. Any student desiring to work at odd jobs in vacant periods, call at the office of the Y. M. secretary in Recreation center.

ENROLMENT WILL EXCEED 3,000

INCREASE OF MORE THAN TWO HUNDRED

Final Check in Departments Soon—
Course in Physical Education Popular

Enrolment for the fall semester will be well above the 3,000 mark, according to Miss Jessie McDowell Machir, registrar of the college.

At 11 o'clock Wednesday, the last time for regular registering, the number enrolled was 2,934. Late enrolments Wednesday afternoon swelled the number to 2,950. It is expected that late enrolments, together with the number of students in the division of agriculture who are attending the state fair at Hutchinson, will make the total above 3,000.

This is a substantial increase over the number enrolled last year. Only 2,800 were enrolled at the same time last year, making the increase over 200.

Due to the changes in assignments and other office work, a check of the number in the various departments has not yet been made, but will be announced soon. Much interest has been shown in the new four year course in physical education for men and women, and the enrolment is very encouraging for one of the popular courses on the hill in a few years. Enrolment in other departments, especially journalism and engineering, apparently has been greatly increased.

ANNUAL WATERMELON FEED AND MIXER TUESDAY NIGHT

One Ton of Melons to Be Disposed Of—Popular Profs and Townsmen Will Speak

One ton of watermelons will be ready for consumption at the annual watermelon feed and football kickoff next Tuesday evening, September 22, in the big gymnasium, according to the committee in charge of the feed this year.

The kickoff this year will be in the form of a pre-season pep meeting with all the events of a regular pep meeting included. The program includes short talks by the athletic coaches, faculty enthusiasts, and followers of college sports representing Manhattan business men, besides many Aggie songs and yells. The list includes "Mike Ahearn," "Prexy" Farrell, "Bach" Bachman, "Doc" King, "Eddie" Ames, and "Charley" Corsaut.

Paul Pfuette, an old hand at the cheer leading game, will be on hand to teach the freshmen and new students all the Aggie football yells. "Prof" Brainard will engineer the singing.

Following what promises to be one of the best programs for the watermelon feed in the history of the affair, at least a dozen men will be ready with razor-edged butcher knives to slice the 2,000 pounds of melons.

The feed is an annual event open to all men of the institution and is put on by the college Y. M. C. A. Milton Kerr is chairman of the committee in charge.

Miss Alice Marston, '24, of Wilmington, Del., who is taking her doctor's degree at the University of Pennsylvania, is visiting in Manhattan for two weeks.

R.O.T.C. MAKES ENVIABLE RECORD

AGGIE ADVANCE COURSE MEN WIN HONORS AT CAMP

Best in Rifle and Pistol Marksmanship—K. S. A. C. Faculty Prominent in Instruction

Aggie military students made enviable records at the R. O. T. C. camps held for the infantry and veterinary medicine units at Fort Snelling, Minn., and for the coast artillery unit at Fort Monroe, Va., during last June and July.

Several camp championships were annexed by Aggie soldiers, besides high honors in rifle and pistol marksmanship, general camp efficiency, and other camp instruction work.

Twenty-nine were in attendance at the infantry camp and ten at the veterinary medicine camp at Fort Snelling from K. S. A. C. Forty-four Aggies attended the coast artillery camp at Fort Monroe.

First in Rifle and Pistol
Championships in both rifle and pistol marksmanship were won by K. S. A. C. at Fort Monroe, the average for the school being over twice as high as that of the school winning second place. At Fort Snelling, the Aggies were second in rifle marksmanship, being nosed out of first place by only a very small margin by the University of Iowa. The Aggie platoon at Fort Snelling was also second in pistol marksmanship.

Glenn L. Dunlap, junior in veterinary medicine, won the cup for the best all-around soldier in the medical division at Fort Snelling. The Aggie platoon of infantry at this same camp was the highest platoon in general camp efficiency in Co. C, which won the award in competition with all the other companies.

Walgren and Pearson Win
E. W. "Shorty" Walgren and Zurlinden Pearson upheld the athletic honors of K. S. A. C. at Fort Snelling. Pearson won the camp championship in both boxing and wrestling, having no difficulty in disposing of his opponents. Walgren won 3 championships—the 117 pound wrestling class, and the 117 and 125 pound boxing classes. In the latter class, Walgren fought Tuttle of Fairmount college at Wichita, and won the decision after the best fight of the entire tournament. Tuttle was the champion of the 125 pound class at last year's camp.

At both camps, the Aggies were always popular with the other schools represented, and kept up the school tradition of being the most democratic group in the valley.

Orin K. Correll, Robert W. Fort, D. H. Schultz, and Herbert H. Swartz were among the first seven in rifle marksmanship at Fort Snelling. They are now at Camp Perry, Ohio, as members of the 7th Corps Area rifle team competing in the national rifle matches.

Faculty Also Prominent

Nor were the students the only ones that were outstanding at the camps. The officers of the R. O. T. C. unit at K. S. A. C. were very prominent in camp administration. Lieut. Col. F. W. Bugbee was senior instructor at Fort Snelling, and had charge of the administration of all the lecture and instruction work of the students at that place.

Capt. C. W. Jones was the commanding officer of the Aggie platoon of infantry, and made one of the most popular officers in the entire camp. In the same platoon with the Aggies, he had about 25 students from South Dakota State college.

Capt. Gerald W. Fitzgerald was an instructor in the veterinary unit at Fort Snelling. Other members of the Aggie military faculty at Fort Snelling were Sergt. M. J. Connolly, Sergt. M. M. Coffee, and Sergt. Pugh.

Major C. D. Pierce was at the coast artillery camp at Fort Monroe. The following students attended the coast artillery camp at Fort Monroe: R. P. Alkman, Rhein Benninghoven, C. E. Bohnenblust, Hale E. Brown, A. B. Cash, Thayer Cleaver, G. R. Collier, Lyle Cushing, M. G. Dickson, Orin E. Ellis, H. B. Evans, H. D. Grothusen, Glen Hatfield, J. T. Hayslip, F. A. Hinshaw, G. C. Hroning, A. Hotchkiss, V. E. Houghland, W. T. Howard, H. S. Johnson, H. W. Johnson, R. J. Johnson, F. N. Luthy, V. H. Meseke, W. V. Meseke, W. A. Nelson, Dale Nichols, V. N. Norrish, A. B. Nuss, L. T. Richards, R. L. Roberts, B. A. Rose, C. E. Rugh, L. Servis, H. Shepherd, Myron Shields, P. L. Stuenkle, Jared Taylor, N. R. Thomasson, Leland Van Scoyde, Rollo E. Venn, D. E. Wollner, and F. N. Wray.

Thirty-nine at Fort Snelling

Those attending the infantry camp at Fort Snelling were as follows: Dustin Avery, Christian N. Bressler, Charles E. Burt, Elmer L. Canary, C. S. Clapper, Orin K. Correll, B. E. Dalrymple, Arthur H. Doolen, Jack R. Eakin, R. W. Fort, Ray Geddes, Ed Haukenberry, Lionel Holm, Jess D. Kimpert, Robert B. O'Bryan, Zurlinden L. Pearson, Cecil R. Prose, F. Hoyt Purcell, L. J. Richards, H.

Wayne Rogier, W. H. Schindler, D. H. Schultze, H. H. Schwardt, Fred M. Shideler, Byron Short, R. B. Sundgren, Eric Tebow, G. E. Truby, and D. M. Welser.

Those in the veterinary camp at Fort Snelling were: Glenn L. Dunlap, Marion B. Davis, V. C. Hurtig, J. A. Jones, E. R. Moberg, F. W. O'Daniel, W. L. Parrot, R. H. Fyle, E. W. Walgren, and E. W. Young.

QUIVERIAN IS FIRST AGAIN

Wins Kansas High School Annual Contest for Fourth Time

For the fourth consecutive year, The Quiverian, the annual of the Kansas City Central high school, won first award in class I in the annual Kansas high school annual contest conducted by the department of industrial journalism and printing this summer.

The Wichitan, of the Wichita high school was second, and the Sunflower of Topeka high, third. Honorary mention goes to The Lagonda, annual of the Winfield high school.

The Quiverian outranked the Wichitan this year because it was judged to have a trifle more representation of school life than the Wichitan. In literary quality, both books were about equal. According to the judges, the Quiverian was easily the most handsome book entered, and good judgment in the layouts, placed the annual on nearly the same level with the college yearbooks of this section in appearance.

Other books entered in this class were The Allagaroo, Hutchinson; The Parsonian, Parsons; The Red and Black, Lawrence; The Crimson, Fort Scott; The Trail, Salina; and the Orange and Black, Independence. All of these books possessed some advance in the standards of editing over previous years.

TREAT WAR VETERAN HERE

Veterinarians Minister to Harbord's German Police Dog

A veteran of the World war recently has been a patient at the K. S. A. C. veterinary hospital. He was Victor Hugo, a German police dog, formerly the property of General J. G. Harbord, Aggie alumnus, who now is president of the Radio Corporation of America.

Victor was captured from a German detachment during the World war. He now belongs to Colonel Oliver of Fort Riley. The injuries which caused his interment at the hospital here were suffered in a fight at the fort.

The war veteran is only one of the many pets and valuable larger animals which have been treated recently at the veterinary hospital. During the past year approximately 6,000 cases have been handled at the hospital. Included in the animals sent here for treatment were horses, cattle, hogs, sheep, goats, dogs, cats, chickens, monkeys, parrots, raccoons, opossums, canaries, coyotes, rabbits, and a black bear belonging to a passing animal show. Occasionally exceedingly valuable animals are sent here from other middle western and southern states than Kansas for treatment, according to Dr. E. J. Frick.

HARBORD ON AIR COMMISSION

Named by Coolidge as Member of Special Committee

Major General James G. Harbord, former chief of staff of the United States army and at present, president of the Radio Corporation of America, has been named as a member of the special commission of nine men to investigate the charges of the inadequacy of the United States air service made by Colonel William Mitchell. General Harbord is a graduate of K. S. A. C. with the class of 1886.

Following the announcement of the commission by President Coolidge, Colonel Mitchell, who has created quite a stir in official circles with his open charges, stated that he welcomed the move, and that the "personnel of the board is a surety that the study will be fair."

SEND EXHIBITS TO FAIRS

College Shows Products from Nearly Every Department

Exhibits from the college were shipped to Topeka the latter part of last week, where they have been shown at the Kansas Free Fair this week. From Topeka, the exhibits will be taken to the state fair at Hutchinson.

Exhibits were taken from practically every department of the college, and included most of those taken on the Opportunity Special that toured Kansas during the summer. The entomology department sent a demonstration chinch bug barrier and material for combating the Hessian fly. The livestock department sent a large exhibit of livestock from the animal husbandry department. The division of extension also had exhibits.

Kansas Enrolls Nearly 4,000

Lawrence, Kan., September 17.—All but two counties of Kansas, 30 states other than Kansas and nine foreign countries are represented in the nearly 3,900 students registered at the University of Kansas in the opening days of the present semester. Late enrolments will bring the fall numbers to at least 4,000, according to George O. Foster, registrar.

This is an increase of 351 over the enrolment of the same date a year ago, or a full 10 per cent.

The big obstacle in the way of re-establishing the old-fashioned home is the lack of old-fashioned people to put in it, according to the McPherson Republican.

We have heard mention that the enrolment is not as good as in previous years. The freshman girls are not as good looking.

At least some say so. That is indeed queer as we have seen, personally, three good looking freshmen girls at that. And three is enough for the office force.

We thought Prexy's welcome speech was all right. At least we agree with him about the yearlings picking out confidential advisors. We also think that we could capably fill those advisory positions. Would the three good looking girls of the freshman class kindly drop into the office and leave their name, phone number and address?

Now that the Delta Taus have remodeled, our minds and thoughts go to that age old question, "What of the Wildcat's new cage?"

Some wild reports have been circulating about that the O. T. E. brethren are holding their rush week services in the basement of the city hall.

The said brethren have been donning overalls the past week and digging their own ditches for pipes of various sizes and shapes. It looks like a long, hard winter and tents have not yet come into vogue along Fairchild.

Speaking of canvases, it would be a good idea if some of the coed hangouts along the same boulevard would erect some pup tents for this winter's star gazers.

And with the short dresses the girls are wearing this fall we would like to get a job digging ditches too.

We are not reflecting on the O. T. E.s.

After looking over this year's crop of Sophomores we readily understand why the college is requiring ALL freshmen to take the intelligence examination.

We believe such an examination is unfair. You can't expect a new student to tell all he knows in two afternoons.

AGGIEVILLE

EXTEND KNOTHOLE CLUB OVER NINE COUNTIES

Local Civic Club Makes Plans for Five Thousand Children to See Aggie Games

Plans to extend the privileges of the "Knothole Gang" of Kansas Aggie football supporters to grade schools over nine counties within a seventy mile radius of Manhattan were completed at a meeting of the Manhattan Co-Op club early this week. More than a thousand letters have been mailed out to instructors and principals in the graded schools in the district bounded, roughly, by Salina, Clay Center, Marysville, Topeka, and McFarland.

The "Knothole Gang" first was organized last fall by the Co-Op club here. Passes to all Aggie football games were issued to students whose scholarship and conduct was approved by the instructor of their class. A special section in the stadium, and special cheer leader were provided for the youngsters, who added much enthusiasm to the proceedings. Under the new plan, membership in the "Gang" probably will be extended to more than five thousand children. An average attendance of about a thousand is expected at each game. Membership will be subject to approval by the instructor of each class.

While the club, in cooperation with the Manhattan chamber of commerce, has charge of distributing the passes, the athletic department of the college is acting as host. Club officials were told to "go the limit," in giving out "Knothole" passes by M. F. Ahearn, director of athletics.

600 FROSH CAPS SOLD

K Fraternity in Charge of Sales and Enforcement

Over 600 freshman caps were sold during the two and a half days of enrolment, according to Harry McGee, president of the K fraternity, who has charge of the sale of the green headgear.

The supply on hand was exhausted before every freshman had a chance to buy one, but McGee states that the remainder of the shipment will be in the first of the week, and that he expects to sell about 300 more.

This year's cap is a radical change from the style of former years. It is a green knit skull cap, with a large purple button adorning the apex. According to McGee, the change from the customary purple cloth cap was due to the action of the S. S. G. A. last year, when the student organization demanded a lower price on the caps.

Enforcement of the rule requiring freshmen to wear the caps will be rigidly enforced, according to members of the K fraternity. The distinguishing head ornaments will make their first appearance a week from Saturday at the Emporia Teachers-Aggie football game. All freshmen who have not invested in one, are advised to get one before the date of appearance. The price this year is 75 cents.

Patterson-Weckel

The marriage of Miss Alice Mary Patterson, of Manhattan, and Mr. George H. Weckel, of Garnett, took place Saturday, August 8, at noon, in the "Little Church Around the Corner," 29th street, near Broadway, New York City.

Mrs. Weckel is a 1925 graduate in Home Economics at K-S. A. C. Mr. Weckel graduated from the same school in Electrical Engineering in 1924 and has since been engaged in engineering work with the General Electric company of Schenectady, N. Y.

Miss Margaret Kater, of Minneapolis, Minn., was the maid of honor. Mr. Clark K. Gibbon, of Hartford, Kan., was the best man. Others present were Mr. J. J. Kater, Minneapolis, Minn.; Mr. Bowen Belt, Washington, D. C.; Mr. Jas. N. Hume and Mr. W. K. Lockhart, both of Humboldt, Kan. Mr. Hume is located at Muscle Shoals, Alabama, and Mr. Lockhart is located at Haddon Heights, N. J.

EMPORIA TEACHERS STRONG

Light but Aggressive Team—Many Vets Back

A somewhat light but aggressive team of veterans is working out under Coach H. W. "Bill" Hargiss, of the Kansas State Teachers college of Emporia, according to advices received from the Pedagogue camp. As was the case last year, the Yellow-jackets have enough speed to help a lot toward counterbalancing their lightness, and Hargiss expects a victorious team this fall. He has an unusually large supply of letter men, and a host of good freshman material, which, however, cannot be used in the Aggie game here on September 26, which must be played under Missouri Valley rules.

Among the veterans are Roy Lane, half, and Emory Cox, half and full, both of whom starred against the Aggies last fall. Captain Harry McGee, center and captain of the Aggie team, will find a worthy opponent in his first game in Harry Crockett, who also is center and captain of the Teacher team. Crockett had considerable experience in service football during the war and is playing his senior year with the Teachers.

PUBLICITY

Among movements that have been gaining ground on the hill in recent years, is one to keep up with the tendency of modern educational institutions to get an enormous enrollment by advertising to students through a bureau of publicity. Such bureaus were first started as mediums of disseminating information secured through experimental work to the public as a whole, but gradually have grown to include news matter concerning practically every phase of student life, including music, debate, oratory, dramatics, athletics, politics, and society.

Where newspapers formerly expected to pay for such straight news matter as they could use, the larger colleges now have staffs of trained writers paid by the institution to get space in the press, acting on the theory that increased enrollment will make up for the financial outlay.

College graduates, non-college men favorable to that type of education, and high school students have thrown themselves into the movement to get the entire non-imbecile population on the campus some place or another.

As a factor in improving the level of society as a whole, the on-to-college movement is perhaps desirable, but the college student or alumnus who is out in competition with the rest of the world, or expects to be soon, had better check up before he goes to extreme length in painting the values of college training to those back home,—especially if he be a student at a state educational institution.

Regrettable though it may be, at least seventy-five per cent and probably as high as ninety per cent of present day college students are where they are because they believe it will aid them to an increased income in later life.

If every Willie, Billie, and Susie back in Hometown finally feels the urge and enrolls, the college man is going to be a much more common and hence cheaper article in the future than he is at present. Today a master's degree is as essential to superiority as a bachelor's degree was a few years ago.

In the state colleges in particular, where the legislature is always half a decade behind the increased student body and losing ground at every session, The Collegian feels that it is time for the student body and the faculty to call a halt on this business of advertising for students.

Education at a state supported institution is, and should always be, open to all residents of the state possessed of the necessary intelligence, but from a purely selfish viewpoint we see no reason why those already enjoying the benefits of such institutions should be especially interested in decreasing its efficiency, in stretching insufficient funds out even farther, at the expense of their own training.

If that friend of yours back home is above the average in intelligence, and really would be a much greater asset to society with college training, he is needed on the campus here. But the business of fairly dragging those too dull to grasp their own opportunities into the class room has reached the point of absurdity.

PRESIDENT FARRELL

The sudden resignation of Dr. William M. Jardine as president of the college last spring and the subsequent appointment of Dr. Francis David Farrell to succeed him left the student body as a whole in much the same frame of mind as was the American nation on the succession of Calvin Coolidge. President Farrell was well known to the division of agriculture, and over the state, but far the larger part of those in attendance at the college had never been brought into contact with the man.

Last spring Francis David Farrell was filling out the year started by W. M. Jardine. Student sentiment seems to be that he made a good job of it, and this taking into account the fact that discipline was made noticeably more rigid.

Wednesday President Farrell talked to the students. He did not speak, just came down to and not below the intellectual level of the student body, and gave them the results of his college experience. In the few occasions for decision that have come up, Doctor Farrell has shown the ability to command when necessary, and the broad mindedness to revise an opinion when it seemed erroneous.

There will be times during the coming school year when one will not be inclined to agree with the policies of President Farrell. There will be occasions when he must perform disagreeable duties in the way of student discipline.

Yet prospects for a successful college year take on a much more pleasant aspect with the knowledge that brief acquaintance with this Doctor Farrell has found him "human," social, forceful, and liberal.

FEWER RULES FOR S. S. G. A.

NEW POLICY STANDS FOR BETTER ENFORCEMENT

Council Hopes for Better Cooperation Between School and Student Authorities This Year

The policy of the Students' Self Governing association this year will tend toward the repeal of unnecessary regulations and a stricter interpretation and enforcement of those rules deemed necessary for a college community, according to Christian Rugh, this year's student president.

"The purposes of the Students' Self Governing association this year are to allow to the students as much freedom from unnecessary and petty governing rules as is at all practical," Mr. Rugh stated. "Too many rules, passed in a half hearted manner and enforced in no manner whatsoever, not only bring contempt for the ability of students to govern themselves, but also breed dissatisfaction and lack of responsibility for their own actions. For these reasons the policy of the S. S. G. A. will tend toward repeal of unnecessary regulations and a stricter interpretation and enforcement of those rules deemed necessary for a community of the size and nature of K. S. A. C."

"Students of college calibre do not need the guidance of 'mother's apron strings' but need to take the responsibility of their acts upon themselves. To impress this attitude upon the student body, rules of basic nature and enforcement of these rules from a strict interpretation is required. The past of the S. S. G. A. has shown that faculty supervision, while desirable, is not necessary in matters pertaining to student affairs and student conduct to obtain fair and reasonable regulations."

Mr. Rugh added that it is hoped that the coming year will show a greater cooperation between school and student authorities and a greater confidence in the students, through the S. S. G. A., to solve problems of practical government in a manner commendable to themselves and to the institution which they represent.

The first meeting of the new council will probably be held within a few days. Members from the upper three classes and the different organizations were elected last year. Representatives from the Freshman class will be selected at the Freshman meeting. Several of the members elected last spring will not be in school this fall, making a reorganization of the council necessary.

Officers of the council this year are: Christian E. Rugh, president; Fred M. Shideler, vice-president; and Margaret Avery, secretary. Jack Spurlock, who was elected treasurer last spring, cannot be in school this semester.

27 AGGIES ATTEND ESTES

Have Largest Delegation to Joint Y. M. and Y. W. Conference

The first joint Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. conference ever attempted was held in Estes Park August 22-September 1, and was attended by 38 students and faculty delegates from K. S. A. C.—one of the largest single delegations present at the conference. Over 550 people were enrolled in the conference. The girls were representative from both the Rocky Mountain and the Southwest regions, and the boys represented only the Rocky Mountain region.

Paul Pfuetze of Manhattan, and Marjorie Day of K. U., were co-chairmen of the conference. Pfuetze was elected to the Y. M. C. A. national council for next year.

Among the noted leaders at the conference were W. J. Hutchins, president of Berea college, Kentucky, an educator, author, and speaker; Kirby Page, one of the most able leaders of America on world problems; Dr. Bruce Curry, who has been elected recently to give Bible lectures at Columbia university next year during Harry Emerson Fosdick's leave of absence; and George Collins, industrial secretary at Berkeley, who has spoken on our campus.

Addresses, Bible study, and general and group discussions, were the various means by which thought was provoked and conclusions drawn on some of the vital problems of the students of today.

K. S. A. C. students attending the conference representing the Y. W. C. A. were Marie Insley, Junction City; Miriam Dexter, Manhattan; Mildred Leech, Fredonia; Katherine Welker, Coffeyville; Helen Hale, Kansas City, Mo.; Mary Brandley, Manhattan; Dorothy Rosebrough, Topeka; Genevieve Tracy, Junction City; Josephine Copeland, Salina; Fern Harris, Bloomington; Laureda Thompson, Manhattan; Ruth Batchelder, Fredonia; Ruth Correll, Manhattan; and Nellie Bare, Protection.

Those representing the Y. M. C. A. were Paul Pfuetze, Manhattan; Paul Axtell, Dimmitt, Tex.; Paul Skinner, Manhattan; Leonard Brubaker, Manhattan; Clyde Randall, Kansas City; Frank Morrison, Charles Gilbert, James Price, and Milton Kerr, all of Manhattan.

Faculty delegates to the faculty conference were Prof. H. W. Brubaker, Prof. R. R. Price, and Miss Alice Melton. Mrs. Eusebia Thompson also attended the conference, and Mrs. R. R. Price was a visitor at a number of the meetings.

"We all cheer the flag and lie to the assessor," sermonizes the Atchison Globe.

FIRST VARSITY PRACTICE LIGHT

WARM WEATHER AND RUSH WEEK ACTIVITIES, CAUSE

Forty-Two Check Out Equipment—Line Averages 185 Pounds—Backfield Fairly Heavy

Forty-two husky young men checked out varsity football equipment last Tuesday afternoon from Coach C. W. Bachman for the first official football practice of the season. To those accustomed to the workouts of the past, which lasted long after dusk, the work of the team this week has been comparatively light.

Coach Bachman explained that he was simply letting the men off temporarily because of the heat and of rush week activities, and that intensive drill will start tomorrow. "Varsity" and "seconds" scrimmaged for a short time the first night of practice, and again for a little while Wednesday and Thursday afternoons. Tomorrow work will begin in earnest with the big red eleven of the freshmen as opponents.

Line Averages 185

In signal drill the first night three out of four men on what apparently was the "first" eleven were sophomores, Haskard and Holsinger were in the halves, Enns at quarter, and Feather at fullback on the varsity during the time spent in calling numbers, but in scrimmage Enns and Holsinger were taken out because of injuries, and Cochrane and Ray Smith substituted the sophomores. The varsity line for the first scrimmage had a weight average of about 185 pounds, the ends dragging it down to that figure. The tackles, guards, and center will average 190 pounds. Linemen in the first scrimmage were H. Rannels, Anthony, end; Bill Ballard, tackle, S. J. Tombaugh, guard; Captain Harry McGee, center; K. Whitfield, guard; Zur Pearson, tackle; and T. A. "Red" Fleck, end.

When the season gets well under way it is probable that Bachman will have two full teams capable of standing up to the average of Valley play. Holsinger, Enns, Haskard, and J. Douglas, Burlington, fullback, of last year's freshmen team should develop into stars with a little more experience, while Smith, Wilson, Cochrane, Anderson, and Feather of last year's backfield are due for a much better season than last year with the benefit of their experience.

The sophomores out for the halves and quarterback have a weight advantage over the older men. Enns at quarter weighs around 175, while Holsinger and Haskard come up close to the 170 pound mark.

Squad Numbers 42

The squad members and positions are as follows:

Quarterbacks—Owen Cochrane, '27, letter man; W. K. Enns, Inman, '28; Joe M. Anderson, '27, letter man, Salina; Joe Limes, '28, Iola.

Fullbacks—James Douglas, '28, Burlington; H. J. Dayhoff, '27, Abilene, letter man; Elwyn E. Feather, '27, Minneapolis, letter man; Dixie Wingfield, '28, Junction City.

Right Halfbacks—Kenneth Boyd '28, Irving; O. H. Wilson, '26, Jennings, two letter man; Don Meek, '27, Idana, letter man; R. J. Haskard, '28, Hutchinson; Fred E. Masek, '27, Norton.

Left guards—Walt Koerner, '27, Wakefield; S. J. Tombaugh, '27, Kansas City, letter man; C. W. Brion, '27, Manhattan; Kerr Whitfield, '27, Ness City, letter man.

Right guards—Myron Reed, '27, Norton, letter man; C. H. Towle, '27,

FIRST BOXING SHOW AT COMMUNITY HOUSE TUESDAY

"Kid" Hartman and Earl Cecil Meet in Bantamweight Class

The first boxing show of the fall season to be staged in Manhattan under the new state boxing law will be at the Community house next Tuesday night under the auspices of the American Legion. "Kid" Hartman, who claims the bantamweight championship of Texas, Oklahoma, and Kansas, will defend his title against Earl Cecil of Kansas City, Mo. Hartman has participated in more than 200 bouts with only one knockout against him and may move up into "big time" if he survives the encounter with Cecil.

The semi-windup will be between "Tex" Mills of Manhattan and "Chic" Browne of Fort Riley. Two of the preliminaries will be between Raymond Fitzgerald and Paul Stebbins, two local boys, and L. W. Bailey and Louis Iglehart, also of Manhattan. Both will be for four rounds. Stebbins boxed at Fort Snelling while at R. O. T. C. camp last summer, and made a creditable showing.

Tickets are "going good" according to E. A. "Bud" Knoth, manager. Pasteboards are on sale at the Palace Drug Store downtown and in Aggieville, Cook's Drug store, the College Drug store, and Marsh's Cigar store.

Joins Brookwood College Faculty

Miss Helen G. Norton of Chanute, who was graduated from the rural commerce department of K. S. A. C. last spring, has gone to Katonah, N. Y., where she will join the faculty of Brookwood Labor college, located about 40 miles from New York City. In addition to her professorial duties, she will have charge of the college newspaper.

Miss Norton made a notable record during her career at K. S. A. C., graduating with the highest average of any girl in the class of '25. She has contributed to several well known publications, and last year wrote a regular Sunday feature for the Topeka Capital.

WILDCATS OPEN 1925 SEASON SAT.

BOTH TEAMS INCLUDE SEVERAL VETS IN LINE-UP

Varsity Scrimmage Against Freshmen Saturday Indicates That Passing Game May Be Used by Wildcats

A fairly heavy team with a veteran line and mostly a sophomore backfield will meet a team of light, fast veterans when Kansas State opens the 1925 season against the Kansas State Teachers of Emporia on Stadium field here Saturday. Coach C. W. Bachman probably will not start the entire eleven which he is counting on to "do the heavy" throughout the season, but may be called on to throw them all into the game should the Yellow Jackets prove exceptionally strong.

Varsity Met Frosh

Saturday the varsity scrimmaged against the frosh. The tilt gave the offense alone a chance to show its power, as the frosh were not given an opportunity to carry the ball. Three full teams took turns at smashing the red eleven, which did well in spite of the fact that it is unusually light this year with four or five exceptions in the entire squad.

Karl Enns, Inman, piloted the first string, with Haskard and Don Springer at halfback, and E. E. Feather at fullback.

Joe Holsinger was on the sidelines with a slight shoulder injury. T. A. Fleck, sophomore, Wanego, and H. "Pro" Randells, Anthony, were handling the ends, with Ballard and Z. Pearson in the tackles, and Whitfield and Tombaugh at guards. Captain H. L. McGee is playing center at present, and will continue at that position unless some of the sophomores develop sufficiently to take the place.

Passing Thrill Revived

The thrill of the old forward passing game probably will be revived in a mild form by the 1925 Wildcats. Haskard, Randells, and Don Meek snatched three rather difficult passes Saturday afternoon. Cochrane, Holsinger, Enns, and Don Springer have come to be fairly accurate at tossing the ball.

Enns and Haskard both gave rare exhibitions of open field running, with the aid of good interference, and "snaked" through the entire freshman team. Ray Smith also got back into form toward the last part of the evening and twisted through the field in great style.

High Values Billy, a senior Ayrshire calf owned by the dairy department of K. S. A. C., took the blue ribbon prize at the Kansas Free fair. This was the only animal shown by the dairy department.

Season Tickets Ready

Season tickets for football are ready and will be distributed to holders of student activity receipts starting Wednesday morning. Distribution will be made through the athletic office. Students must present their varsity activity fee receipts, or get a duplicate from the business office, before football tickets will be issued.

Dairy Profs Prominent at Fair

K. S. A. C. dairy departmental heads took an important part in conducting the various dairy demonstrations at the Kansas Free fair at Topeka last week.

J. B. Fitch, who just recently returned from Sacramento, Cal., where he judged cattle at the California State fair, spoke on the program of the Kansas Dairy congress which holds its annual meeting at the Kansas Free fair.

H. W. Cave judged Ayrshire and Guernsey cattle. R. H. Lush was superintendent of the dairy cattle demonstration. J. W. Linn had charge of the cow-testing association demonstration.

W. H. Martin, a new faculty member at K. S. A. C., judged butter and had charge of the churning demonstration.

NINE NEW MEMBERS ADDED TO HOME ECONOMICS FACULTY

Increased Enrolment in Division Necessitates More Instructors—New Members Well Qualified

Nine new members have been added to the division of home economics for the fall semester, in order to take care of the increase in enrolment.

Miss Ruth Tucker, who will be assistant professor in the food economics department, received her master's degree from the University of Illinois last June, and will be in the dietetics laboratory at K. S. A. C.

Miss Lela Dunton, new assistant professor in food economics and nutrition, received her master's degree from the University of Wisconsin in 1922. Her work here will be largely research.

The graduate assistants in the food economics and nutrition department will be Miss Mary Margaret Shaw, B. A., Fairmount college; Miss Verral Craven, 1915; and Miss Mary Dey, 1925. Miss Shaw was in the department last year, and is a fellow under appointment.

In the department of household economics, Miss Helen Bishop has returned after a year's leave of absence, and will be an assistant professor, having charge of the work of household management and also management of the practice house.

Miss Gladys Addy, 1921, is a graduate assistant in the household economics department, and will major in institutional management. Miss Addy comes here from Bloomington, Ill., where she has been in the Y. W. C. A. cafeteria for over two years. She has also had practical experience in Y. W. C. A. cafeterias in Salt Lake City, Utah, and El Dorado, Kan.

Miss Emily Wilson will also be a graduate assistant in the household economics department. Miss Wilson is a graduate of Kansas State Teachers' college at Pittsburg, and has a Ph. B. degree from the University of Chicago. She has been teaching in Kansas, Idaho, and Illinois, coming here from the Wisconsin State Normal school at Stevens Point, Wis., where she has been teaching home economics the past four years. Her work here will be in household management.

Mrs. Katherine (Paddock) Hess, 1900, will be graduate assistant in the clothing and textiles department.

Mrs. Florence (Clark) Sewell, 1915, will do research work in the clothing and textiles department.

Mrs. Lucille Rust, who was graduate assistant in the department of home economics last year is now assistant professor in the department of education and has charge of the observation and supervised training of home economics.

Bernice Noble, '25, has gone to Austin, Tex., to teach foods in a settlement school for colored girls.

Write Home

For the Kansas State-Kansas Teachers game in Memorial stadium here Saturday the Union Pacific railroad is offering an excursion rate of $2 for the round trip from Kansas City, with corresponding rates along the line from the east. The game is the only one in which a Missouri Valley team participates on that day. The athletic department is endeavoring to make it a special day for friends of the college. Students living along the line east of Kansas City are asked to write home to their families and friends reminding them of the opportunity to see Manhattan, the college, and a Valley team in action at little expense.

BEN CHERRINGTON FIRST STUDENT FORUM SPEAKER

Will Open Series of Luncheon Talks Thursday, October 1—Three Other Speakers Engaged

Four prominent speakers have been secured for the student forum luncheons, the first of which will be held October 1. It was announced Saturday by Dr. A. A. Holtz, secretary of the Y. M. C. A. Ben Cherrington, international Y. M. C. A. student secretary with headquarters at Denver, will speak at the first forum.

Mr. Cherrington was formerly football coach at the University of Nebraska and later head football coach at the University of California, before he went into Y. M. C. A. work. Mr. Cherrington has visited Manhattan and the college several times, and he has many friends here to welcome him back.

Prof. M. F. "Mike" Ahearn, director of Aggie athletics, will speak at the forum October 8 on the subject, "The Irish Free State." Professor Ahearn was not born in Ireland as many think, but he is Irish by inheritance. He had an opportunity to study political conditions in Ireland the past summer while on an extensive tour through European countries.

General E. E. Booth, in command of the cavalry school at Ft. Riley and deputy allied commissioner to Armenia in 1920, will speak at the forum on October 15. He will take for his subject, "Problems of the Near East."

Dr. Howard T. Hill, head of the department of public speaking, is scheduled to speak at the forum October 22 on the subject, "Has the British Empire a Future?" Dr. Hill was a member of the Sherwood Eddy party of the American Seminar on a tour to Europe the past summer, and he spent considerable time in England while abroad.

Dr. Holtz announces that a new system has been adopted with regard to the forum this year on account of dissatisfaction with the former plan. Instead of selling 25 cent tickets before the program, each person will go in the line with the others, buy the food he desires, and pay for it afterwards.

CAP SUPPLY ARRIVES

Freshman Headgear Now on Sale at Athletic Office

A new supply of freshman caps arrived yesterday and are now on sale at the athletic office, according to H. L. McGee, who is handling sales for the "K" fraternity. The caps are selling at 75 cents each, a reduction from the price of $1 set last year. Caps must be worn starting Saturday morning throughout the entire football season.

New Discovery—Real Reason for "Rah, Rah, Rah" in College Yells

There is a real reason why college cheers so frequently contain the word "Rah." According to studies made by Dr. Irving B. Crandall and Mr. C. F. Scola of Bell Telephone Laboratories men ordinarily speak this sound louder than any other vowel. If the value of 50 be assigned to the amount of energy delivered by man's voice to the air for this particular sound, then its nearest rival, the sound of "a" as in "tap" comes next at 44, and as in "talk" at 37.

Women's voices present quite a contrast to man's in that there are four vowel sounds of practically the same loudness. These are the vowels in "tone," "talk," and "Rah." "Ah" is the easiest sound to produce because fewer throat and mouth muscles are tensed; hence it is the basic vowel sound in most languages.

Florence Harris, '25, is assistant in the Y. W. C. A. cafeteria in Baltimore, Md.

INTEREST HIGH IN NEW COURSE

27 ENROLLED IN FIRST GIRLS' PHYSICAL ED CURRICULUM

Complete Four Year Course Now Offered—Students Receive Well Rounded Education

At the end of registration on Wednesday morning, 27 girls, mostly freshmen but including a few sophomores who transferred from other courses, were enrolled in the new course in physical education.

This course was designed to train young women thoroughly for the positions which are rapidly opening in Kansas school systems, and according to Miss Morris, head of the department, it promises to be a great success. For several years there has been a demand for such a course and in planning one Miss Morris considered the curricula of such outstanding universities as Michigan, Wisconsin, Illinois, and Kansas. The work now offered at K. S. A. C. compares very favorably with the physical education courses of these schools. A degree of bachelor of science in physical education is given at the end of four years.

General Culture Subjects Given

Practical training under competent teachers is offered in such subjects as formal gymnastics, basketball, hockey, baseball, swimming, tennis, track, and archery, while the student receives instruction also in the basic sciences of chemistry, zoology, physiology, hygiene, anatomy and physical examination and diagnosis. Subjects of general culture are also included in the course so that the possessor of a degree in physical education will be not merely a specialist but will be equipped with a well rounded general education.

Several new subjects have been added to the physical education department aside from the straight course. These are general technique, plays and games, and first aid. A new sport, not offered before this year, is volleyball.

Miss Ruth Morris Manages Course

Instruction to those who enroll in this course or in any of these subjects will be under the direction of Miss Ruth Morris, head of the physical education department, Miss Geneva Watson, and Miss Myra Wade. Miss Morris received her training at the University of Wisconsin and at Columbia University. Miss Watson is a graduate of the University of Chicago and Miss Wade of Oberlin College. A new position has been created for a graduate assistant but no one has yet been found to fill the place.

Although graduates from the physical education curriculum will not be guaranteed positions, the college will be glad to give the usual assistance in placing them. Graduates having the necessary personal qualities and training are much in demand.

VARSITY DANCES

Student governing bodies at several Missouri Valley institutions are finding an easy way of handling a difficult situation and a profitable source of revenue in student council management of varsity dances. At the University of Oklahoma a student manager for varsity dances is elected for the year. At the University of Kansas the proposition is handled through the business office of the university, where all tickets are sold, and regulation of the dances is controlled by the Men's Student Council. Last year at K. U. a total of $4,025 was cleared. Two halls were used regularly in order to accommodate the crowds, and there was very little complaint.

Incidentally, prices on varsity dances were reduced from a dollar and a dime to seventy-five cents for couples. "Stags" are charged a dollar and a quarter, and their attendance limited to ten per cent of the number of tickets sold.

Oklahoma had so successful a season last year that a roof garden has been built at the hall used for the purpose. The check stand has been taken over by the students, where last year it was under private management, and a cold drink fountain has been added, also under student operation.

Under the management of the past few years, there has been very little complaint on student dances at Kansas State. Discipline has been in the hands of the Student Self Governing association, but finances have not. In spite of good control, however, patronage of dances outside the approved list has not been wholly confined to non-students, perhaps because there has been a tendency at times for certain groups of students to somewhat monopolize the varsity dance.

Adherents of the present system can point to the fact that it "worked," but other large schools are finding that student council management "works" even better and are using the funds from that source to make the institution a better place in which to attend school.

The student council could select a competent manager, who need not handle any of the funds. Ticket sales and payment of bills might be done directly through the college business office, the duty of the manager being advertising, selection of an orchestra, and providing for a chaperone. He could be placed on salary, with provision for a bonus in case his duties were performed efficiently.

If the S. S. G. A. is required to handle dance discipline, why not dance profits?

Reprinted without comment from The Bulletin, student newspaper of the Kansas State Teachers' college of Emporia:

The Bulletin's contemporary over on Mount Oread in Lawrence modestly states, "The University Daily Kansan is one of the best University Dailies in the United States." Our pride has not arisen to such heights sublime as has the Kansan, but we will proudly flaunt to the news-hungry world that the Bulletin is published in the best Teachers College in the United States.

The editor of The Collegian wishes to announce that Campus Echoes was omitted from the paper this issue because of his inability to get any one to write the column, the coin conductor being on a vacation.

Of course, we did have one about the Kappa Deltas, but that wasn't enough to fill the allotted space. It seems (stock beginning No. 333, see page two, line nine, "How to Begin an After Dinner Speech.") Anyway, it seems that an alumna of Kappa Delta was in town this week, and that said alumna is well acquainted with an alumnus of a fraternity, who also was in town.

One night a member noticed that the porch lights were burning (Kappa Delta has TWO porch lights) and sent a pledge, attired more or less informally, down to turn them out. The pledge doused the porch lights, turned on the hall lights, and was, needless to say, very much startled to find the living room occupied.

As we were saying, it was scarcely enough to write a column about.

And then there was the journalists' tea, still a future event. Members of Theta Sigma Phi, it is understood, are planning to give one for the underclassmen in lecture period, and charge class cuts against those who do not accept the bid.

That finished it. Not to infer that Kappa Delta and Theta Sigma Phi were the only two funny things in school this week. There were several others, but unfortunately they were not the kind you write about.

So we resigned ourselves to not having a Campus Echoes this issue.

resurrected our cap from the athletic office, our tie from over the picture frame, our raincoat from our fifth hour class room, our pencil from the clutches of another staff member, and went home to find that we had left our history book in the office.

For further particulars, see personal memoirs of General Sherman.

Change Seating Plan

The home crowd at University of Kansas football games this fall will sit on the west side of the stadium, instead of on the east side, as in the past, according to the University Daily Kansan. Athletic officials made this ruling in order to give followers of the Kansas team the benefit of the shade, it was said.

A special radiocasting program, dealing principally with Hessian fly control, was put on at Station KBAC during the noon hour last Saturday. Short talks, dealing with various phases of the work, were given by Dean L. E. Call, Prof. G. A. Dean, Prof. J. W. McColloch, Prof. E. G. Kelly, and Prof. R. I. Throckmorton.

HAROLD ENROLS AS FRESHMAN

Noted Comedian Depicts College Life at Wareham Next Week

It has been some time since the screen has had a story of college life, and never has Harold Lloyd, who appears in "The Freshman" at the Wareham theater next week, appeared as a college boy. So what better than to add to his gallery of humorous portraits a freshman—a boy trying earnestly to enter into college life with his best foot ever forward, and always getting it stepped on. He's a freshman with senior ambitions, and of course, the entire school is in league to give him the "razzberries."

Harold is out to capture all the college honors that are possible. Among his early attempts is an endeavor to make the football team. After spending the afternoon acting as a dummy in tackle practice, he is put on as a substitute—yes, a water boy, and never has a chance to appear in a game.

But even a water boy can achieve fame and glory, as is proven in the grand climax of "The Freshman," which is said to outdo every laughing thrill Harold Lloyd has ever closed a comedy with.

CAFETERIA FEEDS OVER A THOUSAND PERSONS DAILY

Both East and West Counters Open at Noon—Pie Still Eight Cents

Over 1,000 persons a day have eaten at the college cafeteria during the first week of school. This is a great increase over that of last year.

For the benefit of freshmen and upperclassmen, too, it should be announced that both counters are open at noon for service. Students should take advantage of this by going to the east counter, which is equally as good as the west, and avoid the crowd always assembled at the west door. However, the east counter is not open in the morning and evening.

One should be careful when he sets his tray in the subway that he place it there correctly. There have been a number of dishes broken on account of students who carelessly put away their tray. The east subway has just been repaired because of breakage caused by a spoon being left in a cereal dish. If the silver is laid flat on the tray there is no danger of it falling and causing breakage and added expense.

Pie is still 8 cents a piece; all salads 8 cents, all meats 10 cents, and vegetables and desserts 5 cents. Other foods are reasonably priced and a good meal may be obtained for a relatively low cost.

Faith Martin Hanna, Mankato, spent the week at the Pi Beta Phi house.

ANNOUNCES PLANS FOR POULTRY JUDGING CONTEST

First Time Contests Have Been Held in Poultry Husbandry Department—Cash Prizes Given

For the first time in the history of the department of poultry husbandry, a poultry judging contest will be staged this year, it was announced last week by Prof. L. F. Payne, head of the department. The contest will be held some time during the latter part of October, after the students in farm poultry production have had culling in their regular course.

The contest will be similar to those contests that are held each year in several of the other departments in the division of agriculture, Professor Payne said. Qualities for egg production will be stressed in the contest. Cash prizes will be awarded to the winner of the contest as a whole and to high individuals in the various classes.

Virtually all of the students in the division of agriculture will be qualified for entrance in the contest, Professor Payne explained. Most of the juniors and seniors have had the required work, and the freshmen took the courses in their vocational agriculture work in high school.

JUDGE CATTLE AT TOPEKA

Seven Aggies Get Pre-Season Practice at State Fair

Upperclassmen who will try out for a place on the K. S. A. C. dairy judging team this fall received some valuable pre-season practice by placing several classes of cattle at the Kansas Free Fair at Topeka last week.

The students who took part in the event at the fair were: Guy Faulconer, Harry Rust, Joe Wallace, Earl Knapp, C. W. Thole, Howard Vernon, and E. R. Dawson. These men are now meeting each afternoon under the direction of Prof. H. W. Cave, dairy judging coach. The team will be cut to four men prior to the first meet, September 28, at the Dairy Cattle congress in Waterloo, Iowa. On October 10, the team will compete at the National Dairy show which will be held at Indianapolis, Ind. Professor Cave states that there were 24 state agricultural colleges who competed at this meet last year and at least that many will compete this year.

W. A. A. PARTY OCTOBER 9

Annual Reception to Freshman Girls in Recreation Center

The Women's Athletic association held its first cabinet meeting of the year last week to determine a definite date for the annual party to freshman girls and to discuss the organization's work for the coming year.

The party, which will probably be a costume affair and will take place in Recreation center, will be on October 9.

In addition to the party plans, the members discussed the possibility of organizing a girl's pep club similar in purpose to the Wampus Cats.

The first regular meeting of the W. A. A. for the season will be on Thursday, September 24.

Aggie Profs Judge Poultry

Virtually every member of the faculty as well as a number of students majoring in the department of poultry husbandry are assisting many of the county fair associations this month and next by judging the poultry exhibits.

Prof. L. F. Payne and H. B. Muggleston were scheduled to judge the poultry show at Seneca Tuesday, September 22. G. T. Klein was engaged to judge the fair at Hays on the same day. W. J. Kraus will judge the Mankato poultry show October 2.

Prof. H. H. Steup will judge the poultry exhibits at the Westmoreland show on October 1, and Harlow Stewart will perform similar services at the Valley Falls poultry show September 30. Professor Payne will also judge the poultry exhibits at the Merriam show, Shawnee Mission, October 2.

George Theis, Jr., of Wichita and Harvey Sconce of Sidel, Ill., were at the college Saturday to study experimental work on corn and to plan some experimental work for the development of improved varieties of corn in southwestern Kansas. They expect to cooperate in carrying on this work in Clark county.

Beyond the Hill

Though the freshmen won six out of 11 events in the annual freshman-sophomore class "scrap" at the College of Emporia this fall, the sophomores were victorious on a point basis.

Enrollment at Bethany college, Lindsborg, passed the 400 mark this fall. Eighty-five freshmen are included in this number.

Support of the "Sooner," yearbook of the University of Oklahoma, is organized on much the same plan as is the varsity activity fee at Kansas State. Students are required to pay for the book at the time of registration, and then collect a refund in case they are unable to stand the expense of the purchase. Sale price of the annual has been reduced to $3.50 a copy by this method. The book is under the control of the journalism department.

The Oklahoma Whirlwind, humorous magazine of the university which was suspended from its place as an official publication last year, has been reinstated this fall. The copyright on the magazine was surrendered to the publication board, and all executive staff officers are required to file a resignation with the board at the time of election. Last year the magazine was published outside the university following its suspension.

Prices on student dances at the University of Kansas have been reduced by action of the Men's Student council this fall. Hereafter the admission will be 75 cents for couples and $1.25 for "stags." The number of "stag" tickets also will be held to approximately 10 per cent of the total number sold. Student dances at the university are under control of the student council, and all profits go into the student treasury.

Thomas M. Dumm, 23-year-old law student at the University of Missouri, was killed recently when he fell 15 feet off the top of a diving tower in a Columbia swimming pool after losing his balance. His father was a prominent Jefferson City lawyer. He was a member of Phi Delta Theta.

SOONERS WORKING HARD TO AVERAGE LAST YEAR'S RECORD

Only Six Veterans on Squad—Coach Owen Depending on First Year Men

Norman, Okla., Sept. 21.—Smarting under its 1924 record which shows but two victories in eight starts, the Oklahoma Sooners under the leadership of Captain Edwin N. Brockman have started practice in earnest with the avowed purpose of revenging their last year's setbacks.

The Sooners of 1924, although they could pull but two of their games out of the fire, earned the distinction of being the only team in the Missouri Valley to defeat Nebraska in five years when they downed the Huskers 14 to 7 at Norman. This year they meet the Nebraska at Lincoln on October 31.

Eighty-seven men have responded to the call of Coach Ben G. Owen, who is being assisted in his tutoring by L. A. (Polly) Wallace, former Iowa State all-American center. Besides Brockman, guard, but five veterans of last year are returning to do battle for Oklahoma. They are Wallace, center; Slough, quarterback; Haller, Lamb, and Arbuckle, halfbacks.

A horde of first year men, who as freshmen gridsters last year handed the victory a 13 to 0 defeat, will be eligible for the Sooner team of 1925. It is on these men that Benny Owen is relying for his 1925 strength.

The Oklahoma schedule, with the scores of last year, follows:

October 2—Kansas Aggies at Manhattan, 7 to 7.

October 17—Drake at Norman, 7 to 20 Drake.

October 31—Nebraska at Lincoln, 14 to 7 Oklahoma.

November 7—Kansas at Norman, 7 to 20 Kansas.

November 14—Missouri at Columbia, 0 to 10 Missouri.

November 21—Washington at Norman, 7 to 0 Oklahoma.

November 26—Oklahoma Aggies at Norman, 0 to 6 Oklahoma Aggies.

Central Teachers' college defeated Oklahoma last year 2 to 0. The Sooners scored but 43 points in 1924 as compared with 85 for their opponents.

CABINET MEMBERS WILL BE INTRODUCED AT VESPERS

Organized Group Discussions Feature Services This Year

The first vesper services of the year will be held at four o'clock this afternoon in the Home Economics rest room. Y. W. C. A. cabinet members will be introduced, discussion groups explained, and plans for committee work discussed at this time.

Miss Grace Hesse, conductor of the Y. W. C. A. octette, will lead the group singing, and short talks will be given by Miss Katherine Welker, president of the association, and Dean Mary P. Van Zile. Cards will be distributed at the meeting and every girl will be given an opportunity to designate the committee or emphasis group on which she wishes to work. The cards also may be secured at the Y. W. C. A. office in Calvin Hall.

Vesper services will not be featured by special speakers this year, but will consist largely of discussions among organized groups led by Big Sister captains. This plan, which is being used successfully in many schools, is being introduced here in order that each girl may express her opinion and take an active part in each meeting.

3,000 ATTEND OPENING

Students Enjoy Entertainment at Annual Aggieville Celebration

Seventy Aggieville business firms held their annual fall opening Thursday night for new and old students of K. S. A. C. Approximately 3,000 people attended the entertainment.

A parade composed of floats, trucks, and automobiles advertising Aggieville, was held in addition to a street dance, vaudeville entertainment, and music by the Manhattan Municipal band. Other features of the opening were a watermelon eating contest, a boxing match, the serving of refreshments, and the giving of souvenirs.

The elaborate window displays and decorations found throughout the entire business section of Aggieville were of especial interest.

Seminar for Poultry Department

Bi-weekly seminar programs will be held in the department of poultry husbandry at the college this year for the first time, according to Prof. L. F. Payne, head of the department. Faculty members, graduate students, and students majoring in the department, will attend the exercises. Talks will be given by members of the faculty in the department, with Dr. D. C. Warren in charge.

Week-end guests at the Gamma Phi Delta house were: Evelyn Garvin, Lawrence; Margaret Gallemore, Arkansas City; Ruth Hubbard, Waterville; Emma Rebman, LaHarpe; and Frances Bond, Bartlesville, Okla.

Alice Marston, '24, of Wilmington, Del., is visiting friends on the campus this week. She has a graduate assistantship at Pennsylvania university, in bacteriology and public health, and will take up her work there soon.

Nettie Josephine Pfaff of Beloit was married on Saturday, September 12 to Claude R. Butcher of Salina. Previous to her marriage Miss Pfaff had been an expert dietitian in the government hospital at Hot Springs, Ark.

Florence Barnhisel, '25, is assistant director of the Y. W. C. A. cafeteria at St. Louis. Her address is 5010 Maple.

PLAY EMPORIA HERE SATURDAY

STARTS FOOTBALL SEASON—LARGE CROWD EXPECTED

Teachers and Wildcats Fought Hard Battle Last Year—
Final Score 19 to 6

Attendance at the Kansas State-K. S. T. C. of Emporia football game which opens the Aggie season in Memorial Stadium here Saturday should rival or even exceed that of mid-season valley contests if weather conditions make the day favorable. In addition to the special excursion rate from Kansas City which will bring many former Aggies to Manhattan, the Teachers are hoping to bring some 500 backers of their team up for the game in a special "pep caravan."

The Teachers have several veterans of last year's team back, among them two or three who played well against the Aggies. Art Regnier, a sophomore guard, Roy Lane, fullback, and Captain Harry Crockett, center, will be remembered for their work on Stadium field last fall. Alfred Quasebarth, halfback and punter, will not return to school until the second semester, and therefore will not be among those present Saturday.

Last season the Teachers were able to score on the inexperienced Aggies, and at one time threatened to score again and tie or go ahead of the Aggies.

The Wildcats got the ball on a fumble, however, and managed to score before the game was over, making the margin 19 to 6.

Coach H. W. "Bill" Hargiss is a veteran among Kansas football coaches. He graduated from the college at which he is now coaching, and in 1911 started teaching football at the College of Emporia. From there he went to K. S. T. C. of Emporia in 1914, and stayed until 1918, when he went to the Oregon Agricultural college to become director of physical education.

In 1920 he returned to Emporia to again become director of athletics at the Teachers college.

Sport Notes

Prospects for a tennis team at Kansas State a year from this coming spring have taken a decided upward slant with the enrolment of Harold Lewis, last year of Southwestern college, Winfield. Lewis holds the singles championship in the Kansas conference. Though he is an advanced student in the college, he will not be eligible for Missouri Valley play this year.

Incidentally, the team representing the Aggies on the court in the coming season should be an improvement over that of last year. H. D. Sappenfield, H. J. Dayhoff, Hoyt Purcell, and Tim Kleinenberg, members of the team last year, are back in school this fall; several likely freshmen from last year also are eligible, including Donoho and Coburn.

Varsity tennis might be much improved by changing the rules for winning a "K." The present requirement calls for a first, second, or third in a valley meet.

With no particular inducement in the way of official recognition ahead of them, several of the best tennis players in school have preferred in the past few years to enter the intramural tournament, which offers a medal and points toward a sweater, rather than practice steadily for the varsity with small chance of winning the coveted "K." Too drastic a reduction of the requirements is not desirable, but The Collegian would suggest that the athletic board consider the matter seriously before next spring.

Another minor sport which has been neglected locally will be well taken care of next spring. Ray Smith, halfback on the football team, is one of the best known young golfers in the state, while Joe Holsinger, also a candidate for halfback on the football team, hung up a good record while at Rosedale high school in Kansas City, Kans. Last year there was no Kansas State golf team, as Smith was the only man enrolled whose game was on a par with the teams of other Valley schools. Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma, and Washington are among those in which golf is offered as a minor sport.

CHANCES GOOD FOR ANOTHER CROSSCOUNTRY CHAMPIONSHIP

Five Members of Last Year's Championship Team Back—Three Meets Scheduled

With five of the six men which composed the Missouri Valley championship cross country team of 1924 and several new outstanding distance runners, this year's squad of harriers has great prospects of leading the Valley for the second time. Captain R. E. Kimport, who placed second in the Missouri Valley in 1924, will act as coach during training.

The five letter men back are R. E. Kimport, captain, Norton; M. Sallee, Long Island; R. P. Alkman, Anness; P. A. Axtell, Argonia; and E. Rutherford, Manhattan. E. von Riesen, Marysville, is the only man lost to the team with the exception of H. Pyle who was the only substitute.

Other outstanding men, who will help to make competition for places on the team stronger are A. E. McGrath, Paola; L. Moody, Junction City; and L. W. Dunlap, Scott City. These men showed up well in intramural competition last year and stand a good chance of displacing letter men. Several more applicants are also placing bids: E. V. Roush, Lebanon; F. H. Talbott, Emporia; N. N. Weber, Salina; F. K. Pierce, Minneapolis; and H. Aillard, Manhattan.

Although several men are working out regularly, intensive training has not as yet been imposed. However, according to Captain Kimport, training will start in full swing next week.

Besides the Missouri Valley championship meet, near November 1, there are two other meets on the schedule—one with Kansas, October 17, at Lawrence; and another either with Nebraska, Haskell, or Missouri, October 24, at Manhattan.

MIXER AND WATERMELON FEED SCHEDULED TONIGHT

Freshmen Are Especially Invited—
2,500 Pounds of Melon Ordered

Men who are in charge of the Y. M. C. A. mixer and watermelon feed announce that the event will begin promptly at 7:15 tonight, so that anyone desiring to attend the mixer and the boxing match at the community house afterwards, will have time to do so.

An extra 500 pounds of watermelons have been ordered making a total of 2,500 pounds in all. The freshmen of the college are especially invited to come and get acquainted with the college men and the college ways. All college men are cordially invited to attend.

Dean L. E. Call, of the division of agriculture, and Prof. L. F. Payne, of the poultry husbandry department, went to Garden City last week to attend the field day program. Both were scheduled to make talks.

KANSAS STATE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, MANHATTAN, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 25, 1925

KING FOOTBALL BACK TOMORROW

TEACHERS PROMISE SURPRISE FOR SEASON'S OPENER

Aggie Squad, However, Is Stronger Than Team Which Defeated
Yellowjackets Last Fall

A sleek young Wildcat with his even rows of teeth all sharpened and shiny meets a more or less stinging Yellowjacket from Emporia tomorrow afternoon in the "big noise" of the day so far as Missouri Valley football circles are concerned.

A year ago the Aggies had the fewest letter men back of any school in the valley, and were outweighed four pounds to the man by the Teacher line. This fall Kansas State boasts fifteen returned lettermen, the largest number of any valley school, and will outweigh the Teachers.

Coach H. W. "Bill" Hargiss has some twenty odd "K" men on his own squad, however, and has intimated that things may be even more interesting than the Aggie-Teacher fray of a year ago, which was decidedly uncomfortable from a local standpoint until the last quarter, though the Yellowjackets were outplayed as well as defeated when the game as a whole was considered.

Old Backfield Back
Almost the same backfield which stepped on the field against the Teachers in the 1924 game will be back again tomorrow to tussle with the Hargiss aggregation.

Back around 1914, when the Aggies had just entered the Missouri Valley, the Teachers were accounted in the class as Aggie opponents which Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, and the rest of the valley now occupy. Of late years, however, the Wildcats have "grown away" somewhat from the Emporia crew, and a Aggie defeat tomorrow afternoon would be a surprise over the middle west, if not in Emporia.

No Sensational Football
It is probable that very little sensational or "inside" football will be used by the Aggies. Coach Bachman may or may not follow the plan used last year, of wearing down the opposition in the first half and throwing in a new string, but at any rate he will not flash anything calculated to cause valley scouts who may be in the audience to work overtime unless forced to do so by necessity.

The Teachers have many names in the line and backfield which will be remembered from last year, in addition to several new men. Cox, the quarterback, Regnier, a lineman, and Captain Harry Crockett, fullback, are among those who will play.

K. S. A. C. Pos. K. S. T. C.
J. Price r. e. Hainline
Krysl r. t. Weber
Reed r. g. Regnier
McGee (c) c. (c) Crockett
Brion l. g. Richmond
Telford l. t. Ridgeway
Ehrlich l. e. Firebaugh
Wilson r. h. Sipe
Smith l. h. Harris

Eurodelphians Meet

The first meeting of the Eurodelphian literary society was held Saturday afternoon. The following program was given: devotionals, Mildred Leech; Eurodelphian songs, Elizabeth Anderson; music, Alice Crumbaker and Ruth Balner; "Around the Corner" and "Hello," Ruth Faulconer; summer experiences, Alice Marston, Alice Mustard, Dorothy Rosebrough, Ida Cool, and Dr. Margaret Russell. The Delphi was prepared by Geneva Paley, Ida Cool, and Helen Graham.

Tom Moore, the Irish poet, was a grocer's son, short of stature and of insignificant appearance.

Formal Fall Opening of Reign of Terror to Greet Unadorned

Tomorrow noon the blood thirsty cries of "meat!" and the ominous clattering of paddles will bring into actual existence the 1925 football season and the "reign of terror" for uncapped freshmen.

Opinions vary widely as to the right or wrong of paddling. Because of injuries received by both freshmen and upperclassmen in hazing affairs of the past, the college administration has not supported the upperclassmen in their punishment of the offending yearlings. Right or wrong, hazing has produced two good results: the instilling of pep and energy into the student body, and the enforcing of the Aggie tradition that all freshman men year the distinctive cap during the football and baseball seasons.

Who has caused all the difficulty? Past experience points to the upperclassman that loses his judgment and resorts to clubs and lengths of rubber hose instead of the regulation paddle. The only apparent remedy for this is to head said upperclassman down the same line to the tune of resounding barrel staves and the jeers of the yearlings. At least his murderous ardor will be cooled if his judgment is not restored.

ELECTRICAL GRIDIRON BEING GROOMED FOR FIRST GAME

First Football Party Will Be Held
October 10—Regular Stadium Atmosphere

In order to give the football patrons who attend the Sigma Delta Chi football parties this fall the maximum value for their money, the fraternity is already busy perfecting plans for the first event, which will take place October 10 when the Drake-Aggie game will be reproduced on the electrically operated gridiron in the college auditorium.

Play by play reports will be given as they occur on the field at Drake. A wire from the Western Union and a man on the field at Des Moines make possible a swift and accurate service. The name of the players participating in the play, the movement of the ball, yardage, penalties and all little details are shown by means of signs flashed on the board. A miniature gridiron is used in tracing the plays.

Besides seeing all the plays one gets the full excitement of a regular game. The band will be there to furnish music. Cheer leaders will offer the crowd a chance to get rid of their pent-up energies. Pop-corn, candy, peanuts, hamburgers, and all the refreshments which go with a football game will be sold. The fraternity is working on a form of entertainment for the interval between halves but is keeping it under cover until definite arrangements can be made.

WALTER ATZENWEILER WINS JUDGING CONTEST AT FAIR

Aggies Win All Places but One in Annual Contest—Livestock
Also Ranks High

In the open judging contest at the Kansas Free fair in Topeka last week, Walter Atzenweiler of Turon, a student in the department of animal husbandry, was declared to be the best student stock judge. Out of a possible 600 points, he was given a grade of 428.

Thirteen students from the college were entered in the contest which was open to anyone. Of the first seven places in the results of the contest, representatives of the college won all but fifth, and another outsider won eighth place. The contest was under the direction of Prof. F. W. Bell of the college, coach of the livestock judging teams. Judges of the contest were Professors R. W. Kiser, A. D. Weber, and H. E. Reed of the college.

Seventh place in the contest was won by Miss Mary Halse, the only girl entered in the contest, who was also a member of the junior judging team last spring. The students and their grades in the contest are as follows:

Walter Atzenweiler, Turon, 428; C. W. Thole, Stafford, 416; A. C. Hoffman, Abilene, 400; Clarence Barnette, Dennison, 399; Raymond Davis, Effingham, 397; Wayne Rogers, Matfield Green, 393; Mary Halse, Crowley, Col., 388; Clinton Thomson, Wakarusa, 374; E. F. Carr, Byers, 372; Lionel Holm, Lincoln, Neb., 365; F. M. Kleinburg, St. Petersburg, S. Africa, 363; Howard Vernon, Oberlin, 299; V. V. Venables, Bellaire, 294.

Livestock from the department of animal husbandry also placed high in the ranking of exhibits at the free fair. Seven championships, 24 first places, and 20 second places were won by the hogs, cattle, and sheep shown by the college. No horses were shown by the college this year. The stock is being shown this week at the Kansas State fair in Hutchinson.

EISENHOWER NOW A CONSUL

Former Aggie Is in Charge of Dunfermline, Scotland, Consulate

Milton S. Eisenhower, who graduated from the department of industrial journalism in 1924, has been transferred from Edinburgh, Scotland, to Dunfermline, Scotland, where he is now the American consul. The appointment came through the American Consular Service.

Mr. Eisenhower went to Edinburgh in the summer of 1924 as secretary to the American consul. In a very short time he was promoted to vice-consul, and the middle of last July was put in charge of the Dunfermline office.

Mr. Eisenhower was very active in student affairs at K. S. A. C. He is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Sigma Delta Chi, Quill Club, Pi Kappa Delta, Purple Masque, Phi Kappa Phi, and other organizations. He also won the Missouri valley oratorical contest several years ago.

New Equipment for Clothing Dept.

During the summer months the clothing and textiles department has been at work making various changes, adding new equipment and repairing rooms. Eight new Singer sewing machines have been installed for clothing I and II classes, and a few new Singers have been added for the clothing III students. Rooms have been repaired, repainted and generally improved. The entire force is back again at work with one new addition, Mrs. Katherine Hess, a graduate assistant.

PLAN THROWS ANDERSON OPEN

CITY COMMISSION OUTLINES PROPOSED ZONE LAW

College "Main Street" West to Sixteenth Will Be Open to Business Development

Anderson avenue west to Sixteenth street and Manhattan avenue north to Bluemont avenue are thrown open to industrial and commercial encroachment in the tentative boundaries set this week by the city planning commission. Complaints against the proposed districting will be heard Thursday night, October 1, at 7:30 o'clock, by the city commissioners.

Immediate enactment of the zoning proposal into an ordinance is expected if the bill passes the "complaint session" in good shape.

Some Districts Benefit

Districts outside these set aside for commercial development will be greatly benefited by the plan, which prohibits repairs or additions being made to those buildings now used for commercial purposes in the districts set aside for homes. Thus all business buildings will be gradually eliminated from the specified residential districts.

Though one purpose of zoning as originally intended was to protect the streets on which the college campus fronts from growing up into "uglies," practically the entire length of Anderson avenue which fronts on the campus proper will be permanently thrown open to business under the proposed boundaries, which extend west to Sixteenth street.

The Boundaries

The Aggieville district boundaries follow: Beginning at the intersection of the alley and Eleventh street, north of Moro street, thence west to within 100 feet of Manhattan avenue, thence north to Bluemont avenue, thence west to Manhattan avenue, thence south to Anderson avenue, thence south on Anderson avenue to Sixteenth street, thence south on Sixteenth street 150 feet, thence east on a line parallel with West Laramie street to point 150 feet west of Manhattan avenue, thence south 150 feet to the line of Laramie street, thence to Manhattan avenue, thence south to a point 50 feet south of the alley between Laramie and Moro street, thence east to Eleventh street, thence north to the point of beginning.

FARRELL TO ATLANTIC CITY

Attending Meeting of Agricultural Commission of American Bankers' Association

President F. D. Farrell left Thursday morning for Atlantic City, N. J., where he will be in attendance during the coming week at the meeting of the agricultural commission of the American Bankers' association, of which he is a member, having been selected to succeed Dr. W. M. Jardine, who resigned when he was selected as secretary of agriculture in the cabinet of President Coolidge early last spring.

The meeting of the agricultural committee will be held in connection with the annual meeting of the American Bankers' association. A meeting of the advisory council of which Doctor Farrell is a member will also be held at that time. Other members of the advisory council are H. F. Russell, dean of the school of agriculture at the University of Wisconsin, and W. R. Dodson, dean of the school of agriculture at the University of Louisiana.

The big sister group of Miss Sue Burris will be entertained at the home of Mrs. R. A. Seaton, big sister mother, on Sunday afternoon from 4 to 6. A buffet supper will be served.

Prunes Embossed in "KSAC" Offend Ideals of Loyal Aggie Students

One of our kindly Aggieville merchants in decorating his window in the college colors and still using his wares, found it necessary to use blue plums to form the letters "K. S. A. C." Incidentally the plums were dry, and are better known as prunes when in this form.

Students of the Kansas State Agricultural college have been called by so many names that have a significant bearing during the past years that they do not mind the unconscious allusion, but some of them would rest much easier at night and in classes if they knew for sure that professors and instructors were included.

Several students have taken offense at the idea of displaying the name of their beloved institution in prunes.

FIRST PEP MEETING OF SEASON HELD TONIGHT

Captain McGee, Miss Derby, and Others to Speak—Band Furnishes Music

Much pep will be aroused, students will make the acquaintance of their college yell, and definite plans for organized cheering at the Aggie-Emporia Teachers game will be made at the pep meeting tonight at 7:15 o'clock at the college auditorium. Wampus Cats and the K fraternity will sponsor the affair.

To headline the program of talk, Captain Harry McGee, of the Aggie squad, will present his recipe for arousing enthusiasm at the game. He may also mention the reliance of his team upon the support of the students and stress the importance of their organized cheering.

Miss Grace Derby, assistant college librarian, will be on the program for a pep speech. Attempts are being made by representatives of the Wampus Cats and the K fraternity to secure for a part in the program Jerry Wilson, manager of the Stevenson Clothing store and for a number of years a peer in the support of athletics of the college.

Music by the band and the usual methods of waking the students to the realization of the fact their cheers are needed will furnish adequate entertainment and fill an arousing program. Students are asked and urged to attend.

THIS LUNCHEON MAY WELL BE CALLED "SWEET" ONE

A Honey Repast to Be Served to Aplarists' Field Day Crowd

A luncheon to which the femininely overworked adjective "sweet" truthfully may be applied will be served to the 300 persons expected to attend the semi-annual field day of the Kansas Blue Bee Keepers' association at the Kansas State Agricultural college on Monday, September 28. Honey will be used in every possible way in the preparation of the meal which will be served at the college cafeteria.

Members of domestic science and agriculture classes in high schools of northeastern and north central Kansas are invited to attend the field day program.

Prof. Ralph L. Parker, successor to Dr. J. H. Merrill as state apiarist; J. A. Nininger, Hutchinson, operator of one of the largest commercial beekeeping establishments in Kansas; and Prof. Martha Pittman of the department of food economics and nutrition at the college, will address the visitors.

Gertrude Fulton, '25, is assistant in the department of home economics at Wyoming university, Laramie, Wyo.

Mrs. Wilbur Cole, '23, formerly Geraldine Hull, has returned to her home in Holton after a week's visit in Manhattan.

FRESHMEN LACK ENOUGH SUITS

LARGEST YEARLING SQUAD IN HISTORY OF K. S. A. C.

150 Have Asked for Equipment,
But Only 80 Supplied—
Squad Is Beefy

According to P. P. Brainard, freshman football coach, at least 150 freshmen have asked for football equipment, but due to lack of uniforms only about 80 of the yearlings have been appearing in the prescribed cardinal sweaters. Those who were unfortunate and were not able to draw uniforms have not lost spirit, but are out with the rest of the candidates for the freshman squad in nondescript sweaters, or anything else they can find to wear. This is the largest number of freshmen ever applying for training in football at K. S. A. C.

Many Heavyweights on Squad
Not only is the squad large in number but also in size. Several members weigh over 200 pounds each, while many of the former football stars average over 185 pounds. According to the coaches, prospects for future Aggie stars are numerous on this year's squad.

An incomplete list of those out for practice follows:

Theodore Barber, Alton; Ray Simmons, Ashland; Walter North, Bazaar; W. F. Klipper and R. C. McIntire, Belleville; Edwin Habiger, Bushton; Clarence Sheldon and Maurice G. Terick, Cedar Vale; Edwin Klein, Clay Center; Warren Moore, Copeland; William J. Braun, Council Grove; Eddie Stewart and Perle Webb, Dodge City; Charles Trapp, El Dorado; E. G. A CIVIC DISGRACE

Recent action of the Manhattan city planning commission in permanently including Anderson avenue west to Sixteenth street in the district set aside for industrial and commercial development calls for immediate, vigorous, and persistent protest on the part of those having any hope or desire for an appropriate setting for the college and its campus.

Believing that the planning commission might fulfill its duty and responsibility by affording the college campus some degree of protection from the encroachment of signboards, hot dog stands, weed patches, and commercialism in general, The Collegian thus far has refrained from attacking the Anderson avenue disgrace and the local civic apathy which has made it possible.

Creation of the city planning commission gave indication of some remnants of civic consciousness, and members of the commission are to be praised for giving their time and thought to so thankless a job. In protecting the residence districts from further commercial building, the commission has done a service to the community, in spite of the fact that recent attempts to beautify the city park already have been almost nullified by the erection of new filling stations, and that even the residence district of Poyntz avenue has its hot dog shack.

Insofar as the college is concerned, however, the planning commission has done nothing to aid the situation. Worse than nothing, in fact, as it has definitely settled in the wrong way a question for which there was hope before.

The city zoning is as yet only a recommendation. Unless something is done immediately, it will be enacted into law. As the matter stands, practically all of Manhattan and Anderson avenues facing the college district are open to erection of any sort of clap trap shed the lot owner may decide upon. Will Kansas State college let pass its last opportunity for salvaging one of the most beautiful campuses in the United States?

STUDENT OPINION

Recently a member of a campus religious organization made a suggestion to The Collegian that a column for student opinion on current subjects be added to the paper. The Collegian has maintained such a column almost from "the beginning." So far this fall it has remained unused. It will continue to be so until the students or faculty contribute material.

We hope to have secured all our books by the time for the three weeks' quizzes.

Before we came to college we were told that if we made a good impression the first three weeks that the battle would be won, the point assured.

When a freshman we were disappointed to find that a good first impression wouldn't carry one through the semester.

After two years on the hill (though we must admit that a few hours each night were spent in the valley) we are thankful, most thankful, that we weren't correctly advised about the three weeks' stuff.

Frankly now, what do you think of the contorted Navajo rugs that have been named Campus Coats and therefore will keep at least 95 per cent of the coeds warm?

The wet weather has made the slicker entirely too useful to be purely collegiate, don't you think?

We venture to predict that the windy day will become passe with the fellows on the hill this fall since the short skirt has eliminated its advantages.

They might be put in an embarrassing situation themselves with the divided skirts they are wearing this fall.

Marie Insley, of Junction City, who was a Sophomore in home economics last year, is in North Carolina this year. She is doing practical nursing in connection with Mitchell Home, a Methodist Mountain nursing school for boys and girls. Her address is Meissenheimer Springs, N. C.

Hattie Gesner, '19, is in charge of the home economics department of Jamestown College, Jamestown, N. D. She reports the outlook as being very good for the coming year.

Signals!

—vital in electrical communication, too

"41-7-27-8," sings out the quarterback; and the football goes on towards a touchdown. "Madison Square 32198," says a voice in San Francisco; and a message starts on its way across the continent.

But the similarity between football and the communication art doesn't stop there. In each case signals have unleashed a great force. Coordination has scored the goal.

And this was made possible only through years of preparation. In one instance, on the gridiron. In the other, in the college classroom and the laboratories of industry.

That, in short, is why men who've learned their fundamentals and how to apply them at the snap of a signal are qualifying for positions of leadership in the greatest field of signals known to man — the field of communication.

AVOID WAR WITH UNDER- STANDING AND SYMPATHY

Doctor Hill Tells of Conditions in Europe in Second Chapel Address

"The only way to avoid the unbeatable game of war is to try to understand and sympathize with our neighbors. You can't save a world that won't stick together," said Dr. Howard T. Hill, head of the public speaking department, in his speech in chapel Tuesday morning. Doctor Hill spent the summer in Europe studying conditions under actual contact with the people there.

According to Doctor Hill, European countries as a whole are not prosperous. In England half of the men are out of work, which means that many families are living in poverty. Under ordinary conditions England can support only about one half of her population. In France one finds great national poverty, the horrible fear of war, and a great bitterness against Germany, which is only to be expected. Germany's finest city, Berlin, is an example of that whole country. It is well built and well kept. There are, in places, even evidences of wealth but one finds some of the best people living in poverty. They try desperately to keep clean and respectable and are deserving of admiration. These three countries are a fair cross section of all Europe.

The European countries are not thinking of conquest. They are, of course, thinking of prosperity, but above all they are thinking about, and working for peace. Yet one cannot talk with any European without realizing that another war may come. It is up to us to think peace. Every country in the world is preparing for war and the only natural conclusion is that we are heading for war. If conflict comes, of course we must fight. War is absolutely unbeatable, and in another war it is hardly possible that one could trust treaties stating that certain poisonous gases not be used, simply because of the hands into which the treaties would be likely to fall. People do things in war that they would never do in peace. Lloyd George is quoted as saying, "The next great war means the end of civilization." To abolish war, we must avoid the necessity of fighting.

"After a war is over we must sit down and talk it over. War itself settles nothing," Doctor Hill stated. "In Holland there is a beautiful palace at Hague. It in itself is a symbol of peace. But this palace is tenantless. It will remain tenantless as long as people talk of peace and prepare for war. We all must work together in understanding if we are to have peace. You can't save a world that won't stick together."

ENROLMENT IN ARCHITECTURE INCREASED OVER LAST YEAR

New Equipment Added to Department—Over $600 Spent for New Books

The unusually large enrolment in architecture this year has made it necessary for the department to supply better accommodations for the students. Several desks were added to the senior drafting room, and the old desks in the freshman drafting room are being replaced by desks of a better type and quality. Professor Helm visited antique shops during the summer months and brought back several vases to the department to be used in the courses of painting. Approximately five hundred new slides have been purchased to be used in History of Architecture. Professor Weigel, head of the department, invested six hundred dollars in new books, and as a result the library had to be made half again as large as before in order to hold them.

Dr. Floyd E. Hull, K. S. A. C., '25, is now connected with the veterinary research staff of Kentucky University of Lexington.

Edlena O'Neill, '21, is teaching home economics at Prairie View State college, Prairie View, Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray L. Smith, of Washington, D. C., announce the arrival on June 27th of a seven pound son whom they have named Richard Leon, and who they state, bids fair to become a lousy Aggie rooster. Mrs. Smith was formerly Miss Zella Kouns and was graduated in 1924.

THREE TAKING ADVANCED WORK IN POULTRY DEPT.

Graduate Assistants Have Had Previous Experience in Other Valley Institutions

Three graduate students are taking advanced work in the department of poultry husbandry in the college this fall. G. T. Klein, a graduate from the University of Missouri with the class of 1923, is graduate assistant in the department, taking the place occupied by J. M. Moore, who completed his work for his master's degree last summer and is now in the extension department at the Michigan Agricultural college.

Mr. Klein has been instructor in poultry and general agriculture at Carleton college, Farmington, Mo., since 1923. He has also been secretary of the southeastern Missouri poultry show, the largest show held in that part of the state.

Clyde Ingraham, a graduate from Oklahoma A. and M. college in 1922 and assistant extension poultryman in Oklahoma since 1923, is here on a year's leave of absence. He expects to take his master's degree in poultry nutrition while here.

Herbert Hinds, Arkansas University graduate in 1922 and assistant in the poultry department there since then, enrolled last week as a graduate student in the poultry department. He, too, expects to major in poultry nutrition.

100 FRESHMAN GRIDSTERS ANSWER CALL AT K. U.

Material This Year Is Exceptionally Light and Shows Scarcity of Lineemen

Lawrence, Kan., Sept. 24.—Almost 100 members of the Freshman class at the University of Kansas answered the call for football practice this fall, and 96 of them are now being given preliminary workouts under the direction of John Bunn, Freshman coach.

The Freshman material this year is unusually light, averaging a trifle under 160 pounds, and there is a scarcity of line material, Coach Bunn says. They are, however, putting in several hours each evening in practice, and from the available material, Coach Bunn will select a Freshman team that will give the Varsity some good training during the football season.

NEW PHYSICAL ED ASSISTANT

Miss Ruth Trant Fills New Place in Girls' Department

Miss Ruth Trant, a graduate of the University of Kansas with the class of 1920, arrived in Manhattan Monday to take her position as graduate assistant in the girls' physical education department.

Miss Trant will fill the new place created on the faculty in connection with the physical education course, and will have charge of several swimming and hockey classes. Later in the year she will probably take over some of the classes in basketball.

Miss Trant is a Kansas girl and has received training to make her in every way competent to assist with girls' sports at K. S. A. C.

Sam Decker, '24, spent a few days in Manhattan last week before returning to his work at the University of Illinois. Besides teaching there, he is engaged in research work.

SWIMMING MOST POPULAR SPORT FOR K. S. A. C. COEDS

Nine Classes Filled First Day of Registration—Open Hours Twice Weekly

Swimming is undoubtedly the most popular sport for coeds at K. S. A. C. All swimming classes were closed before the end of the first day of enrollment and many girls who would have liked to participate in this sport were prevented from doing so because of lack of facilities. According to instructors, the pool will be literally swamped as it is.

There are five classes for beginners, two for intermediate, and two for advanced students this fall and the nine classes use all the available time. A large number of the girls enrolled are expected to pass their red cap tests by the end of the semester.

Those who were unable to enter a class may swim in the pool during "open" hours, Tuesday and Thursday at four o'clock.

Send the Collegian home.

Urges Typhoid Inoculation

Several cases of typhoid fever have broken out over the state, according to Doctor Siever, the school physician. He urges all students to take a typhoid inoculation at once, given in his office in Anderson hall at any time. It should not be overlooked that this treatment, which would regularly cost $5, is given to students without charge. As yet there are no contagious diseases among the students and there are only three patients in the hospital.

Miss Ruth Campbell, who received her master's degree in 1924, is with the American Red Cross at York, Penn. She has dietetics classes for mothers, and teachers, pre-school work, school classes, and case work. She spent her summer at the general hospital in Boston doing student dietitian work.

36 ANSWER BACHMAN'S CALL FOR TRACK MEN

Are Assigned to Different Groups According to Respective Events—Have Experienced Instructors

Thirty-six track men reported Tuesday, September 22, at the "K" fraternity room in answer to a call issued by Coach Bachman. This gathering included men interested in both cross country and cinder track work and under the direction of Captain R. E. Kimport, were assigned to different groups according to their respective events.

Each division assigned for fall training will be headed by a letterman in that event. Pole vaulters, high jumpers, and broad jumpers will report to P. H. Carter who will be instructor in these events. Loren Davis will have charge of sprinters and hurdlers assisted by Paul Gartner. H. Reed will work with the weight men. The distance and cross country men will be coached by Captain Kimport.

This fall, training for track will excuse all men who are trying out from their regular gym classes providing they report for practice at least three times a week. Men who signed up last Tuesday night are: Moody, McBurney, McGrath, Henshaw, Drowth, Artley, Bond, Weburg, Powell, Smith, Roush, Curtiss, Ellis, Graham, Gartner, Beeman, Moreland, Elegen, Nash, Rutherford, Aikman, Sallee, Cullum, Carlyle, Wortsburger, McGregor, Dunlap, and Whitfield.

SAYS WEIR IS BEST TACKLE

Noted Sports Writer Classes Nebraska Among All Time Stars

Lincoln, Nebr., Sept. 24.—Grantland Rice, writing in the New York Herald-Tribune, says:

"Those playing in the line rarely have the same chance to catch the public eye as those who carry the ball on sensational marches down the field."

"So a Weir, hasn't quite the same opportunity for fame that a Grange may know. Yet Weir, Nebraska's tackle and captain, may be one of the best that ever played the position. "He has weight, speed and experience. Although a big man, he was fast enough and active enough to beat Kinsey and Taylor, the two Olympic hurdlers."

"There have been many fine tackles, but few that stood out as Heffelfinger and Hare stood out as guards. Or as Hinkey, Shevlin, Hardwick, etc., loomed against the skyline in their end-playing days. "Weir this season may take his place as the star of them all, recalling again the days of Hogan, Henry, Hillebrand, Ham Fish, and others still remembered."

Short pep talks were given by Dr. H. H. King, who acted as chairman; Prof. M. F. Ahearn, head of the department, who spoke on the subject of clean sportsmanship; and President F. D. Farrell who gave the boys his idea of the philosophy of good yelling at football games. Ed Ames, secretary of the chamber of commerce, welcomed the fellows to Manhattan; Coaches C. W. Bachman and Charles Corsaut, of the athletic department, stressed the matters of good organized yelling at the various athletic events and the importance of the freshmen coming out regularly for practice if they expect to make the teams in later years.

Gypsy Panoram, annual big and little sister hike of the Y. W. C. A., will be held immediately after Vespers next Tuesday afternoon. Tickets, which are 25 cents, are on sale at the office of the dean of women, the secretary of the Y. W. C. A., and in Anderson hall. Every girl in school is invited to attend this hike.

The girls will follow the gypsy trail up Bluemont hill, and at the end of the trail will cook their supper. The program of the evening will include music, short talks, and a general good time.

Each group of big sisters will wear a different colored band in order that the new girls may learn to which group they belong. Miss Charlotte Swanson, chairman of the big sister committee, is in charge of the hike.

will make the second and last trip of the season to Indianapolis, Ind., to compete in the judging contest of the National Dairy show.

With a creditable record hung up at these contests by Aggie teams of the past, Coach Cave is confident that the new team of this year will make a good showing despite the fact that the men have had little experience in judging dairy animals. Last year the team placed eighth at both of these shows, and the year before first place was won at the Iowa show and second at the Dairy congress.

TICKETS SOLD TO OUT- SIDERS TO BE TAKEN UP

Varsity Activity Tickets for Student Use Only and Should Not Be Sold

Student activity tickets which have been sold to Manhattan townspeople will be taken up at the Oklahoma-Kansas Aggie football game Saturday wherever they are recognized as not being in the hands of the original owners, according to announcement made from the athletic office yesterday. Members of various student organizations which have been admitted to the game without activity tickets have been selling their student tickets downtown, it is said, and it is against these that the "drive" will be made. Activity tickets are colored differently than regular season tickets.

The fact that the tickets are non-transferable and may be taken up if sold is stated on the cover.

One of the main reasons for the special campaign against sales is the fact the student activity fee is somewhat under trial at present. At other valley schools it has been discarded in several instances, as athletic officials have found that football revenues are greater without it than with it, due to the apportionment plan, under which receipts are distributed between athletics and other student activities.

DAIRY TEAM TO WATERLOO

Faulconer, Knepp, Thole, and Rust
Represent K. S. A. C.

Guy Faulconer, Earl Knepp, C. W. Thole, and Harry Rust have been selected by Prof. H. W. Cave to represent the college at the national dairy judging contests this year. One of the men will serve as an alternate, but it has not been announced who that person will be. None of the men have had experience on the team, since no man is allowed to judge more than one year.

The team left last Saturday morning with Professor Cave for the Long View Jersey farm of Kansas City where they judged several classes of animals for practice. On Sunday they judged Guernseys at the W. W. Marsh Guernsey farm at Waterloo, Ia.

Yesterday the team engaged in the judging contest of the Dairy Cattle Congress at Waterloo, where the college placed eighth last year. They will remain for a few days to view the show and will return home Friday. They leave again on October 8 for Indianapolis, Ind., where they compete in the contest at the National dairy show. The college placed eighth in this contest last year, also.

ADD TWO MORE WIRES TO STADIUM PRESS BOX

Averaged More than 23,000 Words a Game Last Year—Have Six Wires Now

Two more telegraph wires have been added to the equipment in the press box at Memorial stadium in order to take care of the increase in the amount of material going out by wire to the newspapers and news associations over the United States. This makes a total of six wires leaving the press box.

According to Mr. Lockyear, local manager of the Western Union, the average number of words sent out in 1924 from the press box for each conference game was 23,000. In 1923, the average was only 10,000; in 1922, 6,000; and in 1920 the average was only 3,000 for each conference game.

The addition of two more wires will make it much easier for late afternoon editions of daily papers to get detailed accounts of all Aggie games.

WILL IMPROVE SCOREBOARD

Lights to Replace Transparent Field of Play

Radical changes will be made in the electrically operated gridiron scoreboard used to show out of town football games before the Drake game October 10, according to H. D. Sappenfield and L. R. Combs, who will manage the scoreboard for Sigma Delta Chi this fall. Hundreds of small electric lights will be used for the playing field instead of the transparent type of gridiron used last fall. A change also will be made in the method of showing yardage to go.

It is believed that both improvements will aid in giving a clearer idea of the game as it "happens" on the field of play, Sappenfield said. Work of the alteration is being done by Prof. E. T. Keith and Clarence Hownestine of the department of journalism, who built the board.

ARRANGE TRYOUTS FOR FALL PLAY

"THE GOOSE HANGS HIGH" TO BE PRESENTED THIS FALL

Theme of Play Centers Around Twins Home from College for Vacation —Cast of Fourteen

"The Goose Hangs High," a three act light comedy play with a college environment, will be presented at the college auditorium the first week in November under the auspices of the Purple Masque dramatic organization.

Tryouts for the play will be held as follows: Thursday, from 4 to 6 o'clock in G54 for women, and from 7 to 10 in G54 for men; Friday, from 1 to 3 in G56 for women and from 3 to 5 in G54 for men.

Has College Theme

The theme of the comedy centers around the activities of a boy and girl, home from college for the Christmas holidays. The cast includes fourteen characters.

Bernard Ingals, age 51, enthusiastic and rather boyish, but genteel, is a business man of poise and refinement. Eunice Ingals, a woman of culture and background at 48 is quiet, dignified, and charming. Noel Derby professes to be a poet and a gardener. Leo Day, an uncultured politician is undoubtedly a climber.

Julia Murdock believes colleges are useless institutions and says so. Mrs. Bradley possesses a biting tongue and childish ways, but is a good business woman at 70. Lois Ingals, age 20, with a vivid personality, fine background, and a keen mind is lively and frivolous, but sincere. Her twin brother, Bradley Ingals, is a typical college boy, full of life with a poetic nature. Other characters are: Rhoda, a servant, Hugh Ingals, Ronald Murdock, Dagmar Carrol, a serious minded girl with high ideals, and Elliott Kimberley, age 40, a liveryman who turned town counselor.

Professor Heberer to Coach Play

Any student interested in dramatics is asked to try out. Those not chosen as characters in the play, may be named eligible for Purple Masque and a character in other plays. Prof. H. Miles Heberer, new head of dramatics, formerly of the University of Illinois, will direct the production.

After the first presentation of "The Goose Hangs High," the cast will be scheduled by Purple Masque to present the play in other towns through the state.

Marowyn Hawthorne, a K. S. A. C. freshman last semester, is at school in Milwaukee, Wis., this year.

Chi Omega announces the pledging of Lucille Chastain, Manhattan.

Y PLANS DRIVE FOR MEMBERS

ANNUAL MEMBERSHIP CAM- PAIGN OPENS NEXT MONDAY

Organization Has Long List of Useful Activities—A Unified and Progressive Program

The annual college Y. M. C. A. membership campaign will open next Monday, October 5, and continue for three days. Every man in school will be visited personally during the three days of intensive campaign, and asked to join the organization. Last year the drive netted over 700 members, and a still larger membership is anticipated this year.

The Y. M. C. A.'s program is a unified and progressive plan to give men opportunities to develop Christian leadership, stir up loyalty for K. S. A. C., and boost the college over the state. Every year the organization has charge of many activities that are a direct benefit to every man in college.

60 High Schools Visited

Some of the features of the Y's activities are:

The go-to-college teams, fostered and managed by the Y. M. C. A., visited 60 high schools in the state last year, having an enrollment of 15,532 students. Two thousand one hundred and forty seniors were seen personally by members of the go-to-college teams and told of the advantages of K. S. A. C.

The rooms bureau of the Y inspected and listed over 800 rooms which met the college requirements. Several hundred students were satisfactorily located by the bureau.

Last year more than 9,000 hours of part time work, which averaged 30 cents an hour, were secured through the Y for students. One hundred and sixty-nine part time jobs were also secured during the year.

The student forum, one of the most popular meetings on the hill last year, was originated and conducted by the Y. M. C. A. This year, the forums promise to be even more popular than last. Many prominent speakers have already been engaged and better arrangements have been made with the college cafeteria for the noon luncheon.

Strong in Religious Activity

Along the religious activities of the Y. M. C. A., the world forum is a high light. Many prominent speakers and religious workers are brought to the college for this week of meetings. Other activities of this nature are the week of prayer, Holy week, and the world court week. An innovation this year will be the Bible discussion groups which were organized last spring with the view of getting a good start this fall.

The gospel team sent out by the Y. M. C. A. conducted services at Clay Center, Keats, the Odd Fellows Home, Alta Vista, Junction City, Sedalia, and several churches in Manhattan.

The annual watermelon feed, the college mixer, the freshman reception, the Thanksgiving and Christmas parties, besides several other parties during the year, constitute a part of the social activity of the Y. The organization is also prominent in other social activities on the hill.

Much interest is taken by the organization in boys' work. This department fostered the Father's and Son's banquet which was attended by over 600 fathers and sons last year. They conduct a basketball tournament and a boy's camp annually. Last year they were host to more than 600 boys who came to Manhattan for the district Hi-Y conference.

Besides the regular outlined program of the Y, the organization does much personal service to new students, such as meeting trains, conducting an information bureau, and aiding students whenever possible in their personal problems.

Distributes "K" Books

The Y. M. C. A. in conjunction with the Y. W. C. A. and S. S. G. A., annually distributes the "K" books. This year they have been more useful than ever before if calls for them are any indication of their usefulness.

Every year many prominent speakers are brought here by the Y for special forum meetings and chapel addresses. Those engaged for this year include Kirby Page, free lance clergyman; David Porter, national student secretary; Conrad Hoffman, founder of the German student cooperation; Governor Ben S. Paulen; General Edwin Booth, commandant at Fort Riley; Henry Pitt Van Dusen, free lance clergyman; Harry Bone, Bible study expert; Ben Cherrington, regional student secretary; "Dad" Elliott, oldest student secretary in the United States; Dr. Shailer Mathews; "Shorty" Collins; Dr.

Charles Gilkey, prominent Chicago clergyman; and others.

The college Y. M. C. A. is financed entirely by this campaign for members. Persons wishing to join the organization may subscribe any amount they feel able. Their membership card is good anywhere they go.

ANNOUNCE GIRLS' GLEE CLUB

Unusual Material This Year Neces- sitates Two Groups

Try-outs for the girls' glee club were held September 19, and prospects for the year are very good, according to Miss Maurine Smith, who will direct the glee club. Students holding activity books and townspeople with season tickets who wish to reserve them for Saturday's game are requested to do so early in the week by M. F. Ahearn, director of athletics. Reserved seat tickets can be obtained at an extra charge of 50 cents for each game. Student activity books admit only to the student section.

Season football tickets are now on sale to outsiders at $5 each. They do not include the opening games of the basketball season, as do the student tickets.

W. A. A. Holds State Convention
The state W. A. A. will hold a convention at Pittsburg October 30 and 31. The Aggie chapter of the organization plans to send two delegates who will be elected at the next meeting on the first Thursday in October.

Pep Meeting Friday

There will be a pep meeting Friday night in the college auditorium. The program had not been arranged yet this morning, but members of the college pep committee said that a big affair is assured, as the Oklahoma game Saturday marks the Aggie entrance into the Missouri valley season for 1925.

WILDCATS WIN OPENER 26 TO 7

TEACHER DEFENSE CRUMBLES DURING LAST QUARTER

Meek and Holsinger Stars of Game—Line Shows Unusual Strength
After First Quarter

Showing a running attack that flickered during the first quarter and then flashed brilliantly throughout the rest of the game, the Kansas State Wildcats opened up their 1925 season Saturday with a very satisfactory trouncing of the Kansas State Teachers of Emporia, 26 to 7. Mr. Don Meek, of Idana, Kan., well known hereabouts for a certain long run he made against the University of Kansas last fall, quieted all rumors that said run had been "flukish" by running around, away from, and over Teacher tacklers for three touchdowns. A fourth touchdown made after a 55 yard run by the same individual was called back because of a foul.

Teachers Score First

Early in the first quarter the Aggie line committed the only really serious error it made during the game by obligingly permitting Campbell, Emporia end, to wander down to inspect the south goal posts. Campbell, however, rudely knocked down the ball which Cochrane was kicking, and took it along with him over the line, and later kicked goal, making the score 7 to 0. Shortly after the kickoff Cochrane pushed through the Teacher 13 yard line for first down, but there the Teachers held for downs. Again the Aggie offensive carried the ball to the Teacher 12 yard line, where Feather fumbled and Emporia recovered.

The third trial, however, was more successful. Meek and Joe Holsinger, who alternated with Meek on carrying the ball and ran interference in beautiful style, entered the game.

Trail at Half

Starting from the Teacher 37 yard line, the two halves swept around the ends and off tackle to the four yard line, where Meek went over. Enns failed to kick goal. Emporia held the Aggies scoreless till the end of the half, which found the Aggies trailing at mid-way in the game, though they had made some 220 yards from scrimmage to two by Emporia.

Matters continued thusly until well in the third quarter, with the Aggies dashing through for long gains in midfield, but failing to score, though once Cochrane tried a drop kick from the 25 yard line, which failed because of a bad pass.

The second touchdown came just after the Aggies had been set back to their own 40 yard line by a 15 yard penalty. Holsinger tossed a long pass to Meek for 22 yards and first down. Holsinger then crashed through for another first down, and Meek, starting 30 yards back, outran all but the safety and dived over him for the touchdown.

On the third play after the kickoff, Meek tore through for 55 yards and a touchdown, but the play was called back by a foul, the net gain being 18 yards. Again Meek dashed through for 18 yards, but the Aggies lost the ball on a fumble. Two plays later Harris, Emporia half, dropped back to punt, and missed the pass from center, recovering on the goal line. He punted out, thirty yards, only to be put in a worse hole than before when Cochrane neatly punted outside just in front of the goal line. This time the punt out traveled only 23 yards. Meek went over for his final touchdown on three successive plays, and McGee kicked goal.

Smith Charges Through

Ray Smith came back into the game at this juncture, and electrified the home audience by running 55 yards to an almost touchdown, falling short of the goal by a yard. A fumble again proved costly, and Smith was forced soon after to carry the ball back another 18 yards to the four yard line where Enns went over for the last touchdown of the game, and kicked goal.

The Teachers wearied fast during the last quarter, and only the calling of time stopped another parade goalward. "Monk" Edwards intercepted a pass, and Springer carried the ball out as the last gun cracked.

Campbell and Weber of Emporia were the mainstays, and in fact, most of the Teacher defense. Their offense was not apparent.

After the first quarter the Aggie line held at all times. J. E. "Boots" Norton, sophomore, played nearly three quarters at center, in his first appearance as an Aggie, and delivered acceptably. He was replaced by Tombaugh, who also performed in a style calculated to alleviate Coach Bachman's worry over his pivot man.

OUR LOCAL DEMOCRACY

Members of the college faculty may well question the efficacy of student government as applied on the campus so far this fall. Though college has been officially under way for more than two weeks, it has been theoretically "ungoverned" as the Students' Self Governing association has not held a meeting as yet.

Getting out the student directory, which last year was delayed considerably, promises to be even a later proposition this fall, as the students who will handle it have not yet been appointed. With printing conditions as they are in local shops, the directory probably will not be out until after Christmas.

Americans as a whole are prone to boast of the value of self-government, and lax in doing something about it. It would seem that the local situation presents another proof of the rule.

WILL IT PASS?

Thursday night the city council will hold a meeting to hear complaints on the proposed zoning ordinance, which throws Anderson avenue open to commercial expansion. If the college is not represented at the hearing, it will have no cause to complain later on. So far, there is no indication that it will be represented.

We have seen freshmen come and freshmen go, and this year's crop looked much the same until a few of the bolder, or shall we say less proud, ones began to appear here and there in their new frosh caps.

If Mr. Darwin, or even the young Tennessean school teacher, could see one of our young hopefuls, the odds are 10 to one that he'd shout, "I told you so!"

The caps, in case there are any near-sighted persons who have not seen them, are cunning little stocking affairs like Grandpa wears on the front cover of the Saturday Evening Post.

And the color—body done in a vivid peacock green, topped off with a cute little purple topknot.

Our descriptive powers are limited, according to various and sundry rhetoric profs, but, really, these newest creations for fall would furnish endless material for the pens of Ring Lardner, O. O. McIntyre, or R. Gordon Brown.

"When better caps are built, we'll build them." And we advise the freshmen to wear them. Ask the man who's owned one, and failed to wear it.

was heard to ask, "Where is the Kappa building?" What wonders a coat of green paint on the many shutters has worked.

The manager of the Marshall theater reports a large crowd at the opening performance of "Able's Irish Rose." The Pi Phi pledges attended in a body.

The ancient Greeks were partial to large columns. Modern Greeks in our own town are emulating them, and thus the "coliseum," "postoffice," or "public building" style of architecture is born.

We call this a colyum. Call it what you like.

Judge for Yourself

Editor, Collegian:

Delegations with ideas to express regarding the zoning of Manhattan, are to meet the zoning commission within the next few days.

As many of you have seen, the present tendency of mushrooming shacks opposite the campus on Anderson avenue is one of the greatest eye-sores that this institution has.

We have no objection to a man going into business, but we do object to a man smearing up the landscape with an unsightly "joint" just for the sake of a few dollars.

Our suggestion is that as many of the students as possible attend the meeting of the zoning commission, and make the request that the zone be changed from including Anderson avenue to Sixteenth street, to the following:

To a line one hundred fifty feet west of the west line of Manhattan avenue (approximately the alley running into Anderson avenue at this point).

If the zone is limited to 150 feet west of Manhattan avenue, then it will be possible for the college to maintain some semblance of self-respect. Otherwise it will be only a few years until the campus will be staring innumerable dog kennels in the face.

What are you going to do about it, Aggies?

Men's and women's student councils at the University of Kansas are engaged in a controversy over the right of the men's council to regulate the price of varsity dances. Recently the men's council reduced varsity dance prices, which are controlled by the students, to 75 cents. The women's council did not disapprove of the reduction, but insists that the action is not legal when enacted only by the men's governing body. A change to the joint S. S. G. A. plan is being advocated as a solution of the difficulty.

Annual initiation for the freshmen at the University of Nebraska was this week. Classes were dismissed for the ceremony, which was held in the morning. Prominent speakers, college cheer leaders, and the college band were on the program. All incoming students were required to take an oath of allegiance to the University of Nebraska.

Mrs. F. D. Farrell and Miss Margaret Justin entertained at supper Sunday evening at the Farrell home for the members of the home economics staff. The rooms were decorated with a profusion of garden flowers which appropriately carried out the color scheme of yellow which was used throughout. The supper, which was served buffet style, was in charge of Miss Esther Tracy. Miss Tracy was assisted by the other members of the Institutional II class. Mrs. Mary Pierce Van Zile and Miss Jessie McDowell Machir presided at the table.

Miss Harriett Geffert, senior in K. S. A. "HOW TO STUDY" SERIES PLANNED FOR FRESHMEN

First Year Students in Home Economics, Engineering, Agriculture, Veterinary Medicine Benefited

A series of lectures on "How to Study" has been arranged for the freshmen in four divisions of the college. It was announced recently by Dr. V. L. Strickland of the department of education. The lectures will be given in the divisions of home economics, engineering, agriculture, and veterinary medicine by Doctor Strickland, Dr. J. C. Peterson, and Prof. P. P. Brainard of the department of psychology.

"The idea of these lectures," Doctor Strickland said, "grew out of a series of talks on how to study that were given freshmen in the division of agriculture last year by Dr. E. L. Holton and myself. It was originally intended that the lectures this year should be extended to the division of general science as well, but conditions prevented."

Prof. P. P. Brainard gave the first of his series of six lectures to the freshmen in the division of home economics Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the college auditorium.

A series of four lectures will be given the freshmen in the divisions of agriculture and veterinary medicine by Doctor Strickland. They will be given on October 15, 22, 29, and November 5, at 4 o'clock in room 354, west wing of Waters hall.

A series of six weekly lectures will be given the freshmen in the division of engineering by Dr. J. C. Peterson. The lectures, the first of which is scheduled for Thursday, October 1, will be given in the barracks.

ENGINEERS SHOW INCREASE

90 More Enrolled This Year—Electricals Have Largest Gain

Enrollment in the division of engineering showed an increase of 90 students over the number enrolled last year, according to figures obtained Wednesday morning. The number of special students and students who were enrolled late had not been determined, but at that time the total number in the division was 929.

Freshmen furnished the largest percentage of the gain, there being an increase of 78. The sophomore class has 13 less this year, the juniors an increase of 21, and the seniors four more than last year.

Considering the increase by departments the electrical engineers contributed the largest actual gain, adding 40 students to the 392 enrolled last year. The architects have the greatest percentage gain, however, as their enrollment has mounted from 64 to 70, since last year. A number of last year's architects have enrolled in architectural engineering, a new course started last year. There are 22 students in this department.

Chemical engineering, a course introduced last year, shows a gain of 9 over the 35 enrolled at that time.

Aggies, with Good Array of Material, Expect to Repeat Last Year's Performance

The annual Missouri valley conference cross country meet is scheduled to be held at Kansas university, November 21, during the halves of the Missouri-Kansas football clash.

COSMOPOLITAN CLUB MEETS

Foreign Students Given Welcome by President of Organization

The first meeting of the Cosmopolitan club was held Thursday evening in the home economics rest room. Several new foreign students were present and were given a hearty speech of welcome by the president, Mr. Hammad.

The program included music and short talks. Mr. Uzri gave a talk on Mesopotamia, his native country. Mr. Hammad told of letters which he had received from former members of the club who were now in their native countries, and who sent greetings to their former comrades.

Mr. Sellschop of South Africa gave his impressions of the United States, Mr. Taberner and Mr. Aceveda of the Philippine Islands, entertained the club with guitar, mandolin, and vocal solos.

The next meeting will be on October 8, at which time the election of officers for the ensuing year will be held.

Bee Keepers Have Good Menu

The menu for the luncheon served by the college cafeteria on Bee Keepers' Field day, last Monday, was as follows: roast beef, Spanish meat balls, mashed potatoes, honeyed sweet potatoes, corn croquettes with honey, creamed peas, stewed tomatoes, head lettuce salad, mixed fruit salad, honey jellied pineapple, honey peach custard, honey fruit punch, honey chocolate cake, honey cream pie, apple pie, and honey ice cream sundae. The bee keepers after obtaining their trays of food passed on to the banquet rooms on the second floor of the cafeteria.

SOONERS NEXT WILDCAT FOES

FIRST VALLEY GAME SATURDAY ON STADIUM FIELD

Starting Lineup Problematical—Little Dope on Sooners Available—Owen May Spring Surprise

Their first test passed with colors flying, the Kansas State football team goes into a hard encounter with Oklahoma university here next Saturday in the first valley game of the season. Very little "dope" on the Sooner team is available, save that only six or eight letter men have returned, and these were mostly veterans of two years ago. However, some 60 men are out for practice, and Coach Ben G. Owen has been quoted as saying that his reserve strength will be greater than that of a year ago, when the Sooners defeated Nebraska and tied the Aggies as the bright spots of an otherwise unsuccessful campaign. Ray Lamb, star halfback who made the touchdown against the Aggies, decided at the last minute not to return to school.

May Surprise Valley

Ben Owen has a habit of turning out surprise teams when least expected, and his 1925 Sooners probably will be no exception. The varsity has been rather erratic against the stellar freshman eleven so far, playing brilliantly at times and at times allowing the yannigans to plow through. The principal hope of the Oklahomans lies in their sophomores, who as freshmen last year defeated the varsity.

The starting Wildcat line-up is still as problematical as was that of last Saturday. Bachman probably will start a line-up consisting partly of first string and partly of second string men, as he did against the Teachers, and then make substitutions in accordance with game conditions.

R. J. "Dick" Haskard, right halfback, may be able to play Saturday, but has a condition examination to take before his eligibility is assured. The work of Don Meek and Ray Smith Saturday showed that the position will be well filled.

DEBATE PLANS ARE ELABORATE

AGGIE TEAMS WILL INVADE LARGE EASTERN SCHOOLS

Tryouts for Team Begin Tuesday, October 13—Freshmen Eligible for Varsity Place

Kansas State debate teams will undertake another ambitious schedule during the coming season, according to H. B. Summers, coach of debate. Last year, men's varsity teams participated in 16 contests with schools from 12 states and one foreign country, and women's teams met nine opponents in four states. Extended trips for both men and women were included in the schedule, the men's trip being to the Pacific coast.

Very Attractive Schedule

For the coming season, the schedule will be equally attractive, approximately the same number of debates being planned as were held last year. Men's debates have already been scheduled with Kansas University, Oklahoma, South Dakota, Drake, Montana State, Penn State, and Michigan Aggies. Negotiations are now under way for contests with Pennsylvania, Columbia, Cornell, George Washington, Vanderbilt, Ohio State and others of the same type. Seven debates for women have been scheduled and a trip into western Colorado is probable. Three or four contests for freshmen will also be arranged, though freshmen may be used on varsity teams.

Tryouts for positions on the various intercollegiate squads will be held in G-56, beginning Tuesday, October 13. Those desiring to enter the tryouts are requested to make appointments for tryouts not later than Saturday, October 10. Appointments may be made in G-55, the public speaking office, on Thursday and Friday afternoons, October 8 and 9, or may be made by telephone by calling 1161-W at any time before October 10.

Must Prepare Speech for Tryouts
Each person entering the tryouts is expected to prepare and deliver a speech not exceeding four minutes in length, and treating of some phase of one of the subjects indicated below. No variation from the indicated subjects will be permitted.

Question for men's varsity tryouts: "Resolved, That the United States should put into execution Colonel Mitchell's recommendations with respect to the air forces." For women's varsity tryouts: "Resolved, That the child labor amendment to the federal constitution be adopted." Freshman question: "Resolved, That the United States should cancel the debts owed by her recent allies as a result of the World war."

All freshmen are expected to enter the tryouts for the freshman squad. Those who show varsity caliber in the tryouts or later will be shifted to the varsity squad.

Two Hours' Credit Given

All debaters remaining on the squad during the season receive two hours' credit in intercollegiate debate, whether actually participating in an intercollegiate contest or not. Those who participate in varsity debates are eligible to the honorary debating fraternities, Phi Kappa Delta for men and Zeta Kappa Psi for women.

Every student who is interested in forensics should enter the tryouts for the squad, and help make the debating season a success for Kansas State.

For the third consecutive year the Browning-Athenian fall hike has been prevented on account of rain. However, the rain caused no lack of good time, for the hikers enjoyed a delicious supper and a fine program at the community house on last Saturday night after the football game.

LARGEST PEP MEETING TONIGHT

Hill, Wilson, and Ahearn the Instigators of Pep

The first really big pep meeting of the year will be held in the auditorium tonight at 7:15. Saturday afternoon the Kansas Aggies start on their big fight for the Missouri valley championship when they play the University of Oklahoma.

Since there will not be another pep meeting for a month, every effort is being made to make this a snappy one. The Wampus Cats are going to "strut their stuff" with new yells and stunts. Several new yell leaders will be on deck with plenty of "vim and lots of vigor." Professor Wheeler promises a peppy band.

Speeches will be made by Dr. H. T. Hill, Jerry Wilson, and Mike Ahearn. They always have plenty to say on the subject of pep, and know how to say it. Those in charge say that the program itself does not lack pep, and that the rest depends on the students.

Freshmen are expected to show their loyalty by a 100 per cent attendance. They are all requested to sit together in the pit of the auditorium. After the meeting a free show will be given at the Wareham for all Freshmen.

DEFINES RULES FOR ENGINEERS

SEATON SAYS CHARACTER, PERSONALITY LARGEST FACTORS

Head of Engineering Division Gives Valuable Ideas Necessary for Successful Engineer

Now that K. S. A. C. has one of the largest engineering schools west of the Mississippi River it is highly proper to inquire as to the peculiar qualifications, if such they may be called, of the successful engineers as they go out into the engineering enterprises of the world.

This was the theme discussed by Dean R. A. Seaton of the engineering division last Thursday before the entire enrollment of students and faculty of that division. He presented the findings of a wide survey including all the branches of engineering work. In this survey reports and letters from various large concerns employing engineering talent were tabulated and an effort made to secure from these sources information as to what qualifications were most sought. Putting those elements which enter into the making of a man in percentage the final interesting score might be said to be as follows: character and personality, 75 per cent; scholarship and technical training, 25 per cent.

Personality Card Kept
Dean Seaton added that this showing did not mean that scholarship and training were not highly essential but that character and personality of a very high order were as essential in the makeup of a successful engineer as in any other walk of life. In order to be better able to estimate the men going out from the college, a personality card is made up for each man and adjusted from time to time for the four years until at graduation this card will be able to give very definite information as to the man's personal characteristics.

According to an analysis of that fascinating group known as "Who's Who," Dean Seaton stated that it required the combining over of 25,000 men who had no high school training to get one man eligible for that group; 1,500 men with only high school work for one man's place there; but that only 60 college men were needed to supply their candidate. In other words, out of the 730 names in that list 79 per cent were college trained, 16 per cent high school trained; and 5 per cent were below these standards.

Technical Training Best Path
It was carefully pointed out that there were many successful engineers as well as other professional men who did not have any college training nor even high school or grade school advantages, but these were the exceptions and not the rule. From every angle of the survey the evidence was decidedly that technical training was the shortest and best path toward success. Even admitting that the most outstanding men might have been a success without college training, which of course can never be proven, there is no doubt but what they have gone both faster and farther with this training than without it. The thing to keep in mind is that the human element should never be separated from any man's training no matter what sort of training that may be. An engineer must be more than a computing machine or a vault full of theories. His heart must also respond to those qualities we call sympathy, cooperation, and a vision of service to the world in which he lives.

WILL ATTEMPT TO BREAK TIE

SOONER-AGGIE RECORD FOR PAST FIVE YEARS EQUAL

Spectacular Scoring Has Always Featured Contests with Oklahomans—Sooners Have New Team

Tied for football supremacy over the record of the past five years, Kansas State and Oklahoma university will meet in Memorial Stadium tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in an effort to break the deadlock. Three of the past five games played between the Wildcats and Sooners have been ties, and of the other two each team has one victory to its credit.

Games Tied in Last Minutes
Always in recent years the two teams have played a spectacular, bitterly contested game when they met on the gridiron. Once in 1923, the Aggies got off to a three touchdown lead, only to have the Sooners bring the score up to within one point of tying, 21 to 20. Last year Oklahoma got off to a one touchdown advantage, but was tied in the closing minutes of the fray.

Tomorrow Coach Ben Owen introduces practically a new team to the valley. Four regulars are expected to be in the line-up, the remainder being products of last year's freshmen. Therein lies the uncertainty, as the Sooners have been practicing behind locked gates this week, and little word has come out as to the strength or weakness of the Owentons.

With H. "Pro" Randels, varsity left end, out of town this week because of the serious illness of a relative, Coach C. W. Bachman announced that Al "Monk" Edwards, of Fort Scott, probably would draw the starting assignment in that position. O. H. "Curly" Wilson, two letter man, and Don Springer, sophomore, will start as halfbacks, with Cochrane as quarterback and Jim Douglass, sophomore, in fullback.

The line will be the same as that which started against K. S. T. C., with the exception of Edwards.

Tickets for the game have been on sale all week at the athletic office, which also has been open to exchange varsity activity receipts for student tickets.

The probable Aggie starting lineup:
Edwards L. E.
Ballard L. T.
Brion L. G.
Norton C.
McGee (c) R. G.
Krysl R. T.
Fleck R. E.
Cochrane Q. B.
Springer L. H.
Wilson R. H.
Douglass F. B.

GROGERS WANT STUDENT MONEY

ASK S. S. G. A. TO GIVE THEM SHOT AT FRATERNITY BUSINESS

Opinion of Student Council Is That Petty Jealousies Should Cease and Unity Exist

Declaring that $18,000 worth of fraternity and sorority grocery business was going to wholesale houses in Chicago, Ed Ames, secretary of the Manhattan chamber of commerce, entered a protest against the action at the first meeting of the S. S. G. A. council Tuesday night.

Mr. Ames, in championing the cause of the Manhattan grocers, stated that he made a check this summer of the prices and quality of the goods shipped in from Chicago, and found that his constituents' prices were lower. He also stated that better service could be given by the local merchants.

High Prices Not Explained

Manhattan merchants want to cooperate with the students, and expect student support, according to Mr. Ames. The business men help pay the taxes of the fraternity and sorority houses, and always support the college. No explanation of the high prices charged by the merchants when they are depending entirely upon student business for bread and water was made by Mr. Ames.

No action on the matter was taken, except that the members of the council were asked to bring the matter to the attention of their various organizations. The common opinion of the body, however, was that the business men and students should work together for the furtherance of the college, and not let petty business jealousies and the desire to become wealthy in one year jeopardize the feeling between the two groups.

The election of the treasurer of the student body and the chairman of the discipline committee was postponed until the vacancies in the council were filled.

New Class Election Rule

A rule was passed providing that no member of any class shall be allowed to cast a vote at a general class election until his class dues, a minimum of 25 cents a semester, are paid.

Hoyt Purcell, chairman of the social affairs committee, reported that arrangements had been made with Marion Tull, manager of the Rock Hill pavilion, whereby the hall might be rented on Friday nights for student dances, which may be either varsity or private.

Allice Englund was elected to have charge of the printing and distributing of the student directories.

SELECT MEN'S GLEE CLUB

Professor Lindquist Starts Work on Year's Program

Members of the men's glee club have been selected by Professor Lindquist, head of the voice department, after a series of tryouts, and work has begun on the year's program.

Many members of last year's glee club are back but they are largely supplemented by new students. The glee club will no doubt have a large part in the radio programs of Station KSAC, as well as its usual activities in college gatherings.

The following men have been chosen by Professor Lindquist: K. H. Beach, Chanute; Clifford Black, Hutchinson; James Blackledge, Sheridan, Wyo.; Robert Brenner, Waterville; Edwin Brower, Junction City; Dorsa Brown, Dodge City; A. W. Butcher, Solomon; F. E. Carroll, Manhattan; Clifford Carter, Enid, Okla.; Paul Chappell, Manhattan; Clarence Chase, Junction City; Darvin Curtis, Englewood; D. W. Enoch, Abilene; Leslie Evans, San Antonio, Tex.; L. Stewart Farrell, Manhattan; Clarence Goering, Moundridge; Arthur Hemker, Great Bend; H. H. Howe, Wakeeney; A. A. Jackson, Manhattan; J. G. Ley, Kansas City; R. C. Maddy, Hudson; Paul Martin, Manhattan; Vernon Masters, Natoma; Maurice Moggie, Eskridge; John Moyer, Hiawatha; Pierce Powers, Junction City; James Price, Manhattan; Charles Reeder, Troy; Louis Reitz, Belle Plaine; Russell Reitz, Belle Plaine; Harold Rethmeyer, Topeka; Clifford Sawyer, Liberal; Hugh Snyder, Winfield; Harold Sprout, El Dorado; F. D. Strong, Manhattan; Lee Thackrey, Manhattan; H. Wampler, Manhattan; Earl Westgate, Manhattan; Harry Wilson, Wichita; A. H. Zeidler, Manhattan.

Phi Alpha Mu, honorary general science sorority, will hold open house for the freshmen and sophomore girls of the general science division in the home economics rest room Friday afternoon from 4 to 5:30. An interesting program has been planned.

DAIRY TEAM PLACES SEVENTH

Good Showing Made at Dairy Congress at Waterloo

Seventh place was won by the dairy judging team competing in the Dairy Congress at Waterloo, Ia., last Monday, according to a telegram received here from Prof. H. W. Cave, coach of the team.

The colleges and universities with the order of their ranking was: Iowa, Wisconsin, South Dakota, North Dakota, Nebraska, Minnesota, Kansas, Texas, Indiana, Missouri and Illinois.

Eighth place was won by the college team last year in the same contest, and college officials consider the showing of this year very good, knowing that the members of the team this year had had very little experience in the judging of dairy animals.

The team and coach will depart for Indianapolis, Ind., where they compete at the National Dairy show, about October 8.

SCHOLARS GET BEST POSITIONS

PROFESSOR HAMILTON TALKS OF GRADES IN CHAPEL

Student Body Should Have More Respect for Students Who Forego Pleasures for Studies

"Statistics show that after graduation, college students ranking high in scholarship during their college course outclass in every walk of life their fellow students of lower standing," Prof. J. O. Hamilton of the physics department stated in an address before the student assembly Tuesday. "There should be cultivated in our student body a more wholesome respect for those students who forego many of the momentary pleasures that enter into college life and who place upon scholarship standing its proper value."

Observation at this college indicates that about 50 per cent of the most successful students in various professions and occupations came from students making high standings in college, while only 17 per cent of those making any outstanding success came from those whose class records showed them to be of the weaker students, according to Professor Hamilton. Fifty per cent of those regarded as more or less failures in business life came from the lower one-fourth of their classes.

Greatest Honor in Phi Kappa Phi

The greatest scholastic honor comes to those elected to Phi Kappa Phi, national scholarship fraternity. This honor is awarded to 10 per cent of the senior class having the highest standings during their whole course. At graduation three per cent of the seniors are awarded high honors, and honors are awarded to an additional seven per cent of the graduates having the highest standings during their junior and senior years.

Grades of 1,357 students of last year's freshman class evaluated and averaged according to the usual method gives a class average of .63 honor points or a decimal grade of 74 per cent. The average grade for the class should have been 1 or 78 per cent. The senior class of last year made an average standing of 1.25 or 80 per cent.

Engineering Division Leads in Grades

The women in the freshman class, with a scholarship standing of 76 per cent, outranked the men, whose average was 72.6 per cent. However, the division of engineering leads the other divisions of the class with an average of .849. The division of general science ranked second with an average of .67; the division of home economics third with an average of .62; the division of agriculture fourth with an average of .345; the division of veterinary medicine fifth with an average of .326.

"I wish to bring to the attention of those who are inclined to take college life too easily, the item of expense that goes with everyone's college education," said Professor Hamilton. "According to the last biennial report of the college, $1,500,000 was expended for instruction at this institution during the period of two years ending 1924. During this same period instruction was given to the extent of 6,000,000 student hours. Hence the state invests in each hour of work for each student an amount of 30 cents. The average expenses per year as reported recently by over 100 students are approximately $600. An average assignment of 17 credit hours per week for 36 weeks amounts to nearly 600 credit hours. Therefore each student invests $1 in each hour of work. Taking into consideration his loss in immediate earning power a total investment of from $1.50 to $2 for each credit hour is made by each student."

CAMPUS NOTABLES BACK ORGANIZATION IN CAMPAIGN

Is Considered a Vital Factor in Progress of School—Campaign Begins Monday

Popularity of the college Y. M. C. A., which starts its annual campaign for members next Monday, is shown by the endorsements it receives from prominent people on the campus. Not only is the Y considered a popular organization by these people, but it is considered a vital factor in the progress of K. S. A. C.

Y Popular at Other Schools

At the meeting of the Mid-West Student conference here last spring, delegates were high in their praise of the work of the organization in their respective schools, and with one exception, believed that the organization should be strongly supported on every campus.

Following are a few of the endorsements of the Y: Christian E. Rugh, president of the S. S. G. A.—"My experience with the work of the Y. M. C. A. has shown it to be the only organization working exclusively for the good of K. S. A. C. and its students."

Jessie McDowell Machir, registrar—I think it adds a very great deal to any college man's standing to be known as an active member of the Y. M. C. A. on our campus. It indicates that he is cultivating the better things of life and wishes to identify himself with them. I believe in the Y and the Y boys.

Mike Ahearn—The Y. M. C. A. may be counted on at all times to boost for a bigger and better K. S. A. C. Work for the good of the college by joining forces with the Y. M.

Dr. Howard T. Hill—Christian living and Aggie loyalty are the aim and practice of the Y among the student body. The sincerity to promote as well as to preach its purpose commands my respect and personal efforts.

Actually Fulfills Its Purpose

Coach Charles Bachman—The Y. M. C. A. is the student's friend and is deserving of the generous support of all those who are interested in student welfare. An association organized to do good and actually fulfills its purpose.

Russell I. Thackrey, editor-in-chief The Collegian—The Y. M. C. A., through its go-to-college teams and conferences, is one of the best advertising mediums for K. S. A. C. off the campus that I know of.

Plans for the campaign are practically completed, according to Paul Pfuetze, president of the Y. A meeting of the captains of the streets and houses will be held Sunday afternoon to complete all details.

Every man in college will be seen, and asked to join the organization. According to Mr. Pfuetze, membership is not dependent upon the payment of money, although this campaign is the only means the Y has of financing its activities during the year.

POLITICS

If it is true that man is greatly influenced by his surroundings and that apathy begets apathy, then perhaps students of Kansas State are not to blame for the condition which has existed in college politics for several years. However, it is also true that some persons have the capacity to rise above environment, and it is to these that Kansas State must look for a remedy for our student mis-government.

Not on the heads of the governors, but on the governed—on the 3,000 who sit by and let the other 40 or 50 do their work falls the blame for the unwholesome condition of student politics. It would be safe to venture that not more than 50 persons out of any one class in school knew who the president of their class was at any one time last year, and that not more than half of that number took an active part in the election.

It is not pleasant continually to refer to what other schools are doing, nor is it pleasant continually to find that other colleges of the size of Kansas State are far ahead of ours in the matter of student government.

When student elections for a class of 1,200 persons, such as were last year's freshmen, may be run off with less than 24 hours' notice, in a room seating 200 persons, something is wrong with student politics.

And when a student body of more than 3,000 has not enough persons in it intelligently interested in student affairs to inquire as to the causes of the present situation, perhaps something is wrong with the student body. That, however, does not necessarily follow. It may be that the natural leaders are present, but have not realized whether we have drifted.

But if the drifting process keeps up much longer, one will be forced to believe that one's worst suspicions are true, that Kansas State is failing in producing leaders in citizenship, and that as a body politic our "loyal Aggies" are a dismal failure.

WAS MR. AMES SPOOFING?

At Friday night's meeting of the Student Self Governing association council Ed Ames, secretary of the local chamber of commerce, produced figures to show that a great part of K. S. A. C. fraternity and club grocery trade was and is going to business houses in the larger cities. Mr. Ames followed his statistics with a plea for support of local business by college organizations, clinching his argument with the statement that "local merchants offer goods as cheaply as do those of city wholesale houses."

Mr. Ames is a likeable and valuable citizen of Manhattan, but The Collegian suspects that he was swayed from the paths of verity by the nature of his employment in his S. S. G. A. talk. A more or less intimate knowledge of fraternity stewards in general has failed to reveal one so much enamored of his work as deliberately to go to the trouble of ordering out-of-town in quantity when a phone call would bring the goods to his door as needed, unless there was some advantage in out-of-town buying.

The Collegian believes in supporting Manhattan and its industries, so long as there is a little of the mutual aid theory applied. The Collegian, in fact, is willing to pay slightly higher prices to local men to give them the trade. This fall, however, supplies in general behaved, strangely enough, in balloon fashion dating approximately from September 15.

Mr. Ames, as we have said, is an estimable citizen, a conscientious worker for Kansas State in general, and ordinarily a fountain of truth. But somehow we cannot help but feel that Mr. Ames was spoofing the S. S. G. A. last Tuesday night.

We note by one of the downtown papers that the city council (if we were trying to be funny we'd say "city dads") at last has taken up the matter of zoning.

As we understand it, zoning is an attempt to keep all barber shops, drug stores, garages, grocery stores, et cetera, in one group, as far away from the residential district as possible.

The reason for this is, of course, that the people will then have to walk further for their shaves, coca colas, spark plugs, prunes, et cetera, and thus will be greatly benefited by the ensuing exercise.

But the city dads (we had to say it), being partial to the frailty of youth, took pity upon the poor Aggie students.

To go further—they allowed it to be discussed seriously within their group that the business district of Aggieville be allowed to extend along Anderson avenue to Sixteenth street.

Of course they realized that these buildings would mar the landscape immediately adjacent to the college campus, but their desire to make life easy for the students finally assuaged their crooly injured aesthetic senses.

And the buildings really won't look so bad. They'll be well covered with pretty posters and signs.

As we said before, we don't know what zoning means.

We only write the colm.

When rural service lines bring electricity to the farmer's door, many of his labor troubles are at an end. Motors, large and small, will do the many chores of farm and farm house for a few cents per day.

The Farm Electrical

Of the six and a half million farm homes in this country, only half a million have electricity.

Still, the advantages of electricity are widely known. But there is more to farm electrification than the installation of motors, lights and heaters. Current must be brought to the farm, and that means many miles of transmission line, supporting poles, transformers, and adequate generating equipment.

Slowly but surely the electrification of American farms is taking place. As farmers learn how to use electricity, rural service lines reach out farther and farther into open country.

Six million farms to be electrified! Here is a vast and virgin field for the application of electricity, with countless opportunities for college-trained men in the technical and commercial phases of this undertaking. And for the agricultural college student and others planning a future life in rural sections, it means a better, bigger, happier life-time now in the making.

Since its inception the General Electric Company has pioneered in the various fields of applied electricity. Today G-E engineers are co-operating with various State agricultural committees in the study of farm and rural electrification. These committees include members of the agricultural college faculties.

A new series of G-E advertisements showing what electricity is doing in many fields will be sent on request. Ask for Booklet GEK-1.

TWO NEW MEMBERS IN DEPARTMENT OF BOTANY

Dr. Fellows and Dr. Weimer will Work on Special Investigations for Government

Two new investigators have become permanent members of the department of botany and plant pathology at the Kansas State Agricultural college.

Dr. Fellows of the United States Department of Agriculture, formerly of the University of Wisconsin, has located at Manhattan to conduct investigations in wheat take-all and foot-rot diseases. His headquarters will be Manhattan and extensive field and greenhouse investigations will be conducted on these diseases.

Dr. J. L. Weimer, who for years has made a special investigation of sweet potato diseases, has moved with his family from Washington, D. C., to Manhattan. He will be stationed in this part of the United States as leader in a project in storage crop diseases, paying special attention to the alfalfa crop. Dr. Weimer will have Manhattan as his headquarters and several states in the middle, west and south will be visited by him annually.

Neither of these men will do any teaching, since their entire time will be devoted to research in plant pathology. This makes the third member which the U. S. Department of Agriculture has stationed in plant pathological work at Manhattan. C. O. Johnston, who has been in the department of botany and plant pathology for several years, is conducting investigations in cereal rusts.

The department has also appointed Miss Margaret Newcomb graduate assistant. She will devote part of her time to teaching, and the remainder to her graduate work. A new full-time instructor is also coming to Manhattan in the very near future on account of the heavy enrollment in the department which has made additional teaching force necessary. It is not fully decided as yet who this member is to be.

Delaware still uses the ancient whipping post.

Well, now, you will need a Wahl Pen. Signs checks, okehs garage bills and takes down recipes almost automatically. FRESHMEN PROMISE TO SUPPORT OBLIGATIONS

Hold First Meeting Last Wednesday—Nominate Class Officers

With Dr. H. T. Hill, head of the department of public speaking, and Paul Pfuetze in charge, the freshman class met Wednesday afternoon to nominate officers for the fall semester and to make other preliminaries for the class organization.

The class voted to abide faithfully by obligations of the freshmen in that the girls will hereafter wear green ribbons on their arms, and the boys will be consistent in the wearing of their little green caps.

It was decided that the class would accept the invitation of the Wareham theatre this evening, and see Harold Lloyd in "The Freshman," wearing their green caps and ribbons as passports. All freshmen will sit in a body at football games, and the boys will wear civilian rather than military clothes. It was decided at the class meeting.

Following are the officers nominated at the meeting: Bert Pearson, Milo Coldren, and Raymond Caughron, president; Alice Watkins, vice-president; Alberta Kearns and Sue Bruney, secretary; Rollo Patton and Jim Henlin, treasurer; Hester Smith, Arthur Hemker, and Loren Thrall, S. S. G. A. representative; Mary Alford, historian.

Miss Jean Dobbs, who received her master's degree in 1925, and who is now on the staff of the home economics division in the household economics department, is to speak at the fourteenth annual convention of the Kansas State Nurses' association in Topeka October 8, 9, and 10.

Dr. Margaret Russel entertained the big sister group of which she is big sister mother last Sunday afternoon from 3 to 5. Tea and wafers were served.

HUSKERS WATCH AGGIE PROGRESS

GAME TOMORROW IMPORTANT
IN 1925 RACE

Wildcats and Sooners Consistent Nebraska Stumbling Blocks—Sooner Prospects Rated as Fairly High

Lincoln, Nebr., Oct. 1.—(Special)—Nebraska football fans will watch closely the outcome of one of the important Missouri Valley battles between the Oklahoma Sooners and the Kansas Aggies at Manhattan next Saturday. The Cornhuskers meet the Sooners at Lincoln, October 31, while the Aggies will be met on the Manhattan gridiron, November 14.

Both teams are among the leaders in the Valley at the art of forward passing. For three years the Aggies have endangered the Huskers' position at the head of Missouri Valley teams, while last year the Sooners gave the Nebraskans a setback in the second game of the season by trimming the boys from Lincoln, 14 to 7, on the Norman gridiron.

Both Teams Pass

It is the ability of the Aggies and the Sooners to execute successfully the forward pass that has made them consistent stumbling blocks in the Huskers' paths to football glory. Never do these two teams fail to give the Huskers a run for their money.

From Norman comes the report that Coach Bennie Owen is shifting his lineup about in puzzling fashion to arrive at the strongest possible combination.

Veterans are occupying both tackle positions. Captain Edwin Brockman and Guffey, both guards of last year, have been transferred to the tackle position where they are slated to give opposing teams a lot to worry about. Wolfe, a veteran, and Martin, a first-year man, are holding down the guards.

P. A. Wallace, elder brother of Line Coach Leigh A. "Polly" Wallace, who, as a center for Iowa State college won all-American mention, is the principal candidate for the pivot position, although Sumter, 200-pound Indian, and Muldrow are giving him stiff competition.

Roy LeCrone, a 6-footer with 184 pounds to back him, and Voth, who boasts the scale beam to 170, are the first string ends. Both are first-year men.

Vets in Backfield

In the backfield are found two veterans and two recruits. From tactics employed in practice, it seems probable that Coach Owen plans to concentrate on line plunges and end runs rather than his time-honored aerial attack.

Slough, last year's quarterback, is slated for the signal calling position again this year. Haller, 158 pound halfback, has been used at left half. Haller is also a letterman in basketball and track.

Hill, right-half, and Potts, fullback, are the recruits in the backfield. Potts tied for first place in the pole vault at the Missouri Valley and National Intercollegiate meet last spring. Both men weigh 190 pounds.

Ray LeCrone made an exceptional showing as fullback last year, and is pushing Potts for the line-plunging station. Reserve halfbacks include Arbuckle, 1923 letterman; Cuning, Bond and Parker. Three first-year quarterbacks are on the squad: Shunatona, Sanger and Snodgrass, while Strouville, 1922 quarterback, is out for end.

Other reserve linemen are Heber Martin, Staveley and Cooke, guards; Smith, Berry and Thomas, tackles; Kidd Marks Brown and Skillern, ends.

SPORT NOTES

Boxing has been abolished as a collegiate sport at the University of Kansas this fall, and no professional instructor will be employed to teach the sport, according to announcement made by Dr. F. C. Allen, director of athletics. Doctor Allen gave as his reason for the step the fact that boxing, and all sports of a character tending to the professional, had been frowned upon by Missouri Valley conference heads at their meeting last spring. K. U. will continue to support a wrestling team, it was said.

Boxing and wrestling at Kansas State have never been under the direction of a professional instructor. Classes in the two sports under the direction of the regular physical education teachers are now and will continue to be offered. It is possible that there will be no boxing schedule with other schools this spring, however, as a result of the action of the valley in refusing to recognize the sport as intercollegiate.

HOLD PHYSICAL ED LECTURES

Are Required for All Girls Enrolled in New Course

The first of this year's series of physical education lectures for freshmen and new girls will be given in C 26, Monday afternoon from five to six.

The attendance of these lectures is required in the regular physical education work and those attending are excused from floor work for one period. The purpose of the talks is to acquaint the new women students with the members of the athletic department and with its purposes.

Miss Morris, head of the department, will have charge of the lectures. The different members of the physical education faculty and several of the officers of the W. A. A. will conduct the talks.

Similar lectures have been given in previous years and have been found to be quite successful in connection with the regular class work in the department.

Held Zoology Seminar

The seminar for the faculty and graduate students of the department of zoology is held every Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The first part of the meeting, which is social, is held in the advanced laboratory room and tea and wafers are served. The rest of the meeting is held in a class room and a lecture is given. Doctor Mary T. Harman, who spent the summer at Puget Sound experiment station, gave a talk about this station on September 24. Doctor Minna E. Jewell talked on the "Salt Marsh Regions" on October 1. The address on October 8 will be given by Professor Dean.

Wilbur Miller f. s., '25, is an instructor in the public schools at Ness City.

Hort Club Meets

The first meeting of the horticulture club was held Tuesday night. The meeting was devoted to election of officers for the term. Officers elected were: F. P. Eshbaugh, president; Fred Schultz, vice-president; John Shirkey, program chairman; and Henry Lobenstein, publicity chairman.

Wanted—Boarders at 415 N. 16th street. Home cooked meals, served family style. Mrs. F. W. Thompson. Phone 1371.

James Savage, '25, is practicing veterinary medicine at Dodge City.

HEAVY SEASON IN INTRAMURALS

25 ORGANIZATIONS ARE REPRESENTED AT FIRST MEETING

Bicycle Racing, Swimming, Wrestling, Boxing, Track, Tennis, Basketball Among Sports

Twenty-five college organizations were represented in a brief opening meeting of the K. S. A. C. Intramural athletic association held Thursday evening, October 3, in the "K" room of Nichols gymnasium.

No important action was taken other than authorization of a change in rules governing eligibility of contestants and acceptance of a design for this year's athletic trophy. Hereafter, according to the new ruling, unattached relay teams will be barred from entering races. This step was voted in order to prevent picked groups of star independent runners from carrying away the honors.

A Large Trophy

The approved design for the 1925-26 intramural trophy calls for a silver loving cup three feet high, engraved with the name of the association and the significance of its possession. The cup will be awarded at the end of the college year to the organization accumulating the most points through athletic victories and near victories. Additional honors will be bestowed upon individual athletes having made certain notable records.

The hottest campaign in many years, it is believed, will mark this season's struggle for the cup. Last year some 32 aggregations battled thru the varied sporting events of the year in an effort to place high in the final standings. Kappa Sigma fraternity outdistanced their competitors in number of points in that season and acquired possession of the coveted cup.

Heavy Schedule

Membership in the association is open to all male students in the college. Any college club, fraternity, or organized band of students may enter teams in events upon payment of a yearly $2 fee.

A six-mile bicycle race, a swimming meet, a cross country run, boxing, track, tennis, and a heavy basketball schedule are the headlines to be staged this fall by the intramural association. Basketball will begin its reign November 1. Dates for other athletic contests have not yet been set, although it was tentatively decided to hold the bicycle marathon between halves of the Missouri football game, October 24.

The next meeting of the association will be occasion for election of officers and will probably be held within the next two weeks.

CHERRINGTON ADVOCATES ENTRANCE TO WORLD COURT

Court Now Has 48 Members—Urges Students to Aid in National Acceptance

Ben Cherrington, national student Y. M. C. A. secretary, in his speech, "Shall We Stand by Coolidge?" given at the first meeting of the student forum Thursday noon advocated the entrance of the United States into the World Court as an essential step toward world peace, world disarmament and moral reconstruction.

"I think that the United States should enter the World Court as soon as possible because, first, it is in line with the American ideal that disagreements between nations should be settled on the basis of reason and arbitration rather than force or war; second, because it gives the opponents and the advocates of the League of Nations the same privileges; and third, because the support of the United States would accelerate to a great extent world peace and understanding," the Y. M. C. A. secretary stated. He further recommended that the United States enter the court under the reservations approved by President Coolidge.

Mr. Cherrington made it very clear that the court is an actual living force with 48 nations as members and that it has already made five important and highly satisfactory decisions.

In concluding his speech, Secretary Cherrington emphasized especially the part that students can do toward national acceptance of the World Court through World Court committees, open forums and debates, discussion groups, the press, and the distribution of literature.

Dr. J. S. Hughes, of the chemistry department, visited in Topeka Wednesday.

Susie Huston, '25, left October 2 for Miami, Okla., where she will be dietitian in Miami hospital.

QUESTION!

How would you like to see the Kansas Aggie Wildcats play football with the Drake Bulldogs next Saturday and make the equivalent of $28.60?

This has been made possible for everyone by Sigma Delta Chi and their new $800.00 automatic electric scoreboard. On Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the college auditorium the biggest football party ever held in Manhattan will take place. Not only will the Aggie students get to see the exact play-by-play reproduction of the football game but they will also be entertained with the college band, some pep talks and some special music.

The new scoreboard playing device is having some additional features put on this week in order to make the game "at home" as realistic as possible. A direct telegraph wire from the auditorium to the stadium at Des Moines will make it possible to receive the plays here at practically the same time they take place on the Drake field. The scoreboard will follow the game to the minutest detail and include everything such as: end runs, line plunges, passes, punts, penalties, substitutions, etc.

FRATERNITY OBJECTS TO NEW PLAN AT COUNCIL MEETING

Council Takes Protests Under Advice and Will Make Recommendations to Planning Commission Soon

A protest against the inclusion of Anderson avenue west to Sixteenth street in the commercial district zoning ordinance was made before a meeting of the city planning commission Thursday night at the city hall by Kansas State chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, men's honorary professional journalistic fraternity. The chapter attended the meeting in a body, and were represented before the commission by Kenneth Chappell, Manhattan, and R. I. Thackrey, Manhattan.

The meeting was well attended by Manhattan residents, and there were speakers both for and against the proposal to make Anderson a business street. Joe Cooper, Aggieville barber, and Mrs. Cooper, both spoke in favor of allowing business to extend west to Sixteenth.

Sigma Delta Chi, which represented a large part of the student body, based its protest on the detrimental effect signboards have had and will have in the future on the approaches to the K. S. A. C. campus. In reply to a question as to "which he preferred, business houses or signboards," the Sigma Delta Chi representative stated that "he did not see that it was necessary to have either."

"Your visitor to Manhattan from the west gets his first impression of Manhattan and the college from Anderson avenue," Thackrey said in closing his plea for a change in the zoning. "His impression of the college will be good, because of its beautiful campus. But his first view of Manhattan is at present a string of hamburger shops and signboards. What it will be in twenty years is for you to choose."

Members of the commission took all protests under advisement following the hearing, and will recommend changes to the city planning commission as they see fit. Under the proposed law, commercial houses already in the residence districts will not be forced to move, and will be allowed to repair their buildings up to 50 per cent in case of fire. Any residence within the business section can be repaired, but if it is destroyed by fire must be replaced by a fire proof structure.

SPECIAL TRAIN TO K. U.

Union Pacific Runs Special, Leaving Here Saturday Morning

A special train over the Union Pacific has been secured to carry Aggie football fans to the Aggie-K. U. football classic in Lawrence, October 17, according to Prof. M. F. "Mike" Ahearn, director of Aggie athletics. The price will be equal to the regular one-way fare of $2.81 for the round trip.

The train will leave here about 10 o'clock in the morning on October 17, the day of the game, and will return the next morning at 8 o'clock, permitting those who wish to remain over night to attend the various dances and parties following the game. Those who wish may return on other trains, however.

NEXT GAME AT DRAKE SATURDAY

AGGIES PLAY FIRST CONTEST IN NEW DRAKE STADIUM

Teams Will Settle Right to Stay at Top of Valley Heap—Both Are Strong

Two veteran football teams will open the new Drake Stadium in Des Moines Saturday when Kansas State and the Bulldogs, both visitors in their opening valley games, meet for the right to stay at the top of the valley heap for another week. Kansas State has fifteen letter men on its squad, and Drake has thirteen. Drake has one Bulldog veteran for every place on the team except left halfback, but sophomores will replace the old men in several cases.

Orebaugh Not Back

Sam Orebaugh, who pulled his team out of a bad hole three times and finally led it to a 7 to 6 victory over the Aggies a year ago, will not be on the Drake team this fall. Everett, quarterback last year, has returned, but is being pushed for his place by G. Fry, who starred in the 6 to 6 Drake win over Washington last Saturday. Duston, fullback, and Spears, half, are the other backfield veterans.

In the line are Captain E. D. Carlos, center; D. L. Ambelang, 190 pound left guard; Ewart, right guard, and Sloan, veteran right end. Ben Lingenfelter, who scored a touchdown against the Aggies last year, has not returned, but his cousin, R. Lingenfelter, is a sophomore halfback.

The Aggie-Drake game Saturday will be "Dad's Day" in Des Moines, as well as the first game in the new stadium there. The stadium will be dedicated when Drake meets Nebraska later in the season.

Drake Team Heavy

Reports out of Drake characterize the team as having a heavy line, with a fast and shifty backfield.

Coach Bachman will dedicate most of this week to smoothing out and speeding up the offensive, which twice has won by a handy margin after being ineffective during the first half. Reserve power showed its value Saturday against Oklahoma, as the Sooners were tiring rapidly as the game ended while the Aggies were comparatively fresh.

CHORUS DIVIDED IN FOUR SECTIONS FOR REHEARSALS

Professor Wheeler Predicts Big Improvement as Result—Many New Members of Music Faculty

An interesting change has been made in the direction of the K. S. A. C. chorus this year and Professor Wheeler predicts a 100 per cent organization as a result.

Instead of the usual practice in a single group the chorus will be divided into four sections, each rehearsing separately. This method will allow more intensive concentration on the individual group and should result in a really fine finished product. Miss Marjorie Schobel will direct the sopranos, Miss Maurine Smith the altos, Edwin Sayre the tenors, and William Lindquist the basses.

One hundred and sixteen have enrolled in chorus and an effort is being made to enlist the cooperation of the townspeople. It is the aim of those in charge of the chorus to work toward a municipal choral union, which, as its name implies, would include the townspeople as well as the students. If this is accomplished it will be an important step for both college and community. Such organizations in other places have been very successful and it is hoped that enough interest will be aroused here to carry out the plan.

Lambda Tau Kappa Elects

Lambda Tau Kappa, Congregational student fraternity, held a meeting Thursday evening at which the following officers were elected for this semester:

Governor, Lydia Stebbins; lieutenant governor, Fred Mason; recorder, Helen Clydesdale; assistant recorder, John Edwards; keeper of exchequer, Lily Brandy; captain, Leonard Brubaker; pastor, Earl Herrick; property custodian, Chester Keck.

Prof. Paul Weigel, head of the department of architecture, will attend the Kansas building forum at Hutchinson, October 8, 9, and 10. This association is composed of contractors, material men, architects and engineers, who discuss matters relating to the building industry of the state of Kansas.

DOCTOR GRIMES HONORED

Placed on National Committee of Agricultural Economists

Appointment of Dr. W. E. Grimes, head of the department of agricultural economics, on a national committee of agricultural economists to make a study of agricultural programs in the United States, was announced late last week.

President M. L. Wilson of the American Farm Economics association made the appointment following a recent meeting of the association. Other members of the committee are: Dr. G. W. Forester, head of the department of agricultural economics, North Carolina Agricultural college, chairman; Dr. C. E. Ladd, director of agricultural extension work at Cornell university; Prof. H. C. M. Case, head of the department of farm organization and operation, University of Illinois; and Prof. R. F. Tabor, in charge of agricultural extension work, University of Ohio.

This is the second national committee upon which Doctor Grimes has received an appointment within the past few months. He was appointed some time ago on the committee of land grant colleges to make a study of agricultural surpluses in the United States.

DEPARTMENT OF MUSIC ENLARGED

BRIGHT FORECAST FOR FUTURE OF DEPARTMENT

Spring Festival Plans Under Way—Bands, Glee Clubs, Orchestra, and Chorus Organized

K. S. A. C. is a bit boastful in regard to its music department this year but from all the evidence, the pride seems justified. With Professor H. P. Wheeler as the new head of the department, several former faculty members back, eight new instructors with recommendations and degrees from the best conservatories in the country, a large enrollment, and enthusiastic plans for the year already being carried out, the musical forecast for 1925-26 looks very promising.

Plans are under way for Spring Festival Week, the two college bands are organized and practicing tri-weekly, the glee clubs have been selected, and the orchestra and the chorus are progressing well in their work.

Wheeler's Aims High

Professor Wheeler, who succeeded Prof. Ira Pratt as head of the department, has been a member of the faculty as director of the band and orchestra for a number of years, and his marked ability for leadership is well known. His aims for the year's work are high and some real musical achievements may be expected.

The new members of the music faculty are as follows: William Lindquist, B. M., Cosmopolitan School of Music, associate professor and head of the department of voice, baritone.

Edwin Sayre, A. B., B. M., De Pauw university, assistant professor of voice, tenor.

Miss Maurine Smith, instructor in voice, pupil of Mr. Witherspoon and Mr. Hackett, contralto.

Miss Kathleen McKelrick, B. M., Northwestern university, instructor in piano.

Former Tiffany Instructor Here

Miss Alice Jefferson, pianist, graduate of American Conservatory of Music, pupil of Heriberto Levy and Clarence Hamilton. Miss Jefferson formerly taught at the Tiffany School of Music and Decatur Musical college.

Miss Irma Smith, B. M., Illinois Wesleyan university, instructor in piano.

Miss Marjorie Schobel, soprano, Cincinnati Conservatory of Music, instructor in voice.

Arthur Graham, pianist, graduate of Indiana Conservatory of Music, instructor in piano.

Dorothy Stiles, clarinet, and Mary Jackson, violin, are student assistants in the department.

Theta Sigma Phi Pledges Two

Theta Sigma Phi, professional journalism sorority, held pledge services Thursday evening for Evelyn Peffley, Manhattan, and Velma Lockridge, Wakefield, both juniors in industrial journalism.

The Pi Beta Phi sorority entertained for Miss Helen King with a miscellaneous shower at the chapter house, 1409 Fairchild, Wednesday evening. It followed the regular Wednesday night meeting of all active members of Pi Beta Phi. Miss King is the daughter of Dr. H. H. King, head of the chemistry department.

Miss Helen Correll, '25, who is teaching at Chapman this year, spent the week end with her parents, Prof. and Mrs. Charles Correll.

BIG POLITICAL SPLIT-UP FEATURES COMING ELECTION

FRATERNITIES AND SORORITIES ALIGN THEMSELVES FOR REAL SCRAP

KALAKAK MEETS

Although a definite platform was not drawn up by the Kalakak party at its preliminary meeting last night, the group expressed themselves as being in favor of fraternity and non-fraternity equality in hill life, all-student participation in politics, freshman caps and regulations, and a strict enforcement of all K. S. A. C. traditions.

The organization included a clause disfavoring Saturday afternoon classes and dates at football games, in their tentative platform.

The other faction has not announced any policies or intentions.

Need More Stringed Instruments

A call for orchestra recruits has been issued by Professor Wheeler, head of the music department. The orchestra has need of stringed instruments, especially violins, violas, and string basses. It is not too late to try out for one of these positions and all who are interested are urged to consult Professor Wheeler.

ON PUBLIC SERVICE PROGRAM

President Farrell Will Address Kansas Association October 22 and 23

Dr. F. D. Farrell, president of K. S. A. C., will be on the program of the twenty-eighth annual convention of the Kansas Public Service association to be held in Topeka, October 22 and 23. Doctor Farrell is chairman of the Kansas committee on the Relation of Electricity to Agriculture.

Three hundred public service company executives and employees from Kansas and adjoining states are expected to attend the sessions of this convention. Many nationally prominent public utility authorities will deliver addresses, including J. E. Davidson, president of the National Electric association.

Directors of state public service information bureaus in Missouri, Iowa, Nebraska, Oklahoma, and Colorado will be guests of the Kansas information bureau at a special luncheon.

PERCY GRAINGER TO APPEAR HERE

INDIVIDUAL CONCERT TO BE GIVEN AT K. S. A. C. OCTOBER 23

Music Department Able to Secure Date with Most Popular Pianist of the Day

Percy Grainger, who is accorded unquestionably the title of America's most popular pianist, has finally been secured for an evening's individual concert by the Kansas State Agricultural college music department.

"It is most fortunate for the students and townspeople of Manhattan that Mr. Grainger was able to find a date when he could appear here," said Prof. H. P. Wheeler, head of the music department. He will fill his engagement at K. S. A. C. the evening of Friday, October 23.

Inspiration to Young Artists

Because of the fact that Mr. Grainger is the biggest inspiration to young artists of today, Professor Wheeler is very desirous that all children, particularly those who are interested in music, be afforded the chance to hear this unusually interesting musician. His improvisations and arrangements of folk songs and old dances are delightful to those who prefer the more human side of music, and are particularly enjoyable to children who are starting their musical studies.

Is Well Known Composer

As a composer, Grainger is best known for his "Country Gardens" and "Shepherd's Hey." He is a firm believer in naturalness, and consequently one sees novel directions on the scores of his music. If he writes that the music should be played "bumpingly" or that it is "chippy" it is not eccentricism, but natural expression of his personality. It is this originality which marks not only his compositions, but also his interpretations.

William Ashcraft of Kansas City was a week end guest at the Alpha Rho Chi house.

BREAK BREWING SINCE EARLY LAST YEAR WHEN JUNIORS BECAME ACTIVE

Split into rival camps since last Tuesday night Greek letter fraternities at Kansas State have undergone a rapid mobilization into two parties during the past week for the first real political campaign in the last ten years. One party completed most of its organization last Thursday night, and the other, which has chosen the name of "the Kalakaks" has been working throughout the week and met last night to perfect details for the campaign.

KALAKAKS ALREADY AT WORK

Nearly All Hill Organizations Have Definitely Affiliated—Party Leaders Predict Large Non-Fraternity Following

Politics under the new regime will by no means be confined to the Greeks, party leaders have indicated, and the entire student body is expected to be involved in the elections, which will be run off either the latter part of this week or the first of next week.

S. S. G. A. Election Added Fuel

The storm has been brewing since early last year, when Pax, junior men's class honorary fraternity, became disgusted with the apathy shown in conducting student affairs, and endeavored to carry on a real political campaign. Further fuel was added by the spring S. S. G. A. elections, when a part of the men's "K" fraternity supported a candidate against the man backed by Scarab, senior men's honorary fraternity. The Scarab candidate was successful, and also won out over the appeal of the "K" fraternity to the faculty advisory council.

At a recent Scarab meeting, it is understood that members agreed to split politically for the purpose of adding new zest to student elections, and most hill fraternities have definitely come into one camp or another during the last day or so, followed by several sororities.

Men's Organizations May Split

The break has so widened that it is possible that disruption of the men's honorary fraternities into separate organizations may follow.

Leaders in organization of the Kalakak party are rumored to be Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Beta Theta Pi, and Sigma Nu. Other fraternities understood to be allied with that group are Pi Kappa Alpha, Kappa Phi Alpha, Phi Sigma Kappa, Delta Sigma Phi, Alpha Tau Omega, and Alpha Rho Chi. Sororities said to be allied with the "Kalakaks" are Delta Delta Delta, Kappa Kappa Gamma, Chi Omega, Alpha Xi Delta, Alpha Theta Chi, and Phi Omega Pi.

In the opposing party organization the names of Delta Tau Delta, Phi Delta Theta, Phi Kappa, Sigma Phi Epsilon, Lambda Chi Alpha and Acacia are mentioned currently as being "together," along with the Pi Beta Phi, Kappa Delta, and Delta Zeta sororities.

Several Undecided

Several organizations are said to be still undecided as to their affiliations, among them being Kappa Sigma, Omega Tau Epsilon, Phi Kappa Tau, Farmhouse, Phi Lambda Theta, Alpha Delta Pi, and Gamma Phi Delta. Class dues of at least 25 cents a semester must be paid before any student will be allowed to vote, according to a ruling of the S. S. G. A., at its meeting last week.

Carry On Politics

Two party organized politics has returned to the Kansas State campus after an absence of a decade.

Falling in every other attempt to pull Kansas State out of its apathy in matters political, several embryo campaign managers organized a split into two party camps during the past week, and the merry scrap is on.

Just for the present, a little activity along the election line is a relief. Years of student elections in which there was only one slate, and only a matter of fifty or so votes cast, make one inclined to heave a sigh of relief at the prospect of any manner of change.

One is inclined to wonder, however, just what the change will accomplish. It will add one more hectic diversion to the daily round of the active student, give The Collegian plenty of good copy, and perhaps promote rivalry to the point where injured feelings may result. It is doubtful whether any real good will be accomplished, as the old system, after all, has carried on the necessary, or unnecessary business with a minimum of time and trouble. Reasoning along the same line brings one to the conclusion that government by a minority is also much less troublesome than popular rule, and that it is held to be dangerous.

Regardless of pros and cons, and irrespective of whether student politics are desirable, the experiment is about to be performed in our midst, and our daily hello is to be changed to "Registered Yet?"

"It's a great aid to scholastic efficiency"

ONE professor makes this remark, and countless others are saying the same thing. They know the value of a typewriter as a time-saver, as a means of compiling data, and as a help in the expression of thought. Then too, it frees the "ret" from that tedious task of deciphering longhand, and keeps him in perfect "reading humor." And perfect "reading humor" tends to mean better marks.

Shoes, Mittens and Livestock Rations

In provincial times the farmers and their families made their own stockings and mittens out of the wool which they raised upon their farms. They made soap out of wood ashes from their fire-places, and candles out of bees-wax. At times they even made their shoes from "home-grown leather."

But modern farmers live in an age of specialization. A farmer's time is far too valuable to spend in making shoes and mittens. He finds that it is wiser for him to sell his milk or his beef and to buy his shoes from the shoemaker. The shoes are better and they cost him less!

The modern scientific farmer, who keeps a careful record of his costs and profits, has found that the same is true of making livestock rations as is true of making shoes and mittens. He finds that such an organization as the Purina Mills is able to furnish him a far more efficient and economical supplement to his home-grown feeds than he could possibly mix by hand.

Purina Chows are the proofs of what a modern mill, modern equipment, quantity buying of ingredients, and scientific research work can do, to lower the farmer's cost of production. The actual records of thousands of successful farmers are proofs one cannot overlook.

COLLEGE ANIMALS WIN 52 PRIZES AT STATE FAIR

Add Six Championships, 20 First, and 20 Second Place Ribbons to Large Collection

Six champions, 26 first places and 20 second places were won by the department of animal husbandry at the Kansas state fair in Hutchinson last week. The department showed only cattle and sheep this year.

"The prize most appreciated was first on get-of-sire in the Shorthorn class," Dr. C. W. McCampbell, head of the animal husbandry department, said upon returning from the fair. The get-of-sire shown by the college consisted of one senior yearling heifer, one junior yearling heifer, one junior yearling bull, and one senior bull calf. They were sired by Gwendolyn Dale, the head of the college Shorthorn herd.

"Winning this get-of-sire class establishes the college herd as one of the best in the middle-west," Doctor McCampbell declared.

The college shows representative animals from its herds and flocks primarily for the purpose of acquainting the general public with the kind and quality of livestock it maintains for instructional purposes. It is also believed necessary that the college show its livestock in order that it may know that the livestock it maintains for instructional purposes is of the right kind. Open competition with the best is the only way to establish the true value of the livestock, it is believed in the animal husbandry department.

The Ayrshire bull calf from the college herd, after placing first in its class at the Nebraska, Iowa, and Topeka fairs and second at the Missouri state fair, outclassed all competition at the state fair in Hutchinson also. Following the fair it was sold to the state industrial reformatory, and will be shown by that institution at the two national dairy shows in Waterloo, Iowa, and Indianapolis, Ind.

Prof. R. H. Lush, who was supervisor of the dairy department at the Hutchinson fair, reports that more dairy animals were shown this year than ever before. The dairy exhibits consisted of 278 head of dairy animals, 135 of which were Holsteins, 69 Jerseys, 33 Ayrshires, 30 Guernseys, and 11 Brown Swisses.

Why You Need This Guide

"It is safe to say that failure to guide and direct study is the weak point in the whole educational machine," Prof. G. M. Whipple, U. of Michigan.

"The successful men in college do not seem to be very happy. Most of them, especially the athletes, are overworked," Prof. H. S. Canby, Yale.

"Misdirected labor, though honest and well intentioned may lead to naught. Among the most important things for the student to learn is how to study. Without knowledge of this his labor may be largely in vain," Prof. G. P. Swain, M. I. T.

"To students who have never learnt 'How to Study,' work is very often a chastisement, a flagellation, and an insuperable obstacle to contentment," Prof. A. Inglis, Harvard.

"HOW TO STUDY" will show you how to avoid all misdirected effort.
Get a good start and make this year a highly successful one by sending for this hand book and guide.

RESERVE POWER BEATS SOONERS

AFTER LATE START, AGGIES BROKE THROUGH DEFENSE

Cochrane's Booting, Haskard's 82 Yard Run, and Teamwork of Aggies, Features

Gathering momentum towards the last of the third quarter, the Kansas State football team swept through to its second impressive victory after its second late start Saturday afternoon, the victims being the Oklahoma Sooners and the score 16 to 0. During the first half 6,000 Aggie rooters watched their team being pushed around in midfield by an Oklahoma offensive that cracked every time it approached the 20 yard line. Once the Sooners were inside that line, and then Coach C. W. Bachman sent in almost a new team. Feather intercepted a pass soon after, and the last Oklahoma chance for a touchdown had passed.

Three Big Thrills

Three things stand prominently out of the jumble of thrills that, to the Aggie crowd, composed the last half. First there was Cochrane's 35-yard drop kick from the sidelines, chalking up three points that looked like a whole football game for a time. Then came Haskard's run from an intercepted pass through the whole Sooner team to the goal line 82 yards away. And finally, there came the time when Meek advanced the ball from the 20 yard line to the three yard line in two plays, and Feather battered through after Oklahoma had fought off the touchdown for three plays.

Once, to be sure, Pearson had broken through, blocked, and recovered an Oklahoma punt on the 11 yard line, only to have the Sooners stand fast and keep the Aggies from making first down by a matter of inches. Another time this Mr. Haskard, playing his first game of valley football, had reeled off 48 yards after receiving a kick-off, only to be forced outside as he was almost free.

Game Not Easy

Let no one get the impression that the game was an Aggie walk away. Until the time of Cochrane's drop kick the Wildcats had been outplayed on straight football, but had held their own because of Cochrane's punting, the fast work of the ends in going down under punts, and the ability of the Wildcats to recover Oklahoma fumbles as well as their own. From its showing Saturday, Coach Bennie Owen's team of sophomores is afflicted with the same malady that brought defeat to the 1924 Aggies regularly after they had outgained their opponents. The Bachmanites, on the other hand, have so far shown that quality invaluable to a football team—getting the breaks. They were not a wonder team, but they were a good football team, and they conquered a good football team.

Haller, Potts, Slough, Hill, and LaCrone stood out in the Sooner backfield, with Wallace, Brown, and Brockman in the line. Most of the Aggie team backs played in about the same degree.

Haskard for his long run, Cochrane for his kicking, and Feather for his following the ball, might be mentioned, though it would be a rank injustice to leave out the work of Holsinger, Meek, Springer, Douglass, Wilson, Enns, and Smith, each of whom had his period of brilliant play.

No Man Outstanding

In like manner one can scarcely mention an outstanding lineman without slighting another who was equally good. Pearson caused the Sooners lots of trouble by continually breaking through the line, and the work of Norton and Tombaugh, centers, was especially noteworthy in that both men are new in the position. Brion, McGee, Fleck, Ballard, and Randels of the first string, as well as Krysl, Price, Edwards and Ehrlich of the reserves did good work.

The line-up and summary:

PARTIES MAKE POLICIES KNOWN

SEIGGA CANDIDATES SELECTED BUT NOT YET MADE PUBLIC

Kalakaks Hold Convention and Give All Students Equal Opportunity to Participate in Party Affairs

At the open and well attended convention of the Kalakak party, called by a number of students who have become disgusted with secret political control of K. S. A. C., the following platform and list of candidates was drafted and enthusiastically approved.

The Kalakak party believes:

1. That interest in, and control of, hill politics should be open to all students of the college, fraternity and non-fraternity alike.

2. In student government of student affairs.

3. In the inspiration of new ideals and observation of old traditions.

Announce Class Candidates

Following is the list of Kalakak candidates for the various classes:

Senior Class—President, Dale Nichols; vice-president, Imogene Daniels; secretary, Dorothy Stiles; treasurer, C. O. Neilson; historian, Mary J. Herthel; marshal, Glen Hatfield.

Freshman Class—President, Milo Caldren; vice-president, Alice Watkins; secretary, Alberta Kearns; treasurer, Sue Bruney; historian, Mary Alford; S. S. G. A. representatives, Garth Champagne and Helen Smith.

Christian Rugh, Fred M. Shideier, Carl Taylor, Dale Nichols, and Frank Glick were named on the platform committee of the Kalakak party Wednesday night.

Seiggas Organize

(By a Seigga Party Leader)

A definite platform as well as an entire list of fall candidates has been drawn up during the past week by the Seigga political party but as yet cannot be made public. Although this party has not seemed as enthusiastic as the Kalakaks they have been keeping their methods of organization in reserve until something important enough comes up to warrant a widespread campaign.

So far the Seigga backers believe that the success of the new political parties will not lie in the question of which side can make the most noise but with the question of which side offers most to the students in the school as a whole. Too much early excitement in the game, say their leaders, will result in the dying out of a great deal of enthusiasm later on when the real interest of the school body is needed.

Not a Permanent Organization

The organization of Seiggas are at present completing a plan for the year's work that will consist in building up interest in both parties and not necessarily attempt to tear down the opposition. The Seiggas state that they believe the early principles of both parties will be similar as both include the traditions of the school but later on new developments will possibly bring up some real issues. The Seigga platform and other announcements will appear in an early issue of The Collegian.

For the information of those who are not already informed, the name "Seigga" is derived from the spelling of "Aggies" backward. It is so named because it will be a big factor in turning Aggie politics completely around.

In accord with an agreement between the two party leaders, the class elections will be held next Wednesday, October 14.

Alpha Betas Have Hike

The Alpha Beta literary society entertained for its visitors and new members with a wiener roast at Eureka Lake park Saturday night, October 3. The party hiked from the college to the Seventeenth street station, taking the interurban, from there to the park. After the wiener roast the regular weekly program was given around the camp fire. Mr. and Mrs. Randall Hill, former members of the organization, chaperoned the party.

Engineer Accepts Dare and Shuns Food for a Week

Because of a dare resulting from a discussion of the effect of fasting on the human body, Frederick Stubbs, a student in engineering, has just completed a week of fasting during which he abstained from taking any form of food whatever, excepting water.

He not only did without food, but also kept up all of his studies and activities in the regular form. At the end of the week he weighed fifteen pounds less than at the beginning and was much weaker but he believes that a few days' diet on milk and soft eggs will restore him to his former weight and strength.

BETTER GAME ON SCOREBOARD

NEW IMPROVEMENTS AID SPECTATORS IN PLAY BY PLAY

Aggie-Drake Game to Be Reproduced in Auditorium on New $800 Scoreboard

Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism fraternity, has completed arrangements for the reproduction of the Aggie-Drake game on their new $800 scoreboard, which has been changed from last year in order to give the spectators a better conception of happenings on the field of play.

New Field Big Improvement

The new arrangement provides for a much better account of the game, the translucent field has been discarded and a field literally covered with small electric lights added in its stead. Over 600 small lights are used on the miniature gridiron, and the ball can now be traced accurately, even down to the yard.

A direct telegraph wire from the auditorium to the stadium at Drake will make it possible to receive reports of the game here at practically the same time that they occur in Des Moines.

The board records who makes the gains, losses, passes, punts, the distances of each, and in fact every minute detail of the game. Scores of the other valley games will also be announced at each quarter.

Lower Admission to 25 Cents

Arrangements have been made for music by the college band and special entertainment between halves. Regular football, environment will be furnished by the "ballyhooing" of peanut and candy bar vendors.

While the customary admission price over the valley for similar parties ranges from 50 cents to one dollar, the price decided upon by the local organization was placed at twenty-five cents, so that every student would be able to attend. The game at the auditorium will start at 3 o'clock.

Twenty-five members of the Kansas Aggie football squad leave Manhattan early tonight for Des Moines and the second hard game of the Missouri valley football season against Drake university tomorrow afternoon. Outside of the temporary loss of Jim Price, substitute end, and one or two painful minor injuries, the men were in top form and confident of opening the new Drake stadium with a Kansas Aggie victory.

Only the Second Meeting

Only once have the Wildcats and Bulldogs met on the gridiron, that time being last fall when Drake went home with a 7 to 6 victory, leaving the Aggies to solace themselves with the summary statistics and the prospect of retaliation this fall. Whether that retaliation is forthcoming or not will be entirely up to the men who made the trip, as football dopesters here or elsewhere have absolutely refused to "win the game" for either team, holding that all indications are of an even break.

Both Teams Heavy and Fast

Both teams have a heavy line and fast backfield, though the Drake backs were not able to get well started in the mud against the rejuvenated Washington university team last Saturday.

The men making the trip are as follows: Cochrane, Anderson, Enns, quarterbacks; Douglass, Feather, fullbacks; Wilson, Meek, Haskard, Smith, Holsinger, Springer, halfbacks; McGee (c), Brion, Reed, Towle, guards; Norton, Tombaugh, centers; Ehrlich, Randels, Edwards, Fleck, ends; Hamler, Ballard, Pearson, Krys, tackles.

The opening Wildcat line-up will consist of about half second and half first string men. It was announced tentatively by Coach Bachman before he left, as follows:
Edwards L. E.
Ballard L. T.
Brion L. G.
Norton C.
McGee (c) R. G.
Krys R. T.
Fleck R. E.

ARTIST SERIES ABANDONED BY DEPARTMENT OF MUSIC

Each Artist Will Be Brought to College Independently This Year—Anticipate More Interest

Prof. H. P. Wheeler, head of the department of music, announces a change of policy in regard to the concert artists which the college brings to Manhattan each year. Feeling that the Artist's Series have been overworked, the department is scheduling individual concerts with prominent musicians, and presenting them independently of each other. Each of these artists will be well enough known to stand upon his own merits.

There are several reasons for this change in policy. In the past years, it has sometimes happened that only one outstanding number would be included in the entire Artist's Series, and dissatisfaction was voiced from those who purchased season tickets. Another factor in presenting a series covered by season tickets is the uncertainty as to whether the purchaser will be able to attend on all the dates in the series.

By the new policy, it is believed that there will be less dissatisfaction. The first concert to be given under this policy will be that of Percy Grainger, the famous Australian composer, on October 23. Grainger is extremely popular in America where he has been booked for several years. Next year he intends to leave America for a tour of his own country, Australia.

Characters for the fall play, "The Goose Hangs High," were cast at the final tryouts held last Friday evening from 7 till 9 o'clock. The permanent business organization of the play will be announced this week by Lynn Fayman, business manager. The cast selected includes:

Bernard Ingals Kingsley Given
Eunice Ingals Mildred Reid
Kimberly Joseph Ley
Noel Derby Joseph Ley

Ronald Murdock Harold Sappenfield
Rhoda Mary Marcene Kimball
Dagmar Carroll Mary Marcene Kimball

The first meeting of the cast was held Monday afternoon. Play practice will be held each afternoon from 4 till 6 o'clock and each evening from 8 till 10 o'clock.

"Purple Masque is particularly fortunate in the large turnout of students for tryouts," Jack Kennedy, president of the organization, stated, "and it has made possible the selection of characters typical of those in the cast."

He also said that one-act chapel plays will give those not having parts in the play, an opportunity to be elected to Purple Masque.

Proposals for presenting "The Goose Hangs High" have been sent to Hiawatha, Norton, Topeka, Kansas City, Leavenworth, and Atchison. Returns will be made this week, and the schedule for the Kansas tour of the cast will be arranged by Purple Masque.

FOOD CLINIC HELD EVERY FRIDAY AT CALVIN HALL

Demonstrations to Be Held Weekly Throughout Year—Discuss Cafeteria Menus Today

The first of a series of food clinics is being held today from 3 to 5 o'clock in room 46, Calvin hall, under the direction of Dr. Martha Kramer and Prof. Pearle E. Ruby, of the department of food economics and nutrition. These demonstrations will continue throughout the year with a different exhibit each week. The clinics are open to all students and townspeople who wish to attend.

On exhibit Friday were two meals, a good and a bad menu, selected from the college cafeteria and amounting to the same sum of money, 27 cents. The bad menu was the exact replica of one chosen by a student that same Friday noon which was observed by Miss Ruby. It consisted of mashed potatoes and gravy, a roll and butter, macaroni, and peach pie a la mode.

For the same price, Miss Ruby selected from the counter that noon the well balanced menu consisting of a baked potato, spinach, two slices of graham bread and butter, a glass of milk, and a fruit salad. The two trays—one containing practically all starchy food and the other containing a well balanced menu costing the same amount—told forcibly the story Miss Ruby wished to bring out—that care must be taken in food selection.

The proper equipment necessary, the sterilization and care of utensils, and the method of artificial or bottle feeding of babies was demonstrated also.

COMPLETE Y. W. DRIVE TONIGHT

ANNUAL CAMPAIGN FOR MEMBERS AND FINANCES ENDS

$238 of $3,089 Budget Raised at Vespers Tuesday—Result Announced Next Week

The Y. W. C. A. budget drive, which started Tuesday evening under the direction of Genevieve Tracy, is progressing fairly satisfactorily, and it is planned to complete the campaign tonight. The goal has been set at $3,089, $238 of which was pledged at Vespers Tuesday evening, the remainder to be raised among women students, faculty, and Manhattan women.

Miss Tracy has organized a group of 45 upperclass and 40 freshman women to canvass women students for $1,000 of the proposed budget. Miss Margaret Ahlborn, chairman of the advisory board, is in charge of the faculty drive, and the advisory board is helping to raise $250 among Manhattan women.

"Y. W. C. A. interests are paramount among the 600 members of the Y. W. who are helping to put across the $3,089 budget drive this week," said Miss Lois Wildy, Y. W. secretary, today.

The contributions from the student body, the different houses, and street canvass are being checked this week. If the drive is a success it will be so announced at Vespers next Tuesday evening by the wedding of Miss Y. W. C. A. to Mr. Budget. The wedding will be accompanied by the wedding procession and vocal and violin solos, followed by a reception at which the large wedding cake will be cut.

SHOW INCREASE OF FOUR PER CENT

ENROLMENT IS LARGEST IN HISTORY OF COLLEGE

3,047 Registered on October 5—Twice as Many Boys as Girls

Four per cent increase of enrolment this year over the best previous year is shown by the registrar's figures, reports F. D. Farrell, president of the college. The total on October 5, was 3,047, the largest first semester enrolment in the history of the college.

Although the increase is distributed over most of the 18 college curricula, the largest gain is shown in the department of electrical engineering where it amounts to about 10 per cent over the first semester registration of a year ago.

Most Girls in Home Economics

The first semester enrolment includes 2,019 men and 1,028 women. This ratio of two to one is about the usual ratio at the college. Women students are enrolled in eight of the eighteen curricula. The largest number of women in any one curriculum is home economics, which has an enrolment of 541. There are 258 women enrolled in general science, 88 in music, 77 in industrial journalism, 30 in physical education, and 28 in rural commerce. Four women are enrolled in agriculture and one in architecture.

Increase About Normal

The enrolment for the first semester this year shows about the normal increase. The 18 four-year curricula in which the 3,041 students are enrolled are the following: agriculture, veterinary medicine, agricultural engineering, architecture, architectural engineering, civil engineering, chemical engineering, electrical engineering, flour-mill engineering, landscape architecture, mechanical engineering, home economics, general science, rural commerce, industrial journalism, music, industrial chemistry, and physical education.

AMERICAN ORATOR SPEAKS TO PLEASE HIMSELF—EMERSON

Former Head of Department of Public Speaking Talks "In Defense of Audiences" at Chapel

The tricks of the flowery orator, the old-time politician, the spell-binder, and the "ain't nature grand" type of speaker were disclosed by Prof. J. G. Emerson, formerly head of the public speaking department here, and now a member of the faculty of Leland Stanford, Jr., in his speech in chapel Tuesday morning. The speech was "In Defense of Audiences."

According to Professor Emerson, the American orator speaks to please himself. "Although all textbooks on the subject of public speaking say, 'Have something to say, be original, say it quickly, and sit down,' the ordinary American speaker sees no reason for being original and flatly refuses to sit down," he said.

"The first requisite of a public speech is history. A speech cannot begin without its historical allusion regardless of whether it is especially appropriate or not. Every well-informed audience has the right to expect some history."

"The first orators we have record of, 'said it with flowers,' and even today our senators imitate them. Besides its history, every senatorial speech must 'poetically mis-name everything.' A grave is 'a deathless silence of the dreamless dust.' Finally, a senator must at sometime or other 'point with pride' to his country, his state, and his home-town. Champ Clark said, 'In the senate the only limit to public speech is human endurance.'"

"College and high school orators can entangle themselves in endless mixed figures and incorrect historical allusions without batting an eye. The fall of Rome and the beauty of Liberty are invariably mentioned."

"About all there is left for the sensible speaker to do is to make a sensible speech and to speak not only in defense of audiences but in defense of speakers as well," concluded Professor Emerson.

Correction

In the last issue of The Collegian Phi Delta Theta was indicated as being allied with one of the newly organized hill political parties. While members of Phi Delta Theta are connected with that party, the organization as a whole has adopted the policy of allowing each individual to decide party affiliations for himself.

ENGINEERING SCHOOL RANKS THIRD WEST OF MISSISSIPPI

Is Exceeded in Enrollment by Ames and Texas A. and M.—Michigan First in Middle West

A chart in the engineering building showing the comparative enrollments in the western engineering schools places the Kansas State Agricultural college seventh. Michigan university comes first in rank with something over 2,000 students. Illinois is next, followed in turn by Cornell, Iowa State, Wisconsin, Texas A. and M., and K. S. A. C.

Of these seven schools, four are east of the Mississippi river. They are Michigan, Cornell, Illinois, and Wisconsin universities. Iowa State is east of Kansas, leaving Texas A. and M. and K. S. A. C. as the two largest engineering schools west of the Missouri river. Nebraska and Kansas universities stand ninth and eleventh respectively in the rankings.

Every curriculum in the division shows an increase, with the exceptions of the departments of agricultural engineering and landscape architecture, which have the same number as last year. The department of architectural engineering, which was added this year, has an enrollment of 22, of whom 16 are freshmen and the others transferred from other courses. Chemical engineering was instituted last year and now shows an enrollment of 35, an increase of nine.

PROFESSOR AND MRS. PARKER ENJOY STUDIES IN ENGLAND

Are Spending a Year at Cambridge Under Noted English Plant Breeders

Prof. and Mrs. John H. Parker, writing from Cambridge, England, where Professor Parker is spending a year studying at Cambridge university under noted English plant breeders, report a fine trip enroute.

In a letter recently received Professor Parker writes that there are 17 separate colleges which make up the University of Cambridge. Each has its own master, tutors, fellows, etc., but all are an integral part of the university so far as administrative matters are concerned.

"I am enrolled in Emmanuel college," writes Professor Parker, "and most of my lectures will be at the school of agriculture. Meals are served in the college halls, and those who participate are required to wear caps and gowns. Academic dress is also necessary to gain admittance to the university library.

"I went through the University Press the other day," he continues. "It is an old and honored institution with fine traditions, but I have seen many more modern plants in the states. We have also paid a visit to the University Botanical Garden which has a most wonderful collection of plants, all carefully marked both with common and Latin names."

NO VALLEY BOXING AT K. U.

Dr. Allen Announces Decision Against Intercollegiate Matches

Lawrence, Kan., Oct. 6.—"The boxing team will not be allowed to compete in any intercollegiate matches this year, nor will there be a professional coach hired," Dr. F. C. Allen, director of athletics at the University of Kansas recently announced. However, teams will be organized for intramural and inter-organization matches.

One of the reasons for the refusal to permit boxing as a major sport is that athletic authorities of the Missouri valley conference fear the growth of professionalism.

DRAMATICS

Purple Masque is calling for volunteers in a field outside acting and character interpretation. At the meeting of the organization held Tuesday evening, the members decided to include those showing talent in stage setting and business management as eligible to Masque membership.

Students interested in this phase of dramatics are requested to apply to Lynn Fayman, business manager, or Prof. H. Miles Heberer of the public speaking department in G56. Those selected for the work will receive training in their sophomore year, to be assistants in their junior year and to fill the positions when they are seniors. Results of appointments will be announced later.

Selection of dramatic talent by tryouts for the fall play was adopted by Purple Masque as its new policy, at the first meeting of the Masque, held Tuesday, September 22, at the club rooms on the fourth floor of Anderson hall.

"The Goose Hangs High" was chosen as the fall play to be presented by the organization the first week in November, with Lynn Fayman as business manager. A first class musical comedy will also be given during the year under the auspices of Purple Masque.

The new officers elected last spring, who took office for the first time are: Jack Kennedy, president; Charlotte Swanson, vice-president; Paul Pfuetze, treasurer; Milton Kerr, secretary; and James Price, marshal.

Among the members of the Masque who have returned for active work in dramatics are Velma Lockridge and John Wray Young.

Meetings will be held each Tuesday at 5 o'clock in the club rooms.

Kappas Engulfed in Hamburger Scandal— Call for S. Holmes

"Send out twenty-six hamburgers to the Kappa Kappa Gamma house immediately," came to the listening ear of the chef de hamburger presiding over one of our popular hamburger emporiums that cluster along Anderson Avenue, late one night last week. "Please see that fourteen of them are generously supplied with mustard and the remainder in their natural state," continued the sweet voice. "Shall I garnish any of them with onion and pickle?" queried the chef. "No!" came over the wires in a half angry tone. "Merely fill the order as I have requested and please hasten."

Within thirty minutes the delicious sandwiches were dispatched, our hamburger chef strictly adhering to instructions in relation to mustard, omitting onion and pickles, adding a toothpick—the usual procedure in the making of this delicacy—an art that was instituted in this country by Joseph Ham Burgh, who came over in the Mayflower.

An embryo Collegian reporter in the quest of news, being curious, ignorant, and hungry, arrived on the scene just as the chef finished "dressing the fourteenth one," and was offered two bits to make delivery. Refusing on grounds of timidity, the reporter wended his way homeward, wondering if the Kappa pledges can subsist on hamburgers. Why were the pickles and onions omitted? Were the pledges allowed to eat two of the hamburgers? Is it possible the pledges were not allowed to eat any of them? To satiate a rampant curiosity, will an authorized party step forth with the answer?

NEW AGRONOMY PROFESSOR

Doctor Duley Takes Place of Professor Throckmorton

Dr. F. L. Duley, a graduate of the University of Missouri with the class of 1914, is filling the position in the agronomy department formerly held by Prof. R. I. Throckmorton, now head of the department. Doctor Duley received his master's degree from Missouri in 1915. The degree of Ph.D. was conferred upon him by the University of Wisconsin in 1923. In addition to the excellent scientific education obtained at these two institutions, Doctor Duley has had the advantage of having been reared on the farm, thus giving him practical experience. During the past few years he has been connected with the agronomy department at the University of Missouri, and while there issued a number of popular and scientific publications. His efforts here will be devoted to teaching and investigational work in soils.

Dr. and Mrs. Duley and their five-year-old son moved here the early part of September and are now located in their new home at 1613 Humboldt.

Experiments on Rats
Prove Bread and Milk
Is by Far Best Diet

Dr. Martha Kramer of the food economics and nutrition department is again supervising experiments on white rats, their growth and development on certain prescribed diets. These experiments were begun last spring, and the work done by four students, seniors and graduates. Previously, experiments have been carried on with mice as subjects, but since the completion of an airy laboratory on the south end of the third story of Calvin hall, more extensive work is being conducted.

The rats are allowed to reach the age of four months before experimentation is begun. Then the animals are put in separate cages, a diet outlined for them and results recorded. Each week, the cages are sterilized in order that no disease may creep among the colonies unaware. The work is carried on most scientifically and accurately.

Interesting pictures have been taken of rats fed on a candy and water diet, a bread and coffee diet, and a bread and milk diet for a certain length of time. Results are astonishingly conclusive that the bread and milk diet is by far the best. The rats fed on candy and water were small and sickly in comparison to the sleek, healthy rats fed on the bread and milk diet for the same length of time. The rats fed on bread and coffee were almost corpses at the end of several weeks, and then their rations were changed to bread and milk which caused them to become stronger and live.

Several persons have written in and asked for information, statistics, and pictures concerning the results of experiments. Doctor Kramer says she has a limited number of pictures and some information that she will be glad to send out for simple demonstrations.

Do You Know?
"HOW TO STUDY"

The Students' Hand Book of Practical Hints on the Technique of Effective Study

by WILLIAM ALLAN BROOKS

A GUIDE containing hundreds of practical hints and short cuts in the economy of learning, to assist students in securing MAXIMUM SCHOLASTIC RESULTS at a minimum cost of time, energy, and fatigue.

ESPECIALLY RECOMMENDED for overworked students and athletes engaged in extra curriculum activities and for average and honor students who are working for high scholastic achievement.

Some of the Topics Covered: Scientific Shortcuts in Effective Study; Preparing for Examinations; Writing Good Examinations; Brain and Digestion in Relative Study; How to Take Lecture and Reading Notes; Advantages and Disadvantages of Cramming; The Athlete and His Studies; etc., etc., etc., etc., etc., etc.

Why You Need This Guide

"It is safe to say that failure to guide and direct study is the weak point in the whole educational machine," Prof. G. M. Whipple, U. of Michigan.

"The successful men in college do not seem to be very happy. Most of them, especially the athletes, are overworked," Prof. H. S. Canby, Yale.

"Misdirected labor, though honest and well intentioned may lead to naught. Among the most important things for the student to learn is how to study. Without knowledge of this his labor may be largely in vain," Prof. G. F. Swain, M. I. T.

"To students who have never learnt 'How to Study,' work is very often a chastisement, a flagellation, and an insuperable obstacle to contentment," Prof. A. Inglis, Harvard.

"HOW TO STUDY" will show you how to avoid all misdirected effort.

Get a good start and make this year a highly successful one by sending for this hand book and guide.

REX The Wild Horse in Black Cyclone

There was death in his hoofs but a love light in his eyes!

"Black Cyclone" men called him! Wild! Fearless! Unconquerable! Who loved his "Lady," fought for her with "The Killer"—battled wolves and mountain lions and then, when understanding came and the need of a friend—found him in a Man whose sweetheart, too, was in danger!

Give me a pipe

. . . and

P. A.!

WHEN Comp. Lit. and Physics 3-B are crowding for attention; when I've just received an over-cut notice from the Dean; when my allowance is a month off and the stub of my check-book confesses a balance of $9.32, give me a pipe and Prince Albert. I want to be happy!

Trouble's a bubble, they say. And I can prove it . . . with my jimmy-pipe and P. A. Just never was a friend like Prince Albert. Cool and sweet and soothing, P. A.'s true-blue smoke zooms up the stem, knocking troubles for a row of test-tubes.

Never a tongue-bite or throat-parch. Just cool contentment, no matter how hard you hit it up. Give me a grate fire to chase the chill of winter nights, an easy chair and my jimmy-pipe packed with P. A. Nearby, a tidy red tin for frequent refills. I know, Brother, I know!

PRINCE ALBERT

—no other tobacco is like it!

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, pound and half-pound tin humidors, and pound crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and punch removed by the Prince Albert process.

Look at the U. S. revenue stamp—there are TWO full ounces in every tin.

SHADES OF DON QUIXOTE

Windmill fighting promises to supplant football as the center of interest next week as student politicians go about lining up followers for "the first real political campaign in 10 years."

Don Quixote, lovable laughing-stock of years' standing, would find a degree of the ridiculous surpassing that of his famous joust were he to visit Manhattan.

It is difficult to pick the windmill and the knight in our local passage-at-arms. One party has by its passivity qualified for the former role, while heated air currents emanating from the other camp also give it a valid claim to the distinction.

Kalakak advances a platform as agreeable as warm sweet chocolate, and quite as sickening when taken in large quantities. Selgga, nee Juke, advances nothing. So, armor adjusted and lances shining, our Kalakak knight sallies forth to search out his windmill. But the wary Selgga has refused to come forth and be jousted.

There have been rumors of closed meetings after night, and of "big things" brewing in the way of opposition, but so far they are only rumors. Beyond a little sidewalk daubing with bucket and brush, "Selgga" has remained the elusive windmill.

With no personal enmities aroused, no burning issues to quench, and no spoils to divide, our local side-show seems destined to revert to one-party politics. Unless, perhaps, some keen-eyed soul should find an issue, don his armor, and venture forth to clash with "Don Quixote."

Defends "Publicity"

Editor, Kansas State Collegian, College.

Dear Sir:

An editorial in a recent issue of The Collegian deserves commendation for its conception but not for its logic. It is always gratifying to see the editor of a college student publication unafraid to write frankly in the editorial columns what he believes to be student opinion. Even a daring college editor, however, is not infallible nor entirely immune from error. I believe that the writer of the editorial on "publicity" in the September 18 issue of The Collegian erred somewhat in his conception of the college publicity bureau, and it is to correct any false impression his editorial may have communicated that I presume to submit this letter.

Larger colleges are not hiring publicity men to get students or in any way to increase the enrollment. At practically all of the larger universities and colleges of the country enrollment is now far past the point where the university can enroll a large percentage of those applying for matriculation privilege. Every institution of any size and standard refuses each year the matriculation privilege to hundreds of claimants.

Yet these institutions do maintain publicity bureaus. The seeming discrepancy is easily understood when we learn that the colleges are primarily interested not in size of student body, for size they already have, but for excellence. "Many come but few are chosen" seems to be their motto. The publicity agent of one large college in the middle west told the writer that what they were advertising were the ideals, the atmosphere, and the moods of his college so that only the student who would fit in with the particular requirements of that institution would be attracted to its portals. Part of the publicity work of the large college is to acquaint prospective students with those requirements and with what will be expected of the student, more to deter the undesirable type than to secure the desirable, for the latter purpose has long ago been accomplished.

There is a further duty, however, of the publicity bureau which cannot be overlooked. Any educational institution is simply trusted for a while with the care of young men and young women. They owe to the parents of those young people and to society an accounting as to how they are caring for not only the mental but the physical and spiritual guidance of those who are enrolled in its courses. Especially is this true in a state institution where the people of the state pay taxes for the upkeep of their state schools. It is the institution's duty to inform those taxpayers how their money is spent and to what purpose.

Another great purpose of the so-called publicity bureau is to put in readable form and transmit through agencies of the press the results of research and experimentation. Thousands of dollars in every state college and university are spent annually on experts who engage in research in special fields. Much of the results of the research would be wasted or at least delayed in its transmission to society unless it were for the college press bureaus who send this information out in the form of bulletins, special stories, and other press accounts. I have seen but few stories emanating from colleges or universities in which there was the slightest form of propaganda. It is true that some of the smaller colleges do maintain publicity bureaus, a large part of whose duty is to secure added enrollment. But I hope that The Collegian editor has too high a regard for K. S. A. C. to assume that it belongs to that class of college. The only colleges maintaining press bureaus that are not doing public spirited work in a way that is certainly not a disgrace and may be an honor to the journalism profession are those very few and isolated institutions who have not yet reached the point where their student body numbers as many as their faculty.

Maynard W. Brown,

Asst. Prof., Industrial Journalism.

To the Editor:

Including Anderson avenue in the business zone has not been entirely settled as yet. When objections to including it were laid before the commission, others objected to excluding Anderson avenue on the grounds that it had already produced a crop of small business houses and other lots were divided with the intention of putting up other little shacks.

As to the objections that it was at present dotted with "business houses" and should be included in the zoned district, they can be answered very readily by the following facts: If Anderson is left out of the business district, the men who have business houses there will be allowed to continue in business as long as their buildings are holding together, but they will be prohibited by law from building new business houses, remodeling or enlarging the ones present, and that in time they will gradually be eliminated from Anderson avenue.

Of course it would be impossible to force the business men out of there immediately, and it would be decidedly unfair. But the thing that is most desirable now is to prevent the erection of any more buildings of that nature on Anderson, and to gradually cause the removal of those there now.—H. C. S.

A new hat is a wonderful factor in rejuvenating a costume. Any one of these hats, because of its becoming shape, charming garniture and color, is the very kind to add a refreshing newness to one's winter costume.

producing the snug fitting, soft silhouette necessary in hats of this type are made collapsible.

Satin and velvet combinations are smartest in very soft effects made so that they seem to be almost devoid of frame.

A certain faculty member, one with the fresh bloom of youth upon his cheeks, is a member in good standing of a certain fraternity here in town.

Of course we mention only the names of the very prominent in this column, but we'll go so far as to say that this young man owns a cigarette holder and carries a fiddle around under one arm.

Now it seems that the hero of this tale worked up a large amount of courage and invited a very comely young faculty member to partake of refreshments at Mr. Johns' ice cream parlor.

We blush to relate the remainder of this heartrending story, but there is a moral involved which the dear young rah rah boys should profit by.

Enter the confectionery, where the young fiddler gallantly bows his companion into a chair and then loses himself in pleasant reverie, possibly thinking of the goodly number of pledges HIS FRAT but recently has fooled.

Into the picture steps a young man, smiling engagingly at the seated couple, whereupon our hero arose (he'd seen Adolphe Menjou do it) and murmured, "Pardon me, I forget your name, but doubtless I have met you at the house."

"Oh, my name is Davis," easily returned the latest addition to the group—and the introduction completed, the very young professor sat down, fervently blessing the never-failing social training which he had received at the FRAT HOUSE at 1642 Fairchild.

A lull in the conversation or a break in the silence (probably the latter) and the late arrival calmly requested, "May I have your order, please?"

And another fiddler bit the dust.

Moral: You dig it out.

KOLLEGIAN KWIZZES

(By Elsie M. Hayden)

Question: Will the organization of political parties help or hinder the progress of the college?

Mary Pierce Van Zile, dean of women—"I am very much interested in this project and would like to see it go forward. Political organization can be a very definite and desirable means of furthering student interest and activities. At present students are in a state of lethargy as is indicated by their lack of activities. There is a real need for something to create a larger participation and a greater interest in college affairs. There is great promise in this movement."

Carl Taylor, student—"I am convinced that K. S. A. C. can have no healthy political life as long as the controlling power lies in the hands of a dozen select organizations. When interest on a competitive basis around two distinct parties is aroused, then the campus life of the whole school will benefit greatly."

Mary Lee Keith, vice-president of the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority—"Political parties at K. S. A. C. will be a stimulus to individuals as well as to organizations to take a greater interest in activities. Briefly, they will put more 'pep' into the school. An election to an office will become a matter of real merit instead of just the 'happen so' of former years. And political parties should certainly make less of a gap between fraternnities and non-fraternity men and women."

Paul Brantingham, student—"Political parties will be a good thing for the hill but not for the fraternities."

Madge Rickey, president of the Alpha Delta Pi sorority—"Political parties will tend to organize elections on the hill and give the voters more chance to compare candidates. Organized parties will give the students a broader outlook on politics."

Dorothy Speer, president of the Chi Omega sorority—"I believe that the organization of political parties will be a good thing for the school. There has been no school spirit for a number of years and this is the way to raise it. Before this fall it has always been the Panhellenic against the 'barbs,' now fraternity and non-fraternity people are working together with a common interest. Of course it will take several years for the idea to be fully worked out and too much cannot be expected at first, but I think the plan is bound to be a success."

H. W. Davis, head of the English department—"I think political organization will be a fine thing for K. S. A. C. provided that the parties find something worth while about which to disagree. So far the tendency has been to make the campaign too much of a 'pink tea' affair, simply to agree to disagree. What the parties need is a bone of contention—a definite, worth while project over which to dispute. The organization of parties will naturally mean the arising of leaders and when competent leaders are found to point out the important phases of questions, then the plan should be successful. Almost anything will be better than the apathy shown by students over affairs for the last five or six years."

Harry Wilson, president of the Delta Tau Delta fraternity—"The organization of parties will arouse greater interest in politics and elections on the hill but it will also arouse animosity between sororities and fraternities, something which has never before existed at K. S. A. C. The question is whether the advantage gained in politics will be great enough to offset the hard feeling among the other organizations. Personally I do not think it will."

Nora Yoder, president of the Pi Beta Phi sorority—"The organization of political parties is a good thing because the Aggies are lacking in school spirit and such spirit will be aroused in organized campaigns. However, I do not think that the present plan will be as successful as it might be because fraternities and sororities have too great diversities of interest. I hope the plan will be worked out later in a way that will interest more underclassmen and not leave everything to the seniors."

A. B. Nuss, president of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity—"Political organizations will help the college and college spirit. There has been a decided lack of interest in class affairs for the past ten years. School politics should not be controlled by a few secret organizations but all students should be given an equal chance in political affairs. Two organizations will be the remedy for all this and will make for friendly rivalry in college politics."

MILTON BRAWNER INJURED IN FALL AT JONES' CABIN

Breaks Both Arms, Dislocates Both Elbows, and Is Knocked Unconscious in Accident Sunday

Milton Brawner, of Converse, Mo., sophomore in electrical engineering, was badly hurt near Jones' Cabin at the Sand Dip, Sunday.

About 7:30 o'clock Brawner and another boy decided to have one last ride on the old swing, a combination of a rope and an old tire. The performance includes climbing a ladder, then jumping, grasping the swing. Brawner climbed the ladder safely but when he jumped he missed the swing, falling twenty feet to the ground below. He fell face down and with both arms doubled under his body. The fall knocked him unconscious, broke his arms and dislocated both elbows.

He was taken to the office of Doctors Colt and Colt where his arms were set. Later he was removed to the college hospital and is improving rapidly.

An extemporaneous speaking contest for men will be held December 13, at Washburn College, Topeka, in which three colleges will compete: Kansas State Teachers' college, Emporia; Washburn College, Topeka; and Kansas State Agricultural College, Manhattan.

The general text for the contest will be some phase of the national political situation. Tryouts for members of the Aggie team will be announced soon.

The plan usually used at extemporaneous contests will be followed. Several topics will be chosen from the general subject and each contestant is allowed to select three of them, after which he is given an hour to prepare a speech on the topics before he is called upon to speak on any one of them.

The annual banquet given by the extension division will be held the Friday night before the close of the conference.

The Aggie-Missouri football game will be attended by the entire group Saturday, October 24, at the close of the conference. This attendance is due to the efforts of Sam Pickard, publicity agent of the extension division.

CLOTHING PROFS AT FAIRS

Judging Clothing Exhibits at Topeka and Hutchinson

Instructors in the clothing department have been having a busy existence the past week, both with the beginning of school and with the judging at state, county, and community fairs. Prof. Alene Hinn judged textile and clothing exhibits at the state fair recently in Topeka. Prof. Lillian Baker was in Hutchinson judging exhibits at the state fair, and Mrs. Katherine Hess will leave soon to judge textile and clothing displays at the Ashland community fair. One from the extension division has also helped judge at the fairs.

Fancy work, rugs, quilts, clothing—dresses and undergarments—work by old ladies and by children under specified ages are some of the articles displayed and which are judged at the fairs.

Relief Promised for Overs and Unders—Attend Weekly Clinics

Students burdened with excess poundage, and those who wish to bring their underweight selves to a more prettily plump condition will no longer be forced to puzzle their overworked brains with a "Key to the Calories" volume. They may obtain the advice which they crave on matters of food at the weekly clinics of the department of food economics and nutrition, which are held in Room 46 of Calvin hall from 3 to 5 o'clock Friday afternoons.

"Many students are keeping themselves undernourished," said Prof. Pearle Ruby in announcing the clinic, "simply because they do not know how to choose a properly balanced meal. Tray after tray comes from the cafeteria counters laden with a lunch of mashed potatoes and gravy, white bread and butter, and mashed potatoes and cake. Persons who will habitually choose such a meal must be taking out a grudge against themselves."

The first hour of the clinic will be devoted to consultations with persons who wish advice on matters of diet. During the second hour a demonstration will be conducted each week. At the first meeting of the clinic Friday exhibits showing a day's menu calculated to nourish properly a college student will be on display. Students in the food economics classes will be present to answer questions of visitors.

Not only students, but faculty members, Manhattan townspeople and all others who are interested are urged to attend the clinic either at the first or at subsequent meetings. No charge is made.

Prof. Martha S. Pittman, Dr. Martha Kramer, and Prof. Pearle S. Ruby of the department of food economics and nutrition and members of their classes will be in charge of the clinic.

4,032 Registered at K. U.

Four thousand thirty-two students are now registered on the campus of the University of Kansas. These figures do not include those who are registered in the medical school of the university at Rosedale. Last year the total enrolment, September 30, was 3,755. This is the largest number of students registered for the fall semester in the history of the university.

HISTORICAL FASHION DISPLAY

Old Styles Shown on Second Floor of Calvin Hall

A historical fashion show, displaying the various styles which have been representative of the types of clothing worn by women between the thirteenth and nineteenth centuries, is now on display on the second floor of the home economics building. The gowns are worn by diminutive dolls, which are given the names of the best known lady of that particular period. All of the gowns on display were designed and made by the girls in the Clothing III classes, and show an unusual amount of taste and workmanship in their appearance.

The periods and characters represented are: Twelfth century, Rebecca, from Scott's Ivanhoe; thirteenth century, Jeanne of Navarre and Eleanor, wife of Henry III; fifteenth century, Marie de Burgundy; Renaissance, Queen Elizabeth; seventeenth century, Marie de Medici; middle eighteenth century, Madame Pompadour; late eighteenth, Marie Antoinette; early nineteenth, Empress Eugenie, Dolly and James Madison; late nineteenth, Mrs. Rutherford B. Hayes.

William Rankin, C. E. '25, has resigned his position on the Santa Fe at Newton, and has accepted a position as transitman with the Associated Engineer, Inc., at West Palm Beach, Fla. Mr. Rankin visited his parents in Manhattan, Thursday before leaving for Florida.

"To be a good football player a man must have brains, 'guts,' speed, self restraint, motor coordination, fire of nervous energy and, to a lesser degree, physique and an unselfish point of view of sacrifice for the team." This is the definition of a football player given by Knute K. Rockne, world famous Notre Dame coach in his book, "Coaching."

Of the many thousands of people who attend football games few know that this sport was originated by a minister. The Rev. Hartranft is entitled to this distinction. He originated the game at Rutgers college in 1868. Twenty-five players constituted each side, and there were four judges and two referees. Teams were not cut until 1873, when twenty players only were allowed. In 1874 the number of players was reduced to fifteen, and in 1880 eleven men were established as a football team.

VALLEY TEAMS GET IN ACTION

NEBRASKA-MISSOURI CLASH IS GAME THIS WEEK

Two Kansas Teams Battle in Iowa
Only Thirty Miles Apart—Dope
Awaits Tomorrow's Score

Tomorrow's Valley Games

Kansas State vs. Drake at Des Moines.
Kansas U. vs. Iowa State at Ames.
Missouri vs. Nebraska at Columbia.
Grinnell vs. Minnesota at Minneapolis.
Ok. Aggies vs. K. S. T. C. (Emporia) at Stillwater.
Wash. vs. S. M. U. at Dallas.
O. U. vs. Ok. Normal at Norman.

Nebraska's battle against the University of Missouri, champions of the valley last year, occupies the leading position in the valley this week end. The Kansas State-Drake and the Kansas-Ames contests for the right to remain among the undefeated are of more or less secondary importance, though they are of first rank in determining the ultimate winner of the title.

Huskies Fresh from Illinois

Fresh from a victory over Red Orange and the Illini, the Huskies meet the Tigers, who have their 1924 championship team back practically intact. Last fall Missouri went down before Nebraska in a 14 to 7 defeat at Lincoln, but the Husker in turn had lost to Oklahoma, which gave Missouri the edge in title claims because of her larger number of valley games.

Kansas university made an impressive though ragged showing in defeating Oklahoma Aggies 13 to 3 while Kansas State was turning back Oklahoma 16 to 0 in another brilliant but erratic game.

Kansas Waiting for Next Saturday

Last Saturday two Kansas teams defeated two Oklahoma teams on Kansas soil, and this week end finds the same Kansas teams battling only 30 miles apart in Iowa. One more week, and the Jayhawk and Wildcat clash at Lawrence in the big event of the day and of the season so far as Kansas football followers are concerned.

Games of last Saturday were of little value in making out the dope sheets because of the earliness of the season and unusual weather conditions. Tomorrow the top-notchers play, and the 1925 season will be well along when the fur stops flying.

The Aggie Schedule

September 26—Aggies 26, K. S. T. C. 7, at Manhattan.
October 3—Aggies 16, O. U. 0, at Manhattan.
October 10—Aggies vs. Drake at Drake.
October 17—Aggies vs. K. U. at Lawrence.
October 24—Aggies vs. Missouri at Manhattan.
November 7—Aggies vs. Marquette at Milwaukee.
November 14—Aggies vs. Nebraska at Manhattan.
November 26—Aggies vs. Ames at Ames.

RESERVE TWO THOUSAND SEATS FOR AGGIES AT K. U.

Tickets Now on Sale at Athletic Office—Largest Allotment Ever Given Manhattan

Two thousand seats in the University of Kansas stadium have been allotted to the Kansas State crowd for the K. U.-Aggie game October 17, and are now on sale at the athletic office, at $2 each according to M. F. Ahearn, director of athletics. Sale of the tickets has progressed so rapidly that 800 had been sold up till Wednesday morning.

The number allotted for sale in Manhattan is the largest in the nineteen years of competition between the two schools, Mr. Ahearn said.

A special train will be run to Lawrence over the Union Pacific, leaving Manhattan at 10 o'clock Saturday morning, and returning at 7 o'clock Saturday night. Tickets will be good for the return Sunday, however. Round trip fare will be at a material reduction over the regular fare, according to Z. R. Hook, passenger agent.

If the custom of the past is followed, Manhattan will be an almost "deserted city" as far as students are concerned, on the day of the game.

PRACTICE NOTES

(By E. E. Feather)

When the Oklahoma passer was looking for a man to pass the ball to, "Dick" Haskard yelled, "Don't pass it this way," but the man did not take the warning, and Dick took the ball making a 90 yard run which gave the Aggies the first touchdown of the game.

After "Chili" kicked the ball on his 37 yard drop kick, he stood leaning in his tracks as if trying to draw the ball over until it passed through the bars.

"Jud" Brion says he is going to try to get down a little faster on punts, so he can get the man before he drops the ball.

"Chili" thinks he has it all figured out how to beat Nebraska this year.

Frank Root says the only way he knows to beat the Huskers is by getting more punts than they do.

Topped out of the tie for Missouri Valley leadership by unexpected defeat at the hands of Iowa teams, the two big teams of Kansas meet at Lawrence in the state classic Saturday, each savagely determined to atone for catastrophes of last week end. Victory Saturday for either Kansas State or Kansas university will send the stock of the winning team soaring again, while defeat and disaster always are temporarily synonymous in the minds of followers of both teams as they go into the big game.

Most Interesting Valley Game.
No valley game save possibly the Kansas-Missouri battle attracts more interest than does the Wildcat-Jayhawk struggle for state supremacy.

Last year, for the first time since 1906, Kansas State pulled through to a 6-0 victory and forever buried the Jayhawk Jinx beneath turf kicked up by the flying feet of Don Meek. For two years before the teams had tied, so it has been four years since Kansas has won from Kansas State. Neither team is a favorite in the coming encounter, though perhaps a better way of stating it is that both teams are doped as second best. The Kansas Teacher victory over Oklahoma Aggies and the Ames 20 to 0 win from K. U. send the Jayhawk prospects considerably downward, but Kansas State has little to say when the 19 to 0 Drake defeat is considered.

All But Buildings to Lawrence
All of Kansas State but the buildings will be in Lawrence Saturday from present indications. Twelve hundred tickets of the 2,000 allotted here had been sold at the athletic office Monday morning.

DOCTOR HILL HONORED

Elected Lieutenant Governor of Fourth District Kiwanis Clubs

Dr. Howard T. Hill, head of the public speaking department, was elected lieutenant governor of the fourth district of the Missouri, Kansas, and Arkansas district of Kiwanis International last Saturday. The position is one of considerable responsibility and honor as many of the duties of the governor have been given to the lieutenant governor of the district.

This district includes the Kiwanis clubs of Kansas City, Manhattan, Ottawa, Salina, Concordia, Emporia, and Marion.

Merle Nelson and Elizabeth Sorenson will represent the Aggie W. A. A. at the state convention of the organization to be held in Pittsburgh on October 30 and 31.

Miss Mildred Moore, '25, is teaching in the Holcomb consolidated schools.

Notice Collegian Subscribers
The election of an executive governing board for the Kansas State Collegian will take place during the week of October 19 to 24. The board is composed of four student members and the head of the department of industrial journalism. Any student in school is eligible for the board position. Nominations are made through petitions, which must be signed by 20 Collegian subscribers. Petitions should be turned in to Professor Rogers in Kedzie hall. It is hoped that representatives from the various divisions will nominate candidates.

ANDERSON FREED FROM BUSINESS

PROTESTS TO THROWING AVE-NUES OPEN BRING RESULTS

New Change Extends West on Anderson Avenue Only 150 Feet—
No Signboard Action

Anderson avenue is to be barred to the further encroachment of commercialism.

Following the combined protests of Manhattan property owners and Sigma Delta Chi, men's journalistic fraternity of the college, the city zoning commission announced that the west line of the proposed business district boundaries would be moved from Sixteenth street to a line 150 feet west of Anderson avenue, thereby placing almost all of the college "main street" in the residence district.

Before Commission Last Night

The matter was to come up before the city commissioners last night at a session thrown open for protests against the districting as outlined by the city zoners after a hearing last Monday night.

Business houses now on Anderson will not be molested, under the terms of the ordinance as now proposed, but will be forever barred from enlarging their present structures. Repairs will be allowed up to 50 percent of the value of the building. Gradual doing away with the present business buildings which mar campus approaches is expected to result.

No action has been taken as yet against the signboards fronting on the campus, but it is believed that they will be next to go down before the progressive spirit which has awakened in the city this fall.

FRIVOL EARLY IN NOVEMBER

Annual W. A. A. Dance and Vaudeville Jitney Style

Frivol, the annual dance and vaudeville given by the W. A. A. for students and townspeople, will take place as usual the first week in November.

The general plan for this year will follow that of the "jitney" dance, a charge of 5 cents a dance made for each dance in place of an admission price paid at the door.

As yet no definite plans have been made by the entertainment committee, but the stunts in between dances will be of the same type as those presented on previous years. A date for tryouts for these stunts will be announced later.

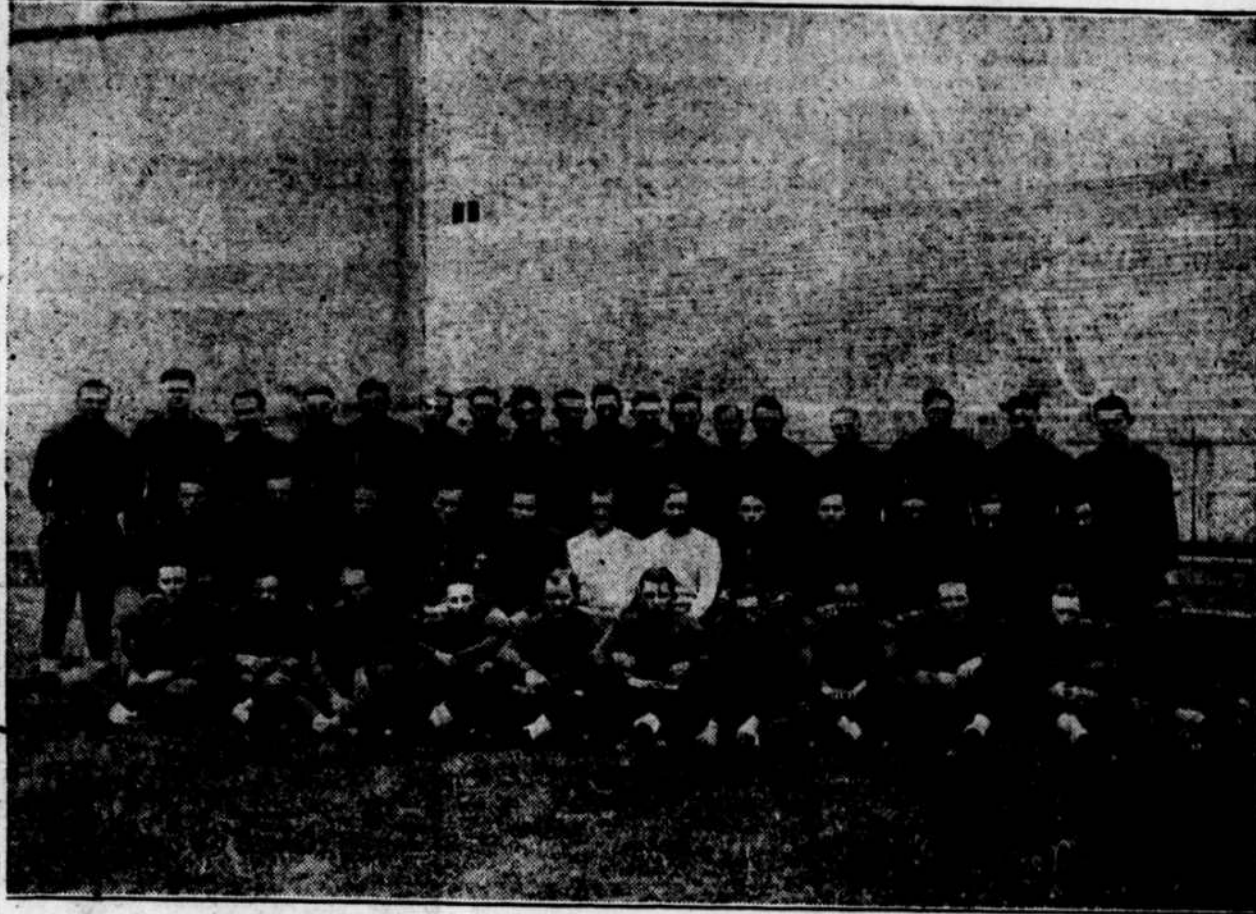

ADDITIONAL SHELVING SPACE PROVIDED IN HERD LIBRARY

Remodeled Room Will Be Reference Room for Information on Herds and Animal Husbandry

Plans are being made for the remodeling of the herd room at A13. The changes will consist of additional shelves for reference books and periodical magazines. With more shelving room the books can be placed where they will be more available.

The room, when remodeled, will be a reference room for those desiring knowledge on herds and animal husbandry. It will also be a place of quiet study for those who wish to use it. Each month periodicals will come to this room covering subjects pertaining to stock judging and herd problems.

Prof. D. L. Mackintosh, assistant professor in animal husbandry, has his office in A13 and any one calling on him for information in his line will receive a friendly welcome.

ATTENDED LIBRARY CONVENTION

Miss Davis and Miss Austin Represented K. S. A. C. at Seattle

Two members of the Kansas State Agricultural college faculty represented the school at the American National Library convention held at Seattle, Wash., last summer. They were Miss Elizabeth Davis, reference librarian, and Miss Elizabeth Austin, assistant reference librarian. Representatives of college and public libraries from every state in the union attended the convention.

On the first day of the conference, Miss Elizabeth Davis spoke on "Cooperative Work in Compiling Bibliographies on Agricultural Matter." The Library Journal of August in its account of the Seattle Conference Group meeting, says: "Miss Davis of the Kansas State Agricultural college library then spoke, dealing mainly with work with students, and the excellent progress made by the college of the air in broadcasting courses by radio."

At the close of the conference Miss Davis sailed for a 12 day trip in Alaska. While there she saw Doctor Georgeson, former K. S. A. C. faculty member who is now director of the agricultural experiment station at Sitka.

BRISK CONTEST ENDS TOMORROW

CLASS OFFICERS WILL BE CHOSEN IN SPIRITED ELECTION

Both Parties Claim Edge in First Political Conflict in Decade—
S. S. G. A. in Charge

After a hectic week of daubing the campus walks with white paint, cluttering the billboards with signs, filling the postoffice waste baskets with bills, holding party conventions, and conducting numerous secret confabs, opposing political parties are both predicting large majorities in the class elections which will be held tomorrow.

Polling Places in Anderson
Arrangements have been completed for the first really contested election the hill has witnessed for perhaps a decade. The election will be in charge of the executive council of the S. S. G. A. Polling places will be set up in Anderson hall.

By a ruling of the executive council of the S. S. G. A. several weeks ago, every voter will be required to pay the stipulated class dues of 25 cents. This due may be raised in succeeding elections, at the option of the majority of the members of any class.

The Kalakaks held their party convention last Thursday evening, drew up their party platform, and nominated their class officers. Speeches were made by the party leaders, and much enthusiasm was shown.

No Seigga Platform

The Seigga party held their convention last night amid a burst of optimism. After naming the Seigga candidates for class officers, the party declared themselves as being in favor of more power in student government and class officers. No definite platform was drafted, as party leaders declared that their candidates are their own platforms. The Seiggas claimed that the Kalakak party had no real issues in their platform and so offered none in combat.

The platform as drafted by the Kalakak party includes the belief that interest in, and control of hill politics should be open to all students of the college, fraternity and non-fraternity alike; in student government of student affairs; and in the inspiration of new ideals and observation of old traditions.

Interest in the election has taken unthought of trends, and party managers are anxiously awaiting the time for the polls to close Wednesday evening.

OLD RELIGIOUS HATRED DYING OUT IN IRELAND

Mike Ahearn Predicts Glorious Future for Irish Free State in Forum Address

"I believe that the Irish Free State has a glorious future," said Prof. M. F. Ahearn, director of athletics, speaking at the student forum luncheon last Thursday noon. "Ireland is reshaping herself and with England's help should be able to guide her bark of government down a more placid stream in the future."

The old religious hatred is dying out, according to Mr. Ahearn, and a Catholic is now willing to speak of a Protestant as a "decent sort." The youth of Ireland is especially optimistic about the new government's future. Already the free state government has functioned in enacting a law that will improve the roads of the island.

"The Irish are not, as many people think, a poverty-stricken, priest-ridden, superstitious, ignorant mass. Ireland's illiteracy is not nearly so great as the public generally believes. Dublin, one of Ireland's largest cities, is one of the world's greatest intellectual centers," Mr. Ahearn stated. "Such men as Edmund Burke, Daniel O'Connell, the Duke of Wellington, Lord Kitchen, Lord Roberts, Oliver Goldsmith, and Sir Thomas Moore are a few of

HOLD WEEKLY FOOD CLINICS

DEMONSTRATIONS HELD EVERY FRIDAY IN CALVIN HALL

Will Study Exhibit of Foods Containing Vitamins A, B, and C This Week

"Are you getting your vitamins?" ask the specialists in charge of the food clinics held weekly on Friday afternoons at Calvin hall. If you think you aren't or positively don't know whether you are or not, attend the demonstration next Friday, October 16, at the laboratory in Calvin hall, and hear Prof. Pearle E. Ruby and her assistants explain about the vitamins contained in certain foods, their importance in diet and in what foods you may capture them. The demonstration will consist of an exhibit of foods containing the vitamins A, B, and C, and a demonstration with cod liver oil which contains vitamin D.

The clinics have already proved most successful. Last week Miss Ruby had more persons than she had helpers to handle, and so this week more girls will be added to the demonstrators. She and the students on duty will wear white uniforms and the clinic will be carried on with a strictly "clinical and laboratory" air.

Last week the clinic was of interest chiefly to the unders and overs in weight, and a diet for one complete day was outlined and exhibited for the stout and the too slender adult. A day's dietary for a two-year-old child was also exhibited.

Professor Ruby, and Dr. Martha Kramer, who have charge of these weekly Friday clinics between the hours of 3 and 5, extend a hearty invitation to townspeople, faculty, students, and all others who wish to attend. If you are in doubt about your diet, consult either of these specialists. Private consultations may be arranged for by appointment.

Kid Party in Rec Center

The women's athletic association entertained the freshman and new girls at a kid party in Recreation center Friday night. The evening was spent in dancing and games. Refreshments were served. Special guests were Myra Wade, Helen Brown and Dean Mary P. Van Zile.

Ireland's noted contributors to world affairs and progress.

In Mr. Ahearn's party of 16 travelers, a consensus of opinion was taken and of the 13 countries that had been visited, all agreed that Ireland was the most interesting and with the exception of Switzerland the most beautiful country.

In concluding his speech, "Mike" gave his opinion of the Irish people as follows: "They are very hospitable and generous. If they have a glass of milk half of it is yours and they resent it if you want to pay for it. The Irish take a sincere joy in telling stories for the visitor's benefit. Nowhere in all our travels did we meet such good talkers who were willing not only to tell us about their country, but to tell us in an unprejudiced manner."

SALUTE MANHATTAN

A profound salutation to Manhattan. The city in which our college is located rose from the ranks of the dear departed last week, shook the dust from off her funeral clothes, and stepped out right up with the band in the parade just ahead, so far as Kansas State college is concerned, by changing her proposed zoning ordinance so that commercial building is barred from Anderson avenue in the future.

Whether Manhattan continues to step with the band or rides in a box behind to half-step depends largely on the action of the city commissioners and the planning commission in finally deciding to allow the present zoning of Anderson to go through, or going back to the first system under which the campus frontage was to be forever thrown open to business houses.

It is improbable that the city commission will have so little vision of the future as to go back to the first zoning. Considered as a thing apart, Anderson avenue will not make or mar Manhattan, though it will go a long way toward doing either in the eyes of those who visit it over the Midland trail.

Viewed as an indication of the strength of the progressive element in the city, however, the present issue is paramount. A city that would allow the most beautiful college campus in the middle west to be hemmed in by business houses is a city that will pay very little attention in the future toward making itself a desirable place in which to live.

But a city that sees such an evil and rises to right it has an element of greatness about it. It is a city that is beginning to inquire into its own responsibilities as a civic entity.

Kansas State students, most of them visitors from other communities in the state, will watch with interest the decision of the commissioners in the Anderson avenue matter as the decision of Manhattan at the crossroads. Whichever way the zoning law goes, Manhattan goes.

If the "K" fraternity goes after its athletics in 1925 in the same manner in which it has enforced the rule against freshmen wearing high school letters on the campus, Kansas State will find herself back in the Kansas conference before long.

MIKE AHERN CHANGE IN VALLEY TENNIS RULES

Present Rules Make It Possible for Only Three Men in Valley to Receive Letters

Valley conference rules controlling the awarding of tennis letters may be changed materially before next season if an effort by Director of Athletics M. F. Aherm to effect the adoption of the measure receives favorable response from valley institutions.

Negotiations between the nine valley schools to ascertain the advisability of readjusting the rules concerning this particular sport are to be opened soon, Mr. Aherm said Wednesday.

Under the present conference regulations only twenty tennis players having placed first, second, or third in a valley meet are eligible for letters. This restriction is stringent, in the opinion of several members of the college athletic board, as under it fair recognition is not given tennis squad members who have worked hard but failed to place during the season among the upper three.

Though little complaint has been voiced by Aggie court followers, dissatisfaction with the ruling appears to be general, which is considered to be the main cause for the effort to loosen the restrictions. If approved by the other conference schools the measure will be passed upon by the athletic board at the first opportunity.

Former Professor Visits Here

Prof. F. W. Aherm, head of the department of dairy husbandry at the University of Idaho, visited the dairy department Monday. He is enroute to the national dairy show in Indianapolis.

apolis. Professor Aherm was an instructor in the college dairy department several years ago.

State Dairy Champs Here

Members of the Norton county high school dairy judging team, state champions, spent the first four days of the week at the college. They judged the college dairy animals preparatory to entering the contest at the national dairy show in Indianapolis October 12. The team, which is composed of Clarence Herisher, Earl J. Johnson, and C. Curry, was in charge of Kenny Ford, former graduate of K. S. A. C.

Phi Alpha Mu Elects

Phi Alpha Mu, honorary general science fraternity for women, has elected the following officers for the year: president, Geneva Foley; vice-president, Nora Yoder; secretary-treasurer, M. Louise Magaw; censors, Elma Hendrickson, and Leone Kriebel; marshal, Charlotte Swanson. The faculty members of the fraternity are Miss Orpha Maust and Miss Madalyn Avery. Faculty sponsors are Doctor Margaret Russel and Miss Stella Harriss. Election of junior members will be held soon.

New Chem Profs

Preston M. Harris, formerly of Ohio State university, has been appointed instructor in general chemistry. Chester D. Tolle, a graduate of K. S. A. C. in 1923, has also taken a similar position.

Must Revise Vocabularies

Professor Davis, English department, states that we must revise our vocabularies by abandoning the term of "flapper" and substituting that of "bungalow." He says this is because the modern girl is painted in front, shingled in the back, and has no attic.

Miss Virginia McCoy of Topeka has been a guest of Mrs. Norris, the Sigma Nu house mother, during the past week. Miss McCoy, who has a very charming and unusual baritone voice, broadcasted from Station KS-AC last Monday night. Miss McCoy is a student of the southern branch of the University of California and a member of the Alpha Xi Delta chapter there.

South Africa has an Asiatic problem. Thousands of Indians are settling in South Africa, undermining the white race by working for nearly nothing and underselling their white competitors. Largely deprived of the franchise they still maintain power in their numbers which are increasing rapidly.

Though the goose that laid the golden eggs may long since be dead, the American hen produces more wealth in a single year than all the gold and silver miners in the world.

Virginia Reeder and Rowena Lockridge were guests at the Delta Zeta house this week end.

Phyllis Burtis in St. Louis
Phyllis Burtis, '25, is doing social service work in connection with hospitals in St. Louis, paying special attention to nutrition work among undernourished children of the city. The children are weighed and measured at the clinic and she then visits in the homes, advising the mothers as to the diet necessary to bring the children up to standard.

Guernsey is often called "England's Glass Island," because of the immense quantity of glass used there in the cultivation of the tomato.

Fresh Engineers Take Tests

The last two seminar periods for freshman engineering students have been devoted to giving the Iowa placement examinations. These examinations are for the purpose of indicating aptitude and training in the subjects of English, French, mathematics, physics and chemistry. These tests have been used very successfully in Iowa university as a means of dividing freshman students into groups of equal ability for the purpose of instruction. Similar examinations are being given to engineering students in a great many colleges this year in order to find to what extent they indicate the final grade in various subjects. Their use in this college is purely experimental.

"The successful men in college do not seem to be very happy. Most of them, especially the athletes, are overworked."

"Misdirected labor, though honest and well intentioned may lead to naught. Among the most important things for the student to learn is how to study. Without knowledge of this his labor may be largely in vain." Prof. G. F. Swain, M. I. T.

"To students who have never learnt 'How to Study,' work is very often a chastisement, a flagellation, and an insuperable obstacle to contentment." Prof. A. Inglis, Harvard.

START VOLLEY BALL PLANS

DELEGATES MEET THURSDAY TO DRAW NUMBERS

Tournament Will Begin About October 25—Alpha Theta Chi Winners Last Year

Preliminary preparations for the girls' annual intramural volley ball tournament will begin on Thursday, October 15, when one representative from each of the sororities and women's literary clubs will meet in the girls' gymnasium to draw numbers.

Letters are to be sent out at once from the W. A. A. explaining the tournament to each club and sorority. After one week of practice, teams will be chosen to represent each organization and the playing schedule arranged. Practice time for the different groups must be arranged for with Miss Ruth Morris, head of the physical education department, who will assist in coaching the various teams. The tournament proper will begin about October 25.

First Tournament Last Year

Intramural volley ball for girls was tried for the first time at K. S. A. C. last year under the auspices of the W. A. A. and the physical education department, and was very successful. Several teams competed and the silver loving cup, offered by W. A. A. to the winners, was carried off by the Alpha Theta Chi sorority. In order to keep the cup permanently, an organization must win it for three consecutive years.

"We hope to have as many of the college girls organizations as possible represented at the gym on Thursday and expect even more interest in the tournament than we had last year." Josephine Trindle, president of W. A. A., stated yesterday.

FOUR OF FIVE LETTER MEN BACK THIS YEAR

Three Meets Scheduled—Axtell's Time Exceptionally Good for Course—Aikman Injured

As a result of the cross country tryouts held last Saturday afternoon six men qualified to represent the Aggies this fall in three meets. Paul Axtell, Argonia, won first on the five mile course in twenty-six minutes and thirty seconds, being followed closely by Captain R. E. Kimport, Norton; M. Sallee, Long Island; E. Rutherford, Manhattan; L. Moody, Junction City; and A. E. McGrath, Paola.

This group of men includes only four of the five letter men from last year. R. P. Aikman, who unfortunately suffered an injury to his foot when it was run over last summer by an automobile, ran in the tryouts under difficulties and failed to place among the first six who made the team. However, it is probable that he will be used as an alternate.

Meet Missouri October 24

Three cross country meets have been definitely scheduled, one of which will be on the home course on October 24 with Missouri. The team goes to K. U. twice, first for a dual meet next Saturday, October 17, and on November 10 for the annual Missouri valley conference meet. K. U. has no letter men back and nothing definite is known as to the strength of its team.

Axtell's time of twenty-six and a half is exceptionally good for the course over which the harriers have been training. The fact that he led the other runners by only two hundred yards is proof enough that the entire team is evenly matched.

The Post-Mortem

The Kansas Aggie football team refused to be the only Valley eleven to live up to "dope" last Saturday afternoon, and in order to make the day unanimous allowed themselves to be trampled underfoot by Drake university 19 to 0. Last year the Aggies outplayed Drake by about the same margin as Drake outplayed the Aggies Saturday, but the Bulldogs went home with the long end of a 7 to 6 score. Such are the breaks of football.

Like the Kansas State victory over Oklahoma, it really wasn't so bad as it sounded, but it would have been nothing short of tragic if it had been much worse.

If there were some way in football of scoring passes that slip out of the player's hands after they cross the goal line, then both Kansas State and Nebraska might be singing a different song. If there were some way of not allowing scores that are presented to the opposing team by fumbles, then Drake's score would be reduced by at least one touchdown. And lastly, if there were some way of automatically eliminating overconfidence from a team prior to a big game, valley football fans would tell a far different story of what happened in Des Moines Saturday.

Drake won the football game, there was no doubt about that. Won it handily, and on better football. But Drake is not a 19 point better team than Kansas State, nor yet, a one* touchdown better team than Kansas State.

Twice this year the Aggies have started late and won the game, but not against the Bulldogs. Drake men took advantage of the first half, dedicated so far this year by the Aggies to getting pushed around the field, and rolled up a lead which was too big to be overcome. Then, to cap it off, the Aggie offensive refused to function in a scoring manner during the last half.

Aggie men caught passes for long gains, and then dropped them deep in Drake territory. During that last half Drake never had a chance, until that sad minute in the third quarter when a Bulldog pounced on an Aggie fumble that rolled over the goal line.

The summary credits Drake with 10 first downs to the Aggies' 7. There was not room for 19 points difference in score in that showing.

Owen "Chili" Cochrane, quarterback, came into his own at Des Moines. Otherwise, Kansas State's football team—Kansas State's good football team, in spite of it all, fell heir to overconfidence and nervousness, and the heritage was too much.

OBSERVE DAD'S DAY OCTOBER 24

MAKING PLANS TO ENTERTAIN DADS AT MISSOURI GAME

Fritz Koch in Charge of Arrangements Committee—Urges Early Invitation to Fathers

Dad's Day will be observed on October 24, when the Wildcats clash with the Missouri Tigers.

Fritz Koch, chairman of the Y. M. C. A. committee that is in charge of the publicity for the occasion, is sending out letters this week asking all students to invite their dads to Kansas State to spend the week end of October 24.

Observed Last Year with K. U.

Dad's Day is an annual affair, and always brings together many old acquaintances and forms many new ones. Last year, Dad's Day was observed when the Wildcats triumphed over the University of Kansas.

Following is a copy of the letter which is being sent to organization heads:

This is to remind you that on October 24 the Missouri Tigers and the Aggie Wildcats mingle at the Aggie stadium. This is also the day set aside by the college as Dad's Day. The Y's are asked by the athletic department to carry on the Dad's Day propaganda.

Reserve Special Section

A special section of the stadium will be reserved for the students and their dads. We will guarantee dad a good time if you will try to get him here.

Dad deserves some attention as well as mother. Dad is red blooded, and he would like to see red blooded men play a real game of football. He would like to mingle with other dads, see the campus, and above all he would appreciate an invitation to visit his son or his daughter.

Let every loyal Aggie urge dad to attend the game October 24 and spend the week-end at K. S. A. C. Yours for a better K. S. A. C.—Fritz Koch, chairman Dad's Day Committee, Y. M. C. A.

BILLBOARD NUMBER OUT SOON

Material for First Issue of Brown Bull Now Due

The Billboard number of the Brown Bull is to come out soon. A call is being made for copy for this number. Since it is a comic production, anything witty can well be handled. This may include jokes, poetry, satirical work, cartoons, and the like. Illustrations of any kind will be especially appreciated as "seeing is always believing."

The Brown Bull is published four times during the school year by Theta Sigma Phi and Sigma Delta Chi, journalistic fraternities.

All material must be turned in to Lucille Potter by October 24. It may be mailed to her at the college postoffice. Every one is urged to contribute regardless of his particular talent—or lack of talent.

Faculty Dance Next Tuesday

The first faculty dance of the year is to be held in Recreation center Tuesday evening, October 20, at 8:30. These dances, held monthly during the college year, are not invitational, but are open to all faculty. Dr. and Mrs. J. G. Emerson are to be guests of honor at the opening dance.

K. U.-Aggie Game Here

K. S. A. C. and the University of Kansas will play their annual football game in Manhattan as well as in Lawrence tomorrow. The Sigma Delta Chi electric scoreboard, remodeled slightly and improved since last Saturday to make sure that everything will go off smoothly, will show the game play by play in the college auditorium at 2:30 o'clock.

Admission to the game will be 25 cents.

The arrangement used last Saturday went off somewhat slowly on account of it being the first time the remodeled board had been used, according to L. R. Combs, board manager. Misinformation from Drake as to the time the game would start also made the game here fall behind the one in Drake considerably. Saturday's scoreboard battle for the state title will start at 2:30, which is as early as wire reports can get through after the start of the game. All the details of the game will be furnished by special announcements supplementing the scoreboard.

Notice Collegian Subscribers

The election of an executive governing board for the Kansas State Collegian will take place during the week of October 19 to 24. The board is composed of four student members and the head of the department of industrial journalism. Any student in school is eligible for the board position. Nominations are made through petitions, which must be signed by 20 Collegian subscribers. Petitions should be turned in to Professor Rogers in Kedzie hall. It is hoped that representatives from the various divisions will nominate candidates.

JITNEY DANCE FEATURES FRIVOL ON NOVEMBER 6

Girls Chosen for Parts in Three Special Dances—Everything Five Cents

The annual Frivol will be held November 6, in Nichols gymnasium with the new jitney dance as the feature, according to Josephine Trindle, president of W. A. A. Three special dances, "The Charles Town Walk," "Dutch Playmates," and "Affaire d'Amour," will be presented by girls selected by competitive tryouts.

The new Jitney dance feature will probably prove interesting to the impoverished student body of K. S. A. C. Everything, admission, dances, cider, confetti, balloons, will cost the small sum of five cents. A six piece orchestra has been secured to play for the three special dances and the Jitney dances. The manager, Merle Nelson, plans to make Frivol even more successful than it has been in the past and the popular price places it within the reach of all.

Approximately two hundred girls participated in the preliminary tryouts from which fifty girls were selected for the final tryout. Those chosen at the final tryout were Ruth Stewart, Buena Childers, Kathleen Shaffner, Helen Loomis, Mary Brunett, Esther Pagan, Ruth Caswell, Dorothy Dale, Dorothy Handlin, and Virginia Clammer for the "Charlestown Walk;" Beryl Wright, Irene Bower, Dorothy McCulloch, Marjorie Grove, Nadine Buck, and Nancy Carney for "Dutch Playmates;" and Dorothy Gray, Emily Caton, Elsie Hayden, Elizabeth Haegenbuch, Janet Hellworth, Caroline Sheetz, Josephine Trindle, Harriet Geffert, Diantha Murdock, and Nora Yoder for "Affaire d'Amour."

ENGLISH LIBRARY ADDS BOOKS

Now Possible for Students to Obtain Information on Proper Usage

A number of new reference books have been added to the English department library. These books will add to the service already given the faculty and students on problems of the usage of English.

It is now possible to secure readily information in regard to standards of English usage, and names of authors of poems, recitations, and books of fiction. It will also be possible to trace familiar quotations, phrases, and fables, to their sources.

These books are in the central office of the English department and information can be secured by calling at K54 or phoning 651.

SEED LABORATORY COMPLETED

808 Samples Received in Two Months for Identification

Practically all the remodeling necessary to prepare rooms in the agronomy department for the new state seed laboratory has been completed, according to Prof. J. W. Zahnley, in charge of the laboratory. The addition was brought here through an act of the state legislature effective last July 1.

The personnel of the laboratory consists of Professor Zahnley, who is in charge; Mrs. E. P. Harling, chief analyst; Mrs. Ray Flemming, in charge of germination work; and Miss Della Noll, stenographer registrar.

Evidence that the laboratory is being put into effective use is shown by figures made in the laboratory. From July 1 to September 15, a total of 808 samples were received in the laboratory, 622 samples were received for test, and 186 plants and seeds were received for identification.

The Popenoe Entomological club met Wednesday evening, October 7. During the program the officers for the year were elected. Professor McCulloch gave a talk on the "History and Aims of the Popenoe Entomological Club" and Doctor Smith talked on "Entomological Observations on My Vacation Trip."

KALAKAKS TAKE MOST OFFICES

SEIGGAS WIN MAJORITY OF POSITIONS IN SENIOR CLASS

Progressives Elect 22 Out of 29 Candidates—Senior Contests Very Close

By electing its candidates to 22 out of 29 class offices, the Kalakak party took the polls by storm last Wednesday. The Seigga party elected five of their seven officers in the senior class, capturing the presidency, vice-presidency, treasurer, historian and marshal. The results of all of the senior contests were close, but it is not expected that the official count will change the results.

426 Votes Cast

The results of the election show that 426 students voted—77 votes being cast in the senior class, 86 in the junior class, 98 in the sophomore class, and 165 in the freshman class. While this vote is not as heavy as pre-election enthusiasm indicated it would be, party leaders were delighted with the apparent advance of political rivalry. The number voting in each class is about a 300 per cent increase over any election within the last few years.

The Kalakaks won the presidencies of the junior, sophomore and freshman classes with safe majorities. The Seiggas elected one office in the sophomore class, historian, by a margin of one vote, and one office to which they had no opposition in the freshman class.

S. S. G. A. in Charge

The election was in charge of the executive council of the S. S. G. A., and was the first time in several years that all the elections were held on the same day. Christian Rugh, president of the student body, expressed himself as being very well satisfied with the result and interest shown in the election. The ballots will be kept for one week after the official count is made.

Following are the unofficial results of the election:

BUTCHER URGES ACTIVITY IN LIFE

PRESIDENT OF EMPORIA COLLEGE ADDRESSES STUDENTS

Declares That We Should Reach Happy Medium Between Hard Work and Idleness

"The purpose of life is to get the most out of it and to put the most back into it," said President Thomas W. Butcher, of the Kansas State Teachers' College of Emporia, in his talk on "The Fine Art of Living" in chapel Wednesday morning. "In the final analysis we measure our riches by what we give away."

In pioneer days when people going west camped at the same place and first met each other their greetings were always "Where are you going?" and "Where are you from?" It might be well for similar phrases to be placed on signs at intervals along the path of life, President Butcher declared.

Differ on Importance of Life

"People differ on what are the most important things in life; some say riches, some religion, and others parenthood. But whatever one's aim in life," emphasized the educator "he should neither sit in the shade and let someone else do his share of the work, nor should he work himself into the mad-house because of his foolish pursuit of some material thing. The most that money can buy is food, shelter, clothing and a few luxuries. That is all that Henry Ford can buy with his millions. There is no bigger tragedy in life than to spend one's life in accumulating money and so miss the beauties and happiness of life. Too many men are slaves to their millions, and many poor men live a life of happiness through art and beauty along with their honest labor."

"I wonder what we've in this world for," queried President Butcher. "We come and leave without our consent. We are caught between two eternities," it is said. Happiness depends on our development of the powers which lie dormant in us and which when developed make us strong."

Abundance of Faith Most Important

According to Mr. Butcher, the most important thing to be gotten from a college curriculum is an abundance of faith in people. There is plenty of evil in the world but it is up to us to see the good and to be happy and useful. Think of good, and believe in good and your fellow men.

Prof. Harry K. Lamont, of the department of music, played two violin solos at the opening of the assembly.

QUILL CLUB ANNOUNCES CONTEST

Any Student or Faculty Member Eligible to Membership

Quill club is an honorary organization for college students and faculty members who have shown an excellence in literary production. Any student or faculty member is eligible to membership.

Students who are trying out are urged to submit a variety of material: poetry, book reviews, feature stories, etc. Any short story must be at least 800 words in length. Manuscripts should be given to Prof. H. W. Davis, head of the English department. Material submitted will be judged on the merit of work alone.

EIGHT VISIT HAZFORD PLACE

Members of Form and Function Class Study Hereford Herds

Eight members of the form and function class in the department of animal husbandry together with Professor Bell, spent part of last week at Winfield and El Dorado, where the class had practice work in stock judging. This class is trying out for the senior judging team that will judge at the American Royal stock show at Kansas City in November.

Hazford Place was visited field day. This is owned by Mr. Hazlett, owner of one of the finest Hereford herds in the world.

Students making the trip were Wayne Rogier, Ward Taylor, Mary Halse, Walter Atzenweller, A. C. Hoffman, T. M. Kleinburg, Pete Holm, and Clarence Chase. They returned to Manhattan last Monday.

The Franklin literary society hiked Saturday night to Flat Rock. A short program was given. Doctor and Mrs. Ackert chaperoned the party.

Students, Save 50 Cents

Students going to the game at Lawrence on the train are advised by the athletic department to buy excursion tickets through to Kansas City, for $2.25. Round trip tickets on the special train to Lawrence cost $2.81, and provide for return by Sunday night. The regular excursion tickets are good until Monday afternoon. Students may get off at Lawrence, see the game, take a bus or interurban to Kansas City, see a show, and use the return stub for conveyance back to Manhattan. Besides this, the monetary saving should look attractive.

AGGIE DAIRY TEAM WINS SIXTH AT NATIONAL SHOW

Guy Faulconer Fifth High Individual Scorer—24 Teams Entered in Contest

Sixth place was won by the college dairy team at the National Dairy show in Indianapolis, Ind., last Saturday. Guy Faulconer, a member of the college team and the only member who has had very much experience in judging dairy cattle, was fifth high individual in the contest.

The first ten places in the contest in which 24 teams representing colleges and universities from Oregon to New Hampshire and from Texas to Ontario, Can., took part are as follows: Iowa, South Dakota, New York, Illinois, Ohio, Kansas State, Kentucky, Minnesota, Texas, and West Virginia. Iowa placed first in the National Dairy show and the National Dairy Congress in Waterloo, Iowa, an accomplishment believed to have been accomplished by no other college team.

Members of the Aggie team are Guy Faulconer, Harry Rust, C. W. Thole, and Earl Knepp. The team is coached by Prof. H. W. Cave. Only two contests are attended during the year.

TO DISCUSS VALUE OF COLLEGE

First of Series of Discussion Meetings at Vespers Tuesday

"What Are We in College For?" is the subject for discussion at the Y. W. C. A. Vesper service next Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock in Recreation center. This is the first of a series of discussion meetings which are being planned for discussion by the women of the college from now till Thanksgiving. Some of the other subjects are "What Shall We Do When Loyalties Conflict?" "How is a Christian Student Different?" "Where Does the Church Come In?" "Shall We Be 100 Per Cent Americans?"

After a short period of worship the vesper meeting will break up into smaller groups meeting in Recreation center and in the class rooms on the second floor of Anderson hall. The freshman women will meet in freshman groups led by upperclassmen and freshman girls. The upperclassmen will meet in their big sister groups.

Debate Tryouts This Week

Debate tryouts for places on the varsity and freshman squads were held Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday afternoons of this week. There is a large amount of new material this year that will take the place of former members, according to Prof. H. B. Summers, coach of debate. The results of the tryouts will be announced in the next issue of The Collegian.

Brainard to Speak on Football

Practical experience as a coach of the Kansas State frosh squad, and the results of his personal observations in that capacity will be discussed next Sunday at the Presbyterian Bible school by Prof. P. P. Brainard. The title of the discussion will be "Lessons to Be Learned from Football." The class is open to all folks who might be interested in football, or Bible school—or both.

GAME SETTLED—EXCEPT SCORE

BIENNIAL MIGRATION TO LAWRENCE BEGINS THIS MORNING

Both Coaches Will Start First String Lineup—Elevens at Top of Stride

It's all settled. Settled, of course, except for the relatively unimportant details of playing out the annual University of Kansas-Kansas State football classic tomorrow afternoon on stadium field at Lawrence.

Hours of argument over the relative merits of the two big elevens of the state have resulted in the almost general conclusion that if one team doesn't win the other one will—or perhaps the game will be a tie.

By tonight the last secret practice will have been practiced, and tomorrow morning Kansas State will begin its biennial migration down the Kaw.

Haskard May Not Play

Coaches of both teams have announced that practically their entire squads will be in shape. R. J. Haskard, Hutchinson, Aggie sophomore halfback, may not be able to get into the game.

The policy of starting a second string line-up will be done away with for the first time this year by both coaches, provided one does not change his mind at the last moment and run in a line-up which does not agree with the program.

The Kansas State team will wear purple jerseys and Kansas university plans to don red. Defeat of both teams by Iowa representatives last Saturday lessened the interest in the game over the valley somewhat, but almost undoubtedly will result in both elevens being at the top of their stride tomorrow in order to "come back" before a home crowd.

Victory Will Explain Iowa Defeats

Defeat tomorrow will sound the knell over championship hopes of the losing team, while a one-sided victory by either eleven would be partial proof that what happened in Iowa happened to a team that was off its stride a long way.

Tonight the annual hobo special from Manhattan via freight routes is due to again operate, though it will not be patronized as extensively as in the past due to cutting of passenger rates.

The game is called for 2 o'clock.

The probable starting line-ups: Kansas Pos. Kansas State Testerman l. e. Randels Smith (c) l. t. Ballard Sanborn l. g. Reed Davidson c Tombaugh Burton r. g. (c) McGee Lattin f. t. Krysl Powers f. e. Fleck Hamilton q. b. Cochrane Wall l. b. R. Smith Anderson r. h. Wilson Mackie f. b. Douglass Officials—referee, C. E. McBride, Missouri Valley college; umpire, Clyde Williams, Iowa; head linesman, B. L. McCreary, Oklahoma; field judge, A. A. Schabinger, College of Emporia.

Walter H. Lutz, former student of K. S. A. C., will be a guest at the S. A. E. house this week-end.

Lewis M. Walker, who was enrolled as a sophomore here last year, is attending school at the University of California this fall.

REVERSING THE LAUGH

Ludicrous as our recent political campaign may have seemed to its critics, there was one spectacle even more provocative of mocking laughter than the politicians, and that was the critics themselves.

All about the campus one encountered them holding forth indignantly on the faults of the two parties. Toward the last of the week some of the budding intelligentsia, no doubt, actually figured out that perhaps some one knew who was due to be nominated before the party conventions were held and announced their suspicions to the innocent world in a shocked manner.

Those who were not included in one party or another, especially the non-fraternity members, whispered darkly of third parties and corruption. But they did nothing, which paves the way for the unkindly laugh.

For the benefit of those too glib to have discovered the dark secret already, the Collegian reluctantly admits that it has been forced to believe the worst, and that both Seigga and Kalakak tickets probably were drawn up before the voice of the people was allowed to express itself in open convention. For precedent you are referred to any political party now existing in the United States.

But as to charges of our student critics (who came forth boldly before audiences of as much as two people) and denounced the new system as having produced no change in the method of conducting student government.

The new system has produced a change, and it is for the better. Neither Kalakak nor Seigga manager agreed to the split because he had an axe to grind. Both were high in the previous system, well-liked enough to get anything they wanted, and the system worked to the extent of seeing that they could get it.

The split was organized within the old political groups because their leaders saw that the old regime was harmful in its effects on Kansas State. Candidates were chosen tentatively before the party meetings not for machine purposes, but because our perpetual critics have demonstrated repeatedly that they lack both the energy and the personality to nominate a half dozen class officers in open meeting.

Let those who believe the two parties of the recent election to be "dominated by the fraternity element" point to a student election in the last decade that contained as many non-fraternity nominees, or one-tenth as many non-fraternity nominees. Those who whispered "third party" but were too supine to organize one must admit that at least the "bosses" were kind.

Our political campaign has demonstrated one thing—that the leadership of Kansas State is and will continue to be in the hands of those who set a goal and then go after it, and will not soon fall to those who wax indignant when they are sure "nobody is around."

Question: Should the "agricultural" be taken out of Kansas State Agricultural college?

Miss Geneva Watson, of the physical education department—"Personally I don't think that the 'ags' deserve any more recognition than the rest of us. The school isn't strictly an agricultural school any more, and Kansas State college would certainly be better as far as sound and appearance go. But the alumni probably wouldn't like the name to be changed, and really it's a question for them to decide, for, after all, it's their school."

Christian Rugh, president of the S. S. G. A.—"I am an engineer and one of a group which would logically oppose keeping the 'agricultural' but the college has built up its reputation under the title of Kansas State Agricultural college and I cannot see any necessity for a change. A new name would also mean the establishing of a new reputation and why change one already so successful? I, for one, am proud to be an 'Aggie'."

Marguerite Stingley, freshman—"With the reputation this college has, I don't think the name makes much difference. The 'agricultural' is not important because agriculture is not the most important course on the hill now."

Mary Hall, senior—"I think that changing Kansas State Agricultural college to Kansas State Agricultural and Mechanical college would be all right, but I am not in favor of omitting the 'agricultural' entirely from the name. This school is noted all over the world for an agricultural college and it would certainly be a mistake to take out such an important part of its title."

Paul Gartner, sophomore—"The 'agricultural' couldn't be taken out of the name of the college because the farmers wouldn't know where to send their kids to school. On the other hand, this school wouldn't be known as a 'cow-college' if the 'agricultural' was taken out. So there you are—I don't think it will make much difference either way."

Professor Correll—"Yes, the 'agricultural' should come out. I have been for having Kansas State college since the question first arose when I was a student 25 years ago. The name Kansas State college sounds better, goes better, and has more significance. The agricultural division of the college is now fourth in size and why everyone who receives a degree from here should be designated as a graduate of an agricultural college is hard to understand."

Alice Nichols, junior—"There is nothing the matter with agriculture; it is a wonderful and basic occupation but 'agricultural' does not truly apply to this school. The division of agriculture is one of the smallest divisions here now. The title of Kansas State Agricultural college gives many high school graduates over the state a mistaken idea of the courses offered here, and many of them go to Kansas university for that reason. I think that the 'agricultural' should be taken out in order that people will understand more clearly that other things are taught here. Kansas State Agricultural college does not correctly name the school."

Freshmen at Union college are required to say hello to every person they meet on the campus. This soon becomes a habit, and as a result every time one student meets another student a greeting is exchanged.

Why You Need This Guide
"It is safe to say that failure to guide and direct study is the weak point in the whole educational machine," Prof. G. M. Whipple, U. of Michigan.

"The successful men in college do not seem to be very happy. Most of them, especially the athletes, are overworked," Prof. H. S. Canby, Yale.

"Misdirected labor, though honest and well intentioned may lead to naught. Among the most important things for the student to learn is how to study. Without knowledge of this his labor may be largely in vain," Prof. G. F. Swain, M. I. T.

"To students who have never learnt 'How to Study' work is very often a chastisement, a flagellation, and an insuperable obstacle to contentment," Prof. A. Inglis, Harvard.

"HOW TO STUDY" will show you how to avoid all misdirected effort.

Get a good start and make this year a highly successful one by sending for this hand book and guide.

"PROC" RANDELS IS THIRD BROTHER ON AGGIE TEAMS

Another Brother Is Nebraskan Line-man This Fall—"Proc" Playing His Fourth Season

H. "Proc" Randels of Anthony, varsity left end, is the third son of his family to be a regular on the Wildcat football team, according to M. F. Ahearn, director of athletics. A fourth brother, Roy Randels, was at Kansas State for part of one year, and is now a lineman on the squad at the University of Nebraska.

The line of Randels brothers on Aggie teams started with "Billy" Randels, fullback in 1907 and 1908 during the days when Professor Ahearn was football coach.

Next came Lee "Stiff" Randels, an end whose name is still mentioned with awe among the Wildcat freshmen every fall. "Stiff," as he was known over the valley, played in 1916, 1917, and 1918.

"Proc," third of the line, first made the Aggie team in 1918, when he played with the S. A. T. C. eleven from here. Again in 1919 and 1920 he was an Aggie end, and is now playing his fourth year on the squad, the S. A. T. C. year not being counted as valley participation. He is a hard-hitting end of the Lyle Munn type, not given to figuring brilliantly in press reports but always tending to his job, according to Coach C. W. Bachman.

Roy Randels, the fourth brother, was a candidate for fullback while here, but was moved up into the line at Nebraska and made the Illinois trip with his team.

INTERESTED IN HOCKEY

Enthusiasm Shown in Spite of Adverse Weather Conditions

In spite of the unfavorable weather this fall, unusual enthusiasm is being shown in hockey, not only among girls enrolled for credit work but also among those out for the activity.

According to Miss Ruth Morris, all of her own and Miss Trant's classes are well filled and there is an abundance of good material for teams. There is one class for freshmen having an enrollment of 43, one for sophomores having 35, and a mixed junior and senior class of about 20 girls. In addition there are about 40 girls coming out to two general classes for anyone wishing to learn hockey.

The freshmen classes meet on Tuesday and Thursday, the sophomores on Wednesday and Friday, and the juniors and seniors on Wednesday and Friday.

OPEN BIDS FOR UNION

Will Represent Third Project of K. U. Memorial Campaign

Lawrence, Kan., Oct. 15.—Bids for the erection of the first section of the new Union building at the University of Kansas will be opened October 28. The contract is for the enclosed structure without fittings or fixtures except conduits, sleeves and piping. The cost of the present section to be erected will approximate $165,000, of which $120,000 is already in the bank.

The Union will represent the third project of the K. U. memorial campaign which started in the fall of 1920. The amount of voluntary contributions from alumni, students and friends of the university has reached $963,000. The stadium and Green statue in honor of James Woods Greyn, for many years Dean of the Law School, the first two units, have already been paid for.

The home economics staff held a meeting Friday evening in Thompson hall. The principal speakers of the evening were Mrs. Amy Jane Leaz-enby-Englund who talked on "The Land of the Midnight Sun," and Miss Araminta Holman who talked on "France." Miss Holman accompanied her talk with lantern slides and also displayed many interesting articles that she had purchased abroad.

Miss Martha Kramer entertained at dinner Tuesday evening in the Open Door Tea room. Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Davis and daughter, Helen Louise, and Miss Kramer.

Miss Winifred Clark, who was a student at K. S. A. C. last year, is attending school at the University of Colorado this year.

NOTED PIANIST HERE FRIDAY

PERCY GRAINGER APPEARS IN RECITAL AT COLLEGE

Australian Advocates National Musical Style and Says America Is Underemphasizing This Phase of Art

Percy Grainger, Australia's leading musician, who appears at the college auditorium the evening of October 23, is well known in America as he has been touring this country for some time. Grainger's folk-songs have a great appeal for his audiences, and he is regarded equally well as a composer and as an artist. "Country Gardens," which is the most popular piano composition of Percy Grainger, was written during the world war when he was serving as a bandsman in the 15th band, at Fort Hamilton. The band played at a great many Liberty Loan drives, and on these occasions Grainger was often requested to play. An improvisation of the English Morris tune, "Country Gardens," occurred to him as one that would have an appeal for every class of listener. Gradually his improvisations took on a definite form and were placed on paper.

PERCY GRAINGER

Receives Ovation at Kansas City

Grainger is an advocate of a national musical style, and believes that America is underemphasizing this phase of her musical art. "Foreign geniuses are coming to America continually and unless something is done to foster and preserve American music, and musicians as well, there will never be a characteristic American music," says Grainger. He believes there is very little dividing British from American music.

In speaking of Grainger, the Kansas City Journal says: "Grainger, the pianist who meets the most formidable difficulties with greatest ease, received one of the most enthusiastic ovations accorded any artist appearing in Kansas City this season. His excellent work brought him a storm of applause. His interpretations revealed supreme taste and musicianship; the finely delineated colors applied with a sure and sensitive hand, made a marvel of tonal beauty."

Seven Machines from Government Surplus Added to Engineering Labs

As the result of a trip to Topeka by Prof. W. W. Carlson of the department of shop practice and Prof. C. H. Scholer of the department of applied mechanics last Thursday, seven machines from the government surplus will be added to the equipment of the road testing laboratory and the machine shops of the college.

The equipment being brought here will consist of two lathes, two milling machines, two drill presses, and one metal shearer, according to Professor Carlson. Two drill presses, one lathe, and one milling machine will be used in the road testing laboratory, and the other machines will be used for student practice in the machine shops.

Aime Dupont Company of New York to Have Charge of All Photography

C. E. Baker, photographer for the Aime Dupont company, of New York, who is in charge of all the photography work for the 1926 Royal Purple, arrived Sunday and set up his equipment yesterday in the Royal Purple studio.

Mr. Baker stated yesterday that he will be able to begin taking pictures by Wednesday morning. The Aime Dupont company is one of the largest and best photographers for college annuals in the United States, and the Royal Purple management is fortunate in securing the services of this company this year.

Portraits will be more uniform in size, background, and position this year, according to F. E. Wiebrecht, editor of the year book. Four different proofs will be made, which will insure a suitable picture.

It will be necessary for those desiring to have their pictures in the class sections of the year book, to make appointments as soon as possible, for Mr. Baker can be here for only a limited time.

"This is going to be the Aggie's biggest year, so let's make the Royal Purple characteristic of the success of the institution," Wayne Rogler, business manager, stated last night. Mr. Rogler expressed the wish that he and Mr. Wiebrecht might have the support and cooperation of the entire student body in publishing the best Royal Purple ever published.

Dues for the senior class, which include a copy of the annual, are $12.50. Junior dues are $4.50; sophomore, $3.50; and freshman, $3.00. The Royal Purple office has moved from the basement of Anderson to one of the rooms on the southwest part of the first floor. The studio is still in the basement.

Miss Bertha Bisby Injured

Word has just been received of the serious accident occurring to Miss Bertha Bisby, a former graduate, in which her back was broken. She is now in the Northwest hospital in Minnesota. Miss Bisby was enroute to Menominee, Wis., where she teaches in the Stout institution. On her way to visit a friend in a Minnesota hospital, she was thrown violently backward in the taxi in which she was riding and her back broken.

C. W. Eshbaugh, '25, of Manhattan, has gone to Winfield to take up his work as assistant county engineer of Cowley county.

Miss Fern Anderson, sophomore in industrial journalism last year, is teaching in an Indian government school, at San Carlos, Ariz.

SUPER-SIX LINE LOSES POWER

KANSAS STATE VICTORS IN ANNUAL K. U. TILT, 14 TO 7

Revenge for Drake Defeat Taken Out on Jayhawk—Every Wildcat a Star

Trampling over the remnants of a Jayhawk "super-six" line, the Kansas State football team slipped and slid to a 14 to 7 victory over the University of Kansas eleven on the Jayhawk home field Saturday afternoon. It was the third Wildcat victory in the past 20 years, and the second in the last two years.

Forgetting, or perhaps it was because they remembered, the Iowa horror of the week before, the Wildcats behaved themselves right nobly during the 60 active minutes of the three hours that the game lasted.

Recover Hamilton's Fumble

The first Kansas State touchdown came with startling suddenness. Hamilton's wits temporarily left him as he stood on the K. U. three yard line, and he attempted to catch Cochran's high, hurtling kick that seemed sure to go over the goal line.

As the ball hopped out of his uncertain clutch three Aggie linemen were waiting, and the team captain recovered it. A second later Holsinger went over for the touchdown, and the dazed Kansas stands watched McGee kick goal while the State followers stood and exulted.

From then on the game was even, until the last few minutes of the second quarter, when the Jayhawk showed its only real threat of the day. Starting from its own 30 yard line, K. U. udded a short pass to march down the field to the Aggie 10 yard line.

There the Aggie captain stopped to talk to his men. A desperate charge by Mackie, another pass, and another charge by Mackie gained only three yards, and Kansas faced the prospect of making seven yards to the goal in one down. They were never given the opportunity, however, as the half whistle put an end to things.

Holsinger to Price Effective

The charging Aggie line was responsible for the second touchdown. Shortly after the second half kickoff, Pearson surged through the super-six, blocked Wellman's punt, and recovered on the K. U. 35 yard line. After two ineffectual line smashes, Holsinger whipped out a long pass to Price, who caught it yards from any Kansas player and raced on over the goal while the once-winged Jayhawk plodded sullenly behind. McGee again kicked goal.

The Kansas touchdown, also a surprise affair, came almost as the spectators were waiting for the final gun. Cloud, substitute center, intercepted Ray Smith's pass in midfield and raced to the 15 yard line before he was pulled down from behind by the bulky, speedy Pearson.

Mackie and Wellman fought through for a first down on the Aggie four yard line. Mackie crashed into the battling Aggie line for two yards. On the next play he was hurled back to the five yard line. On the third only a foot separated him from the score, and on his last chance he barely made that foot. A minute later the game ended.

Aggie Ends Stop Safety

Work of Aggie ends in going down under kicks was exceptional, the Kansas runners being tackled in their tracks on nearly every play. The Aggie line also rushed Wellman on his every punt, blocked two at critical minutes, and smeared the Kansas kicker every time he kicked.

Cochrane played a steady game at quarter, outpunting his rival all the way, and handling every Kansas punt for good returns behind fast-forming interference. Enns, who replaced him, tore off several long runs which might have been scores on a dry field. Pearson and McGee seemed outstanding in the center of the line, though Tombaugh did his work of passing unerringly and Reed and Ballard also functioned consistently.

Holsinger stood out in the backfield, though Meek and Douglass played well both offensively and defensively.

Kansas Has Good Backfield

Kansas seemed to have a brilliant backfield behind an inferior line. The work of Wellman, Mackie, and Starr merited nothing but praise from even the most pessimistic Kansas fan.

K. U. made more first downs than did the Aggies, but actually gained fewer yards from scrimmage, the Wildcats going for long gains when they did go. Price, Fleck, and

COUNTY AGENTS HERE THIS WEEK

ANNUAL EXTENSION CONFERENCE BRINGS EXPERTS

Mixer and Dance at Country Club Last Night—Annual Banquet Wednesday Night

Several government experts are at the college this week attending the annual extension conference. From the United States department of agriculture, G. E. Farrell and R. A. Turner, field agents, will give general addresses; Director C. W. Warburton will talk on "Extension Work in the United States," and R. A. Turner will speak on "Reaching the Older Boy and Girl Not in School." W. H. Stacy, professor of rural organization, Iowa State college, will give Iowa's method of organizing and maintaining organization.

125 in Attendance

About 125 will attend the conference. This number includes the county agents, home demonstration agents, and all extension specialists in the state. These people come here to plan their programs for the coming year, to get new ideas for their work, and to meet and know others who are engaged in the same work.

The program which began Monday morning continues through Saturday morning. The general sessions are being held in Waters hall; the agricultural section will also meet in Waters hall, and the home economics section in Calvin hall with the exception of the Thursday meeting which in the morning will be held in Waters hall and in the afternoon in Anderson hall.

Campus Tour Today and Tomorrow

The social calendar for the week began with an extension mixer and dance at the country club last night. Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons will be given over for a tour of the campus and vicinity. Mrs. Elizabeth Quinlan will entertain at the home of Mrs. L. E. Melchers tonight, for the home economics specialists. The big event of the week will be the annual banquet Wednesday night in Thompson hall. The visitors will be urged to attend the pep meeting Friday night and stay for the Missouri game Saturday.

A number of local extension workers are on the program.

HUNGARIAN TO STUDY HERE

Foreign Agronomist Will Come Here on Rockefeller Institute Fellowship

A letter has been received here stating that Prof. John Suranyin, agronomist in the agricultural experiment station for plant industry at Magyarover, Hungary, expects to come here this year on a Rockefeller Institute fellowship to study soils and dry farming methods in the college agronomy department.

Gabriel Proytchoff, minister of agriculture at Sofia, Bulgaria, was here last year for study in the agronomy department on a similar fellowship. Prof. John H. Parker, a member of the agronomy department staff, is now studying at Cambridge university, England, on a Rockefeller Institute fellowship.

MAY LET CONTRACT FOR NEW LIBRARY NEXT MONTH

Work Will Begin Immediately After Contract Is Awarded—Located South of Waters Hall

Good progress is being made on the plans for the new library building at the office of the state architect at Topeka, according to Dean R. A. Seaton of the division of engineering and a member of the committee in charge of the plans for the construction of the building. It is expected that they will be completed soon and that the contract may be let some time in November.

Prof. Grace Derby, Prof. Paul Weigel, Supt. G. R. Pauling, and Dean R. A. Seaton went to Topeka Saturday to consult with the state architect, Charles Cuthbert, in regard to the plans.

Work on the erection of the building, which will be located just south of Waters hall, will be started immediately after the contract is let, and it is believed that a considerable part of the construction will be completed this winter. College officials believe that the building will be completed by the spring of 1927.

The total amount of the $250,000 appropriated by the state legislature for the building will be used in the construction, including lighting, heating, and plumbing fixtures, according to Dean Seaton. Additional appropriations will be needed before the equipment, consisting of book racks, furniture, and other necessary furnishings, may be placed in the building.

NEW ZEALAND CALLS FOR INSECTS FROM KANSAS STATE

Cawthorn Institute Wants Shipment of Chrysopsids to Stop Destruction by Plant Lice

Requests have come to the entomology department of the college from New Zealand for a shipment of chrysopsids, a species of insects known to prey upon plant lice and certain other small plant pests. Dr. R. C. Smith of the entomology department recently made a shipment of the insects to Cawthorn Institute, Nelson, New Zealand.

Before the insects were shipped to that far away country they were confined to a refrigerator for several weeks to make them winter-hardy and to permit the weaker ones to die off. They were then placed in vials with dampened blotter paper and sent in refrigerators to San Francisco where the paper was again dampened and the insects sent on their way. The trip requires a full month, and the fatality is high, according to Doctor Smith. It is expected that other shipments of the insects will be made in the near future.

PRESIDENT FARRELL ON NAVI- GATION CONFERENCE PROGRAM

Four Other Prominent Aggie Professors Will Attend Important Meeting at Kansas City

Five representatives of the college will attend the Missouri Valley Navigation conference in Kansas City, Mo., October 19. They are President F. D. Farrell, Dean R. A. Seaton of the division of engineering, Dean L. E. Call of the division of agriculture, Prof. H. B. Walker, head of the department of agricultural engineering, and Dr. W. E. Grimes, head of the department of agricultural economics.

President Farrell is scheduled to deliver an address at the meeting on the afternoon of October 19, and Herbert Hoover, secretary of the United States department of commerce, will make the principal address at the banquet in the evening.

Mathematics Club Meets Thursday

The first meeting of the mathematics club will be held Thursday at 3 o'clock in E222. Assistant Professor Emma Hyde will discuss the subject of Hyperbolic Functions. Advanced students in the department and all others interested are cordially invited to attend.

STUDENT PEACE MEETING AT K. U.

KANSAS STUDENTS WILL DISCUSS WORLD COURT SATURDAY

Kirby Page, Author of "The Abolition of War," to Present New Harmony Peace Plan

Students and faculty members of Kansas colleges will learn facts about the world court, internationalism, and the prevention of wars at state conferences to be held next week end. The conferences are sponsored by the Y. W. C. A. and the Y. M. C. A. and will be held simultaneously in two sections, one for the western colleges of the state at McPherson, and the other for the eastern schools at Lawrence.

Kirby Page of New York City will present the new harmony peace plan to both sections. He was formerly secretary to Sherwood Eddy. The general Y. M. C. A. secretary is an authority on world questions, and has traveled widely. His best known publication is "The Abolition of War."

Prominent Speakers to Talk

Probable speakers are William Allen White, Emporia; President William Kurtz, McPherson college; President W. O. Mendenhall, Friends university; Miss Lola Wildy, K. S. A. C.; and Miss Nell Lorimer, K. U. Miss Wildy and Miss Lorimer took the Women's Student Pilgrimage trip to Europe last summer.

The harmony peace plan which will be presented to the conference is a plan agreed upon recently by 30 prominent men and women who represent both the opposition and those in favor of the League of Nations. It provides first for immediate entrance into the world court with the Harding-Hughes-Coolidge reservations. The second provision is that continued adherence beyond a period of five years is to be conditioned on (a) the negotiation of an international treaty making war a crime, (b) the adoption of a code of the international law of peace, (c) when the treaty is negotiated the world court shall have an affirmative jurisdiction to outlaw a nation which breaks the treaty.

College faculty members interested in history, civics, economics, and sociology are especially urged to attend the conference. Meetings are being planned for those who are interested in going to Lawrence to the conference. Several from K. S. A. C. are planning on attending.

HOW ABOUT YOU?

Late yesterday word reached The Collegian office that two disgruntled Anderson avenue property owners have circulated a petition in and around Aggieville for the repeal of that part of the recently passed zoning ordinance eliminating future business building on Anderson avenue west of Manhattan avenue. Indications were that the petition would be presented at a meeting of the city commissioners tonight.

As originally prepared, the zoning ordinance provided for inclusion of Anderson west to Sixteenth in the business district. Due to the active opposition of property owners on Anderson and of Sigma Delta Chi, men's professional journalistic fraternity, the ordinance was changed to place Anderson in the residence district.

Opposition to the proposed backward step is the responsibility of the entire student body, and not of a few students who know of student opposition to business buildings on Anderson and are willing to voice it. Those in control of either of the newly organized political parties might have a firm basis for future success by spreading a counter petition among the students of the college, and organizing to fight to keep the law as it is. Every organized house on the hill, and every student organization can and should send a representative should another hearing be held on the ordinance.

The future of the campus of Kansas State is being decided now. Will it be decided wrongly because Kansas State students are too lethargic to voice their opinions?

Judge for Yourself

As a member of the grand and glorious, though not yet famous freshman class of '25, I feel it my sacred duty towards my Alma Mater to proclaim to the world that we must improve our campus. The only way we can better it for the benefit of the boys and girls who must use it for the next four to six years is to erect benches. Not the kind that will hold the family and the neighbors, but benches built for two; not on the open road, but tucked under the concealing boughs of softly whispering pines, far from the prying eyes of an unsympathetic world, where the noble freshman knight, in his last year's coat and next year's bags, can proclaim his true and everlasting love for the girl of the moment; where the silver rays of moonlight can change this bleak world into a paradise of I don't know what. Oh, students! let us stand firm, proclaiming that our health and happiness depends upon the erection of benches. It's so hard to sit on the cold cold ground.—C. E. Hines.

It is quite possible that the Aggies think that beating Kansas university is a thing of rare occurrence.

Of course, it is a nice thing to come home from Lawrence with the long end of the score, but if the Aggies are going to celebrate as they did yesterday and a year ago, the public will get the idea that "beating K. U." is an event that comes once in a lifetime.

It looks to me as if the Aggies would be more heartily respected, and have more consideration from the townspeople in general if they (the Aggies) would go right ahead with their class work and pay no more attention to their celebration (?) than if the winning over K. U. was an everyday occurrence.

It is a known fact that conduct as becomes a gentleman or a lady is more conducive to respect, than the rowdylike celebration that has been in evidence the past year and yesterday.—H. C. Spencer.

The old Kappa Delt house on Poyntz is now a girls' rooming house. It has been named "Idlewood."

What a wonderful opportunity for that type of punner who says, "I haven't been called on yet; here, let me knock on your head."

Which reminds us that, as the "Pink or Flunk" exams are fast approaching, a series of talks on "How to Study, or the Fundamentals of Getting By" would be quite apropos.

When we were a freshman we had a burning desire to do big things, we were in college for knowledge.

We went to our professors and earnestly asked how we could really learn things.

Invariably the answer was, "By digging," or "Dig, dig, dig."

So we dug—for three days and nights previous to the exams, we dug.

In pure ecstasy we clapped our hands and skipped into Recreation center for a careful perusal of the missives

We gave a low cry, we had dug in vain,—the letters were what we later came to know as "flunk slips."

And to cap the climax the landlady raised the rent because we had dug up all of her petunias.

Moral: What a whale of a difference a few sense make.

Speaking of clothes—this hill has 'em.

We pity the poor guys who attempt to create new styles at least six months in advance for the college boys and girls.

Last year the fellers wore slickers, long flappy yellow ones and long flappy green ones.

This year the young coeds have sprung out in them—and in all the various shades and hues of red, green, and purple.

And now the boys, leading the way as always, have contrived the idea of having cunning pictures and catchy slogans painted on the backs of these creations.

Inventive young geniuses, we marvel at their originality. First one does it and then 200 or more follow.

HOME EC. DIVISION HOLDING WEEKLY BABY CLINICS

Are in Charge of Miss Jean S. Dobbs —First Demonstration Last Friday

The first of the weekly baby clinics of the school year, open to all Manhattan mothers, was held Friday afternoon, October 16, in Calvin hall from 3 to 4:30 under the supervision of Miss Jean S. Dobbs, instructor in the department of household economics, who is a graduate nurse from Evanston hospital, holds a B. S. degree from Northwestern university, has taken eight months' special training in Children's Orthopedic hospital in Seattle, and who this spring completed work for her master's degree in child health.

This year, Miss Dobbs states, the specialty of the clinic will be the preschool child, not infants alone, and special attention and advice will be given by experts on all phases of child hygiene. Prof. P. P. Brainard of the department of child psychology will conduct mental tests measuring the mental growth of the children in connection with the physical tests. Miss Pearl Cross and Miss Emily Wilson, graduate assistants in the department of household economics, will assist Miss Dobbs in her work.

The baby clinics were organized five years ago by Prof. Amy Jane Leazenby-Englund, now head of the department of household economics, and have proved more popular yearly. Manhattan women bring their small children each Friday afternoon during the school year, and are advised by experts concerning them, their height, weight, and general physical condition noted. Last year, the attendance for the 39 clinics totaled 483.

Manhattan women are welcome to take advantage of these clinics, and they may attend the food clinics held the same afternoon in room 46 of Calvin hall, under the supervision of Prof. Pearl S. Ruby, and Dr. Martha Kramer of the department of food economics and nutrition.

SEMINARS FOR FUTURE PROFS

EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT TO CONDUCT MONTHLY LECTURES BEGINNING THURSDAY

Required for Any Student Expecting Certificate at End of This Year
—Williams First Speaker

For the professional improvement of juniors and seniors who are intending to teach next year, the educational department of the college is holding seminars each month, to which any student expecting a certificate at the end of this year is required to attend. The first seminar is scheduled for next Thursday, October 22, at four o'clock.

Discussions Popularized
The speaker at each meeting will confine his discussion to a thirty minute period, and do everything in his power to keep in mind the viewpoint of the student and so popularize the discussion as to get over with the group. Any student may attend who desires, but it is compulsory for those expecting certificates at the end of this year. Individual notices will be sent to those required to attend, announcing the first seminar.

This is not an altogether new project for the college, as four lectures were given last year by various members in the department of education, but it is a much more extensive one. The special committee appointed to compile the programs for the eight seminars of the year consists of Mrs. Luella Rust, Orpha Maust, Martin Fritz, and C. V. Williams.

Program Completed
The program is as follows:
October—"Modern Tendencies in Educational Philosophy," C. V. Williams.

November—"Present Tendencies in Secondary Education," W. H. Andrews.

December—"Psychology and Its Application to Everyday Life," Miss Orpha Maust.

January—"Developments of Tests and Measurements to Date," J. C. Peterson.

February—"The Education of Exceptional Children," P. P. Brainard.

March—"Method and Its Relation to Classroom Success," W. L. Strickland.

April—"Modern Tendencies in Educational Administration," Martin Fritz.

May—"The Kansas Educational Situation," A. P. Davidson.

The first seminar was to have been last week but on account of another date conflicting, it will not be until next Thursday.

Five Years as Matron Have Taught Mrs. Compton Girls' Needs

"Will you open my locker for me?" "Some one's taken my swimming suit! Got any extras?" "May I have a needle and thread to fix this runner?" "Have you seen my tennis shoes?" "Any clean towels?"

These are only a few of the dozens of questions that Mrs. Compton, the matron for the girls' gym, has to listen to daily. And she can answer them, too—she knows anything from where to find an instructor to the number of your locker.

Perhaps you don't know Mrs. Compton, but if you're ever around the gym you're sure to meet up with her some day. Many a girl in distress has found her a source of help, for Mrs. Compton is always dependable and always on the job.

For over five years she has been employed at K. S. A. C. and the gym wouldn't be the gym without her. In addition to her duties as overseer in the locker-room she has charge of the key board, sends out the laundry, looks after the swimming pool and main gym, and helps the girls in a million and one little ways.

SEED LABORATORY ENLARGED

Board Recommends Change to Help Enforcement of Pure Seed Law

Enlargement and change of the K. S. A. C. seed laboratory to an analytical laboratory has recently been made. The change was made at the instigation of the state board of agriculture to help in the enforcement of the new pure seed law which went into effect last July.

Prof. J. W. Zahnley of the agronomy department is in charge of the work of the laboratory, and Mrs. E. P. Harling is the chief analyst.

Friends of Dora (Thompson) Winter, '95, of Lincoln, Nebr., will be shocked to learn of the tragic death of her youngest son, Harold T. Winter, on October 14. He was a student at Cotner college, Bethany, Nebr., and in a football practice game his spine was injured so seriously that he died the following day.

Miss Dobbs Speaks in Topeka

Miss Jean S. Dobbs, instructor in food economics and nutrition, was one of the speakers at the State Nurses' convention held in Topeka October 8, 9, and 10. Her subject was "Height, Weight, and Health." The material for her talk was taken largely from research work carried out for her master's thesis.

Y. M. C. A. MEMBERSHIP DRIVE NETS 800 NEW MEMBERS

Budget Twice as Large as That of Last Year—Plan Bible Study Classes

Membership in the Y. M. C. A. has reached a total of more than 800, according to Dr. A. A. Holtz, secretary of the organization. The membership this year exceeds that of last year by approximately 100. The budget for this year is almost twice as large as that of last year, Doctor Holtz said, and not all of the workers have turned in their reports.

With the additional budget, the Y. M. C. A. plans to carry on an even more extensive program than that of last year, although a deficit from last year must be paid out of this year's funds. The Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. are planning to have several simultaneous Bible study classes, each under the leadership of a member of the faculty and a student, on Tuesday evenings for the next six weeks.

In addition to the six meetings of the classes this fall, Doctor Holtz announced that it is the intention to resume the classes for another six weeks period next spring. The spring classes will be concluded with a three day world forum, with addresses by some of the greatest preachers and speakers in the country.

Last year the Y. M. C. A. sent 60 college teams to 69 high schools in various parts of the state, which included a total of 15,532 students, of which 2,140 were seniors. The present enrolment of more than 1,300 freshmen in the college is believed to be due in part to the work of these teams. It will be possible this year, it is said, to send the teams to an even larger number of high schools over the state.

COMMERCE COURSE GROWING

Delta Phi Upsilon Announces Scholastic Award for Those in Department

Enrolment in the commerce curriculum of the general science division has increased fifty students a year since 1921, the year the course was started, according to reports of Delta Phi Upsilon, honorary commerce fraternity. This year's enrolment includes nearly three hundred boys and thirty girls.

Since 1921 the course in commerce has shown remarkable progress as students come to understand the opportunities it offers and through the work of the fraternity this understanding has been brought about.

Delta Phi Upsilon is an honorary fraternity sponsored by faculty members and composed of male students who are high in scholastic work. They have recently announced that a scholastic prize will be awarded to the male student who has made the highest grades in the commerce course during the first three years.

This year a new method of holding meetings will be adopted by Delta Phi Upsilon. Beginning soon there will be monthly meetings at the Pines where lunches will be served.

Members of the teaching force in the department of food economics and nutrition have been receiving a great number of invitations to judge at county and community fairs. Just last week end, Miss Verral Craven went to Leavenworth county to judge food exhibits, and this week Miss Mary Margaret Shaw will judge at Keats at the fair. Other members, Miss Bennett and Miss Mary Day, have judged at various places. In addition to their judging, they often speak, and at Alta Vista, Miss Craven gave a demonstration on table setting.

Ralph Wray, the traveling secretary of Delta Tau Delta, arrived Wednesday to visit the chapter here.

The Webster and Eurodelphian literary societies hiked to the second Rock Island bridge Saturday night. After supper the usual program was given around the camp fire. The group was chaperoned by Miss Wildy and Professor Correll, both of whom made short informal talks.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Wilson of Wichita were dinner guests of Phi Kappa last Sunday.

Violins repaired—Brown's.

Prof. and Mrs. H. W. Davis entertained with a buffet supper Thursday evening after which there was bridge and dancing. The guests of honor were Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Stomont of Indianapolis, Ind.

Miss Lillian Baker of the clothing department has as her guest her mother, Mrs. Clara R. Baker, who has been making her home in Chicago. Mrs. Baker will probably stay with her daughter until Christmas.

Prof. and Mrs. L. E. Melchers entertained at their home Wednesday night for the members of the botany department. Covers were laid for 30 guests. The members of the institutional management class had charge of the dinner.

Bethany Circle Meets

"The church of today" was chosen as the subject for study for the year by the Bethany Circle members at the first regular meeting of this organization last Tuesday evening. The president, Mary Lowe, presided at the meeting. Agnes Lyon led devotionals, after which old Bethany songs were sung. A dinner was served in the church basement to old members and to new girls by women of the church. Members of the advisory board who were present were Mrs. Eusebia Thompson, Dr. and Mrs. LaShelle, Mrs. J. D. Arnold, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Durham, Prof. and Mrs. Stratton, and Mr. and Mrs. Blaine.

Prof. Englund Honored

Prof. Eric Englund, of the department of agricultural economics, is attending the meeting of the tax committee of the United States chamber of commerce in Washington, D. C., this week. He is the only member who represents an educational institution and he has just recently received appointment. There are only seventeen members on the committee, and it is a special honor to have been chosen to fill this office.

Miss Haines to Wisconsin

Miss Edith Haines, industrial journalism, '23, who for the past year has been proofreader for the Manhattan Mercury, left Wednesday for Menasha, Wis., where she has accepted a position as proofreader for the George Banta Publishing Company, commonly known as the "Collegiate Press." Miss Haines will stop enroute at Chicago to visit Miss Dahy B. Barnett, industrial journalism, '24, who is now assistant editor of "Nation's Health." Miss Barnett is a daughter of Professor Barnett of the horticulture department.

DRAMATICS

The characters of "The Goose Hangs High" are progressing rapidly in the interpretation of their roles, according to Prof. H. Miles Heberer, director of the play. Kingsley Given, who was cast for the part of Bernard Ingals, has withdrawn, and is succeeded by John Wray Young. Lynn G. Fayman will fill the place formerly taken by John Wray Young as Bradley Ingals. Jack Kennedy, president of Purple Masque, has assumed the duties of business manager, the position occupied by Lynn G. Fayman. Other members of the business organization are: Perry Thomas, advertising manager; Milton Kerr, stage manager; Ted Keller and Charles Converse, production staff.

Make-up, the history of the Little Theatre, and acting are the phases of dramatics to be studied this semester by Professor Heberer's classes in dramatic production. Plans are now being made to arrange a stage from redecorated materials for the actual production of plays. This stage will be equipped with trough, footlights, and other requisites. Dramatic productions II will deal with the production of plays through practical experience.

Prof. E. G. McDonald, formerly director of dramatics, is studying at the Theatre Guild in New York City, preparatory to going on the stage.

Seminar for chemical engineering students will be the first and third Thursdays of every month in C 27 at 4 o'clock. Dr. H. W. Brubaker will deliver the lectures.

Then too, you'll find the New Remington Portable a great time-saver in compiling notes and keeping up with your correspondence. Students prefer the New Remington Portable because it is the lightest, smallest, and most compact of all standard keyboard portables. Bryan and LaFollette
Very Much Alike
Says Student Historian

The day was dark and gloomy, and in the current history class the snores and sighs of 24 tired students mingled with the crowing of the roosters from the poultry farm. But in spite of all this competition the professor was bravely trying to expound a few facts from "World Topics."

"Bryan and LaFollette were two of the most outstanding men in western political history," he said. The class stirred. "They are especially noted for the similarity of certain characteristics of their careers. Will someone please volunteer to tell the class the important facts that made the career of Bryan very like that of LaFollette?"

One small feminine hand was raised slowly. The professor's eyes brightened. Here at least, was a student, and he gave her a quick nod of recognition. Sleepy blue eyes opened slowly under heavy lids, as she stammered, "Why—er—er—they both died this summer." The professor bowed his head in acknowledgement of defeat, and the class slept on.

Phi Sigma Kappa held an informal dance at their chapter house Saturday afternoon.

OKLAHOMA CROSS COUNTRY STRONG

PROSPECTS AT NORMAN ARE "BEST IN YEARS"

Sooners Hope to Wrest Valley Title from Kansas State in Conference Race

Although John Jacobs, Oklahoma university's astute cross country coach, is making no brass it is a well-known fact around Soonersdom that the Oklahoma harrier team this fall is about the best that ever wore the red and white.

Captain "Red" Rutherford, the peerless champion of the Valley, who led Kimpot, Kansas Aggie distance star, home by 10 yards in the Valley meet at Des Moines last fall, doing the five mile in 26:19 3-5, is back in a Sooner suit but is having a hard time holding his own among certain of his team mates.

Jacobs has a tanky sophomore runner who has been leading even Rutherford home in early workouts. This boy is Leslie Niblick, arts and science student from Shawnee, the man who topped the two-mile in the valley freshman meet last spring in 10:09 8-10, breaking the valley freshman record by 10 seconds.

Niblick gets into shape quickly and his long, powerful stride is about the prettiest harrier fans here have seen for several years. Niblick ran two miles and a half in 13:01 a week ago, running most of the way in the mud. Only this week he raced two miles in 10:01.

Haston Heald, Oklahoma City product, has also been showing well in practice. He ran the course in 27:25 last Saturday, running third to Rutherford and Niblick who trotted in arm and arm in the remarkable early season time of 26 minutes, 40 seconds.

Five Other Good Men
In Booth Stephens, who is good for 28 minutes any day, and Ted Starr, who trots the five miles in 29, Jacobs has two other men who should place in most of their meets this year.

Hewes, Cornelson, and Ruby can all lope the distance in less than 31 minutes, Cornelson having done the course in 29:05 only last week.

Although the powerful striding Niblick has been leading "Red" Rutherford in early season works, mainly because Niblick is a tireless runner and gets into shape more quickly than any man on the squad, the galloping redhead is fast rounding into the form that made him king of valley harriers last fall.

"I wish we had four more like Les," Rutherford said in speaking of Niblick. "That boy can travel some! It looks like a big year for Oklahoma in cross-country."

Advance Dope

Next Saturday three valley teams play games with an important bearing on the title race. Missouri meets the Aggies at Manhattan in the feature contest of the day, and is the favorite to win from the Bachmanites. Nebraska, down towards the tail end of the list because of its loss to Missouri, should win from the faltering Jayhawk, though Kansas always puts up a remarkable game against the Husker. The Drake team which defeated Kansas State and then lost to Oklahoma gives Grinnell its first conference battle at Grinnell.

Iowa State is taking a big long rest from its victory over Kansas to prepare for Missouri. The Cyclones are allotted two full weeks of preparation, having open dates last Saturday and next Saturday. The Oklahoma Aggies play Texas Christian university at Stillwater after losing to Kansas and the Kansas Teachers of Emporia and tying Washington, Washington, in turn, faces the Rolla School of Mines, who lost to Missouri Saturday 32 to 0. Oklahoma is the other team to play, and is keeping an engagement with Southern Methodist university at Dallas.

Brused and stiff but without serious injuries, the Kansas State football squad went through a light practice last night preparatory to getting in shape for Missouri, new "bogyman" of the valley conference, on Stadium field here next Saturday. Hundreds of Aggie "dads" are coming in for the game and other features of the week end, ticket sales having taken an upward jump yesterday following the victory over K. U.

The Tiger conquerors of Nebraska come to Manhattan still holding intact the valley title won last season, and with a decided "dope" edge over the Wildcats. After trying the strong Tulane eleven, Missouri whipped Nebraska and then let most of its second string toy with the Rolla Miners last week end while the regulars rested for the Aggies. Coach Henry kept his regular line-up in during the first quarter, when two touchdowns were scored, and then put in his reserves, who made four more before the game ended.

Both coaches are working to get all their injured men in shape for the game. Elwyn Feather, Aggie fullback, probably will have recovered sufficiently from a charley horse received at Drake to face the Tiger, but it is possible that "Dick" Haskard, halfback, may not be able to play.

Against Missouri the Aggies will meet an eleven that has shown a powerful defense, and an offense equally good at kicking, passing, line-smashing, or open field running. Captain Whiteman, Missouri left half, flung the pass that defeated the Aggies last year 14 to 7. Doss Richardson, giant Tiger right guard, also is doing their punting and thus far has been about on even terms with Owen Cochrane of the Aggies in that respect.

Lindenmeyer and Studebaker, Tiger tackles, both stood out in the Husker game, and since then Columbia followers have been boosting them for all-western and all-American positions. Studebaker was injured against Nebraska but will play against the Aggies.

Edward Grant, in charge of the college foundry, is recovering from a serious operation undergone in a local hospital several days ago.

Special on card tables, $8.50. Values go at $2.10 at Hedges. Big cut price furniture sale now going on.

MIGHTY TIGER TOMORROW'S FOE

KANSAS STATE BATTLES VALLEY CHAMPS BEFORE DADS

Tigers Have "Dope" Edge on Wildcats—Must Win to Stay in Valley Race

Tomorrow the mighty Missourians, champions in football of this Missouri valley, clash with the Kansas State Wildcats on Stadium field before Aggie Dads, and the stakes are a chance at a valley title. Two years it has been since the Tigers sloughed through ankle deep mud to crush out Aggie title hopes. Just a year since the green Kansas State team again went down before the Tiger after nearly taking a championship away from him.

No Mud Tomorrow

There will be no mud of the class of two years ago on Stadium field tomorrow, nor are the Wildcats the inexperienced eleven of a year ago, but the Tiger comes to Manhattan conceded by every critic of the game to have a decided edge. Nor were Kansas State chances enhanced by the fact that they went through a hard game against Kansas last week end while Mizou dallied with the Rolla Miners.

Unquenchable faith, and mostly faith, has caused Kansas State followers from all over the state to pour ticket reservations for the game into Manhattan all week. And to justify that faith, Coach C. W. Bachman and his Wildcat crew have been working far after dusk every night in the week to be sure that whatever chance they may have against the Tiger conquerors of Nebraska is justified.

Recover from Injuries

Injuries have struck at several Aggie stars intermittently during the week, but it is probable that the entire lot will be bandaged up if necessary for emergency use tomorrow. Elwyn "Tiny" Feather, fullback; Owen "Chili" Cochran, quarterback; Richard "Dick" Haskard, halfback, and Zurlinden "Big" Pearson, tackle, are among those who have been on the casualty roster at some time or another but that probably will be out there at some time or another tomorrow.

Aggie freshmen have been working all week on the famed Missouri aerial attack to allow the varsity to perfect a defense against it, which seemed to be lacking when Kansas opened up in the game last Saturday. Both coaches probably will start their best men, taking no chances on possible errors of "shock troops."

"Headline" Again

Tomorrow is the second time within a fortnight that the Kansas State team has played in the headline attraction of the Missouri Valley. Not for three weeks will they appear on the home gridiron again and that will be against the mighty Nebraska Cornhusker.

Missouri games have always been fiercely contested. It is unheard of for one team to defeat the other more than a touchdown, and a lone point has been the margin in most cases.

Dad, and the family in many cases, may not see Kansas State win tomorrow. But Dad and the family can be assured of being able to tell the home folks that they saw a great football game.

Few changes have been made in the Aggie line-up from that which started against Kansas a week ago. James Price, Manhattan, may start at right end instead of T. A. Fleck, Wamego. C. W. Brion, Manhattan, may draw the assignment instead of Myron Reed, Norton, at left guard, and Dayhoff, Wilson, and Meek are possibilities to start at right half.

The tentative starting line-ups:

ROYAL PURPLE PICTURES SHOULD BE TAKEN NEXT WEEK

Dues Coming in Fairly Well, According to Wayne Rogler, Business Manager—Explains Assessments

Wayne Rogler, business manager of the Royal Purple, states that dues for pictures in the class section of the year book have been coming in fairly well, but in order that all students may have their pictures taken before the photographer leaves, it will be necessary to make appointments within the next week.

Some misunderstanding has occurred in regard to the dues, according to Mr. Rogler. The $12.50 dues for the seniors include a copy of the book. The remainder of the money pays for space in the class section, the sittings for the picture, and will allow additional pictures at any other place in the book for only 50 cents.

The dues for the lower three classes pay for the same thing as those in the senior class with the exception of the book. The reason for the difference in dues is the fact that the higher the class, the larger the pictures are, and the more space it takes for them, Mr. Rogler pointed out.

Individual pictures will be used this year, much in the same way in which they were last year. The band, orchestra, glee clubs, and a few other organizations will have group pictures.

The Hugh Stephens Printing Co. of Jefferson City, Mo., are the printers of the book, and the Burger Engraving Co. of Kansas City, Mo., have charge of the engraving, designs, and art work. The Alme Dupont Co. of New York City are the photographers.

PRE-TIGER POW- WOW TODAY

PEP MEETING AND FROSH GAME ON PRACTICE FIELD AT 4:30

Hostilities of "Tom Cats" and "Spt Fires" Will Terminate at Open Air Session

The first Aggie powwow will take place this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock on the practice field west of the home economics building. The powwow will be held in the form of a pre-Tiger celebration. Stunts, music, cheering, and a football game by two teams from the freshman squad are on the program for this afternoon's pep assembly.

Band Will Furnish Music

The idea of an open air meeting is something new and should prove a success with the student body. Although cheering will dominate the program other features will prove to be very entertaining. Music by the band will aid in starting off the week end and stunts will add to the enjoyment.

A football game between the "Tom Cats" and the "Spt Fires" chosen from the freshman squad will take place at the powwow and be run off in regular football style. The two sections of frosh players have become very hostile during the past three days and they should end up the pre-Tiger celebration with a good exhibition of Bachmanite football.

Student's Conference at Lawrence

Students who expect to attend the Kansas Student's Conference at Lawrence October 23, 24, and 25, are Katherine Welker, president of the college Y. W. C. ROYAL PURPLE IS FOURTH BEST

PLACES HIGH IN NATIONAL COLLEGE YEAR BOOK CONTEST

Missouri Savitar and Two California Annals Only Ones to Excel K. S. A. C. Publication

Fourth place was won by the 1925 Royal Purple in the national year book contest held by the Art Crafts Guild, according to the placings recently announced in the Art Crafts Review.

The Savitar, annual of the University of Missouri, won first place, as it has the past several years. The Blue and Gold, year book of the University of California, was second, and the publication of the University of Southern California was third.

Ranked by Art Crafts Guild

The placing won by the 1925 Royal Purple, places it among the five best college annals in the United States last year. Each year the Art Crafts Guild, a national organization composed of the country's leading engravers, awards cups to the three best year books in the country, and decides upon a list of 10 that receive honorable mention. The Royal Purple was just outside the prize winning class, and headed the honorable mention list.

Other Winners in Larger Schools

The engraving in the Aggie book was ranked as exceptional. The cover design, fly sheets, opening pages, view section, division pages, section pages, beauty section, feature section, snap shots, class sections, athletic section, organizations, originality, literary content, photography, art work, and printing were classed as good.

The only part of the book which was not up to the set standard was the humor section and page balance.

This is a fine honor for the school and for the publishers of the annual, as all the other prize winners represent much larger schools, and have more financial support back of their year books.

Bernard C. Harter, El Dorado, was editor, and Gladwin A. Read, Manhattan, business manager of the 1925 Royal Purple.

DECIDE TO MERGE BICYCLE AND CROSS COUNTRY RACES

Executive Committee of Intramural Athletic Association Sets Wednesday, October 28, as Opening Date

Plans to merge the annual fall intramural bicycle meet and cross country run into a single program to be staged Wednesday afternoon, October 28, at 5:15 o'clock in Stadium field, were approved last week by the executive committee of the Intramural Athletic Association.

A three mile cross country marathon, together with three bicycle heats of one-half, one, and two mile distances, will make up the opening event of a heavily burdened 1925 intramural athletic schedule.

Participation in the meet is open to any student in the college having announced intention of entering by registering his name and choice of event on the chart posted on the athletic bulletin board in Nichols gym.

There Too

One of the ticket agents for a local railroad attended the Kansas State-Kansas university game last Saturday, but in the rush found himself possessed of a ticket for the Jayhawk side of the stadium. As he sat waiting for the game to start, a Kansas man sitting next to him commented to a neighbor on the size of the crowd in the Aggie section.

"Yes, but you must remember that crowd represents a whole town except the ticket agent," replied the neighbor.

Here the Manhattan man tapped the neighbor on the shoulder. "You just made an error, Mister," he said, "the ticket agent is right here too."

AGGIES EXPECTED TO WIN CROSS COUNTRY FROM MIZZOU

Valley Champions Win from Jayhawk Harriers Last Saturday with Complete Shutout

An event of interest in connection with the Tiger-Wildcat game Saturday will be the dual cross country meet between Missouri and Kansas State. The race will be started shortly before the half is over so that the finish will come during the rest period.

Missouri is reputed to have a strong squad under the leadership of Captain Steele, who is their best man. Kansas State followers, however, are confident that their team will win by a good margin, as practically the same team which won the Missouri valley championship is again this year.

The Aggies won the race easily at Lawrence last Saturday, making a "grand slam" over the Jayhawk team. The whole Aggie team, six of them, reached the tape well ahead of Jarboe, the first K. U. man in. The Aggies made the lowest score possible, which is 15, while the Jayhawkers made the other extreme, 40. In cross country, the lowest score is the winning score.

Paul Axtell made the five miles in 27:44, which is good time considering weather conditions and the difficult course at K. U. R. E. Kimport, E. Rutherford, M. Sallee, L. Moody, and E. McGrath finished arm in arm several yards behind Axtell.

The Missouri valley meet will be held at Lawrence on November 21, and an attempt will be made at this time by the other valley schools to capture the title from K. S. A. C.

GRAINGER APPEARS TONIGHT

Noted Australian Has Always Been Pioneer as Concert Pianist

Percy Grainger, who appears at the college auditorium tonight in the first concert conducted this year by the department of music, has been touring America for the last few years. Next year, he plans to tour his native Australia, and it will probably be a long time before Americans will have the opportunity of hearing this great composer again.

As a concert pianist, Grainger has always been a pioneer, playing works of little known composers until they have become household words in many countries. Students should hear Grainger tonight for the enjoyment they will derive and for the education they will receive from fine music.

GAME CLOSES EXTENSION WEEK

VISITORS WILL ATTEND AGGIE-MISSOURI STRUGGLE

Research Committees Will Report at Last Session of Conference Tomorrow Morning

Attendance at the Tiger-Wildcat football game on Stadium field Saturday afternoon will formally close the annual extension conference after a five day session here. The conference delegates will meet Saturday morning to hear the final reports of research committees by A. F. Turner, field agent, L. C. Williams, in charge of agricultural specialists, and Dean H. Umberger.

More Than 150 in Attendance

More than 150 extension workers and county agents have been in attendance at the annual extension conference this year, including the 63 county agents of the state, 16 home demonstration workers, and about 30 extension workers directly connected with the college.

The principal social events on the calendar of the conference program were the annual extension mixer at the country club banquet room on Monday evening, and the annual banquet on Wednesday evening. The conference delegates are scheduled to attend the powwow pep meeting this afternoon, and on Saturday all will attend the big football game between the Wildcats and the Tigers from the University of Missouri.

Main sessions of the conference were held in the west wing of Waters hall. Dean Umberger presided over the first session of the conference, and other members of the division of extension presided in turn at the following meetings. The morning programs consisted largely of talks by various members of the extension division, speaking on methods of making the programs of the workers more effective. President Farroll addressed the delegates Wednesday morning.

Farm Bureau Outlines New Program

Afternoon programs of the conference were taken up largely with special meetings of the project committee, and of tours over the college farms. Special sessions for workers in home economics and agriculture were held on Tuesday and Wednesday.

A new feature of the extension conference program this year was the outlining of an ideal program of procedure for county agents in several counties of the state that would be applicable over a period of ten or twelve years and would at the same time be in accordance with the business and agricultural conditions of the vicinity.

National Millers Favor K. S. A. C.

That the department of flour mill engineering is growing in popularity among millers and flour mill authorities throughout the country is believed to be shown by the fact that a Chinese miller, wishing to study milling methods in this country, was referred to the college department for information by Richard Pride, managing editor of the American Miller, one of the largest and probably the oldest milling publication in the United States.

MUCH ADO ABOUT NOTHING

Kansas State college played a great joke on itself last Monday. It was a rather scurvy joke, and no great hilarity is being shown by students who are beginning to see the point. For most of us are just beginning to realize that all unwittingly Kansas State paid Kansas university the highest honor within its power by taking a day off to celebrate the Aggie football victory Saturday.

We had been "kidding" ourselves, here in Manhattan, that the game with K. U. would be "just a game." Some of us had actually been convinced that the time had come when students at the "cow college" (if you will) could stand securely in the confidence of their own equality and take victory without showing inferiority by excessive demonstration.

Evidently it was too much to expect that the "inferiority complex" of 18 years' standing could pass in a single season. So Kansas celebrated.

Celebrated, not by honoring the football team en masse, but by cutting classes. Celebrated a football victory by dancing in the gymnasium. Celebrated by hiking, or perhaps by lying about the house all day. Celebrated, to put it briefly, by advertising to the world that it was a great thing to have defeated Kansas university, and not that a great team did the expected in defeating Kansas university.

But our self-inflicted joke has not been without a certain value. Judging from campus comment, most of us have become at least painfully able to distinguish the light—the broad daylight, and it is not to our liking.

Perhaps we are beginning to realize that while a celebration after 18 years may be quite the thing, that a celebration after two years of victory is a differently pigmented horse. Perhaps we also are dimly conscious that breaking up classes to dance or hike is not an ideal mode of unified celebration.

Perhaps in time we shall feel sure enough of our equality here at Kansas State not to boast of our superiority. Perhaps next fall we shall not play scurvy jokes upon ourselves. Perhaps—

Any material received will be published as written, with the exception of changes necessary in having it set into type. For two years now the Aggies have beaten their old rival, K. U., last year for the first time in 18 contests, and the pent-up enthusiasm so long held down by successive defeats was suddenly let loose. There is no doubt but that everyone in school is excited over the last victory, but, the old jinx is gone. On Monday after the game the Aggies missed the best chance in history to rub it into K. U. by going about their classes as usual and taking the winning as a natural course of procedure. K. U. will hear a little proudly that 3,000 Aggies broke classes on their account. Next year should see a greater victory than ever; most of the Aggie men will come back while most of the K. U. men graduate. It is generally acknowledged that possibility of fame for the Aggies lies in the outcome of the Missouri game. Let's muster up the enthusiasm lost on K. U.

The breaking of classes Monday was accomplished by the work of a few, possibly representing the lower element of the school. Perhaps their motive in mind was not of celebrating the victory over K. U. but of taking a merry holiday rather than going through unprepared for classes.—W. A.

EVEN green wood burns, under the concentrated heat of the burning glass. Even this green earth can be kindled by the man who concentrates all the fire of his brain on what he is doing.

Concentration—secret of all great work.

—secret of the winning basket shot by the player who might well have been distracted by "burned" elbows and eyes clouded with perspiration.

—secret of the scholarship prize that might more easily have been allowed to slip by in favor of the twittering birds and the flowers that bloom in the Spring.

—secret of the electrical short cut devised by the engineer too intent on that single task to let the thousand and one time-killers of the business day get the upper hand.

Concentration was their burning glass. And focused ability set their worlds afire.

KANSAS COLLEGIATE PRESS ASSOCIATION ORGANIZED

Dick Matthews Will Head New Organization to Promote News Exchange

At a meeting of college editors who attended the round table conference of editors here last week, the Kansas Collegiate Press Association was organized. Dick Matthews, '26, member of the board of the University Daily Kansan, was elected president, and will appoint others to office to assist him in completing the organization of the association.

The purpose of the association is to foster the exchange of news and thus stimulate a closer relation between the various schools. Motions were made and adopted which will make this possible. Also, problems of editorial policies will be considered and resolutions pertaining to their solution are being formulated by the president.

Under the present plans the association will meet once each year at the same time the round table conference meets in order that the college editors may benefit from the contact with the older editors. Provisions will be made for separate meetings of the college editors in order that they may discuss problems which are individual to them.

Those present at the conference were: William Wolf, Jr., The Hour Glass, St. Marys college; Christian L. Bonnet, The Dial, St. Marys College; Eleanor Hogan, Wesleyan Advance, Salina Wesleyan; R. I. Thackeray and Fred M. Shideler, Kansas State Collegian, Kansas State Agricultural college; Herbert A. Abmeyer, Washburn Review, Washburn College; H. E. McKinney, The Campus, O'awa University; Byron E. Guise, Baker Orange, Baker University.—University Daily Kansan.

VAN ZILE HALL READY FOR OCCUPANCY BY FALL OF 1926

Excavation Practically Completed and Stone Work Started—Appropriation Includes Furnishings

Van Zile hall, the new women's dormitory, will be completed, the equipment installed, and the building ready for occupancy by the fall semester of 1926, college officials believe. Although this will mean that the builders will need to work rapidly, Dean R. A. Seaton of the committee in charge of the supervision of the work states that the building will be completed by that time.

Construction of the footing for the building has been practically completed, except for a space left for a wagon driveway. Considerable progress has also been made on the stone work, but bad weather has interfered to large extent in this part of the construction.

A large part of the building material is now on the ground, including most of the lumber, which is being stacked for seasoning. The roofing material and some of the reinforcing steel for the floors are also here and will be ready for use when needed. Excavation has been virtually completed.

The state legislature made an appropriation of $200,000 for the hall. This sum will be used not only for the actual construction of the building, the installation of heating, lighting, and plumbing fixtures, but also for the furniture, bedding, and other articles needed to completely furnish the home. The new building will occupy the site on the northeast corner of the campus.

Indian Missionary Forum Speaker L. Wendell Taylor, who recently returned from India where he spent four years doing missionary work, will be one of the speakers at the student forum, it was announced by Dr. A. A. Holtz, secretary of the Y. M. C. A. Mr. Taylor will appear on the forum program on October 29, according to Doctor Holtz.

Why You Need This Guide

"It is safe to say that failure to guide and direct study is the weak point in the whole educational machine," Prof. G. M. Whipple, U. of Michigan.

"The successful men in college do not seem to be very happy. Most of them, especially the athletes, are overworked," Prof. H. S. Canby, Yale.

"Misdirected labor, though honest and well intentioned may lead to naught. Among the most important things for the student to learn is how to study. Without knowledge of this his labor may be largely in vain," Prof. G. F. Swain, M. I. T.

"To students who have never learnt 'How to Study,' work is very often a chastisement, a flagellation, and an insuperable obstacle to contentment," Prof. A. Inglis, Harvard.

"HOW TO STUDY" will show you how to avoid all misdirected effort.

INSTALL NEW CHARGING MACHINE

Can Now Measure Time Required for Signals to React

A machine for measuring reaction time for football men has been attached to the charging machine in the gymnasium. The machine was designed by the psychology department and built by J. T. Brooks, junior in general science.

This machine measures time required for a man to charge after getting signals and also shows the pound force with which he hits. Men can be tested out in this way and their ability determined without risking a game to try them out. It may also be used to discover freshman material.

Another machine also designed by the psychology department is to be built by Mr. Brooks soon. It is to test the rapidity of leg action, and will show how many times a man can lift his foot up and down per second.

Sport Briefs

Tomorrow's game will be broadcast play by play over station KSAC for the benefit of Kansas State followers who cannot come to Memorial stadium for the game.

Incidentally, the game will be shown play by play in Kansas City over the electric scoreboard in Convention hall. The board is managed by the Kansas City Journal-Post, and on it the most important valley game is featured. Last week it was the K. U.-K. S. A. C. battle.

Many people who saw the K. S. A. C.-K. U. game last Saturday were of the opinion that only the whistle prevented Kansas from scoring at the end of the first half. Be that as it may, the fact remains that while Kansas had the ball on the Aggie six-yard line, it was fourth down. In three previous plays, they had taken the ball only four yards, and would have had to make six in one effort to score.

The following item, taken from the University Daily Kansan, might be of interest to critics of the Aggie Wampus Cats:

"Where was the Kansas pep organization Saturday. The writer got it from hearsay that they were on the field. And it was the only way he had of finding out. Shades of

"Bred" Bredburg! What has the P. E. P.'s degenerated into. Might as well disband, Ku Kus; the Wampus Cats showed you up."

The spirit between the two state schools last week end was perhaps the best it has ever been during a football game. A year of Aggie football victory tended to make the Jayhawk a bit less chesty and the Wildcat less resentful. On the playing field the friendly spirit was best, as captains of the two teams are said to have shaken hands as play started after a dispute between officials.

During the past week the Columbia Missourian, of the home town of the Tiger, has been having a hard time between praising both opponents in tomorrow's game.

FOOTBALL NOTES

By E. E. Feather

Since Jim Price got the write-ups in the Iowa papers, he has been working hard catching passes. In the K. U. game he proved to the home people that he did not drop them as easy as they might have thought by the write-up.

On the trip to Drake Jim Douglass was taking care of the music-box and was worrying about carrying it from one train to the other, so he asked Coach Root how far it was from the Union Pacific depot to the Rock Island depot in Kansas City.

Ray Smith is very polite on the football field. He even takes care of the referee's cap.

Monk Edwards must have thought the referee was favoring K. U. in the game last Saturday so he blocked him and knocked him over.

"Zur" Pearson may be out for the dashes this spring since the run he made after the K. U. center who intercepted an Aggie pass.

COUNCIL FILLS VACANT OFFICES

S. S. G. A. COMPLETES ORGANIZATION THURSDAY

Group Disfavors Forced Holiday, But Also Issuance of Cuts—Thackrey Treasurer

Organization of the executive council of the students' self governing association was completed at the council meeting held last Thursday evening.

Russell Thackrey, junior representative, was elected treasurer of the association, taking the place of Jack Spurlock, who was elected last year but is not in school this semester. Christian Rugh, president of the association, was elected to act as chairman of the discipline committee in addition to his other duties.

Budget Representatives Named
Fred M. Shideler and Russell Thackrey were elected student members of the activity budget committee, which, together with two faculty representatives from the faculty council, and a student member appointed by President Farrell, will meet soon to apportion the $30,000 received from activity fees this year. Shideler was a member of this committee last year.

Opinion in the council disfavored the holiday taken by the students the Monday following the K. U. game, and expressed the belief that the disorder was caused by a few unruly freshmen. The council voted to send its sentiments of dissatisfaction to the president.

However, the council went on record as being opposed to the issuance of cuts for those not attending classes, since many students went to classes and found their instructors were absent.

Slight Change in Class Elections

The official vote of the recent class elections was announced and remained unchanged from the unofficial returns except that two candidates were declared ineligible. Milton Toburen, candidate on the senior ticket for treasurer, and Sue Burris, junior candidate for secretary, both of whom received substantial majorities, are not eligible because of classification. C. O. Neilson and Frances Schepp, the only other candidates, were therefore declared elected to fill the respective places.

A closed night was granted to W. A. A. for their annual Frivolous Saturday, November 7.

The complete organization of the student association is as follows: president, Christian Rugh; vice-president, Fred M. Shideler; secretary, Margaret Avery; treasurer, Russell Thackrey; chairman social committee, Hoyt Purcell; chairman pep committee, Ralph Kimport; chairman discipline committee, Christian Rugh.

Mercedes Sullivan, '23, is employed in the dietary department of St. Joseph's hospital at Phoenix, Ariz.

Alice H. Mustard, '21, is attending the University of Chicago where she is doing graduate work for her master's degree.

ENGLAND'S CONDITION DOES NOT WARRANT ANY ALARM

Doctor Hill Declares That He Is More Interested in America's Future Anyway

"To the American traveler, there is but one answer to the question, 'Has England a future?' That answer must be yes," Dr. Howard T. Hill, speaking before the student forum at the cafeteria last Thursday noon stated. "The English people are entirely too sane to be overcome by the adverse circumstances of the moment."

Doctor Hill gave three reasons why, in his opinion, the English will not be overwhelmed by their present economic and political conditions. First, the English people have a good past and a good past indicates a good future. They have solved their problems before and have always proved themselves real salesmen of their conditions. Second, the English government is the most adaptable and the most sensible in the world. She is able to make her unwritten constitution flexible and adapt herself to the needs of her people. Third, the mass of the English people including the laborers, slum dwellers, and so on, are much better informed than Americans of the same class.

"The English man or woman reads his newspaper in its entirety. He goes to his study, shuts himself up and will not be disturbed by even the smallest things. The American merely glances at the headlines," Doctor Hill stated. "It is my belief that with this background of information the English people will know what to do in a crisis."

According to Doctor Hill, the growth of the Labor party in England is one of the tendencies that marks the intelligence and high standard of learning that exists among the common people of England. In conclusion, Doctor Hill said that he was much more concerned about his own country's future than England's simply because the Americans are doing less thinking, reading, and handling of affairs.

HOME EC RANKS HIGH

Status Shown by Dean Justin's Appointment on National Committee

Recognition of the high status which the work of the home economics division of this college holds is shown by the appointment of Dean Margaret M. Justin as chairman of the committee on program of work for the American Home Economics association.

This is one of the most important committees in the association, since upon it involves the responsibility for planning the progress of the American association for the coming year.

The committee has included in its program of work the following special problems: a program of child study to represent all phases of child care and management; the formulation of standards for home economics curricula of college grade to the end that there may be a clearer appreciation of the type of work expected of colleges; and the formulation of standards for home economics curricula of high school grade. The American association also pledged itself to an enlarged program of home economics research.

MISSOURI BOOTS WAY TO VICTORY

WHITEMAN'S PLACE KICK IN THIRD QUARTER ONLY COUNTER

Aggie Line Holding Tigers for Four Downs on 1 Yard Line a Feature

Two great football teams staged a battle worthy of the top-notchers of the Missouri valley conference on Stadium field last Saturday afternoon. When it was over Missouri university, champions of the valley, had defeated Kansas State 3 to 0 by virtue of the toe of Captain Sammy Whiteman, who booted the ball over the crossbar when the Tiger backfield had twice proved itself unable to take it across the goal line.

It might have gone either way, that battle on Stadium field, though perhaps an impartial fate would have ended it with a scoreless tie. But Missouri won, and there was no bitterness in the loss to the Wildcats, for the Tiger team and the Aggie team have always been the friendliest of valley enemies.

Whiteman Makes a Threat

Seven thousand Aggies, and not a few Tigers, saw a substitute Wildcat backfield keep play on Missouri's side of the 50 yard line during the entire first quarter. During the second quarter the crowd shivered and rooted while the Tigers held the advantage. At half time a scoreless tie seemed inevitable, for neither team had shown the power necessary to even threaten to score. To be sure, Captain Whiteman had nearly run through the whole Aggie team after receiving a punt in the second quarter, but he was forced outside nearly 40 yards from the Wildcat goal, and that was that.

Things went thusly during the third quarter, and toward the last of it Kansas State seemed to find the tide turning in its favor. Then Holsinger ran back and back to pass, and was caught for an 18 yard loss before an Aggie man got open. Cochrane dropped back to punt, and Baechus smashed through to block it. On the 1 yard line Cochrane recovered, but under the rules the ball went to Missouri, first down, and a yard to go.

Then the Aggie Line Held

Once the mighty Jackson smashed, and a yard remained. Again Jackson crashed into the Aggie line, and a third time Grapello, but still the ball was a yard away from the goal. A mighty effort by Clark, and still the magic yard remained. Cochrane took the ball and punted out 37 yards from behind his own goal.

Were these the valley champions, who could not score in four downs from the one yard line?

Two smashes by Missouri, and a figure ran out from the Tiger bench. "Whiteman for Grapello," barked the man on the side lines phone.

On the first play the Tiger captain hurled the first Missouri pass of the game 15 yards down the field to Baechus. A wide end run by Clark, and the ball was 10 yards from the Wildcat goal. A crash through center by Jackson, and only 4 yards remained. But here the Aggie line again held and flung back the Tiger. On the fourth down Whiteman dropped back to the 10 yard line, and place kicked squarely over the crossbar.

Aggie Rally Fell Short

Time for the Aggies to fight then, and fight they did. With less than two minutes to play, it seemed that the Wildcats must score. From his own 40 yard line Enns hurled a pass over the head of the mighty Cogilizer and into the arms of flying Don Meek. On down the field, and a touchdown seemed sure. But the field was slick, and dodging impossible, so Meek went down on the 20 yard line. Two attempts to pass, both incomplete. Then Holsinger cut through to the Tiger 14 yard line. Fourth down, and Enns dropped to place kick.

But again Baechus was through and blocked. Two lays later the game was history.

Aggie Wits Concoct Humor for Billboard Number of Brown Bull

"Billboard number, Brown Bull!" November 14 this cry will be heard over the campus because on that date the Brown Bull, Aggie humor magazine, is going to make its first appearance this year.

And you are going to enjoy this magazine more if you have contributed to it—you will know that there is at least one thing in the magazine which is extremely clever. So if you cartoon, write clever sketches, make up good jokes, or even if you pun, put your manuscript in the contribution box in Anderson Hall, by November 1.

As college students we will all admit that our type of humor is the most enjoyable kind so buy a Brown Bull—enjoy the magazine now and laugh at it when you get older.

Don't miss the Billboard number.

BANQUET ROOM ENLIVENED

New Drapes and Furniture Add Beauty to Cafeteria Dining Hall

The banquet room in Thompson hall has assumed a new aspect. Enough new tables have been added to seat 200 guests. These tables are a blue green in color and have the added feature that when not in use the tops may be tipped back and the tables made into seats. Silk gold colored drapes have been hung at the windows. Easy chairs in a King Tut gold, new rugs, bird cages, and floor lamps have added much to the appearance of the room.

More than 9,000 people were served at dinner and banquets last year by the cafeteria and it is very probable that this number will be exceeded this year.

It is the purpose of the management to give a best food and service possible with an appropriate atmosphere when faculty or student groups wish to put on dinner parties or banquets.

KOLLEGIAN KWIZZES

Question: Were the students justified in taking a holiday last Monday?

Margaret Burtie—"I believe that we got quite a thrill out of winning the game but we spoiled it by taking another holiday after the one Prexy gave us Saturday. In the future if we have a holiday every time we beat K. U. we'll have to make it a permanent feature. Athletics are all right, but they can be carried too far."

James Price—"The students and the faculty should meet each other half way and have an understanding before the game is called, not after. Of course there is no use in raising a lot of trouble now that it is all over."

Eula Mae Currie—"The manner in which the students acted Monday gave the wrong impression of the college to the out-of-town visitors who were here from the United States department of agriculture and to the county agents from all over the state. They will certainly have cause to think that this is a rowdy 'Cow college' when the first thing they heard on Monday morning was the hooting and yelling of students breaking up classes. Our school can't be rated very high after such an exhibition."

Benny Hutchins—"The students didn't take their holiday with the proper attitude, but started a vacation just because they thought they could get away with it. Of course, I took mine as well as any one else, but I would rather have gone to school and celebrated later in the right manner. Monday wasn't the time to take a holiday anyway."

Vesta Duckwall—"While beating K. U. is getting to be a common event, our actions Monday would lead anyone to think that we thought it was the event of a lifetime. Our holiday will certainly make us look foolish in K. U.'s eyes. I think we overstepped our liberty just because we got away with it last year."

Morse Salisbury, of the department of journalism—"The students weren't justified in taking a vacation, but I never heard of students asking for a justification—it's only the people who earn their own living who have to have one. I am sorry for those who took the holiday for I have read that the cost of education per hour is $2.50. Therefore every student who missed four classes on Monday morning is out just $10."

Genevieve Tracy—"Of course I was tickled to death with a holiday but I certainly think we gave K. U.

COMMITTEE WILL LIST ACTIVITIES

GENERAL GROUP OF EIGHT MEMBERS NAMED BY PRESIDENT

Duties Will Be to Keep Schedule of College Events and Prevent Conflicts

A move whereby the scheduling of college and intercollegiate activities will be centralized in one body was recently taken by President F. D. Farrell with the appointment of a general committee on calendar with Dean Mary P. Van Zile as chairman. The committee is composed of eight members of the college faculty and represents several different departments of the college.

With Dean Van Zile as chairman of the general committee, and also representing the faculty committee on student affairs, subcommittees have been appointed as follows: committee on major musical and dramatic events with Dr. J. C. Peterson as chairman; committee on physical education and athletics with Prof. M. F. Ahearn as chairman.

Move Suggested by Faculty

Miss Helen Elcock will represent the local chapter of the American Association of University Women; Prof. Maynard Brown, the department of industrial journalism; and Prof. H. P. Wheeler the department of music. Other members are Dr. H. T. Hill of the department of public speaking and Vice-President J. T. Willard.

This move serves as the culmination of a desire on the part of several faculty members for the appointment of such a committee. It is expected that when there is a desire to schedule college or intercollegiate events they be reported to the office of Dean Van Zile where they will be acted upon by the committee, thus preventing a conflict in dates of major affairs. One of the obligations of the committee will be to keep in touch with the local chamber of commerce.

Other Committees Not Affected

Duties of the committee are as follows: (1) to keep a schedule of college events; (2) to handle conflicts in college and inter-collegiate events; (3) to perform any other duties which will serve to improve the character and effectiveness of the college calendar, and to avoid unnecessary conflicts in the scheduling of college events.

"It should be clearly understood that the work of this committee does not need to interfere with the work of any other committees previously appointed and still in existence," President Farrell explained upon the appointment of the new committee. "One of the best services this committee can render is to provide an opportunity for the various college interests to get together on matters relating to the scheduling of college events."

TWO DELEGATES TO BOULDER

Brown and Thackrey to Attend Sigma Delta Chi Convention

Delegates from this college have been chosen to represent the local chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, honorary and professional journalistic fraternity, at its national convention at Boulder, Colo., next month. M. W. Brown, assistant professor of industrial journalism, will be faculty representative and Russell Thackrey, junior in the course, will be the student representative.

As a part of the program delegates from the various chapters will discuss activities of the past year. Mr. Thackrey will report on the Gridiron banquet, Scribblers' Scramble, the gridgraph, and the recent successful fight of Sigma Delta Chi for the proposed Anderson avenue zoning bill.

Three years ago the national Sigma Delta Chi convention was held at the Kansas State Agricultural college.

too much satisfaction when we took one. I should think we'd wait until we'd won the Missouri valley championship or something like that before we take a vacation."

Gordon Holm—"We must have given K. U. the impression that we live only to beat them. We shouldn't overestimate the importance of winning from Kansas and that's what such a celebration amounts to. We never have a vacation after beating Missouri and it's really much more important."

Josephine Trindle—"Our vacation was an unnecessary compliment to K. U. We simply used the winning of the game as an excuse for a holiday."

TOUR OF INSPECTION

"I should like to arrange a tour of the college campus for the especial benefit of whoever is responsible for installation, or non-installation, of lockers in Nichols gymnasium," remarked a sophomore friend of mine following the inspection tour the state board of administration recently.

"After they had seen Ag hall, the new vet hospital, the engineering building, the stadium, the cafeteria, and other things to which we point with pride, I would take them to the gymnasium, throwing them out some sort of cheery remark about letting them in on the student's aspect of college by actually participating in a gymnasium class and all its attendant rites.

"It would, I hope, be a cold day, and my inspection party would be bundled up in overcoats and the like.

"I would lead them downstairs, give them a gym suit, towel, and bar of soap, and assign one locker, half length, to each two members of the party, with the casual remark that some students have to go three in a locker. Roll call, I would then say, will be upstairs in five minutes. Don't forget to take a shower bath.

"Convenient peep-holes would be arranged for college students to watch the inspection party disrobe while balanced on one leg on a six inch bench, and then cram six cubic feet of clothes into three cubic feet of space.

"Roll would be called before they got upstairs. After 30 minutes of rolling about on the floor upstairs, my party would be dismissed with instructions to take a shower with soap, dress, and be ready for the next class immediately.

"They might come out of it with no kind feelings toward the college," my friend concluded. "Their clothes would be unpressed, and they might lose a watch, a wallet, or a sock in the scramble. After all, though, it would be but a duplication of the twice-a-week experience of every man in college for two years. And we might get a new locker or two out of it."

Missouri university is holding a series of football meetings for the public. Their purpose is to give the fans of football an opportunity to learn more about the game, the new rules and all the problems that arise in preparing a team for the field and the game.

Freshmen at the University of Kansas are required to wear a 12-inch streamer of the university colors attached to their blue caps on days before football games.

Five students of the University of Indiana were suspended for operation of cars without faculty permission. Those students who have permits to drive cars will lose their privilege if the car is used for other purposes except business.

It is a far cry from the old days of semi-professional football when every device from kidnapping to manslaughter was employed by a school to down a rival in football to present day conditions in the Missouri valley conference. The Oklahoma Aggies took their final workout at Kansas before tackling the Jayhawks on Saturday. George Connor, the star end of the Aggies, was not thought to be able to enter the game because of a leg injury that stubbornly refused to heal. Coach Clark of Kansas is one of the best "injury handlers" in the valley. When it was learned that the visiting Aggies had a man unable to enter the game, Clark took the star player in hand, correctly diagnosed the injury and put Connor on his feet again. The star wingman played the entire game, only a slight lameness resulting.

DEPARTMENT OF JOURNALISM JUDGES SOUTH DAKOTA PAPERS

25 Papers Entered in Annual Contest Sponsored by South Dakota Press Association

Some 25 newspapers entered in the annual state contest sponsored by the South Dakota State Press association of high schools were judged last week by the department of industrial journalism here at the request of Charles D. Byrne, head of the department of journalism and printing at South Dakota State college.

The newspapers were divided into two classes as follows: Class I—Papers printed in the high school plant; Class II—Papers printed either by commercial printers or mimeographed and lithographed.

In Class I first place was awarded to Vermillion high school, while Centerville high school ranked first in Class II. The Searchlight of the Barnard Consolidated school would have ranked first in this class had it not been for excessive space devoted to personality sketches of football players, poetry, and cartoons.

At the time the contest closed 13 papers had been entered in Class I and eight in Class II. Additional papers were sent independently of this group but arrived too late to be considered.

The judges were Mrs. J. D. Long, M. W. Brown, and Morse Salisbury of the journalism faculty. Decisions were made independently and found to agree in every case. The results were released Friday night in Brookings, S. D., papers.

Members of the faculty of this department were invited to be present at the meeting of the South Dakota State Press association but were unable to attend.

Why You Need This Guide

"It is safe to say that failure to guide and direct study is the weak point in the whole educational machine," Prof. G. M. Whipple, U. of Michigan.

"The successful men in college do not seem to be very happy. Most of them, especially the athletes, are overworked," Prof. H. S. Canby, Yale.

"Misdirected labor, though honest and well intentioned may lead to naught. Among the most important things for the student to learn is how to study. Without knowledge of this his labor may be largely in vain." Prof. G. P. Swain, M. I. T.

"To students who have never learnt 'How to Study' work is very often a chastisement, a flagellation, and an insuperable obstacle to contentment." Prof. A. Inglis, Harvard.

"HOW TO STUDY" will show you how to avoid all misdirected effort.

CONRAD HOFFMAN DISCUSSES STUDENT RELATIONS IN CHAPEL

Director of European Relief Declares That Real Progress Is Being Made

"International Student Relations" was the subject of the talk given by Conrad Hoffman, director of European student relief for the past five years, in the Wednesday morning assembly. Mr. Hoffman, who has just recently returned from Europe and is now making a three months' tour of American colleges and universities, told of the conditions existing in the Balkan states and Russia, emphasizing especially the racial and religious persecutions and university strikes.

During his stay in Europe, Mr. Hoffman, who is known as the "spirit of European student relief," represented 36 countries of the world. The committee of which he was head, served 31,000 meals to students of 16 universities in Russia for five cents each. Two million dollars was provided annually for relief of students. Official audits were made each year by one of the largest auditing firms in the world.

"Our motto," Mr. Hoffman stated, "is cooperation in which every nation is challenged to contribute its very best to the welfare of all. Our job is to inculcate into the students of today a new spirit which gives everyone his dues, regardless of color, race, or nationality. Real progress is being made, in spite of the hatred that prevails all over Europe and a new international respect is developing."

AGGIE HARRIERS WIN WITH EASE

ENTIRE TEAM FINISHES 300
YARDS AHEAD OF FIRST TIGER

Champions Will Now Rest for Valley Meet at K. U. November 21

By placing five men ahead of Steele, captain of Missouri, the Aggie harriers showed their heels to the Tiger squad last Saturday over a short five mile course of mud and water while the Wildcat gridiron battled to a loss with the strong invaders.

As in the K. U. contest last week the purple track squad consisting of Captain Kimport, Axtell, Salles, MacGrath, and Moody, finished arm in arm, fully 300 yards ahead of the nearest Tiger runner. Rutherford, the sixth Aggie man, was passed by Captain Steele in the last 150 yards. Rutherford having lost both shoes somewhere on the muddy road, finished the race barefooted.

Mud Cut Down Speed

The race was started outside of the stadium thus cutting a little more than a quarter of a mile from the regular five mile course. The time of twenty-six and a half was comparatively slow because of the condition of the course and because the Aggie team found it unnecessary to put their best efforts in the contest, finishing strong and with plenty of reserve.

From now until the Missouri valley conference meet at K. U. November 21, the valley champions will work moderately and store up reserve for an attempt to repeat their action at Ames last year, and win the championship for a second time.

Grid Graphs

By Leo Tauer

It would seem as though the Tigers and Aggies were doomed always to play on muddy fields.

We wouldn't attempt to say which team played the best game, but we would have bet our last pair of clean socks against a hollow apple, that the Aggies were due to win, even in the last minute of the game.

That thought was almost realized when Enns passed to Don Meek, who got to the Tiger 20-yard line before one of the striped crew brought him down.

We do not think the crowd saw Ballard recover a fumble in the second quarter. It occurred just after the completion of a pass when a Missourian tackled the receiver.

Speaking of fumbles, and recoveries, Douglass was the life saver when he rescued the ball after the Aggies fumbled, Missouri recovered and fumbled, and another Aggie fumbled.

Every single person in the two wings of the stadium stood on the tips of their toes when the Tigers had the ball on the Wildcats' one yard line. Every single person raised themselves a little higher on their toes each time that the Aggie line held, against the four desperate onslaughts the Missourians made trying to score.

When the Wildcats venture north to tangle with the Marquette eleven a week from Saturday they will be going forth to one of their hardest battles of the season. Marquette always has a strong team and every Aggie will have to do his best "bristling" as a tough Wildcat in order to be on the winning side.

Nebraska now has the right to view the Aggies with just a touch of fear. Although Nebraska did score on Missouri the Tigers in turn scored twice on them. That is something they could not do to the Aggies.

Advance Dope

Kansas State has two weeks to recuperate from its not inglorious loss to Missouri before tackling Marquette university at Milwaukee in the first big inter-sectional game in the history of the college.

So far the Marquette football team has lost only one game this year, and that was an inter-sectional defeat handed them by the Navy to the tune of 19 to 0. A year ago Marquette defeated the Middies. The northern team has not played outstanding opponents this fall, however, with the exception of the Navy game.

The Milwaukee battle will be Homecoming for the northerners. There are no "Big Ten" games that day within an accessible distance of Milwaukee, so it will be the feature football contest of the district.

The Wildcats came through the Missouri game without an addition to the injury list, and will be in their best form when they go north. The week end after the Marquette game is Homecoming here, and Kansas State must face the Cornhusker after the jaunt to the shores of Lake Michigan.

Missouri looks to be the best bet to go through the valley season undefeated, though Iowa State may easily put a crimp in the Tiger record next Saturday. The Behm brothers are back at Ames this fall, and were mainly responsible for the Cyclone victory over Kansas and Washington. The fact that Washington was able to score two touchdowns on Ames indicates that the Cyclones may be weak defensively.

By accomplishing the rather monumental task of defeating both Nebraska and Iowa State our own Wildcats may yet finish in second or a tie for second for the title. Nebraska plays only five conference games.

Radio Fans Declare It Takes Little Imagination to Visualize
the Game

Station KSAC is spreading in fame as a result of the running accounts of the football games reported by Morse Salisbury, whose vivid word pictures of athletic contests last year won for him the title of "the middle west's premier sports announcer." Sam Pickard, director of radio, goes even farther and states that with no reservations, Mr. Salisbury is the best announcer to be found in the United States.

Requires Quick, Accurate Thinking

Enthusiastic radio cohorts writing in to the department are unreserved in their praise, declaring that it takes very little imagination to visualize the game when hearing the running report. "Radio fans who are dubious about the transmission of moving pictures by radio need only tune in on Station KSAC for a football game," one fan wrote. "The detailed account is so complete and full of local color that it takes little imagination to visualize the game."

It is evident that in order to broadcast clear and detailed reports of an athletic contest rapid and accurate thinking as well as a fairly complete knowledge of the game is required on the part of Mr. Salisbury.

HONOR MEMORY OF H. J. WATERS

MEMORIAL SERVICES IN AUDITORIUM SATURDAY MORNING

Representatives from State, City, and College Will Speak Briefly—Tribute to Former President Yesterday

Memorial services for Dr. Henry Jackson Waters, president of the college from 1909 to 1917 and editor of the Weekly Kansas City Star, who died of pneumonia at his home in Kansas City on the evening of October 26, will be held in the college auditorium Saturday morning, at 10:15 o'clock.

Representatives of the board of regents which administered college affairs while Doctor Waters held the presidency, and members of the faculty, alumni association, and representatives from the town, will speak briefly.

Classes Halt in Memory

W. E. Blackburn of Herington, who was regent of the school during the whole of President Waters's administration, will represent his colleagues. C. M. Harger of Abilene will speak for the present board of regents. Dean Willard and Dean Van Zile will represent the alumni association, and S. A. Bardwell the city of Manhattan.

Tribute was also paid to the memory of the former president at eleven o'clock yesterday, the hour of the funeral services in Columbia, Mo. The college bell tolled for one minute and classes halted while the students stood.

At a meeting of the council of deans in President Farrell's office Wednesday morning, the following college representatives were named to attend the funeral services in Columbia: L. E. Call, dean of the division of agriculture; J. T. Willard, dean of the division of general science; and Mary Pierce Van Zile, dean of women. R. A. Senon of the division of engineering will attend as a member of the alumni association. These representatives left for Columbia on the funeral train Wednesday night.

Was Champion of Agriculture

Doctor Waters was a great champion of agriculture and America loses one of her outstanding scientists and farmers in his death. It was during the time of his presidency that the Kansas State Agricultural college made its phenomenal growth. The school of journalism found him an ardent supporter as well as the school of agriculture, and he was always interested in student affairs, especially athletics. He interested himself also in the student who was working his way through college, and contributed the royalties from one of his books to a student loan fund.

Born and raised on a farm, he was later the first student to take the agricultural course at the University of Missouri at the time when the legislature was considering abolishing it.

For two years after his graduation, Waters was assistant secretary to the state board of agriculture. He then occupied prominent positions in Pennsylvania State college and the graduate school of the University of Ohio, later becoming dean of agriculture in his alma mater, the University of Missouri.

Studied in Germany

In 1906, after a year and a half abroad where he studied in German universities, Doctor Waters returned to America to become an instructor in the University of Illinois.

In 1909 when the need for a strong president for the Kansas State Agricultural college arose, the choice fell upon Doctor Waters.

During his regime, the college grew to be one of the great agricultural schools of the world.

He remained at K. S. A. C. until he became editor of the Weekly Kansas City Star in 1917. He still retained the editorship of the paper at the time of his death.

Mrs. Waters, the son, H. J. Waters, Jr., of Columbia, Mo., two brothers, Dr. Baxter Waters, Kansas City, Mo., and W. S. Waters, Vandalla, Mo., the mother, Mrs. Lavinia J. Waters, Los Angeles; and four sisters, Mrs. Karl G. Cummings, Klamath Falls, Ore., Mrs. A. N. Lindsey, Clinton, Mo., Mrs. John K. Briggs, Hope, Ark., and Miss Julia Waters of Los Angeles survive Doctor Waters.

AGGIES INVADE WISCONSIN NEXT

MEET MARQUETTE AVALANCHES AT MILWAUKEE NOVEMBER 7

40,000 Expected to See Homecoming Game of Badger School—Meet Creighton Tomorrow

Only a week remains until the Kansas State Wildcats carry the banner of the Missouri valley into the north to meet the Golden Avalanches of Marquette university in Milwaukee, Tomorrow Marquette meets Creighton university of Omaha, a team up to the class of the Missouri valley, and then will set in to prepare for the Kansas Aggies and Homecoming.

A 210 Pound Captain

Should fair weather prevail, the Aggie team will play before the largest crowd in the history of the college, as Milwaukee sports writers predict that 40,000 people will see the battle. On their northward trip the Wildcats meet a team of about the same size and weight as themselves. Captain Frank Lane, a tackle, is the heavyweight of the squad with 210 pounds. Lane will not be in the Creighton game and may not line up against the Aggies. Robert Demoling, 175 pound quarterback, John Helmsch, halfback, and Richard Bader, fullback, are said to be the "three horsemen" of the Marquette outfit. Their starting backfield may outweigh the Aggie backs, though there will be very little difference.

All-Kansas Versus All-Wisconsin

The All-Kansas team of the Aggies will meet practically an All-Wisconsin team, as all but four of the entire membership of the Marquette squad are natives of the Badger state.

Every year Marquette plays such teams as Syracuse, Brown, the Navy, Minnesota, and the state schools of North and South Dakota.

The following are the leading members of the Avalanche squad, together with their ages, positions, and weights:

COSMOPOLITAN CLUB ENTERTAINS AT OPEN HOUSE

Members Express Hope That They May Have a Chapter House at K. S. A. C. Soon

Cosmopolitan club held open house for students and members of the faculty last Saturday night. A short program was given. Music was furnished by a quartette of young men from the Philippines who played upon stringed instruments. They were Frank Osis and Flor Zapata from K. U. and Francisco Taberner and Ramon Aceveda from K. S. A. C.

Robert Macias, president of the club, made the opening speech of welcome, and voiced the hope that some day there might be a Cosmopolitan Club house for our college. President Farrell spoke of what the foreign students bring to the life of our college, and what they may take back to their own lands from here. He also assured the club of his desire to see a chapter house here for the Cosmopolitan Club, and his willingness to cooperate to that end.

Jamal Hamad from Arabia, and Mr. T. M. Kleinburg from South Africa both made interesting talks telling of their experiences, and impressions of life in the United States and at K. S. A. C.

Two selections of music by the quartette which were well received were the "K. S. A. C. March" and the "K. S. A. C. Blues." During the evening Mr. Zapata and Mr. Aceveda both sang vocal numbers which were much appreciated.

Refreshments were served, and later in the evening there was dancing to music furnished by the quartette.

Tells Engineers How to Study

Prof. J. C. Peterson is giving a series of lectures for all engineering freshmen in their seminar period on Thursday afternoons at four o'clock on "First Aids to Study." The lectures deal chiefly with the most effective methods of study and certain problems of educational and vocational guidance for college students.

Dr. Walter H. Hilt, '18, veterinary inspector with the Nevada State Board of Stock Commissioners, Elko, Nev., is the author of a bulletin entitled, "A Study of the 1924 Calf Crop in Nevada." The bulletin was issued by the Extension Division of the University of Nevada.

A. H. DEPARTMENT GROOMING STOCK

MAKING PREPARATIONS FOR FALL AND WINTER SHOWS

Will Enter Prize Animals in American Royal and International Shows—Has Good Record

With the nearing of the season for the larger livestock shows, the department of animal husbandry, under the direction of Dr. C. W. McCampbell, is grooming its best animals for exhibition. Especial efforts will be made to duplicate the winnings of last year at the American Royal Livestock show to be held in Kansas City, November 15 to 22.

Nine Championships Last Year

Cattle, hogs, and sheep will be shown by the department at the American Royal this year. With the exception of the showing of a few sheep at the International Livestock Exposition in Chicago, the department will not be represented at any of the other larger livestock shows this season, Doctor McCampbell has announced.

"The college has been making a better showing with its livestock each year in spite of the keener competition during recent years," Doctor McCampbell said in announcing the show program for the coming season, "Last year the college won nine championships, 34 first prizes, 29 second prizes, and 27 third prizes, winning more prizes than any other single exhibitor."

Anderson in Charge of Cattle

The cattle exhibits at the American Royal will consist of four short-horn steers, two Herefords, five Aberdeen Angus steers, a car load of yearling steers in the long fed fat class, and a carload of two-year-old steers in the short fed class. All cattle exhibits will be in charge of Prof. B. M. Anderson.

About 50 head of hogs, including representatives of the Poland China, Duroc Jersey, Spotted Poland China, Hampshire, Chester White, and Berkshire breeds, will be shown at the American Royal. The hog exhibits will be in charge of Prof. A. D. Weber.

Both breeding and fat classes of sheep will be shown by the college from the following classes: Hampshires, Shropshires, Dorsets, Southdowns, Cotswolds, and Rambouillets. The sheep exhibits, including approximately 50 head, will be in charge of Prof. H. E. Reed.

Dr. F. H. Hayes, '08, University Farm, Davis, Calif., is the author of an essay on the subject of "Education and Research in Veterinary Medicine."

DESIGNS PLAY POSTERS

Professor Keith Creates Artistic Work from Linoleum

Impressionistic art characterizes the latest creation of Prof. E. T. Keith of the department of journalism and printing. It is a three-color poster to be used as advertising for the Purple Masque fall play, "The Goose Hangs High." The original drawing was made by Harold Souder, a student in the department of architecture.

The figure represents a flock of geese. Black, gray, and shadow gray are the colors employed. Professor Keith made a linoleum block from which the posters were printed.

"The Outlook for Livestock Industries" was the subject of a talk given by President F. D. Farrell before a meeting of the Dickinson County Livestock association at Abilene Monday.

PROSPECTS GOOD FOR BASKETBALL

STRONG 1925 FRESHMAN SQUAD ADDS STRENGTH TO VARSITY

Four Letter Men Back—Squad Preparing for Opening Games with Big Ten Teams

Afforded a goodly quantity of basketball material, Coach C. W. Corsaut is all prepared to mold about a sturdy framework of four returned letter men an even more creditable court combination than that which last year finished in a tie for third place in final Valley standings.

One gapping hole, however, remains to be filled before the 1926 machine can rank at par with that of last year. The loss of Bunker, diminutive Aggie forward of past seasons, who led his closest competitor in the Valley by nine field goals at the close of the 1925 campaign will be keenly felt in the Aggie camp.

Strong in Both Offense and Defense

Practice was recently resumed in Nichols gym and now the squad is hard at it, with the coaching staff drilling the players in offensive and defensive tactics. Early practices and scrimmages with the freshmen show a remarkable power presented by the team in both fundamentals of the game. Members of the varsity are already flashing a form which should lubricate a fast driving machine thru the coming winter's race.

Judging from present indications, Aggie passing and teamwork will be safely above criticism. Beyond a doubt basketball prospects will be shaded by the highly-colored, rosy hue of optimism which at present permeates all athletics of the college.

In accordance with the expanding prestige of Aggie teams, the 1926 basketball combination will widen its sphere of activity to include among its opponents for the first time two Big Ten aggregations, Northwestern and Illinois, and incidentally Notre Dame. These three universities are to be met in order, January 2, 4, and 5, Creighton U. of Omaha will be a fourth non-conference opponent, to be played later in the season.

Football Men on Squad

Captain Fritz Koch, with H. M. Weddle, guards, C. A. Byers, forward, and E. Tehow, center, stars of last season's team, will in all probability compose the bulwark of the 1926 machine. These four horsemen should be ably supported by a host of crack performers on last year's freshman squad. Among these first year varsity men making a high bid for permanent location on the squad are G. B. Dicus, G. L. Davidson, R. H. Mertell, guards; and R. R. Osborne, M. B. Miller, and C. J. Tangeman, forwards. This array of fast talent will be later swelled by the addition of at least four red warriors, A. R. Edwards, R. E. Haskard, J. F. Price, and Joe Holsinger, at the close of the football season.

A Heavy Schedule

Following is the 1926 schedule: January 2—Northwestern at Evanston.

January 4—University of Illinois at Urbana.

January 5—Notre Dame at South Bend.

January 13—Kansas U. at Manhattan.

January 15—Grinnell at Manhattan.

February 5—Missouri at Columbia.

February 6—Washington at St. Louis.

February 9—Nebraska at Manhattan.

February 13—Iowa State at Manhattan.

February 16—Nebraska at Lincoln.

February 17—Creighton at Omaha.

February 19—Washington at Manhattan.

February 20—Missouri at Manhattan.

March 1—Kansas U. at Lawrence.

March 4—Iowa State at Ames.

March 5—Grinnell at Grinnell.

Mr. Bennett and Prof. R. I. Throckmorton went to Labette county Tuesday to inspect the work of E. W. Noble and R. L. Von Trebra who are making a detailed soil survey of that county.

Miss Fern Belknap of Abilene will spend the week end with her sister, Phyllis Belknap.

HENRY J. WATERS

The news of the death of Henry J. Waters yesterday will sadden the heart of many a Kansan as he reads it. There is no county in the state but has men and women who came under his inspiring and benign influence either as a student or as a farmer. For farmers and stockmen as well as students learned to have confidence in him and to rely on him for intelligent aid in solving their problems, during that golden age between 1909 and 1917 when he was the head of the Kansas State Agricultural college.

He came to Kansas with broad scholarship, matured mind, years of experience in his chosen work and a charming, inspiring personality. He had been identified with agricultural college work for more than 20 years, in Missouri, in Pennsylvania, in Ohio, in Illinois, in Iowa. He brought with him the experience and the accumulated wisdom of those years. He gave to Kansas out of his ripe experience, his matured judgment, his refined and restrained idealism, his superior vision, his fine courage. Under his influence there was evolved a new agricultural college ideal that not only concerned agricultural scholarship and investigation on the college domains, but it reached out to the rural communities of the state, and every farming community and every stock-breeder who would accept, was the better and more prosperous for contact with the college through the extension work.

When Henry J. Waters left K. S. A. C. in 1917 the secretary of agriculture ranked the Kansas State Agricultural college and the Iowa Agricultural college at Ames as the two greatest in their line in the United States. The rank given to K. S. A. C. was largely due to the vision and the building of Henry J. Waters. As the editor of the Kansas City Weekly Star he was highly regarded. As a writer on agricultural topics he had few equals and no superior in this country.—Topeka Daily Capital.

OUR OWN LEAGUE

Kansas State may have a league of nations all her own, working in perfect harmony at least most of the time, if plans advanced at a recent meeting of the Cosmopolitan club are carried out. The Cosmopolitan club, for the benefit of the freshmen, is an organization of foreign students and leading American students in the college.

Now the club proposes to buy or rent a house for its members and run it more or less along the lines of a fraternity. Such a plan would furnish a center now lacking for the visiting student, and might also help to attract students from other countries to K. S. A. C.

On Other Hills

Teaching true sportsmanship by means of handbills is an innovation being adopted at Ohio State university. At a recent basketball game 7,000 handbills with five rules of good sportsmanship printed on them, were distributed among the students present. However, the bills do not stop at mere elementary instruction in being a good sport; they deal also with smoking, fairness, courtesy, and hissing. Further instructions on the bills defend the right of the coach to do his own coaching.

A precedent among colleges was broken this week when the Massachusetts Institute of Technology at Middletown, Mass., announced that girls will be permitted to smoke at dances and other social activities where undergraduate festivities are held.

A survey shows at the University of Ohio that the students spent $34,000 following the team to football games out of town last year.

Four sororities at the University of Ohio will be barred from campus activities for a certain period of time due to the fact they were found guilty of breaking Pan-Hellenic rushing rules.

A pajama parade, in which both men and women took part, was a feature of the homecoming celebration at the Oregon Agricultural college. Fireworks and illuminations were used to make the parade a big success.

Instructing the football squad by motion pictures is the latest idea of the coaches at Northwestern university.

Of all the people that have graduated from Harvard in the last 50 years, it is said that not one smoker has graduated at the head of his class, notwithstanding that five out of every six smoke.

Aid Given Stranded Chinese Student Sym- bolizes Doctor Waters

Several years ago there was a Chinese boy in our college. It had been very hard for him to come to a college so far from his home, but after he had been here a while, he felt that all the hard work and many inconveniences he had endured were worth while, for he was intensely interested in his work.

Sometimes Americans seem very alien and occasionally a little unkind, but he tried not to notice it. As soon as summer came he hurried back to China, glad to return to that home so far away.

But when September came the Chinese boy was very eager to be back again in the college which he felt was partly his. When he landed in the United States something went wrong—no one seemed able to explain exactly what it was. Officials refused to let him reenter the country. No amount of arguing helped.

And then he turned to a friend whom he respected and trusted very much—he notified Dr. H. J. Waters, then president of K. S. A. C. He realized that this friend was very far off, but these Americans seemed to find distance no great inconvenience. President Waters had great difficulty in straightening out the trouble, for San Francisco is far from K. S. A. C., and Chinese boys are not so important to the officials, as this one was to President Waters.

And so one day the Chinese boy was again back at K. S. A. C. with an esteem greater than before for his college, a deeper trust in Americans, and above all an undying devotion to the man who had made his return to college possible.

Yes, a great man has died—a man great because of seemingly little things, such as the devotion of a Chinese boy. Our college is more than proud to be able to claim Mr. Waters—for he symbolizes that which many great men stand for—the American spirit.

Ralph Ewing Boys' Secretary
Ralph Ewing, former student of the college and president of the Y. M. C. A. last year, has been appointed permanent boys' work secretary in Kansas City, Mo., according to word received here. Ralph was employed by the Y. M. C. A. in Kansas City last summer, and it is reported that his work was of such high character that the promotion was readily given. His headquarters are in the central Y. M. C. A. building.

H. I. Richards, assistant agricultural economist in the bureau of agricultural economics, Washington, D. C., arrived in Manhattan Monday. He will make an extended stay here during which time he will cooperate with the department of agricultural economics of the college in a study of farm prices and the factors influencing them.

Extracts from the Oklahoma Daily: Following an afternoon in front of the gridgraph at the armory, we've come to the conclusion that while the Sooners might handle the Kansas Aggie grid squad, they're no match for the Ag eleven and a telegraph operator. "And now the Kansas Aggie coach will send in his third string line and his second string backfield," read a telegram received at the end of the first half. Gee whis, aren't they going to give the first string men a chance to make a letter? But Oklahoma still has a chance—the squad won't be forced to battle a telegraph operator when it plays on the home field.

DRAMATICS

Lewis Beach turned from tragedy to comedy in his story of "The Goose Hangs High" according to Kenneth McGowan in his comment in the Theatre Arts Monthly. The result was something more than satisfactory. The materials of the play, apparently a heartless younger generation which comes to the rescue of the parents when disaster threatens, are not very remarkable but Beach is unquestionably observant, and he has the skill which makes these people and their life seem real and interesting. In this instance, the play was introduced to Broadway by a new production group, the Dramatists' Theatre, in which a half dozen sound, common playwrights associate themselves.

The publicity staff for the fall play has been working on original ideas for presenting their advertising. Various forms of illustrated posters, cuts, heralds, photographs, and lithographs will soon appear about the campus.

A glimpse of the characters which we will see in "The Goose Hangs High" may give us a slight hint of the plot.

Bernard Ingals is the kind of father that we all have, at heart, or if we have none, the kind we have always wanted. At 50 he is still boyish, indulgent, sympathetic, and proud of his children. In one of his characteristic outbursts, he says, "Maybe the children think they're going to run this roost, now. God bless them. But they're not."

He is a fairly successful man of business, but on the wrong peg. He has always aspired to be a horri-culturist, and eventually realizes his wish, as this line indicates, "You mean I can't be my own boss in my private affairs? Thank you, no."

John Wray Young carries this role. Another of the cast, Julia Murdoch, is seized with the brilliant idea at Christmas time that she will present all her friends including her husband and the cook, with Wallace nuttings. Her son is hopelessly held at her apron strings.

"I don't think much of this college business," she says, "they don't learn anything about making money, but every way to spend it." Again she says, "Oh, I think it would be rather fun to have a son connected with the theatre. Their morals go to pot anyway, nowadays."

Velma Lockridge plays this part. Prof. J. G. Emerson of the public speaking department says, "I saw 'The Goose Hangs High' presented at San Francisco last year. It was very good."

COPYREADERS CRITICIZE

High School Publications Take Advantage of Service Offered

Many Kansas high schools are eagerly taking advantage of constructive criticism of publications made by the classes in copyreading at this college.

The copyreading classes, in charge of Prof. Maynard W. Brown, make careful criticism of all publications received and make detailed reports to editors or instructors. Copyreading students are glad to perform this service in exchange for the use of the papers for practice material.

Architects Add More Books

Over 160 standard reference books, dealing with almost every phase of architecture, were purchased by the architectural department last summer. The books cover a wide range of territory, many dealing with ancient Egyptian, Roman and European construction while others are devoted to more modern styles. The books range in value from $67.00 to 25 cents.

FRESHMEN TO RETURN HARD KNOCKS IN VARSITY BATTLE

Annual Yearling-Reserve Game Promises to Rival Valley Contests in Interest

Freshie dreams will perhaps be realized, and their opportunity utilized, for revenge on the varsity men who have pummeled them about since practice started, when the Varsity and Freshmen tangle in their annual football "battle" Saturday afternoon at three o'clock.

According to "secret dope" the green caps will use a different form of attack in each quarter of the game. This is possible as the Frosh have been using plays of every valley opponent the Aggie varsity has met, and one that they have not met.

There are embryo forms of Red Grange and Benny Freedman among the rough and husky bunch of young hopefuls and these with the co-operation of their team mates, will have the varsity on the hump most of the time.

Although it will be up to the second string to stand the brunt of the battle, practically every varsity man who is not injured will be given an opportunity to get into the argument.

This game will perhaps rival some of the valley games for entertaining qualities, but the athletic association has been kind enough to agree to stay away from the gates Saturday.

BOND WINS BICYCLE RACE

28 Entered in First Intramural Contest of Crowded Season

Peddling their bicycles over a cold windy course, 28 cyclists started this year's intramural athletics with a rush Wednesday afternoon at 5:15, resulting in Bond, Phi Kappa Tau, winning first place.

Although a freezing north wind did not seem to put a damper on the enthusiasm, the half mile and mile races were postponed. The two mile course started on the dirt road east of the stadium and led south to Poyntz avenue, up the hill to the cemetery, north down the dirt road to Anderson avenue, back to the starting place, and ending in a sprint around the loop south of the Engineering building and west of Kedzie. The source of the bicycles is very indefinite, but from the many accidents due to flat tires, crooked rims, etc., it is evident that most of them came from storing places in old barns and cellars.

The first ten places were counted for points other than their point for entering. First place counted for ten points; second, nine points; etc. Those placing, in their respective order, were Bond, Phi Kappa Tau, first; Coleman, Phi Kappa, second; Mikelstetter, Sigma Phi Epsilon, third; Wolfenbarger, Delta Tau Delta, fourth; DeRigney, Delta Tau Delta, fifth; Fry, Phi Kappa Tau, sixth; Stallman, Omega Tau Epsilon, seventh; Johnson, Delta Tau Delta, eighth; Amos, Delta Tau Delta, ninth; and Casper, Phi Kappa Tau, tenth.

Will Speak at Round Tables

Prof. Martha Pittman, head of the department of food economics and nutrition, and Prof. Pearle S. Ruby of the same department go next week to speak at round-table sessions of the high school and grade school teachers' meetings. Professor Pittman goes to Wichita and will talk on the subject, "Teaching Home Economics in Junior High Schools." Professor Ruby will speak at Coffeyville on child nutrition.

FACULTY LEADS IN CONVENTION

K. S. A. C. WELL REPRESENTED ON PROGRAM

Annual Meeting of Association of Land Grant Colleges to Be Held in Chicago November 17

Representatives from the college faculty will play a large part in the program of the thirty-ninth annual convention of the Association of Land Grant Colleges, to be held in Chicago, November 17 to 19, both as officers in the association and as speakers on the program.

President F. D. Farrell is a member of the committee on experiment station organization and policy. Dean H. Umberger of the extension division is chairman of the sub-section of extension work. Dr. Margaret Justin, dean of the division of home economics, is secretary of the section on home economics.

Seaton Engineering Secretary
Dean R. A. Seaton of the division of engineering is secretary of the section on engineering, and a member of the committee on instruction in agriculture, home economics, and mechanic arts. He is also a member ex-officio of the committee on engineering experiment stations.

Dean Seaton is the only person on the program who is a member of two committees or appears on the program twice. He will discuss a paper to be delivered by Dean R. L. Sackett of Pennsylvania on the subject, "The Value of Industries in Engineering Research." As secretary of the engineering section, he is editor of the Engineering Experiment Station Record, published quarterly, and will give a summarized report on the contents of this record at the convention in Chicago.

Dean Umberger on Program
Dean Umberger is scheduled to give a paper at the convention on the subject, "Can correspondence courses in agriculture contribute to the development of modern agriculture and home making?" Miss Amy Kelly, state home demonstration leader, is on the program to discuss a paper to be delivered by Director Crocheron of California on the subject, "Probable Developments in County Extension Organization."

Official representatives of the college at the convention will be President Farrell, Dean Justin, Dean Umberger, Dean Seaton, and Dean L. E. Call of the division of agriculture. Others from the college are also expected to attend the meeting.

Noted Educator Chapel Speaker
President R. B. Von Kleinsmid of the University of Southern California will speak at the weekly assembly exercises this week, according to Dr. J. E. Kammerer, who has received a message from Mr. Von Kleinsmid stating his acceptance of the invitation.

Prof. J. B. Fitch, head of the dairy department, judged the dairy animals at the Reno county dairy show on the state fair grounds Thursday. Professor Fitch addressed the Hutchinson chamber of commerce Thursday noon.

The girls of the Ellen Richards lodge entertained at dinner recently for Miss Mina Bates, Miss Martha Kramer, and Miss Martha Pittman.

The Big Game

The inter-sectional game Saturday between the Kansas State football team and Marquette university in Milwaukee will be played on the electric gridiron of Sigma Delta Chi in the college auditorium. Improved equipment proved successful in the last showing of the board, which played off the Aggie-K. U. game in Lawrence. Coloring of the lights which show the position of the ball in the field also was instrumental in doing away with the "glare" of the board.

M. W. Brown, assistant professor of industrial journalism, will go to Marquette to handle the game for the scoreboard play by play. "Game time" here will be immediately after "game time" in Milwaukee. Full details as to the crowd, the "stunts" and other colorful features of the game will be announced, along with football scores from other valley teams. Music will be furnished by the college band.

Admission will be 25 cents, according to L. R. Combs, manager of the board.

"DOC" WINS FROM "MIKE"

Captures Local Golf Championship from Stage Rival

Dr. H. H. King, head of the chemistry department, won the championship of the local golf tournament Sunday by defeating M. F. "Mike" Ahearn, director of athletics, by the score of 4 and 3. These two men were tied for the championship of the tournament last year, but the match was never played.

Prof. H. W. Cave of the dairy department won the class A flight of the tournament by the score of 3 and 2. L. H. Church, instructor in the department of electrical engineering, won the class C flight from Prof. C. W. Culver of the chemistry department, 4 and 3.

EXPLAINS THE INDIAN PRESS TO JOURNALISM STUDENTS

Doctor Taylor Declares That Journalists
Can Make or Break
Country—Makes Challenge

Dr. Wendall Taylor, who for the past four years has been in India as a missionary, addressed the journalism students in seminar Thursday afternoon on the subject, "The Press of India."

"Americans seem to picture the people of India as fuzzy headed barbarians who have not yet passed far enough through the stages of evolution to lose their tails," said Doctor Taylor. "It is true that less than 6 per cent of them can read and write but through the cooperative methods of Great Britain they are rapidly improving."

"There are four divisions of the Indian Press," he continued. "First, the Anglo-English, which is written in English by the English, and is characterized by its lack of 'padding.' Second, the Indian-English, which is edited by Indians in English, and usually by radicals, being sometimes called the 'opposition press.' Third, the bi-lingual press, which is printed in both languages; and fourth, the vernacular press, written in an attempt to be readable to the natives as a whole who speak 600 different languages."

"Unlike American newspapers, the Indian papers carry all their advertisements on the front page, consisting chiefly of magic cures for all ills. The struggle of reading through them, by these people who receive an average yearly income of less than $10, results in belief, and they spend their money on worthless charms. Although these papers allow such ads to be printed, American papers print material that even these papers will not, such as demoralizing stories which add to the taint of some one's character. In this international melting pot, the newspapers feed the people what they want. Through localized prejudices, America is becoming a victim of sentimentalism."

"News from the orient is very warped," said Doctor Taylor, in connection with the relations between the American and Indian pressmen. "United States still thinks that there is something wrong with everything that Great Britain does."

In closing, Doctor Taylor said, "As journalists you have a great responsibility. The newspaper man can make or break this country before the world. What are you going to do about it?"

NEW HIKE RECORD ESTABLISHED

17 Girls Win W. A. A. Points Walking to Junction City

Leaving Nichols gymnasium at 1 o'clock and arriving at Junction City at 6:30 on Saturday afternoon, October 31, 17 girls, out for points in W. A. A., hiked the 25 miles in record breaking time.

The following girls made the trip: Zella Parsons, Maurine Burson, Darline Grinstead, Nadine Buck, Ruth Varney, Bertha Williams, Bernice Read, Clare Russell, Gladys Tracy, Marjorie Mulliken, Catherine Larimer, Mildred Worster, Alberta Pullins, Louise Magaw, and Eula Mae Currie.

This hike is an annual part of the W. A. A. fall program and by making it a girl may earn 25 points toward membership in the organization. The hike Saturday was unusually successful, as very few girls dropped out and a new record for time was set. One stop of seven minutes was made at Ogden.

An "open house" tea will be given Thursday afternoon in Kedzie hall after seminar for all journalism students. Members of Theta Sigma Phi, women's honorary journalistic fraternity, and Sigma Delta Chi, men's honorary journalistic fraternity, will be hosts.

"The Goose Hangs High" Typical of the Modern College Youth

"I have never seen a play more typical of the modern college youth," says Mildred Read of the fall play, "The Goose Hangs High," in which she carries the role of the mother, Eunice Ingals. "The students will like it because it appeals to their morals. Then, too, we have the attitudes of three generations. We find out what Granny Bradley thinks of us, what Mother and Father Ingals think of us, and what we think of ourselves. You will not believe until you see them, how exactly each character is suited to his part, and especially the Ingals twins, played by Lynn Payman and Florabel West. Have you noticed that they are the very same size, and that they really look alike? Oh, there is no chance for monotony in the play. You will find in it every kind of mood to be imagined. It goes from one extreme to the other."

"Will you make acting your life work?" someone asked. "No, I am a sophomore in public school music, but I love dramatics," Miss Read replied with the greatest sincerity, and it can be readily seen that she is putting her whole soul into the work of being Mother Ingals.

"The Goose Hangs High" will make the students realize the sacrifice some parents are making for them," says Orrell Ewhank, who takes the part of Granny Bradley. Mary Marlene Kimball has the dual role of Dagmar Carroll, Hugh Ingals's fiancée, and Rhoda, a servant. Her opinion of the production is, "The play is very well written with natural lines, and presents a life-like picture of the typical American family. The picture presented of the college boy and girl of today will make the older generation, who are so radical on the downfall of modern youth, realize that, after all, there is an underlying sincerity and appreciation of the opportunities given them."

ber S. Romaine Rolland's "Annette and Sylvie" and "Summer." Three middle western writers—Ruth Suckow, John T. Frederick and Glenway Wescott—will be considered in an address December 15, by Prof. Charles W. Matthews.

Following the holidays the lectures will be resumed on January 11, with a review by Prof. Ada Rice of "St. Joan," by George Bernard Shaw. The final address of the series, on "Waste" and "Wanderings," by Robert Herrick, will be given January 18 by Prof. J. O. Faulkner.

This year's course, which is similar to those which have been given during the past three winters, has been arranged by Professor Conover. Each address will be given at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Students, faculty members, and the general public are invited to attend.

FAIR WEATHER AIDS BACHMAN

GROOMING WILDCATS FOR INTERSECTIONAL GAME SATURDAY

Marquette Defeated Creighton 28 to 0 Last Saturday—Mid-Western Sports Writers Watching Results

Crisp afternoons during the fore part of the week are adding Coach C. W. Bachman in grooming his Wildcat Kansas Tornado for the battle with the "Golden Avalanche" of Marquette university in Milwaukee Saturday. Last week end the "Avalanche," otherwise known as the Hill-top squad, lived up to its name by burying the Creighton university team 28 to 0. Forward passes accounted for two of the touchdowns.

Get Line on Valley Football
The northward trip of the Aggie team is being followed, closely by mid-western sports writers, as the game is expected to give another line on the comparative strength of valley football as compared with northern and eastern elevens. Creighton usually is regarded as up to the class of the average valley teams, though weaker than the top-notchers.

Following a week of rest, Coach Bachman has announced that all the cripples of his line-up are in shape to make the trip, and that the cream of the entire squad can thus be taken. Eleven backfield men and 14 linemen probably will make the trip, though no definite list of names was available this morning at the athletic office.

May Open Running Attack
Passing probably will decide the game if the field is dry, though both teams are noted for open field running and are fair at smashing the line. So far the Aggies have played every important game this fall on a slippery field, and the running attack which was expected to be so important this fall has not been given an opportunity to show its full strength.

ADDRESSES ON CONTEMPORARY WRITERS TO BE CONTINUED

First Talk by Members of Department of English Next Tuesday in Calvin Hall

The first address of a series of seven, dealing with recent work of contemporary writers, and made by members of the faculty of the department of English, will be given in the rest room of Calvin hall at 4 o'clock on the afternoon of Tuesday, November 10, by Dr. Margaret Russell. Dr. Russell's subject will be "Bad Books versus 'Good' Books."

Succeeding numbers of the series will deal specifically with certain writers or books. On November 17, Prof. R. W. Conover will speak on Sherwood Anderson's "A Story Teller's Story" and "Dark Laughter." Prof. N. W. Rockey will discuss, on November 24, "All God's Chillun," "Desire Under the Elms" and "Welded," by Eugene O'Neill. Prof. H. W. Davis, head of the English department, will discuss December 1, Miss Elock, Miss Rushfeldt, Mrs. Englund, and Floyd Nichols on Program.

Speakers for the last three student forum meetings this fall have been announced by Dr. A. A. Holtz, secretary of the college Y. M. C. A.

Next Thursday, November 5, Miss Lois Wildy, secretary of the college Y. W. C. A., will speak on the subject "A Summer at European Universities or What Relationships We Should Have with European Students."

The following Thursday, November 12, Miss Elock, Miss Rushfeldt and Mrs. Eric Englund will give a ten minute symposium on "My Chief Impression of Europe." The last meeting of the forum, on Thursday, November 19, will be sponsored by the alumni association and Floyd Nichols, managing editor of the Capper Farm press, will talk on "Glimpses of Canadian and European Agriculture."

Team Leaves Thursday
The Kansas State football team will leave for Milwaukee and its game with Marquette university Thursday afternoon at 1:15 o'clock over the Union Pacific.

HOLD SCRIBBLERS' SCRAMBLE

Journalistic Mixer to Be Held Again
This Year

Scribblers' Scramble, all journalistic mixer given last February by Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic fraternity, proved so successful that it is planned to make the party an annual event.

No date has been announced, but it is likely that the Scramble this year will occur some time in February. It is not a money making proposition but strictly a get-acquainted affair.

George Venneberg, Lawrence Youngman, and Richard Youngman are in charge of arrangements.

VARSITY RESERVES WIN FROM YEARLINGS, 13 TO 7

Freshmen Lead Until Last Quarter
When Three First String Men
Strengthen Varsity Offense

From a mere practice encounter with a much-pummelled and scrimmage-hardened yearling eleven, the annual Freshman-Varsity gridiron entanglement last Saturday afternoon turned out to be a game which in playing pitch at times rose to inter-valley levels, with the varsity, holding the olive wreath by virtue of two last quarter touchdowns, and a final count of 13 to 7.

Displaying an intimate acquaintance with varsity plays and offensive tactics, the frosh for three quarters electrified a thousand fans in the east stadium with a defense which repeatedly broke through to bear backward the varsity reserves. In turn the Purple line was continually worried by a fast and heavy set of red-jerseyed backfielders, and the backfield by a versatile wing and aerial attack, drawn from five systems of offensive football.

When affairs reached a critical point, however, the varsity defense stiffened, and lapsed only long enough in the second quarter for Halderman to break loose around right end with a 40-yard race for the freshman touchdown.

In the final quarter, with addition of several first string warriors, Haakard, Holsinger, and Randall, the varsity went in for its share of the glory and twice marched down the field and planted the ball behind the goal in the arms of a pass receiver.

The performance of the red eleven is generally considered to be a weighty boost for the 1924 football prospects.

K. S. A. C. WELL REPRESENTED AT TEACHERS' MEETINGS

Members of Faculty Will Attend Sessions at All Six Convention Cities

Several members of the college faculty are scheduled to speak at various sectional meetings of the State Teachers' association the latter part of this week. Dr. C. V. Williams and Prof. A. P. Davidson of the department of education will speak before the vocational agricultural sections of the meetings at Wichita and Salina, respectively.

Members of English will speak at the meetings in Wichita and Emporia, according to the program as announced in the bulletin of the Kansas Association of Teachers of English, of which Prof. Ada Rice of the English department here is the editor.

"A New Approach to Teaching of Literature in High School" is the subject of an address to be given by Prof. Charles W. Matthews at the sectional meeting in Wichita. Dr. Margaret Russell, associate professor of English, will be chairman of the round table of English teachers, at the Emporia meeting. Miss Helen Elock will also attend the meeting in Emporia, and will give an address on the subject, "Renewed Interest in the Early Ballad."

Prof. Pearl E. Ruby goes to Coffeyville where she gives an address on "Nutrition and Mental Health." Prof. Araminta Holman goes to Emporia, where her subject is "Art Work Abroad." Prof. Martha S. Pittman will address the teachers at Wichita on "Methods of Teaching Home Economics in Junior High Schools."

Dr. Martha Kramer will go to Dodge City, and Prof. Lillian Baker will go to Kansas City, Kan., to represent the college at those sessions.

Clarence Sprout, senior in the division of agriculture, has been called to his home in Mullinville on account of the illness of his father.

Brings Convention to Manhattan

Dr. W. E. Grimes, head of the department of agricultural economics, went to McPherson last Thursday to speak at the twenty-sixth annual meeting of the Kansas State Association of Mutual Insurance companies. His subject of discussion was "Co-operative Insurance." Despite the fact that Doctor Grimes was the only representative from Manhattan or the college present at the meeting, he was successful in obtaining the vote of the delegates to bring the convention to Manhattan next year.

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 3, 1925

Reports out of Milwaukee have it that 40,000 people will see the Aggies play there Saturday if good weather is furnished. Considering that the Aggies have been playing before from 4,000 to 12,000 people this fall, it might be well for Coach Bachman to put blinders on his eleven before the game.

THE FOOTBALL TEAM

The Kansas State football team will carry the banner of the Missouri Valley conference northward this week end, and the best wishes of the conference are with the Wildcats. The game will afford an interesting line on the comparative strength of valley and northern football.

Thus far The Collegian has refrained from commenting on the 1925 eleven. But if the football men will kindly move out of hearing lest they be forced to blush, we wish to state that the present squad is about the strongest aggregation taken as a whole that the Aggies have turned out since entering the valley a dozen years ago.

Outside of the unexplicable nightmare that was the Drake game, the Wildcats have acquitted themselves nobly on the field this fall, against a competition that is the keenest in recent years.

Marquette has a strong football team, and it will take everything the Aggies have to win Saturday. It might not be amiss for Aggie fans to drop around to the station Thursday at 1:15 and send the team off.

Violators of freshman customs at Pennsylvania State college are required to carry for two weeks a placard on their back stating what the infraction was.

Do You Have a Sense of Humor? Here Is a Chance to Prove It

The Brown Bull is getting fed up on student wit and threatens to break loose about November 14. His captors are stuffing him with something new in cartoons, something they consider new in jokes, and some students' conception of poetry.

The more he is fed, however, between now and the time for his appearance the fatter and better he will be and every student with a sense of humor is asked to prove that he has one by contributing a sample.

This animal, The Brown Bull, stuffed with good laughs, always sells on the market at 25 cents per head. So begin saving your pennies for November 14.

Foods Clinic Last Friday

Of particular interest to the visiting home demonstration agents and Manhattan mothers, was the foods clinic held one Friday afternoon recently in Room 46 of Calvin hall under the supervision of Prof. Pearl S. Ruby and her helpers. The exhibit consisted of the utensils necessary for the artificial feeding of infants and the demonstration pointed out the proper methods in the feeding.

BASKETBALL SCHEDULE CHANGED

Intramurals Will Open November 9 Instead of This Week

Opening games of the intramural basketball season were postponed until Monday, November 9, by the intramural board at a meeting last week.

Because of late applications from a number of organizations which necessitated a general revision on the schedule, and complaints of insufficient time for practice, the later date was deemed best.

Already an unprecedented number of organizations have signed for a place on the schedule. Thirty-six squads, an increase of six over the number last year, are preparing to participate in the coming winter's race.

Physical Director Knott, who is in full charge of the intramural athletic affairs, predicts a series of evenly matched court battles this winter under the intramural regime, and is confident of fully satisfying all basketball fans in the school.

AGGIE REUNIONS IN STATE TEACHER CONVENTION CITIES

President Farrell and Football Team to Be Guests of Kansas City Reunion

Reunions of Kansas Aggie graduates, and former students who are teaching, will be held in each of the six cities where the teachers' meetings are held, November 5, 6, and 7.

At Kansas City, Wichita, Salina, Emporia, Coffeyville, and Dodge City, chairmen have been chosen and places and time arranged for. President Farrell and members of the football squad on their way to Marquette university will be guests at the Kansas City reunion.

These gatherings of Aggies are always looked forward to as chief events of the teachers' meetings. Old friendships are renewed and an opportunity offered for greater acquaintance in the Aggie family.

"The successful men in college do not seem to be very happy. Most of them, especially the athletes, are overworked."

"Misdirected labor, though honest and well intentioned may lead to naught. Among the most important things for the student to learn is how to study. Without knowledge of this his labor may be largely in vain." Prof. G. F. Swain, M. I. T.

"To students who have never learned 'How to Study,' work is very often a chastisement, a flagellation, and an insuperable obstacle to contentment." Prof. A. Inglis, Harvard.

INTRAMURAL CROSS COUNTRY WON BY BOND, PHI KAPPA TAU

Winner of Bicycle Race Leads 130 to Tape—Race on Regular Varsity
Practice Course

Leading a field of 130 runners, George Bond, a member of the Phi Kappa Tau fraternity, finished fifty yards ahead of his nearest opponent last Thursday afternoon in the second intramural event of the season, the three mile cross country run, which he covered in seventeen minutes.

This is the second victory for Bond in as many days and gives him a good boost toward being high point man in intramural athletics. Wednesday afternoon he won the two mile bicycle race. Besides Bond, Phi Kappa Tau placed Artley, third, and White, ninth, being the only fraternity to have men among the first ten winners.

"The time of seventeen minutes is unusually good considering the conditions and the previous training of the runners," said Captain R. E. Kimport of the varsity harriers. "Many of these men should make varsity material next fall."

The race was run on the regular three mile practice course used by the varsity with the start and finish at the stadium track. Owing to the large number of entries the event was delayed until dusk which made running on the road quite difficult.

As in the bicycle race ten points were given for first place, nine for second, and so on for ten places. This is in addition to the point for entering. A gold watch charm is also awarded the winner of first place.

The results are as follows: First, Bond, Phi Kappa Tau; second, Roush, unattached; third, Artley, Phi Kappa Tau; fourth, Barton, unattached; fifth, Artman, unattached; sixth, McBurney, unattached; seventh, Hanlin, unattached; eighth, Benson, unattached; ninth, White, Phi Kappa Tau; tenth, Weberg, unattached.

Special assembly was held in the auditorium Saturday morning for the late Dr. H. J. Waters, former president of K. S. A. C., who died last Monday night at his home in Kansas City, Mo. Many students and residents of Manhattan were present.

E. Grimes, and S. A. Bardwell of Manhattan. Each speaker spoke as a representative of an organization with which Doctors Waters had come in contact.

A special selection by the college orchestra, a song, "One Sweetly Solemn Thought," rendered by the college choir; and a vocal number by the Faculty quartet gave an added touch of solemnity to the entire program.

ADDITION OF A. B. DEGREE OPPOSED

FARRELL VOICES SENTIMENT AGAINST ANY CHANGE

Big Job of College Is to Strengthen Esteem of Bachelor of Science Degree

Complete opposition to any proposal for the addition of the bachelor of arts degree to the curriculum of the college, unless basic conditions change, was voiced by President F. D. Farrell at a meeting of the faculty of the division of general science in the chemistry building Tuesday afternoon.

"So long as I am head of this institution it will not offer an A. B. degree," Doctor Farrell asserted. "The fundamental mission of this school is not to cater to a large number of students, but our ideal is to combine vocational efficiency and culture. We have a mission here in the dignifying of labor in the home and in the industries. We want to make our field the best there is, and we can do it."

No Need for A. B. Degree Here

The big job of the college is to strengthen the esteem of the bachelor of science degree, President Farrell said. Although offering no criticism of the arts degree, he said there is no need of another institution in the state to offer the A. B. degree.

President Farrell's brief remarks followed short discussions by several other members of the faculty, who presented data showing the manner in which the addition of this degree would probably affect K. S. A. C., both in prestige and in enrollment. Dean J. T. Willard said enlargement of several departments, principally those of modern languages and history, and the creation of a new department of philosophy and ethics would be needed to prepare the curriculum for the additional degree.

Most Enrollment from Small Radius

Of 1,507 students in 53 high schools of the state, 800 favored the A. B. degree, and 707 favored the B. S. degree, according to data presented by Dr. W. H. Andrews, head of the department of education and dean of the summer school. Data secured from 25 teaching agencies showed that eleven favor the A. B. degree, while to twelve it made no difference, Doctor Andrews pointed out.

Results of investigations presented by Dr. V. L. Strickland of the department of education indicated that about half of the entire enrollment, both here and at the University of Kansas, comes from within a radius of 50 miles, that 75 per cent of the enrollment at K. S. A. C. comes from within a radius of 75 miles, and that 55 per cent of the enrollment at K. U. comes from a like radius.

Departments Show Steady Increase

A continued increase, amounting to about seven per cent from 1920 to 1924, has been made in enrollment in the departments of music, commerce and journalism, charts prepared by Prof. T. J. Anderson of the department of economics showed.

Dr. J. E. Ackert, chairman of the graduate council, said that some institutions question graduates from the college with the B. S. degree, who are seeking further study. The greatest present need of the college, he declared, is to get a high percentage of teachers in proportion to the number of students.

JOURNALISTS HOLD OPEN HOUSE

Theta Sigma Phi and Sigma Delta Chi Hosts

Journalism students were entertained from 4 to 5 o'clock on Thursday afternoon at informal open house by members of Sigma Delta Chi and Theta Sigma Phi, honorary and professional journalistic organizations.

Talks were made by faculty members and representatives of the two groups. Mrs. Irl Polson Long discussed the work of Theta Sigma Phi alumnae and the activities of other chapters. Miriam Dexter told of the work of the chapter here and requirements for eligibility, and Morse Salisbury discussed the ideals of Sigma Delta Chi. At the close of the program Fred Shideler invited the guests to make a tour of the printing plant.

Refreshments were served in the Sigma Delta Chi and Theta Sigma Phi club room.

Margaret Manley and Dorothy Fulton went to Junction City Saturday where they were guests at the Manley home.

FACULTY RECITAL SUNDAY

Third of Series Presented in College Auditorium Sunday

The third of the fall series of music department faculty recitals will be given at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon in the college auditorium by Prof. William Lindquist, baritone, Miss Kathleen McKlrick, pianist, and Miss Irma Smith, accompanist.

Crowds of more than 500 have attended the first two recitals of the series. The attendance is expected to increase each Sunday as the quality of the recitals becomes better known. Many of the people appearing this year in the faculty programs are new to Manhattan and the college and townspeople, faculty, and students are availing themselves of the opportunity to become acquainted with the new teachers' talents.

JITNEY FRIVOL SATURDAY NIGHT

ADMISSION, DANCES, CIDER, EVERYTHING—FIVE CENTS

Three Special Vaudeville Acts to Be Presented—Good Orchestra Engaged for Dancing

The fourth annual Frivol dance, jitney style, will be given under the auspices of the W. A. A. on Saturday night, November 7, in Nichols gymnasium.

An admission charge of 5 cents will be made at the door and everything inside, dances, cider, and favors, will be the same price. Between regular dances, three acts of vaudeville, in which 26 girls will have parts, will be given.

"Dutch Playmates" a Feature

The first of the acts, "Dutch Playmates," has a cast of six people. Nancy Carney, Nadine Buck, and Patricia Groves play the part of the boys, and Irene Bower, Beryl Wright, and Dorothy McCullough the part of the girls.

Elizabeth Hagenbuch, Emily Caton, Josephine Trindle, Janet Hellworth, and Harriet Geffert take the part of the boys in the "Affair d'Amour." The girls' parts in this act are taken by Dorothy Gray, Elsie Hayden, Nora Yoder, Caroline Sheetz, and Diantha Murdock.

The cast for the "Sailor's Hornpipe" is Doris Hanlin, Ruth Carswell, Virginia Clammer, Dorothy Dale, Esther Pagen, Louise Loomis, Kathleen Shaffner, Mary Burnett, Buenita Childers, and Ruth Stewart.

Frivol Outstanding Hill Event

This is the first time that the W. A. A. has tried the jitney idea in connection with this dance, and it is expected to be a great success. For over three weeks committees and members of the stunts have been working to make this year's Frivol outstanding among events on the hill.

The Pines Serenaders have been hired to play for the dancing and the feature acts for the evening, for which over 100 girls tried out. The committee plans to rope off a large portion of the floor in order to prevent onlookers from crowding the dancers. Merle Nelson is business manager for the entertainment.

Football Here Tomorrow

Perhaps the most momentous game the Aggies have ever played will be reproduced on the Sigma Delta Chi electrically operated scoreboard in the college auditorium Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Marquette has a strong team, and if the Aggies win the game, it will put them on equal standing with the best teams in the north and east.

The scoreboard will show every detail of the game, and explain it better than the average fan is able to diagnose play on the field. Accurate reports are assured since Prof. M. W. Brown, of the journalism department, accompanied the team to Milwaukee to report the battle play by play, and will also send the numerous incidents that are attendant to a 40,000 homecoming crowd at Milwaukee. A special telegraph wire has been leased for the grid reports.

Music will be furnished by the college band. Reports will be made on the other valley games at the end of each quarter. Admission is 25 cents.

Improvements have been made on the board since the Drake game, and those who saw the K. U. game reproduced were well satisfied with the operation of the board.

STADIUM DRIVE FOR FRESHMEN

UPPERCLASSMEN NOT SOLICITED FOR FUNDS THIS YEAR

Expect at Least 80 Per Cent of First Year Students to Pledge—Final Reports November 13

The annual drive for contributions to the Memorial Stadium fund is now under way. This fall it is being conducted only among members of the freshman class. Seniors, juniors, and sophomores have previously had the opportunity to contribute to the Stadium fund so that it is now unnecessary to solicit upperclassmen.

The drive last spring revealed the fact that practically 80 per cent of the faculty and students had subscribed to the Stadium fund. From the results of the campaign thus far at least an equal percentage of the new students will make pledges.

Hedberg and Taylor in Charge

The campaign this year is being conducted by Robert E. Hedberg and Carl Taylor, juniors in the division of general science. Fraternities and sororities report practically 100 per cent contributions from their pledges. More than twenty solicitors are at work among the rest of the freshman class and are making very satisfactory progress.

A banquet will be held for all workers and solicitors Monday evening, November 9, at the Pines Cafeteria. It is expected that all those connected with the drive will be ready to report and turn in their pledges preparatory to a final effort to be made before the Nebraska game.

Hope to Get State Aid

The partially completed Aggie Stadium has so far been constructed by contributions of Aggie friends, faculty, and students. It is hoped that the present freshman class will contribute a sufficient amount to pay for finishing at least two-thirds of the entire Stadium. When the Stadium has been completed that far it is the general belief that the State will aid in completing the bowl.

AMERICA IS EDUCATION MAD SAYS DOCTOR KLEINSMID

University of Southern California Head Tells Students to See Problems with Heart of Youth

Dr. Rufus Von Kleinsmid, well known educator and president of the University of Southern California, was the speaker in the weekly student assembly held Thursday morning. A vocal solo by Miss Marjorie Strobel of the department of music preceded the address "America Tomorrow" by Dr. Kleinsmid.

Dr. Kleinsmid, who was formerly president of the University of Arizona at Tucson before he accepted his present position, is an eminent psychologist. Besides having studied at several American colleges, he holds degrees from three foreign universities, and is considered a man of great experience and learning.

In his talk he made the statement that the United States has gone education mad. "19,640 students in the University of California," he said, "30,000 in Columbia University, and with each school providing for from two to three times its intended capacity, shows the manner in which we of America are learning to think in terms of big things."

"Before the generation of today there is a decade of the biggest things that the world has ever known. We are all familiar with the problems of it. Nothing seems to be without its problems. There have been many mistakes made by the past generation and many criticisms made of it. But the chief way to solve these problems is by education. Who can know truth as well as those who have come in contact with it?"

"We must be just as young today as we ever were. We must see problems with the heart of youth. We who have youth have the heart of it, with all of its vitality and energy. We must not be afraid to have convictions, but they must be full of the flaming aspect of youth, changing as the aspect of truth changes. Today must be a day full of convictions, and embracing in character. But it must be more than that; for we must have devotion—sacred devotion."

"America tomorrow must be the fulfillment of the vision that we see today. With eyes up, chests out, and face set forward we face the tomorrow, the new day," Doctor Kleinsmid concluded.

SPEAKERS FOR WORLD COURT LECTURERS CHOSEN

Kammeyer, Peine, and Hill Will Discuss Court at Noon Meetings in Calvin Hall

Speakers for the series of World Court lectures to be given in the Home economics rest room on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday from 12:30 to 12:55, next week, will be Dr. J. E. Kammeyer, Prof. A. F. Peine, and Dr. H. T. Hill. The week will be known as the "Universal Week of Prayer."

At Monday's meeting Miss Dorothy Rosebrough will preside and Doctor Kammeyer will lecture on the subject, "What Is the World Court?" Paul Skinner will preside over Tuesday's meeting when Professor Peine will talk on the subject, "Significance of the World Court." Miss Nellie Bare will have charge of the meeting Wednesday and Doctor Hill will talk on "What Can American Students Do?"

The purpose of the meetings is to educate the students and general public as to the qualities of the world court and to urge each person, after careful study of the question, to write a letter to the president of the United States and to each of the two senators from their state, expressing briefly the writer's judgment and desire on the question of America becoming a supporting member of the world court.

H. J. Waters, Jr., of Columbia, Mo., was in Manhattan Saturday to attend the memorial services held for his father, Dr. H. J. Waters.

DISCUSS CHURCH INTEREST

Y. W. Vespers Tuesday Will Attempt to Crystallize Criticism

"Where Does the Church Come In?" will be the topic of discussion at the Y. W. C. A. vespers service next Tuesday at 4 o'clock in Recreation center. College students today take little interest in the activities of the church. They not only appear indifferent but they criticize the church. The Y. W. discussion will be for the purpose of crystallizing this criticism and making it constructive rather than destructive.

Special music will be furnished by the octette. Interest in these discussions is increasing and they will be continued for several weeks. The question for the following week will be "Can We Be 100 Per Cent Americans?"

K. S. A. C. HOST TO ENGINEERS

KANSAS-NEBRASKA ASSOCIATION WILL MEET HERE NOVEMBER 13

Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education Will Discuss Student Problem

K. S. A. C. will be host to between 60 and 70 instructors in engineering on November 13 and 14, according to Prof. A. J. Mack, of the department of mechanical engineering.

Not Confined Strictly to Engineers

The delegates will consist of between 15 and 20 delegates from the universities of Nebraska and Kansas and K. S. A. C., who compose the Nebraska-Kansas section of the Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education, and will make this the annual meeting. The meeting is not confined to instructors in engineering, however, according to Professor Mack, instructors in mathematics, English, and other subjects being welcome also.

Principal topics for discussion at the meeting will be the study of admission and elimination of engineering students and the studying of students at the time of enrolment.

Attend Husker-Wildcat Fray

Conferences will be held Friday evening and Saturday morning. A luncheon will be held Friday noon, and the annual banquet is scheduled for Saturday noon. A round of golf on the local golf course will afford attraction for some on Friday afternoon.

The annual Nebraska-Kansas Aggie football game Saturday, November 14, will be expected to draw the entire delegation to Memorial stadium in the afternoon.

Miss Hazel Johnson visited her home in Herington last week end.

Misses Ruth Richardson and Dorothy McCullough spent the week end at their homes in Marion.

AGGIES TO WORK OUT AT NORTHWESTERN TODAY

Wildcats Play Marquette Tomorrow After 800 Mile Trip—A Royal Welcome Promised

Eight hundred miles from home, the Wildcat Tornado of Kansas State tomorrow will be pitted against the Golden Avalanche of Marquette university in Milwaukee, before a crowd expected to reach the 40,000 mark. The Wildcat team will be made to feel at home after its northward jaunt, and everything made comfortable for it by the Marquette hosts except for the 60 minutes when the Wildcat and the Avalanche play the homecoming battle on Hilltop field in Milwaukee.

Aggie Grads There

The Wildcat team will be met at the station in Milwaukee by Marquette rooters, and escorted to their quarters to the tune of the Kansas State "Alma Mater" song. The Marquette glee club has memorized the words and the Marquette band and orchestra the music, and in addition there will be several hundred Aggies from Chicago, Milwaukee, and thereabouts who will be anxious to see the home team perform after years of exile.

But so much for that.

at of her jumble of conflicting and oftentimes erroneous forecasts, Madam Dope so has dictated that the odds for the Aggie-Marquette game shall be even, which probably will be small comfort to the losing team. Two strong passing combinations, two heavy, charging lines, two good punters, and two sets of speedy, shifty backfield men. These are the things on the menu for the football hungry of the city on the shores of Lake Michigan.

May Shift Line-up

A year ago Missouri went north and came back with the scalp of Chicago dangling at its belt. Tomorrow the Aggies conduct another raid on a team which rates among the best in national football circles.

Practice behind locked gates has been the order for the Aggies all week, with an occasional light workout against the freshmen, who used the peculiar Marquette tandem formation. Only one rumor of any substance has drifted out of the practice, and that to the effect that Karl Enns, Inman, sophomore quarterback, may play the game tomorrow as a halfback.

Every Aggie player was in perfect physical condition as the train left Manhattan yesterday afternoon. So the best in Kansas will meet an All-Wisconsin eleven tomorrow before 40,000 Wisconsinites, while Manhattan watches the game on the scoreboard "way down south in Kansas."

DON'T COME HERE!

In the last 10 years the University of Nebraska has grown from an institution of a little more than 8,000 to about 11,000. The increase each year is tremendous; more perhaps than any other large university in the country. In this time the cost per year of educating each student has gone steadily down, for the university has grown immensely while its appropriations have fallen behind. Ten years ago the cost was $280 per student; today it is $155. Because of this rigid economy that has been necessary, the number of students for each instructor has gradually increased. Classes are now so cumbersome, due to the lack of instructors, that personal contact is impossible. A survey of 23 universities made last year, shows that Nebraska, with 18.2 students per instructor, has the next to the highest percentage of the group. The general average is 13.82 students per instructor, and the lowest is 5.8. This, be it remembered, is not at any highly endowed private school, but at a state university! In addition to a lack of instructors, there is the matter of housing. Increasing needs each year, with little relief, make the situation acute. In 1874, when the university was a weak institution, the investment in buildings per student was $1,100; today it is $300.

From this, no one can deny that there is overcrowding and over-economy and that the personal contact with the instructor is practically lost. One person had a stock reply to all complaints from students who said they could not get their work because of the large classes and loss of personal contact. It was: "You had it there before you in your book in black and white. Why couldn't you get it?" Of course, that is logical. But there are few, if any students, who can get as much from books as from personal instruction, given here in a diluted form in lecture. Some one said that his idea of a university was a log, with a student on one end and Mark Hopkins on the other. That is personal contact, plus, but it is significant. In this university personal instruction is lost, and the fast increasing enrollment is taxing the housing facilities to the utmost.

Now what is the remedy for this? There are, it is apparent, two alternatives: to increase the appropriations and the facilities to their proper ratio, or to limit the attendance. The former seems to have failed. The legislature, at its last session, compromised on a bill for more money by giving the university about the same as before. Therefore, it seems there is but one remedy left—to limit enrollment.

This can be done in several ways. There may be a flat rule as to the number who can register. This is done at many schools, but at a state university it is hardly practicable. For the taxpayer could say, and with good reason, that he had paid his taxes and he had a right to have his son or daughter educated.

Another method, and a better one, is to increase the entrance requirements. Such a plan would doubtless cause a terrific uproar from those who had slipped easily through the four years of some rural high school and expected to then become collegians. But the situation is becoming desperate and a heroic remedy is demanded. Increasing scholarship requirements, to drop the freshmen at mid-semester, are mostly ineffective.

In addition, it might be well to curb those over-enthusiastic alumni who worship size and measure a university's success by its enrollment. This peculiar mental condition has been termed "giantism." There are too many people around the university afflicted with "giantism." They urge all students to go to Nebraska, where in truth they would do both the prospective student and the university a favor by sending them some place else. They cry for bigger and better advertising, by football, and other publicity sources, to bring more students to the dear ol' alma mater.

But if they would do the university a real favor they would be quiet and reserved when Nebraska is mentioned and indicate by the lift of an eyebrow or the shrug of a shoulder that perhaps the university isn't what it's cracked up to be. And if such subtle methods fail, they may visit the school, in registration week, and perform a real service by parading the streets with signs which might read: "DON'T COME HERE! WE'VE GOT TOO MANY NOW."—Daily Nebraskan.

On Other Hills

Total blindness does not deprive six Ohio State students of a college education. Five men and one coed, blind since birth, attend University classes, take interest in campus activities, and have desires, aspirations, and ideals as high as those of their fellow students despite their handicap.

Serious trouble was barely averted by the action of several students of the Colorado School of Mines who stole a banner from the stands of Denver university last Saturday. The Mines student body sent a letter of apology and promised an early return of the banner.

There are 28 students who are candidates for the Rhodes scholarship from Indiana this year. This is an increase of 8 over last year. Qualifications for selection are literary and scholastic attainments, qualities of manhood, force of character and leadership, and physical vigor, as shown by interest in outdoor sports or in other ways.

Fall enrollment figures from colleges indicate that agricultural attendance is on an increase after many years of gradual decline, according to J. R. Sage, registrar of Iowa State college.

Three hundred and sixty dollars has been paid out from the agronomy department for cotton picking this fall, at the Oklahoma A. and M. college.

As a result of physical examinations at Northwestern university, the men were found to be less physically fit than the women.

The University of Missouri has organized a polo team. A game has been scheduled with the University of Oklahoma which is probably the only other school in the valley that can boast of a polo team.

A former captain of the Nebraska football team recently returned to Lincoln in another capacity, that of Governor of the state of Utah. Another argument for those who encourage inter-collegiate athletics.

There are 14 University of Kansas graduates enrolled in the Harvard graduate school of business administration. The University of Kansas ranks fifth in the number of students attending the business school.

Twenty Fifth Grade Kids Enjoy Weekly Visits to Calvin Hall

With happy smiling faces and clean white aprons, twenty children from the fifth grades of Manhattan trotted busily around Calvin hall last Saturday, helping in the kitchen and in the dining room, setting the tables and placing the chairs, and then eating heartily of the delicious food prepared by the nine girls in the class of field work in nutrition, under the supervision of their instructor, Prof. Pearle S. Ruby.

From now on, every week during the school year, these twenty fifth grade children, most of them underweight, at the request of their parents will come to Calvin hall on Saturday to eat their noon meal, prepared by the laboratory class of field work in nutrition. A nominal sum of 15c is charged for each meal. In conjunction with this, a careful record of the vegetables and the other foods that each child eats during the week, is kept. Each child is weighed and measured and his weekly progress noted, also.

Work has been carried out previously with children of the fifth grades by laboratory classes of field work in nutrition, but taking a group of children and giving them a lunch once a week at the college is an entirely new departure. Professor Ruby, in charge of the undertaking, is convinced, however, that the new method will work more satisfactorily. In former years all the children in the fifth grades have kept a health and diet chart, and were weighed and measured. Now, with the smaller group, more specific results can be noted.

They're Better

In an isolated region, almost inaccessible in winter, this 6500 h.p. hydro-electric plant located on the Deerfield River in New England, starts, protects, and stops itself.

A Self-Starting Power Plant

Dawn—the slumbering city awakens and calls for electric current. Many miles away the call is answered. A penstock opens automatically, releasing impounded waters; a water turbine goes to work, driving a generator; and electric current is soon flowing through wires over the many miles to the city. This plant starts and runs itself.

Power plants with automatic control are now installed on isolated mountain streams. Starting and stopping, generating to a set capacity, shutting down for hot bearings and windings, gauging available water supply, they run themselves with uncanny precision.

Thus another milestone has been reached in the generation of electric power. And with present-day achievements in power transmission, electricity generated anywhere may be applied everywhere.

The non-technical graduate need not know where electricity comes from—nor even how it works. But he should know what electricity can do for him no matter what vocation he selects.

The General Electric Company has developed generating and transmitting equipment step by step with the demand for electric power. Already electricity at 220,000 volts is transmitted over a distance of 270 miles. And G-E engineers, ever looking forward, are now experimenting with voltages exceeding a million.

A new series of G-E advertisements showing what electricity is doing in many fields will be sent on request. Ask for booklet GEK-1.

Carte du Jour

Now, Francis Krimke, early in his college career, would have no frills, either regarding scholarship and studies, or equipment. Hence, we found him (that is, someone did) buying a pen for $1.37—today only—and putting the difference between that and the price of a Parker Duofold in books—good books, too, let it be understood. And passing charitably over some profane lapses, he got along with it till graduation, and then some. We're liberal—it would make a mark when you pressed it, frequently. But Krimke, with this penny-grasping trait, went bankrupt three years after graduation. And he never did amount to much after.

Jack Free, on the other hand, had an eye to quality, beauty, and—oh yes—quality. His second week in college found him with a Parker Duofold. Makes no difference; he did steal it—he knew what sort to steal, and the victim bought another Parker, anyway. Well, to coin a phrase, that's just like Jack, and he graduated and signed his first check with a flourish and a Parker. And, due to must be admitted in fairness by all, to this belief and insistence on quality at all costs, he went stony broke two years.

So there was a little advantage in the Parker Duofold over the cheap pen, except having something decent to write with during the period mentioned.

ATTEND POTATO SHOW

Extension Workers and Botanists in Topeka This Week

Representatives from the college, including E. A. Stokdyk, marketing specialist; D. R. Porter, Louis Williams, E. E. Wells, and I. N. Chapman, extension workers; Dean H. Umberger of the extension division, and Prof. L. E. Melchers of the botany department, attended the fifth annual Kansas Potato show in Topeka, November 4, 5 and 6.

To consider and compare the most effective means of controlling seed borne diseases of Irish potatoes, the best methods of culture, and means of marketing will be among the principal topics to be discussed at the meeting. Reports on experiments conducted by the college experiment station in cooperation with potato growers will also be taken up.

HOMECOMING ARRANGEMENTS MADE BY ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

Class of '16 to Be Hosts at Reception in Recreation Center Night Before Game

Arrangements for entertainment during homecoming, November 14, are being completed by the alumni association. The pep meeting Friday night before the Nebraska game is the first thing on the program. Following the pep meeting there will be a reception in Recreation center with the class of '16 as hosts.

Saturday morning at 10:30 an assembly will be held in Recreation center with Dr. H. H. King presiding and talks by President Farrell, Mike Ahearn, and Josh Billings, '13, former catcher for the St. Louis Browns. Mr. Billings has been playing professional baseball ever since he left college. Lunch at 12:00 Saturday noon in the cafeteria with Albert Dickens, '22, presiding will be impromptu in nature. The big game will occupy the afternoon. Evan Griffith, chairman of the activity committee of the Riley County Alumni association, and J. H. McAdams, entertainment chairman for the class of '16, have charge of the program.

It is hoped that homecoming will become an event of real interest. Coming at a time when there is much interest and real activity on the campus, homecoming should serve to bring back many old memories and also to acquaint the old timers with the progress of the school. The class of '16 will also hold a reunion at this time.

Prof. G. A. Dean of the department of entomology will leave Thursday morning for a trip through northeastern Kansas, where he will inspect the orchards and nurseries. He will be gone all week, in answer to the many requests for his services that have come from that part of the state.

When you have to concentrate on a heavy theme

TAKE this tip from Prince Albert: Pack your pipe with P. A. and make fire with a match! That's the formula. Nothing complicated. And it works, it works! Yes, sir! Every jimmy-pipe bowl is a well of inspiration when it's packed with cool, fragrant, soothing Prince Albert.

You'll celebrate . . . and celebrate the discovery. Prince Albert is sure the right kind of pal to tie to. No matter how stiff the grade, P. A. will go right along with you. Can't bite your tongue or parch your throat, because the Prince Albert process won't let it.

Let Prince Albert cheer you with your work. Let it sweep away the mental cobwebs as nothing else can. In all the world of fine tobaccos, there's nothing like friendly P. A. Slip into top-speed now and head for the nearest store where they hand out jimmy-pipe joy in tidy red tins, marked "Prince Albert."

—no other tobacco is like it!

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, round and half-pound tin humidors, and round crystal-glass humidors with sponge-remover top. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.

Look at the U. S. revenue stamp—there are TWO full ounces in every tin.

TRYOUTS BEING HELD FOR AGGIE RIFLE TEAM

Prospects for Winning Team Good—Effort Being Made to Get Recognition as Minor Sport

Prospects for a winning rifle team in the Seventh Corps Area matches are very bright this year, according to Captain Waltz who is coaching the team.

Try-outs were held during the past two weeks for new candidates and fourteen men were selected to enter the final try-outs, which will determine the fifteen men and two alternates who will make up the team. The final try-outs started last Tuesday and will be completed by December 19.

Seven men have returned who were members of last year's team and the team of two years ago. The members of last year's team who are back are L. H. Long, O. K. Correll, R. L. Roberts, H. R. Senior. The members of the team two years ago who have returned are I. K. McWilliams, W. S.

Mayden, A. W. Clark. The new candidates are D. H. Schultz, L. T. Richards, F. K. Peterson, O. E. Taintor, Fred Schultz, W. C. Denton, C. M. Barber, G. R. Borgman, M. T. Means, C. N. Hinkle, Kenneth Hale, G. Koger, R. Williams, and P. C. Perry.

Contracts have been sent to twenty-one universities and colleges throughout the United States. These matches will be fired at the rate of four a week, starting in February and continuing until April.

The Seventh Corps Area matches will be started in January, and will be completed by March 14. The four teams making the highest scores will fire in the National Collegiate match.

Seven men will be selected to fire in the Hearst Trophy match, starting April 1. All senior units in the country are eligible to compete for this trophy, which was won last year by the University of Minnesota team.

"Members of the rifle team must possess the same perfect physical condition and train as constantly as the candidates for any athletic team," Captain Waltz said. "The men are required to spend several hours in practice on the range each week and physical perfection is necessary to obtain coordination between the mind and muscles."

Although the rifle team is not yet recognized as a minor sport at Kansas State, an effort will be made this spring to have it considered as such. Members of the teams of Minnesota, Nebraska, and Missouri universities are awarded letters, and if present plans are successful, the Aggie rifle team will receive letters of the type awarded to members of the swimming and boxing teams.

ATTEND HEREFORD FIELD DAY

Rogier and Kleimberg Submit Essays on Event

Representatives from five agricultural colleges and prominent cattle breeders of 10 states were in attendance at the Hereford field day held last month at Hazford Place, the great stock farm of R. H. Hazlett near El Dorado.

The American Hereford Breeders' association of Kansas City offered a prize of $50 and traveling expenses to the college student who submitted the best essay on the field day, two delegates being chosen from each school. Wayne Rogier and T. M. Kleimberg of the animal husbandry department were the Kansas State representatives. The colleges represented were K. S. A. C., Colorado Agricultural college, Missouri university, Nebraska university, Iowa State college. The winning essay will appear in the Breeder's Gazette.

R. H. Hazlett, the owner of Hazford Place, has the best herd of Herefords in the world, and the field day attracted much attention among cattlemen. Addresses were delivered by prominent authorities on the cattle industry and agriculture, among whom was President F. D. Farrell, who spoke on "What Kansas Thinks of Mr. Hazlett."

Rogier and Kleimberg submitted their essays last week.

Professor Call to Washington

L. E. Call, dean of the division of agriculture, left Tuesday for Washington, D. C., where he will attend a meeting of a committee to judge the soil program for the United States as submitted by the county agents all over the country. This judging committee of which Professor Call is a member was appointed by the soil improvement committee of the National Fertilizer association.

Visits Remarkable Insect Collection

Dr. R. C. Smith of the entomology department spent Sunday visiting the collections of F. E. Crevecoeur at Onaga. According to Doctor Smith, the insect collection of Mr. Crevecoeur, who is a naturalist and an official reporter for the United States Biological survey, is the most remarkable he ever saw.

Even though Mr. Crevecoeur has had no college or high school education and has obtained his knowledge of science from extensive reading and research work, he is now considered an authority on bird and insect life.

WILDCATS DOWN NORTHERN FOE

SAFETY GIVES AGGIES 2-0 VICTORY OVER MARQUETTE

Golden Avalanche Downed in Mud After Bitter Struggle—Northern Royal Hosts

A quelling, querulous Aggie team went to Milwaukee a few days ago. It started into that Marquette game somewhat testily for the Wildcats were far from home and none too sure of the strength of that Milwaukee unit nor of their own strength either.

But a few moments of play proved to the Wildcats that football is football wherever it is played and that the west had as much prowess and as many tricks as did the east. From the moment that Cochrane, McGee and the rest forgot their becoming modesty the battle looked like an Aggie victory. With whoever is the god of football smiling graciously on the westerners the assembled Milwaukee fans saw their favorites harassed and driven back by an ever alert and aggressive Aggie team.

Four Kicks Fail

The Aggies early had a chance to score via a field goal and five more times were they within scoring distance—twice by the touchdown route and thrice thru the booted oval. The fact that they failed to score in all the tries except for the safety doesn't matter so much for the ball was kept in Marquette territory most of the game. Not until the final minute of play did the Catholics become serious contenders for a victory. Then Curtin, substitute quarterback, tried valiantly to kick a goal from placement. Four times he tried and four times he failed. Perhaps if he had been given seven chances like Robert Bruce's spider he might have sent one of his kicks over and between the goal posts. But with the Aggie team blocking and charging the way it was even seven chances might not have sufficed.

The second period although uninteresting was fruitful as it yielded the safety that won for the Wildcats. Cochrane started it all with one of his long and well placed punts. Out of bounds went the ball on Marquette's three yard line. On the next play Demoling, Irish quarterback, dropped back of his own goal line to punt the ball out of the danger zone. But several Aggies felt otherwise and three of them broke thru the vaunted Golden Avalanche line and bore down on the luckless Demoling. Ballard was the first Aggie to reach the enemy quarter and down him but Fleck and Randels were close behind him. These two points proved to be the only score of the game.

A Tense Moment

Tense moments developed in the third quarter twice when the Aggies were separated from the Marquette goal only by inches. The first chance to score came when Wilson made a fair catch on the 43 yard line and they followed that advantage by rushing the ball to the 29 yard line where Holsinger passed to Wilson for 14 yards. With the ball on the 15 yard line Holsinger and Wilson smashed through for 10 yards and first down. Four more yards were added by Cochrane and Feather and then Joe Holsinger tried valiantly but futilely to get the ball over for a touchdown. Marquette's secondary offense was drawn up close behind the forward rampart and refused to be dislodged. Again the Aggies had a near touchdown after the Aggie backs had worked the ball to the 1 foot line. Here the Avalanche stuck and blocked and refused to yield more than a few inches.

On the first try for touchdown Holsinger really crossed the line but before he did so he had made a temporary stop. Although the whistle had not blown to stop the play an unkind referee ruled that in Holsinger's momentary stop the ball became technically dead. And from his decision there could be no appeal. Marquette was fairly defeated and clearly outplayed. But its team showed a spirit of fair fight that is laudable. And Aggie players and fans who made the trip will not soon forget the courtesy and welcome shown by Marquette university officials, fans, and alumni. Milwaukee and Marquette were gracious to their guests.

GIRL CHOSEN ON JUDGING TEAM

MISS MARY HALSE SETS PRECEDENT AT K. S. A. C.

Other Stock Judges Also Selected—Leave for Series of Shows Today

For the first time in the history of Kansas and the Kansas State Agricultural college a girl has been chosen a member of the senior livestock judging team. Among the six persons on the 1925 team as announced by Prof. F. W. Bell, coach of the team, is Miss Mary E. Halse, senior in the department of agricultural economics, whose home is in Crowley, Col.

Five Other Members

Other members of the team are W. H. Atzenweller, Huron; A. C. Hoffman, Abilene; T. M. Kleinberg, South Africa; Lionel Holm, Denmark; and Wayne Rogier, Matfield Green. Of the six judges, five will participate in the contests, the other serving as an alternate. Professor Bell announced that Miss Halse will undoubtedly be one of the five members to participate in the judging.

Two contests will be participated in by the college team—the American Royal Livestock show in Kansas City, November 14, and the International Livestock Exposition in Chicago, November 28. In competition with twelve teams at the American Royal last year, the college team won first, duplicating the accomplishment of 1924.

Kansas Has Highest Average

After winning sweepstakes at the Kansas City show last year, the team went to Chicago and won fifth place in competition with 24 teams from colleges and universities from all parts of the United States and Canada. The 1923 team from the college won first, thereby making them champions of the world, in the opinion of authorities who rate the teams participating in this contest the best in the world. The record of the Kansas team at this contest for the past six years has been higher than that of any other team, according to Professor Bell.

In the National Western Livestock show in Denver last year, this team placed second. Miss Halse was a member of the team, and ranked second in number of points won, being excelled by a man on the winning team. Having lived on a livestock ranch in western Kansas until she was 13 years old, Miss Halse has had considerable experience with livestock and takes a great delight in handling animals, especially horses.

A large sterling silver loving cup, standing more than two feet in height, which is presented to the winning team each year at the American Royal show, has been in possession of the college for the past year. It has been returned to the show. The cup becomes the permanent possession of the college team winning first in the contest two years in succession.

The team will leave today at noon for Wichita, where they will attend the Kansas National show before going to Kansas City.

Webster-Eurodelphian Banquet

The Webster and Eurodelphian literary societies will have a joint banquet Saturday night, homecoming, at which all visiting members of the two societies will be special guests. The banquet will be served in the banquet room of the college cafeteria, and covers will be laid for 100.

Will Address Science Meeting

President Farrell has been chosen to deliver the main address before the annual meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science in Kansas City December 29. A prominent scientific leader of the United States is selected to make the principal speech each year.

Cadets Take Notice

The R. O. T. C. of Kansas State will form at the gymnasium at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning, Armistice day, for a parade through the downtown district. The marchers will go down Poynts to Second street, north on Second to Houston, up Houston to Eighth, and back to the college through Aggieville.

There will be no classes the third and fourth hours Wednesday, and the R. O. T. C. men will also be excused from fifth hour, according to Col. F. W. Bugbee, commandant.

BOXERS TRAINING FOR DUAL BOUT

SEVEN OF LAST YEAR'S SQUAD BACK THIS YEAR

Meets Scheduled with Notre Dame, Kansas University and Ames—Sport Became Popular Last Winter

Seven amateur pugilists at present make up the boxing squad which will represent K. S. A. C. in the ring next winter in the second year of the school's participation in the sport. Three lettermen and four members of last year's aggregation, who failed to win a necessary match for the letter will furnish the strength of the 1926 troupe of boxers.

Pearson and Tombaugh Out Later

Led by Captain C. F. Hoelzel the following men have gone into training for the squad: O. E. Walgren, 115 pounds; F. T. Rose, 135 pounds, letterman; H. E. Miller, 135 pounds; H. Purcell, 140 pounds; S. Ferrell, 158 pounds; and L. S. Guthrie, 175 pounds. Zur Pearson, star heavyweight and knockout artist of last season's Aggie ring representatives and S. J. Tombaugh, also a member of that squad, are detained for the present on the gridiron but are expected to augment this array of formidable ring talent at the close of the season.

With nearly all lettermen back, E. A. Knoch, physical director, is looking forward to a favorable year in this branch of athletics. Three dual meets that will probably test the full strength of the Aggie aggregation have been tentatively booked by the athletic board. The squad will journey to South Bend, Ind., some unset date in January to meet Notre Dame battlers. Later in the winter Oklahoma A. and M. and Iowa State will send a team to Manhattan for encounters with Aggie knights of the padded glove. February 27 is the date for the Ames conflict.

The two dual meets already arranged to be staged here this winter are expected to draw a large following from college amateur boxing fans.

CORNHUSKERS PREPARING FOR AGGIES, LAST M. V. OPPONENTS

Have Met String of Six Hard Foes—Wildcats as Dangerous as Name Implies

Lincoln, Nebr., Nov. 9.—(Special)—Starting this afternoon, the Nebraska Cornhuskers will prepare for their last combat of the year with a Missouri Valley opponent. And once the game with the Kansas Aggies is placed into the history files, the Huskers will enjoy a week of rest, that is, a gameless Saturday, before they take on their biggest task of the season—Notre Dame university.

Right now, however, the Huskers have a big job on their hands. For six straight Saturdays they have had to keep humping to be ready to meet the long string of hard foes which has confronted them Saturday after Saturday. Ever since the season started they have had one big hurdle after another, and the strain of the thing is commencing to tell.

Now they approach the seventh hurdle—Kansas State Agricultural college of Manhattan—and after that comes a Saturday of rest.

It will be no setup next Saturday for the Cornhuskers when they invade Manhattan. The Wildcats of K. S. A. C. are as dangerous as the animal after which they have been named; they are not the domestic product but the real "out of the woods" hard scrapping foe. And, this year, they are pointing for the Nebraska struggle more than ever, for they have figured out that comparative scores give them a slight edge over the Cornhuskers.

Wears $400 Wedding Cap

The cap worn by Vilma Banky, Samuel Goldwyn's Budapest discovery, with her beautiful bridal costume in "The Dark Angel," George Fitzmaurice's production, is said to have cost over $400. You'll see it in "The Dark Angel" showing at the Marshall theater the first four days of this week.

Reasons for Faults of Cheerleaders Are Finally Discovered

The band has turned cannibal! A small group of students were attracted to the bulletin board at the north entrance of Anderson hall where this startling announcement appeared!

"Football on Electric Board. Band Eats Cheerleaders."

Not a whisper of any such movement going over the campus was suspected by the student body. The band has always been kind if not docile in its attitude toward the cheerleaders. But evidently they believe in unity there is strength and for a paltry sum of twenty-five cents they are willing to give a public demonstration on how to eat a live cheerleader.

Just in what manner the band intends to use this money has not been discovered. But if it hopes to make some additions to that plumed hat of its leader, a humble student would like to make a suggestion that to draw a larger crowd, it butcher chemistry professors instead. Save the cheerleaders, we might need them.

INTERNATIONAL BROTHERHOOD NOW PREVALENT IN EUROPE

Encouraging to Note That Students Are Working Solutions to World Problems, Miss Wildy Declares

"Of all the impressions received in my travels in Europe this summer, the most important one was the great spirit of international brotherhood that existed among the foreign students," said Miss Lois Wildy, secretary of the college. Y. W. C. A., speaking at the student forum last Thursday noon.

Miss Wildy, who was a member of the Student Friendship committee that studied student relations in seven different European countries this past summer, believes that the European student has a greater knowledge of philosophy and world needs, and

'S TERRIBLE

Unpleasant fumes raised two years ago by the "cribbing" investigation have subsided enough that The Collegian hesitates to revivify the odor. But it seems that family skeletons must be given sunlight treatment every so often to keep them in their place as respectable members of the community.

Class room cribbing, the principal bone of contention two years ago, is not particularly in evidence, at Kansas State this fall.

Another form of the malady, however, has been permitted to go unchecked and even fostered by organized houses on the hill until it has become widespread. In most organized houses, it has become traditional for outgoing students with any sort of scholastic tendencies to bequeath the notebooks, themes, textbooks, and the like acquired in four years here to the incoming generation. Then by a little judicious copying Willie usually manages to "make" most of the parties during the school year without detriment to his academic standing—unless he is a total loss mentally.

We have no doubt that many estimable citizens have been helped through college and into the butter and egg business in this manner. Surely the amount of work which may be spent in copying a notebook has served a useful purpose in fostering habits of work in later life.

Recently it has come to our ears, however, that a few of the less vigorous of the young idea have even passed up the formality of copying notebooks, and are handing them in "as was" with only the title sheet changed.

The older heads in fraternities, sororities, and organized clubs really should take hold of the matter and see that the underclassmen copy all notebooks that are handed in as originals. One night each week might be set aside for notebook copying under the watchful eye of the house marshal.

Upperclassmen, of course, would not benefit from such a system, but by training the young idea those who refuse to copy notebooks gradually will be eliminated.

Judge for Yourself

This column is conducted for those who have some criticism or comment they wish to express publicly. Any material received will be published as written, with the exception of changes necessary in having it set into type. No anonymous contributions will be used, but only the initials will be published if the writer so requests. Opinions expressed herein are those of an individual, and do not voice the policies of The Collegian in any way.

"Hark, hark the dogs do bark,
The beggars are coming to town.
Some in rags, some in tags,
And some in velvet gowns."

With wide open eyes, we listened to that nursery rhyme years ago. Our conception of the beggar was of a palsied, dirty, tattered old man with mangy pups barking at his heels in company with a beggar dressed in a gown of royal purple.

Years have passed since we first heard that rhyme but we have learned that the author was preparing us for other beggars that we would meet. For in the two last lines there is a keen analysis of human nature over the world.

In college especially there are two classes of beggars. One who is poorly clothed in his accomplishments but richly endowed by the goddess of wisdom. He is driven on by the incessant demand on his ambitions, and thoughts of the folks back home.

His themes and his notebooks are his own, and not given to him as the ancestral inheritance of the cellars of the boarding and the fraternity house. He probably is not as successful as he would be if he handed in a twelve year old "E" theme but he has the satisfaction of knowing that his grade represents his own effort.

The other beggar is richly clothed in bluff and in the protection of his collection of other people's mental accomplishments. He is the under-study of laziness and the cellar which contains accumulated physics and chemistry problems is his citadel.

"Town" to him is not an educational center but one of frivolity where he can spend four years checking on dad. And on he goes merrily thru college on indorsed knowledge.

"Hark, hark the dogs do bark,
The beggars are coming to town.
Some in rags, some in tags,
And some in velvet gowns."

Warning should be given to the beggar in the velvet gown, that the roads are rough between towns.

Alpha Delta Pi will entertain with a banquet Friday night in the banquet room of the college cafeteria. Visiting alumni will be special guests. Mrs. W. E. Grimes is in charge of the arrangements.

Delta Sigma Phi will entertain with a house dance Saturday, homecoming. About six alumni members and about 10 members from the Alpha Psi chapter at Nebraska will be special guests.

Miss Gladys Swartz, freshman in public school music, had as her guest for the week end her sister, Miss Mary Swartz of Atchison.

The Goose Hangs High

The Purple Masque players gained fame for themselves and added not a little to the prestige of their organization last Friday evening, November 6, by their presentation of Lewis Beach's "The Goose Hangs High." To say that they pleased the extraordinarily large audience, one which filled all the good seats in the college auditorium, would be saying it with much more reserve than is necessary—or even fair.

Incidentally, Prof. H. Miles Heberer, new coach of dramatics, made his necessarily self-effacing bow to the playgoers of Manhattan and the college. That under his directorship Purple Masque will continue to have the fine type of coaching it has enjoyed for several years there is now not the slightest doubt.

"The Goose Hangs High" is a play that presents many puzzling problems to a dramatic director. There are several large-group situations to handle, particularly the arrival of Lois and Bradley Ingals from college, the peak of the first act, and the revolt of Father Ingals against the plans of his children, which furnishes the big thrill of the third act. It was in these difficult places that the players did their best work and that the effects were most sure. The adjustment of the tempo in the approach to these climaxes was nice indeed.

The play lapses into sentimentality more often than is necessary. The role of Berard Ingals, the self-effacing father, offers opportunity after opportunity for a descent into the almost maudlin. It is a good thing that Professor Heberer had a sensible young actor like John Wray Young to essay the role. Mr. Young was forced to the border line time and again by his lines and his situations, but never for an instant did his control waver. His work was a fine example of not only saving a rather weak role, but actually making it strong. And that is a task that even professionals flee from.

The comedy of the drama, and there was plenty of the rollicking sort, was furnished chiefly by Florabel E. West and Lynn G. Fayman, who took the parts of the very collegiate twins, Lois and Bradley Ingals. Miss West made a bewildering flapper coed, wild as a March hare seemingly and good as gold really. Mr. Fayman timed his explosive situation-savers with all the accuracy of a much-experienced actor. His voice and his manner were so good as to be truly delightful. Saving situations was the business of the twins, and they did a good job of it.

Miss Orrell Ewbanks, as the peppery Grandmother Bradley, got the audience on her side the second she stepped in the doorway of the Ingals home and everybody watched her, at least out of the corners of his eyes, every minute she was on the stage. Harold Sappenfield doubling as Leo Day, the politician, and Ronald Mordock, the son of a head-of-the-house mother, also quite captured the crowd during his two brief appearances.

The remainder of the cast was quite up to the high standard of Purple Masque productions. The humorous situations went over with a substantial bang every time and the sentimental stretches, with which the play is more than amply provided, were not at all beyond bearable. It was a good college show before a good college audience, and everybody went home happy.

Miss Dorothy Bergsten went to her home in Randolph this week end.

Mrs. A. T. Perkins left last week for Philadelphia on account of the illness of her mother.

Hubert Collins, teacher of vocational agriculture in the Westmoreland high school, spent the week end in Manhattan.

BACHMAN WORKS FOR HUSKER TILT

CLAIMS NEBRASKA IS MORE POWERFUL THAN LAST YEAR

However, Aggies Are Also Stronger—Fans Hope to Repeat Action of Missouri and Drake

Having made a personal investigation into the situation in the camp of the Nebraska Cornhuskers at Lincoln, Coach Bachman started yesterday to prepare his eleven Wildcats for the tilt with these Cornhuskers next Saturday.

Bachman claims the 1925 Nebraska team is even more powerful than was the 1924 eleven which crushed Wildcat hopes under three touchdowns. But, he also believes his 1925 Wildcats are stronger than were their 1924 brothers, and that they will be able to combat the Huskers much more effectively. In fact, Aggie followers are making it no secret that they hope to do the same thing to the Cornhuskers as Missouri and Drake did.

Record Crowd Expected
The game here next Saturday will be played before a homecoming crowd of alumni. For weeks, orders for tickets have been filtering in from all over the middlewest, and a record crowd of football fans is expected to be on hand for the opening whistle. Among them will be the editors of the Kansas newspapers who will be guests of the college at the game.

The basis of comparison of the two teams is as follows:
Nebraska, 6; Missouri, 9.

Kansas Aggies, 0; Missouri, 3.
Nebraska, 14; Kansas, 0.
Kansas Aggies, 14; Kansas, 7.
Nebraska, 12; Oklahoma, 0.
Kansas Aggies, 16; Oklahoma, 0.
Nebraska, 0; Drake, 14.
Kansas Aggies, 0; Drake, 19.

Freshman Basketball Notice

First official freshman basketball try-outs will be held tonight at 7:30 in Nichols gymnasium. Out of an expected troupe of around 125 candidates, it will fall upon basketball coach C. W. Corsaut to select 10 of the most promising men. A small squad of picked players, formerly high school court notables, have been scrimmaging with the varsity during the past month, but Coach Corsaut hopes to augment this nucleus with any unexpected material that may show merit during these try-outs. All freshmen with basketball material are urged to enter the competition.

Lost, strayed or stolen—one right guard.

This might have been the sign put in the Chicago union station by the Kansas Aggies Saturday evening if they had had time to do so but they had to run to catch their train and as a matter of fact, Right Guard Towle wasn't missed until the next morning.

Returning from Milwaukee, the Kansas City train was held from nine until nine fifteen for the Aggie squad and they scrambled from one train, ran down several flights of stairs and boarded the awaiting train—all but Towle. Somewhere along the line he had gone astray. When noses were counted the next morning he was found among those not present and a telegram was rushed to the Chicago station agent stating that should a C. H. Towle apply for a ticket, to send him home on the pass which really was due him, because he might be needed in the Nebraska game.

In the mean time, Towle with only three dollars in his pocket, had wired the Omega Tau Epsilon house for money. Learning that the Rock Island railroad held a pass for him they did not send the requested funds. So if Towle does not go to the station agent, the Aggies will suffer the only casualty of the season but at least he can't break training on only three dollars.

JARDINE BACK FOR HOMECOMING

SECRETARY, GOVERNORS, AND SENATOR TO BE GUESTS

Kansas Editors Invited as Guests of College—Prof. N. A. Crawford Will Also Be Here

Dr. William M. Jardine, secretary of the United States department of agriculture and former president of the college, will be among the numerous distinguished guests of the college on Homecoming day tomorrow. He will arrive here Saturday noon from Washington, D. C., and will leave again Sunday evening for Kansas City, where he is scheduled to give an address at the American Farm congress on Monday.

Secretary Jardine is coming here especially to see the football classic between the Wildcats and the Cornhuskers of Nebraska university. He will be the guest of President and Mrs. F. D. Farrell while here.

Paulen Here Too

Other distinguished guests who will be here for Homecoming are Governor and Mrs. Ben S. Paulen of Kansas, Governor and Mrs. Adam McMullen of Nebraska, Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas, Prof. N. A. Crawford, Major L. B. Bender of Ft. Leavenworth, graduate from the college in 1904; and Carl Mallon, captain and left halfback of the Aggie team in 1906, who was responsible for the touchdown that defeated Kansas university that year. Mr. Mallon is now engaged in the milling business in Anthony.

Prof. N. A. Crawford, head of the department of industrial journalism of the college, will accompany Secretary Jardine here. Professor Crawford is now on leave of absence to fill the position of director of publicity for the United States department of agriculture. He also will attend the American Farm congress in Kansas City next week.

Editors Out in Force

In addition to these Homecoming guests, more than 50 Kansas editors have accepted the invitations of the department of industrial journalism. Some 300 invitations have been sent to the editors of all Kansas newspapers to attend the football game and Homecoming program. Most of those who have accepted the invitations will bring their wives.

Although the number is not definitely known, delegations of 25 or 30 instructors in the department of engineering at the universities of Kansas and Nebraska are expected here today to join the instructors in the local engineering division in the annual meeting of the Kansas-Nebraska section of the society for the Promotion of Engineering Education. They will attend the football game as a part of their program.

Unfavorable weather is the only factor that will prevent the largest crowd of Homecoming guests in the history of the college from being here, it is believed. Demonstrations are being prepared for the intermission between halves. A Pathe motion picture camera will be brought here for pictures of the game and Homecoming.

PURPLE MASQUE PLAYERS BACK

Return Wednesday After Showing in Three Kansas Cities

The Purple Masque players returned today from Abilene where they gave a very creditable performance of "The Goose Hangs High" to a large and appreciative audience at the Sells Theater Tuesday evening, November 10.

Abilene was especially interested in the play as two former Abilene boys were in the troupe. Harold Sappentfield had a double part in the cast, and Jack Kennedy was business manager of the production.

The performance last night was the close of the road trip for the Purple Masque this season. The other towns where they presented the play were Florence, Topeka, and Junction City.

Prof. H. Miles Heberer, under whose direction the play was staged, expresses himself as being well pleased with the work of the cast. Mrs. Eusebia M. Thompson was chaperone during the trip.

Photographer Here Monday

A photographer for the Royal Purple is being sent by the Amye Dupont Co., of New York. He will arrive Monday and hopes to have all of the sittings finished before Christmas.

Phi Kappa Tau will entertain at a homecoming dance Saturday night.

NO DECORATION CUP THIS YEAR

Depending on Aggie Loyalty for Gay Homecoming Colors

The W. A. A. and the Wampus Cats will not give a cup to the house having the best decorations at Homecoming this year. The cup was won by Sigma Phi Epsilon for the third time last year and became their permanent property.

This cup was offered to create an interest in the idea and since the last three years have been very successful the two organizations have left the future success of the project up to the loyalty of the Aggie students. They urge all houses to make Homecoming just as big this year by putting the best of their ability into the decorations.

DE MILLE TO JUDGE COEDS

FILM DIRECTOR SELECTED AS ROYAL PURPLE BEAUTY CRITIC

Contest Begins First of December—Price of Yearbook Advances After Christmas Holidays

Cecil B. De Mille, famous motion picture director, has accepted the invitation of the Royal Purple to judge the annual yearbook beauty contest, which will open about the first of December when Wayne Rogler, business manager, returns from his trip with the stock judging team.

Results Next Spring

The pictures of the entrants will be sent to Mr. De Mille before the first of the year and he will send his choice of the Aggie beauties back in time to be announced when the yearbook is issued sometime early in May.

Mr. De Mille judged the contest held by the "Savior" of the University of Missouri, last year. His ability to serve as judge is equally as well accepted as is that of Flo Ziegfeld, who judged the Royal Purple contest last year.

Dues Coming in Fast

According to Genevieve Tracy who is taking over Mr. Rogler's duties while he is away, the students are paying their dues unusually well this year. These dues of $3.00 for Freshmen, $3.50 for sophomores, and $4.50 and $12.50 for juniors and seniors, respectively, pay for the putting of pictures in their class sections. The $12.50 also includes the book for the seniors.

The Royal Purple will be sold for $4.50 until Christmas when the price will be raised to $5.00. A great many students have already purchased books under these reduced rates in order to be sure of getting books. Many are paying $2.50 down and $2.50 when the annual is issued. With this income the staff can guarantee a yearbook that will rank well with those of the other schools of the country.

CURTAIN FOR FOUR AGGIES

TOMORROW'S GAME THEIR LAST ON HOME GRIDIRON

Wildcats As Heavy or Heavier Than Huskers—Dayhoff May Start at Full

No Missouri Valley titles will be at stake tomorrow afternoon when the University of Nebraska and Kansas State meet on Stadium field at 2 o'clock, but a great amount of prestige in the conference will go to the winner, and the difference between a mediocre and a successful season to the loser. One radical change is contemplated in the Aggie starting line-up by Head Coach C. W. Bachman. H. J. Dayhoff, Abilene, may start at fullback instead of Jim Douglass, Burlington, or Elwyn Feather, Minneapolis. Dayhoff's speed may give him the call over the other two, who have been regulars all year.

All Are Veterans

Curtain for four Kansas State men will fall for the last time before a home crowd after the game. Three of them are three-letter men, and the fourth is Captain Harry McGee, earning his second letter at right guard.

The men to go out are all regulars, three in the line and the fourth in the backfield, and all will start against the Husker. In the line are H. "Prot" Randels, Anthony, left end; J. W. "Bill" Ballard, Almena, left tackle; Captain Harry McGee, Ramona, right guard, and O. H. "Curly" Wilson, Jennings, halfback.

Both Ballard and McGee were included in All-Valley listings last year, and have been outstanding again this fall. Randels returned to school after four years' absence, and really is earning his fourth letter, as he played during the S. A. T. C. year, which did not count as valley competition. Wilson has been somewhat handicapped because of lack of weight, but found the stride in the Marquette game that has been expected of him all year.

Pearson or Krysl Opposes Weir

For perhaps the first time in the history of football between the two schools, the Wildcat team will be as heavy or heavier than the Nebaskans. Zur Pearson of Manhattan or Jerry Krysl, Lucas, will face Ed Weir, All-American tackle last year. Both men are fast 200 pounders.

A Grand Old Class, That Class of '16—Had Treasury Surplus

The original "fighting Aggies" have been discovered. They are the '16s who will hold a reunion during homecoming to celebrate their tenth anniversary as alumni of K. S. A. C.

According to J. W. Stratton of the extension division and the chairman of the reception committee, the class of '16 were the first to wear freshman caps. They were hats, to be exact, large green and white ones, and everyone—including the girls—wore them. All fall the upperclassmen had tried to make them wear caps and had failed. In the spring the class got together, selected their hats and so began the custom. The next year's class did not wear them but after that it was a required custom.

Moreover, Mr. Stratton said, this class was the first to hold a dance on the campus and they had to go to the board of regents, almost to the legislature to get the permission. They are also, he said, the only ones known to finish the four years with money in the class treasury and now they are going to hold the first reunion ever held at homecoming with this money.

After the pep meeting Friday night the class will entertain all of the alumni and the faculty at a reception in recreation center and to a dance afterwards.

Saturday at 10:30 they will attend the alumni assembly to be held in recreation center, and at eleven they will hold a business meeting in C 26. Probably this meeting will furnish the school with some new tradition.

M. Cowan, of Junction City, was a visitor at the P. K. A. house last Friday.

SEVEN APPROVED FOR AGGIE POP

ANNUAL SHOW IN AUDITORIUM DECEMBER 4 AND 5

Beta Theta Pi Only Fraternity Entered—Cup to Organization Having Winning Stunt

Seven organizations survived the preliminary tryouts and will compete in the tenth annual Aggie Pop in the college auditorium on Friday and Saturday nights, December 4 and 5. The contestants include four sororities, one fraternity, and two literary societies.

Two Literary Societies In

The stunts to be presented by the various organizations are as follows: "The Silent Drama," Alpha Beta literary society; "Memory Lane," Alpha Xi Delta sorority; "The Plastic Age," Beta Theta Pi fraternity; "Twas Ever Thus," Chi Omega sorority; "Christmas Eve," Ionian literary society; "Parcel Post," Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority; "Tuning in On Aggie Pop," Pi Beta Phi sorority.

It was originally planned by the Y. W. C. A., sponsors of the affair; to offer two cups, one to the winning sorority and one to the winning fraternity. This plan was abandoned, however, when it was found that only one fraternity had survived the preliminary tryouts.

Two Sororities Need Win

An organization, in order to win the cup to be offered, must place first in two out of three years of consecutive competition. The stunts this year promise to be unusually interesting because of the fact that both the Chi Omega and Pi Beta Phi sororities need only this year's coveted victory in order to gain permanent possession of the trophy.

The committee of judges which chose the seven stunts from all those submitted was composed of Dean Mary P. Van Zile, Miss Jessie Machir, Miss Osceola Burr, Prof. H. W. Davis, and Prof. W. E. Grimes.

The Y. W. C. A. committee in charge of Aggie Pop this year is as follows: Ascha Johnson, chairman; Merle Nelson, business manager; Esther Otto, Elma Hendrickson, Lavange LaVitte, Arlene Finch, Ruth Freeman, Louise Urbanson, Vera Frances Howard, Rida Duckwall, Garnet Crichtfield, Dorothy Sheets, Arlene Poole, Esther Williams, Mildred Doyle, and Margaret Johnston.

JOURNALISM IN SYRIA AND PALESTINE NEW PROFESSION

Jamal Hammad, Aggie Student, Tells of Native Press at Weekly Journalism Lecture

"Journalism as a profession is a very recent development in Syria and Palestine," said Jamal Hammad, Syrian student at the Kansas State Agricultural college, in an address before the Journalism seminar Thursday. The profession is not regarded highly enough to warrant professional training except the old-fashioned apprenticeship, Mr. Hammad said.

Most newspapers there are printed in Arabic, although some publishers employ English and French. With few exceptions the type is set by hand and the papers run through slow presses. No paper exceeds eight pages.

A year's subscription to the average daily newspaper amounts to approximately $7. Mr. Hammad attributed this high rate to the limited circulation, varying between 1,000 and 20,000. No advertising is carried, principally because business men do not believe in advertising and because they cannot afford it.

News is obtained through international agencies, Mr. Hammad explained. European style is followed in makeup, articles and telegrams appearing on the first page, editorials on the second, and less important material filling the remaining space.

August Balzer, who since he graduated last fall has been working for the government entomology department, arrived at K. S. A. C. this morning for Homecoming. "Puff" is noted for holding the Missouri Valley record for the two mile run indoors.

Free Aggie Pop Show

The Warehouse theatre is giving a free Aggie pop show Saturday morning at 11 o'clock. An entire change of program from the afternoon and evening show will be presented.

AG DAY AT AMERICAN ROYAL

Special Train Leaves Manhattan Wednesday Morning for Kansas City

The annual all-Ag day at the American Royal Livestock show at Kansas City fostered by the Block and Bridle club of K. S. A. C., will be Wednesday, November 18.

A special coach will be provided to accommodate the students who go. The train will leave the Union Pacific station, Manhattan, at 5:02 Wednesday morning and leaves Kansas City at 1:00 Thursday morning, thus allowing everyone who so desires to attend the night horse show. A special rate of a fare and a third will be in effect, $5.65 for the round trip.

112 GAMES ON COURT SCHEDULE

28 TEAMS ENTERED IN INTRAMURAL TOURNAMENT

Three Divisions This Year, Playing Round-Robin Style—Divisional Winners Meet at Close of Season

Twenty eight intramural basketball squads hold places on a schedule of 112 games, drafted last week by E. A. Knott, association manager, to be played during the winter months of November, December and early January.

Entries in the intramural basketball race this year have been divided into three divisions, of 12, 8, and 8 organization strength, with all members of each group meeting the others in a round-robin schedule. Fraternity and independent organizations are mixed indiscriminately in the divisions.

Play Three Times a Week

With the exception of holidays intramural games will be played every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday evenings, and Saturday afternoons. Two games are to be staged at a time, using the side courts in Nichols gym. Usually six games will comprise an evening or Saturday afternoon program.

Leaders of the three divisions will meet at the season's close to determine in whose possession the intramural championship cup shall rest during the succeeding year.

A Long Schedule

The schedule for ensuing season is as follows:

Monday, Nov. 9—6 p. m., Sigma Alpha Epsilon vs. Lambda Chi Alpha; Kappa Sigma vs. Sigma Psi Epsilon. 7 p. m., Delta Sigma Phi vs. Pi Kappa Alpha; Phi Lambda Theta vs. Alpha Tau Omega. 8 p. m., Phi Kappa Tau vs. Sigma Nu; Beta Theta Pi vs. Phi Delta Theta. 9 p. m., Delta Tau Delta vs. Phi Kappa; Phi Sigma Kappa vs. Acacia.

Wednesday, Nov. 11—6 p. m., Beta Pi Epsilon vs. Alpha Rho Chi; Sigma Phi Sigma vs. Omega Tau Epsilon. 7 p. m., Blue Devils vs. Alpha Sigma Psi; Blumont vs. Kappa Phi Alpha. 8 p. m., B. H. S. vs. Farm House; Triangulars vs. Phi Kappa Theta.

Thursday, Nov. 12—6:30 p. m., Delta Tau Delta vs. Lambda Chi Alpha; Acacia vs. Sigma Phi Epsilon.

Friday, Nov. 13—6 p. m., Beta Theta Pi vs. Phi Kappa; Phi Kappa Tau vs. Phi Sigma Kappa. 7 p. m., Delta Sigma Phi vs. Phi Delta Theta.

(Concluded on Page 7)

Home Ec Teachers To Meet

A conference of all the home economics teachers of Kansas holding a Smith Hughes certificate, will be held in Education hall Saturday morning, November 14. Miss Mable V. Campbell of Chicago, regional vocational home economics supervisor; Miss Hazel Thompson of Topeka, state vocational home economics supervisor; and faculty members of the home economics division will speak at the meeting.

Flowers on Display

Thousands of chrysanthemums, roses, and carnations, of the Manhattan Floral company, are now in full bloom and the public is invited to take a stroll Sunday afternoon through their gardens at Juliette and Pottawatomie avenues. This comprises their annual flower show, being the time of the year when most of the flowers are in bloom.

VISITORS ARE COMING IN FORCE

HOMECOMERS WILL BREAK ALL PREVIOUS RECORDS

Wildcat Record Invites "Old Timers" Back To See Their Team in Action

Ticket reservations and inquiries that had come to the office of R. L. Foster, alumni secretary, yesterday indicate that with continued good weather today and tomorrow the annual Homecoming crowd will exceed all previous records.

Inferiority Complex Blackballed

Victories over Oklahoma, K. U. and Marquette and tales of the magnificent battle against Missouri have filled the "Old Timers" with just pride and they are anxious to see their Wildcats in action. The record made by the Aggies thus far during the season has banished the inferiority complex when K. S. A. C. thinks of Nebraska. Since Missouri and Drake have proved that the Cornhuskers can be beaten, there is a good chance that Bachman's squad may do it also.

One of the features of Homecoming this year is the ten-year reunion of the '16 class. Tonight after the pep meeting the Sixteeners will hold a reception in Recreation center for all the Homecomers and faculty. After the reception a dance will be given.

Homecoming Assembly in Rec Center

An assembly for the Homecoming visitors will be held in Recreation center at 10:30 o'clock tomorrow morning. Prof. H. H. King will preside. President F. D. Farrell and Mike Ahearn will appear on the program with one or two additional speakers from among the visiting alumni. A Dutch luncheon will be held for alumni and faculty in the banquet room of the college cafeteria at noon tomorrow. Prof. Albert Dickens will preside. W. H. Sanders will lead the group in singing.

At the game the alumni will be seated in the center section of the west wing of the Memorial stadium. What are considered to be the best seats in the stadium have been set aside for the alumni and Homecoming visitors.

Fraternities, sororities, literary societies, and other organizations will give dances and special entertainment for their Homecoming members tonight and Saturday evening after the game.

TOWN HOSTILITIES RESUMED

Avalanches and Demons Will Stage Annual Football Fry Thanksgiving Day

Athletic hostilities between the Aggieville Avalanches and the Downtown Demons will be resumed again this year, according to Harry "Hike" Skinner, manager for the Aggieville aggregation, who announces that a challenge has been extended to the Demons for a football tussle on Stadium field Thanksgiving Day.

The two teams started what is hoped will be an annual affair in a battle last year. Disaster was dealt to the representatives of the college town to the tune of 7 to 6, but the Avalanches are determined to turn the tide this year.

NO CROSS COUNTRY RACE

Huskers Heading for Valley Meet at K. U. Next Week

Prospects of a cross country meet with Nebraska during the halves of the football game next Saturday are not to be realized, according to a telegram received from Lincoln Wednesday which stated that the Cornhusker squad desired to rest this week in preparation for the Missouri valley contest next Saturday at K. U.

Nebraska is reputed to be one of the Aggies' strongest contenders for the title this fall. They have defeated the strong Oklahoma team, 27 to 28; K. U., 15 to 40; and Drake, 24 to 32. Missouri also met defeat from the Nebaskans, 19 to 26, but the race was run over a three mile course which lacks a little more than two miles of being a regular course.

Greer To Motlle Club

Dr. Joseph E. Greer, '25, was a member of the Nashville Southern League team the past summer. Next season he is to pitch for the Mobile club in the Southern League. Joe was a member of the '25 Aggie team.

Prof. and Mrs. J. C. Peterson were dinner guests at the Phi Kappa Tau house, Sunday.

TWO GERMAN DELEGATES HERE

Express Surprise at Work Covered in Curricula at K. S. A. C.

Surprise at the immensity of the college and the great amount of work covered in the several curricula, was expressed by two delegates from a party of fifteen members of the German Federation of Labor while making an inspection tour of the college Thursday of last week. They were conducted through the campus by Prof. W. E. Grimes of the department of agricultural economics, Prof. L. H. Limper of the department of modern languages, and Colonel George Frank, Manhattan postmaster.

The German representatives here were Wilhelm Eggert, secretary of the federation, and Franz Joseph Furtwangler, secretary-interpreter. Mr. Eggert holds a position in the German government similar to that of Secretary of Labor Davis in the United States cabinet. Accompanying the delegates was Dr. C. V. Hope of Washington, at whose request the delegates were visiting this country.

HIGH VALUES BILLY TO K. C.

Prize Ayrshire Bull Will Be Shown at American Royal

High Values Billy, the Junior Ayrshire bull which took second prize at the International Livestock show at Indianapolis, Ind., a few weeks ago, was the only animal owned by the K. S. A. C. dairy department, which was shown at the American Royal Livestock show at Kansas City, this week. He took a blue ribbon prize at the Kansas Free Fair early this fall.

The bull is being shown for the college by David Page of the Fairview Farm of Topeka. He makes an excellent appearance in the show ring and was beat out of first prize at the International show by Cavalier's Scotchmaster, shown by Adam Sletz and sons of Waukesha, Wis.

C. E. Buchanan of the control division of the state board of agriculture at Topeka spent the week end with his family here.

Miss Mary Ellen Cormany, '25, who teaches in Junction City, was the week end guest of Esther Cormany.

Goose Hangs High While Actor Falls From Hotel Window

"Thirteen is a lucky number, and the goose still hangs high." Such was the relieved expression and the established fact in the minds of the Purple Masque players on their recent trip.

How else could they account for the fact that a prominent member of the cast could fall out of a second story window of a hotel, to the pavement below, and injure nothing but his dignity?

It happened in Peabody, where there was a long wait for the midnight train. "The Lost World" had been visited at the only movie in town, the ice cream sodas sampled at the corner drug store, and then the bunch went back to the hotel. For want of something better to do, the boys were telling the latest jokes from the humorous magazines, of which there was quite a collection in the crowd. One of the stories must have been a very funny one, for a member of the cast was so overcome that he lost his balance and fell out of the open window in which he was sitting.

It might have been a tragedy, but turned out comic when the coach announced that nothing "serious" had happened.

MAKING GREENHOUSE SKETCHES

Contract Probably Will Not Be Let Until Next Summer

Preliminary sketches of the new greenhouses to be located north of the present greenhouses near the horticultural building are being made by Prof. Paul Weigel, head of the department of architecture. Two houses will be constructed, each 30 by 100 feet, and the head house, connecting the two greenhouses, will be 16 by 60 feet and constructed of stone.

An appropriation of $10,000 was made by the legislature for the construction of these buildings, half of which is available at the present time and the remaining $5,000 to be ready for use after July 1, 1926. The contract for the construction probably will not be let before the end of the school year, it is said.

EXPLAINS BOMB CALORIMETER

Professor Bradnard Gives Demonstration for Human Nutrition Class

How the value of foods may be determined, and the operation of the bomb calorimeter was demonstrated by Prof. B. Bradnard of the division of engineering this week before the Wednesday and Friday classes in human nutrition of which Dr. Martha Kramer is in charge.

The girls were much interested in Professor Bradnard's demonstration and lecture on the construction of the bomb calorimeter and its operation. Determination of the number of calories in a grain of cane sugar was one of the experiments carried out. Actually visualizing the calorimeter in work and correlation of practical first hand knowledge with knowledge gained from literature, proved keenly interesting to the classes.

Prof. and Mrs. G. E. Rayburn and Prof. E. K. Chapin drove to Emporia to attend the teachers' meeting Friday.

GRIMES ON NATIONAL COM.

Will Prepare Data for Freight Rate Hearing in Kansas City

Dr. W. E. Grimes, head of the agricultural economics department, has been appointed on a committee to prepare agricultural data to be presented in connection with the freight rate hearing before the interstate commerce commission, the final hearing of which will be held in Kansas City, Mo., January 4.

The appointment was made at a recent meeting in Chicago by representatives of the middle west railroads commission. Other members of the committee on which Doctor Grimes will serve are Rex E. Willard of the North Dakota Agricultural college, chairman; and E. E. McNall of the University of Wisconsin.

Miss Helen Hough of Topeka spent the week end at the Kappa Kappa Gamma house.

By attacking newly hatched birds, ants are making the problem of saving the rapidly disappearing colonies of gulls, terns, and herons on the shores of Massachusetts more difficult.

Parts of the great province of Kansu, China, are so dry that records recently found printed on silk and covered by only a few feet of gravel are still in good condition though made nearly 2,000 years ago.

ALPHA SIGMA CHI ELECTS

Paul Gartner Named President of Honorary Swimming Fraternity

Alpha Sigma Chi, men's honorary swimming fraternity, held election of officers at a meeting Thursday of last week in the "K" room. Officers elected were Paul Gartner, president; Perry Thomas, vice-president; Rushton Cortelyou, secretary-treasurer; and Cornell Bugbee, marshal.

This organization was started last year at K. S. A. C. by men who were interested in swimming and in life saving methods. Being a Red Cross life saver is one of the requirements of membership, bringing the fraternity in association with Captain Law, head of Red Cross life saving in the east and middle west.

Captain Law assists greatly in another purpose of Alpha Sigma Chi, which is to secure positions as life guards during the summer months for those wishing and who are qualified. Seven from the chapter spent last summer doing life guard duty.

At present there are fourteen members but several new men are expected to be taken in shortly. Seven of the 14 who are examiners and who are qualified to instruct in swimming and to give life saving examinations are: G. Wheeler, C. Bugbee, A. Lippencott, P. Gartner, J. Vasey, P. Thomas, and O. Cochrane. Other members are: R. Cortelyou, S. Farrell, R. Soper, W. Amos, P. Skinner, P. Stuenkel, and P. Carter.

SIMPLE SUPPERS EXHIBITED

Light Lunches Displayed at Weekly Foods Clinic

Six simple suppers were exhibited at the foods clinic in Calvin hall last Friday afternoon, but though simple, they were appetizing, delicious and well balanced. Often the busy mother feels that she can prepare a meal of but three or four dishes that will be simple, well balanced and easy to prepare. And often, too, the busy student or a student without much appetite feels that he needs something simple, appetizing and well balanced.

One of the menus consisted of cheese and lettuce sandwiches of whole wheat bread, stewed fruit, and milk. Another was made up of cabbage and lettuce, whole wheat bread and butter, and whole milk. For breakfast or for a child, oatmeal with raisins and cream, and milk to drink was exhibited.

KOLLEGIAN KWIZZES

Question: Should K. S. A. C. have a girls' pep organization?

Velma Lockridge—"Such an organization could be made very effective here if the girls in the school would back it and choose the right kind of girls for membership. Lots of girls don't like to yell at football and basketball games because they don't think it's proper—propriety is the doing of the right thing at the right time, and surely yelling at a game is the right thing to do."

Mary Marcene Kimball—"Personally, I do not believe a girls' pep organization should be established here. In the past, we have had girl rooters' associations and they have invariably proved to be failures. Our cheering is already overorganized, and the campus is cluttered with societies. It is useless to add another to the ranks of those which do nothing but have a name and a group of members."

Miss Ruth Trant, graduate instructor in physical education—"I think it would be a fine thing if the girls here could have an organization of this sort and get together at football and basketball games. Of course girls can't make as much noise as the men because they haven't the voices, but they certainly can help. Then too, such an organization could promote better stunts in between halves and thus add to the features of the games."

Merle Nelson, vice-president of W. A. A.—"Girls have a lot of pep and should be given full opportunity to display it. There are many pep stunts which are appropriate, and can be well handled by girls. I do not believe that we should have another organization separate from W.

A. A., but a strong committee should be selected from the members to carry on pep work among all the girls on the hill."

"Mike" Ahearn, director of athletics—"Such an organization would be one of the finest things that could happen to the athletic department. I think that it would add a world of enthusiasm to the games and I have always been strong for the girls' pep, myself."

L. J. Tauer—"If the girls have an organization with lots of pep, it's a cinch that the boys will too. A girls' organization will provide competition, which will arouse more spirit in the school. When I was in high school there were both boys' and girls' pep organizations, and the girls had more pep than the boys."

James Hacker—"Girls in this school think that the boys' organization is for boys alone, and for this reason it does not help to create pep among girls. If the boys have a pep organization, then the girls should, too; one is not enough to fill the need."

Wayne Amos—"Girls here should not have a pep organization unless they can do better than the boys have done. Personally I think that they can."

A case of twins in Mullusca is very rare but three pairs of such "twins" were found on the Pacific Coast in the summer of 1923.

HOSPITALITY

Kansas State has for more than a decade been a member of the Missouri Valley, a conference which prides itself on the relationship between football teams. But it remained for a team outside the valley to give an Aggie eleven the best treatment it has ever had away from home, and incidentally prove better hosts than Kansas State has ever been.

Marquette met the Wildcats at the station, rode them through the streets of Milwaukee with right of way over all traffic, hung their flag on the town flagpole, sang Aggie songs before the game, and cheered the Aggies all through a game which Marquette was losing.

The Missouri Valley does not treat its teams badly. And of course the valley does not play inter-sectional games every Saturday. But perhaps the valley might take the hint—just a little.

TO HOMECOMERS

Welcoming of Homecomers has been in fashion ever since colleges were established. Most of us, however, say "Glad to see you," and let it go at that. But old grads and visitors know that we're glad to see them, or they wouldn't be here. So this time, welcome will consist chiefly of action.

We know you Homecomers will have a good time at reunion events tomorrow. We hope you'll have an enjoyable afternoon at the football game.

The college may have grown somewhat since you were here last. Drop around to the old haunts and see. And if there's anything you feel is lacking to make the day complete, just ask the first of the present generation you see—he'll do his best.

THE A. B. DEGREE

On first thought The Collegian was inclined to oppose President Farrell in his stand against putting in an A. B. degree at the college. On first thought, The Collegian was inclined to rise up in its wrath and proclaim the merits of the A. B.

But in retrospect, we opine that the president probably is right. We can put on airs, and wallop the schools round about occasionally. We can get our women into the A. A. U. W., and be the only agricultural college admitted to the national association of schools of journalism.

We can be a preparatory school, junior college, or what-you-will for students who finish elsewhere with honors. But back here in our own sanctorium we know that we are a college, dedicated "to the glorification of labor."

We have another school in the state devoted to giving the A. B. degree, but one might mention that it has not been prevented from also offering engineering. We have a school at Pittsburg once dedicated to the training of vocational teachers, but somehow the A. B. is allowed there.

We can go through Kansas State and be loyal Aggies all our lives, but if our children want philosophy we must send them elsewhere. We can sing Aggie praises till we are Royal Purple in the face, but we cannot glorify labor with even a smattering of what the thought of the past has been. Instead we persuade people to come here because it is a good school, and make them spend a year and a half or so at science as a minimum, or else not get through.

Theoretically, President Farrell was right. Practically, he was and is right. His argument is absolutely sound, and the sentiment of alumni for one particular school or another really should not enter into tax-supported institutions.

But the powers that be of the state of Kansas have been inconsistent in other educational matters before now, and we'd be much obliged to them if they'd give us just a few more liberal courses before they start being logical. Or maybe an old grad will found a chair. Or maybe Santa Claus.

Judge for Yourself

This column is conducted for those who have some criticism or comment they wish to express publicly. Any material received will be published as written, with the exception of changes necessary in having it set into type. No anonymous contributions will be used, but only the initials will be published if the writer so requests. Opinions expressed herein are those of an individual, and do not voice the policies of The Collegian in any way.

Two students paid a fine in police court for being drunk and disorderly recently. They thought that suspension from college was hardly justified and felt honor bound to keep secret the source of the fire-water.

They found that the state has no regard for such standard of honor, and imposes a sentence of ninety days in jail for refusal to testify. They testified and a warrant was issued for the bootlegger.

Colleges are supposed to be short cuts to the knowledge and wisdom that the generations of the past have accumulated. Anyone who feels that he must work out the effects of alcohol on the human body for himself has not the proper attitude for a student. If he has no better judgment than to pay good money for bad liquor, he needs to earn money and learn just how a five dollar bill and a pint of bad liquor compare. If a student has no better judgment than to pay good money for bad booze, it is doubtful if he is ready for the study of economics. If he will exchange a good five dollar bill for a pint bottle of liquid damnation he needs more elementary training than a college offers. If he feels that the state and national laws are not entitled to his respect, he has not the attitude of a student. He refuses to accept the best judgment of the past. He has not the proper regard for the feelings of his parents and friends. The whole philosophy of the alcohol question is "leave it alone."—A. D.

WOMEN'S FALL SPORT CLASSES CLOSE TUESDAY

Entries for Tennis, Volley Ball, and Hockey Must Be Made Early Next Week

Classes in tennis, volley ball, and hockey will close Tuesday, November 17, and all girls wishing to participate in the fall sports must be enrolled in one of the classes by that date.

Classes in the following subjects are also offered: dancing, both interpretive and character in beginning, intermediate, and advanced courses; basket ball, advanced and beginning; clogging, a new form of dancing offered for the first time at K. S. A. C. this year, in beginning classes only; and games, swimming, in beginning, intermediate, and advanced classes will continue as usual, but a girl may change to one of the other subjects by making arrangements with her instructor.

Special permission from Miss Ruth Morris, head of the girls' physical education department, is necessary for anyone wishing to enter the class on games, and no one can go into advanced basket ball without Miss Watson's recommendations. Girls who have had dancing before at K. S. A. C. are eligible for the advanced class, and those who have had training elsewhere may arrange with the instructor for entrance.

These changes do not have to be made through the deans' offices, but are managed entirely at the gymnasium. Registration was held yesterday and today. All classes will begin on November 17, and failure to register will not excuse an absence from the first class.

Miss Gladys Sandford '24, will visit the Alpha Delta Pi house this week end. She is teaching at Wakefield.

It Seems to Me

(L. Edmonds in the Topeka Daily Capital)

Working stubbornly cramped fingers in an effort to restore their flexibility, shaking a red head to dislodge even a part of the snow packed in every opening of his headgear, wiping a soaking shoe against a leg to unburden its toe of a clot of snow and mud and blinking watering eyes into the full force of a Wisconsin gale, sleet laden, a Kansas Aggie kicker waited to give the signal that would send a cold, slimy ball hurtling back to him from center. His team was two points ahead, a total garnered when from the same spot thirty minutes before a Marquette kicker had failed to get the ball away. Failure meant a certain tie, a possible defeat. His signals were deliberate. From its resting place the ball was snapped. Just for an instant it whirled crazily as stiff fingers clutched at it. It was lowered for the kick. Thud. Flying snow above the melee of many men charging and churning. The ball was away on a low but powerful kick, spiraling into the blast and was good for 40 yards. It was, perhaps, the climax of the bitter game to which the elements had shown no mercy. It meant a victory for the Kansas team. The player was Owen Cochrane, the valley's premier punter.

It was a game in which kicking was the biggest feature. Marquette's booter was working well and it was a bad pass more than a slow kick that forced him to take a safety in the second quarter. Cochrane, standing in his own 18-yard line—there were no lines but those scraped by officials and soon obliterated by trampling feet and newer and wetter snow—had lifted a long spiral diagonally across the field. The Marquette safety had no chance to reach it. Driven by the wind the ball soared toward the sidelines to drop while still inside only to roll still further on the same diagonal and on the one yard line cross the plane where the sideline was before the snow. It was on the attempt to kickout from behind its goal line that the safety was made. On another time a well placed Cochrane kick nestled in the deepening snow on the two-yard line. This time the kick had been made against the wind. But even as the Marquette kicker fumbled another bad pass he gained momentum enough to pull away from three Aggies who would have downed him for a second safety.

Place-kicks, the often tried—were better not attempted. Twice the Aggies sought to score that way and once the quarter elected a drop. Four times Marquette would have scored from placement and its frantic attempts born of desire to avert defeat and sired by desperation made as thrilling a close as ever a game had. After Cochrane had freed his team's goal line from immediate danger, Marquette began its best offensive. There was only a minute to play. Balked after one first down by the Aggie line a kick was tried. An Aggie blocked it with his nose. Less than a minute to play and Aggie's ball on its 20-yard line. A fumble on the second play and a Marquette recovery. "Time-out." Careful selection of a proper spot. Tender care of the ball. A swift pass, a swinging foot and again a blocked kick. But an Aggie was offside and there was another chance.

five yards closer. A new center was sent for; one with warm hands who could make an accurate pass. The same action without the swinging foot. A bad pass had cost the chance. "Time-out." Four seconds to play. A lineman lies with his body across the ball cleaned of its snow protectively while the kicker and the holder tramp down the spot where the ball must rest. A pass, a scramble effort to place the ball and the kick. Low and wide and as it crossed the goal line for a touch-back as a pistol's crack split the air.

Thousands of spectators, animated snowmen, sat the game thru paying tribute to the pluck of two good teams. No other sport than football demands that its devotees accept such weather conditions and carry on. Two smashing, charging lines had at each other. On each play there came from the bottom of the pile one or several linemen—reduced to anonymity by a mantle of white—with faces covered with mud, snow and sawdust in about equal parts. Good spirit reigned but it never interfered with hitting as hard as possible and taking all that could be given. Before, during and after the game hospitality of Marquette, Milwaukee and Wisconsin was generous. Telegrams of welcome reached the Aggies from school authorities, heads of civic clubs and city officials. Marquette players carried the spirit into the game. When it was over there were congratulations in the thousands—and as many wishes that the Aggies come back next year and find a dry field.

Dinner guests at the Pi Kappa Alpha house Sunday were Prof. and Mrs. A. E. White; Miss Mildred Redd, of Norton; and John Townsend, a student at Washburn whose home is at Phillipsburg.

Miss Emma Hyde and Miss Araminta Holman entertained at dinner at the Gillett hotel Tuesday evening for Mrs. Isil Polson Long. Later the guests went to Miss Hyde's home where they spent the evening.

Those present were Mrs. Long, Miss Mary Polson, Miss Margaret Justin.

Miss Emily Bennett, Miss Grace Hesse, and Miss Ruth Hartman.

SCORES LOW IN FIRST OF INTRAMURAL CAGE TILTS

Play Fierce But Somewhat Ragged—Good Crowds See Opening Night Games

Scores ranged low and fairly even in opening round of intramural basketball games, played Monday and Wednesday nights. Aggressiveness and close guarding featured the play in these early encounters and compensated for a certain lack of smooth team mechanism which, however, gave every indication of developing as the season progresses.

Judging from the number of court fans who lined the sidelines, intramural basketball appears to have already taken a hold among student interests.

There was an unusually large attendance at the last baby clinic held Friday, November 6 in Calvin hall. Miss Jean S. DEVELOPING SHOOTING EYE

Varsity Courtmen Having Light Scrimmage to Strengthen Offense

Light scrimmage with freshmen and reserves for the purpose of developing the smoothness and sureness of attack is featuring the early practices of the Aggie basketball squad. Offensive plays are being mastered already to a high point of effectiveness against the yearlings.

All basketball men free from more pressing athletic activities are making a regular appearance on the floor. A greater part of practice time is being given over to the process of sharpening the shooting eyes of the courtmen. From early observation, Byers has not lost that uncanny ability that last year placed him among highest point men in the valley, to send the sphere floating untouched through the hoop, in a large percentage of tries. Other letter men also seem to have the sights set to insure a majority of accurate shots.

With two months remaining before the opening game with Illinois at Urbana, January 2, Coach C. W. Coe is confident of the team rounding out in fine shape.

Negotiations with several athletic clubs in the middle west for one more home and out-of-town game are now under way.

Attempt Solution of Social Problem

Professor Burr's class in social problems has a new and intensely interesting problem upon which it is working, "Homeless Men as Wards of Society." Each member of the class is assigned some particular phase of the problem, for example, education, area of distribution, ages, trades, etc. The aim is to find out why these men do not have homes and what society can do to lessen their number.

Addresses Klod and Kernel Club

Dr. F. L. Duley addressed the Klod and Kernel club recently on "Soils of Missouri." He spoke very interestingly of the experiments made by the Missouri College of Agriculture and of the effective methods used by the extension service in bringing the results of the researches to the farmers of Missouri.

57 ENROLLED IN VET

Dean Dykstra Commends Graduates and Friends of Division

Enrollment of veterinary students in the Kansas State Agricultural college for the year of 1925-26 is virtually the same as for the preceding year. It now stands as follows: freshmen, 21; sophomores, 14; juniors, 10; seniors, 12.

Dr. R. R. Dykstra, dean of the veterinary division, says: "The graduates and friends of the veterinary division have been very loyal the past year in reporting to us the names of prospective students. In looking backward it seems that a still greater service may be rendered if in the future the person reporting the name of a prospective student will make an effort to keep in touch with that student so as to keep up his interest in veterinary medicine. We hope that we may have this added cooperation from our alumni and friends."

Charles Frank Irwin, who graduated from the civil engineering department last year, has been appointed resident engineer at Columbus, Kansas. His duties in this position are to direct the federal aid projects of Cherokee county.

Mrs. R. L. King, formerly Miss Helen Reid, '24, is visiting friends here before going to Pennsylvania where Mr. King is employed as an engineer.

Has Lots of Spare Time

Maxine Ransom, '25, is with the Marshall County News, Marysville. She writes a shopping column, gathers and writes material for the Olden Times section, meets trains, gathers local news, keeps books, waits on trade, collects, and on press days helps in the circulation department "wrapping singles." "How's that for experience?" she asks in a letter to the Industrialist, adding, "Oh yes, I write front page stories, interviews and editorials. I like it fine and I like the town."

GIVES MONTHLY LECTURES

Miss Bower Discusses Literature with Women of Manhattan

In addition to their work in the class rooms on the "hill," members of the faculty of the department of English are finding opportunity for extending their efforts beyond the confines of the campus.

Miss Katherine Bower, for one, is engaged this winter in leading the work of a large group of women from Manhattan and its vicinity and members of the Manhattan Woman's club, who are interested in a survey of literature and are pursuing the subject under her direction. Miss Bower will deliver, during the winter, a series of eight lectures, on as many phases of literature. Her first talk was concerned with "Symbolism in Literature."

The meetings of the group are held on the first Monday of each month in the club house at Ninth street and Poyntz avenue.

Pirate Victims Get Sympathy from Swimmer Who Dives

Remember the first time you went off the spring board? Perhaps you weren't scared and then again perhaps you were—very probably you were.

Of course, a plunge from the side of the pool was a small matter but when it came to trusting yourself on that teetering five foot board—well, quite a different story. Remember how you marched out to the end of it, sympathizing heartily with all the pirates' victims who had to walk the plank? "He who hesitates is lost" certainly applied, didn't it? You knew that if you waited even a minute the very last of your nerve would go, so you took a deep breath and—"hove off." You didn't go down to the water, oh no, it came up to you. And wasn't the meeting awful? And then you were sure that you'd never, never come up again.

When you did emerge, after several centuries, and floundered to the side, the instructor fixed you with a compassionate eye and remarked, "Flat! Let's see you try again."

RECITALS BECOMING POPULAR

Sunday Afternoon Programs by Music Department Drawing Crowds

At the regular Sunday afternoon program of the music department November 8, three members of the music faculty, Kathleen McKittrick, pianist, William Lindquist, baritone, and Irma Smith, accompanist, were presented in joint recital.

These programs which will be presented throughout the school year are becoming increasingly popular with the students and townspeople.

Each Sunday a variety of musical selections is presented. Groups of folk songs, works of the old masters, and selections from the modern school are combined in a program which would please any audience.

Library Contracts Let Soon

Contracts for the new library building that will occupy the site just south of Waters hall will probably be let the latter part of this month, it was announced last week following the return of Miss Grace Derby, Dean R. A. Seaton, and Supt. G. R. Pauling from Topeka where they conferred with the state architect, Charles Cuthbert. It is expected that construction will start soon after the contracts are let.

HUSKERS STARS ARE MATCHED

ALL-AMERICAN AND ALL-VALLEY LUMINARIES FIND EQUALS

Nebraskans and Kansas Batter to Scoreless Tie for First Time in Football History

A grumpy football team from the University of Nebraska, muttering ominous threats after its defeat at the hands of Drake, found its every effort checkmated Saturday afternoon by a Kansas State team that was sure of its ability for the first time in the history of Wildcat-Husker football, and the two great football teams battered evenly and ineffectively at each other to a scoreless tie before a Homecoming crowd estimated at 9,000. That portion of Charley Bachman's gridiron lying between the 50-yard line and the south 20-yard line came in for an unmerciful trampling during the afternoon, a strong north wind giving the southbound team the necessary edge to hold the ball there during four-fifths of the game.

But No Equal For Ballard

Against a Presnell and a smashing Rhodes, Bachman had a Holsinger and a Haskard, and when the combat grew uneven, a "Chili" Cochran calmly kicked the Nebraskans back to their 20-yard line again. Against the All-American Weir, there was a Pearson, for a Wostapal there was a Tombaugh, and so it went throughout the line, except that for Ballard there seemed to be no equal, and the Aggie left tackle was through and onto a Nebraska fumble and down the field onto a Cochran kick, twice throwing the Nebraskans into an uncomfortable position, from which they calmly extricated themselves.

Outstanding in the memory of those who saw the game will be Cochran's punting and the line-smashing of Rhodes. Almost as brilliant was the punting of Ed Weir, the defense of "Proc" Randels and Joe Weir, and the ball lugging of Holsinger, and at times Presnell and Haskard.

Maintains Punting Average

Aggie fans will remember that Cochran's toe slammed the ball for an average of nearly 40 yards a time, and that in this average was included two ten yard punts and a 15 yard punt occasioned when the Aggie kicker was rushed in booting against the wind. Once Cochran stood on his own 15-yard line and kicked the ball clear through the Nebraska end zone. Another time he deliberately kicked high in the air, giving Ballard time to race past the Nebraska safety and stop the ball just four inches from the Nebraska goal line. Yet another time he executed a beautiful fake, tucked the ball under his arm instead of punting, and reeled off a first down around the place where the Nebraska end should have been.

Nebraska followers will remember that "Choppy" Rhodes smashed the Aggie line for 26 yards on successive plays, twice hit the line on the fourth down and made the yardage, and proved himself to be everything that an All-Valley fullback should be.

Aggies Play Conservatively

Nebraska's field generalship was more daring than the Aggies, but allowed Rhodes to batter his strength out on the Nebraska side of the 50 yard line instead of holding him till the Huskers had the wind advantage. Nebraska smashed on fourth down and passed in their own territory without suffering greatly, but Cochran directed his game according to the rules of safe football, and got the major share of the few breaks that occurred.

Only one scoring threat came during the game. In the first quarter Cochran was rushed, and his punt went only to the 30-yard line. Nebraska pulled a criss-cross which went to the 20-yard line, and Mandery tried a place kick on the last down which fell short of the cross-bar.

High Officials Witness Game

Remembering the game of last year, when two passes from mid-field brought two touchdowns, Nebraska tried the pass 10 times without completing a flip save one by a ruling of the referee. Three times the Aggies intercepted Husker passes. Aggie passes numbered only four, and two of them found a resting place in Nebraska arms.

It was the first time in the history of football between the two schools that the Aggies and Nebraska have tied, the other games being Husker victories. W. M. Jardine, secretary of agriculture, Arthur Capper, senator from Kansas, and Gov. Ben Paulson of Kansas were guests at the game. Governor McMullen of Nebraska was stopped at Marysville by the lack of a Kansas highway system, and failed to complete the trip.

POULTRY JUDGING TEAM TO ENTER AMERICAN ROYAL

Eight Men Named on Aggie Squad—College Has Unprecedented Record in National Shows

Members of the college poultry judging team that will enter the American Royal contest in Kansas City next Friday were announced Monday by Prof. H. H. Steup, coach of the team. The seven men selected on the squad are as follows: Stephen M. Raleigh, Clyde; Albert M. Watson, Osage City; Walter Wisnicky, Green Bay, Wis.; Kenneth W. Knechtel, Larned; W. M. Mann, Quinter; G. A. Newlin, Lewis; and F. A. Petersen, Olathe.

Because only five teams—those from Iowa State college, Missouri university, Nebraska university, Oklahoma A. and M. college, and K. S. A. C.—are expected to enter the contest, eight representatives from each college will be permitted to enter the contest, although the scores of only three men will be counted in the contest.

The three men who will probably compose the team are Stephen Raleigh, Albert Watson, and the third member to be chosen from among Mann, Newlin, and Petersen, according to Professor Steup. Selection of the three men will not be made until just prior to the contest Friday morning. Eight classes of birds will be placed in the contest.

In winning the contest at the American Royal last year, the college team set an unprecedented record when each of the three members of the team made scores in the rank of one, two, three. The K. S. A. C. team won the first of the contests held at the American Royal five years ago, and brought home both the cups that have been offered in the contest. The college has been represented at the International contest three years, winning at these times third, sixth, and seventh places. The team will enter the International contest held in Chicago the latter part of this month and the first of next.

Nebraska followers will remember that "Choppy" Rhodes smashed the Aggie line for 26 yards on successive plays, twice hit the line on the fourth down and made the yardage, and proved himself to be everything that an All-Valley fullback should be.

Merchants and Students Joined In Decorating for Homecomers

Merchants, townspeople, and students joined in the welcome to Homecomers last week. Scarcely a downtown or Aggieville store was without a welcome poster, some of the merchants using whole windows to express the "glad hand" idea.

Probably the most elaborate of the displays was the large center window at Coles, in which a complete gridiron had been laid out. The miniature players in Aggie uniforms were awaiting the kickoff from the diminutive Cornhuskers at the other end of the field. In the background was an arrangement of photographs of Coach Bachman and the football squad.

FORUM SPEAKERS DISCUSS EUROPE

FACULTY MEMBERS RELATE EXPERIENCES AND CONCLUSIONS

Ideas of American Dollar Presented by Mrs. Eric Englund—Miss Elcock and Miss Rushfield Also Talk

Three distinctively different views of Europe and European people were presented in a symposium of ten minute talks by Mrs. Eric Englund, Miss Helen Elcock, and Miss Helen Rushfield at the regular meeting of the student forum last Thursday noon.

Mrs. Eric Englund spoke of the universal attitude of Europeans toward the American and his money. The American dollar is the best standard of value in Europe and the people, because of the conspicuous and somewhat foolish spending and tipping, have been led to believe that the average American has a great deal of money. For this reason the American tourist is charged higher prices for his everyday needs than the traveler from any other country. Mrs. Englund contributed the cause of this belief to the growing realization of the commercial and financial supremacy of the United States. The generous loans made by the United States government to her allies has resulted in a common conviction in Europe that America has no poor and that her economic conditions are ideal.

Less Amusement in Europe

The everyday life of the average European was contrasted with that of the ordinary American by Miss Helen Elcock. She said that generally speaking the clothes, food, furniture, and amusements of the European were much simpler than those to which Americans are accustomed. There are fewer organizations, books, magazines, phonographs, automobiles, and motion pictures in the English or French city than in an American city of corresponding size.

"This does not mean," Miss Elcock explained, "that there is less fun, there is simply more leisure and less hurry. In America meal time is the time to hurriedly read the newspaper and ingest a few calories. In England it is a time for social intercourse and enjoyment."

Results of War Still Present

According to Miss Helen Rushfield there are still numerous evidences of the late war in Europe today. Everywhere from Norway to southern France each little town or village has its monument to its glorious dead. In Great Britain ex-service men are constantly making demands for the money and sympathy of the tourist. In France there are the same monuments, tablets, and statues but consistent begging is not practiced as it is in the London streets. The most impressive commemoration of all, Miss Rushfield said, was the enormous War Pantheon, which portrays in a series of paintings the leaders and scenes of the war.

"No doubt the people of Europe mean well by these monuments," concluded Miss Rushfield, "but I wonder if they help to heal the hatred among the nations or make the European life any happier. Surely if these efforts were directed in a more constructive way, world peace would be secured a bit sooner."

Weekly Discussional Meetings

Members of the Y. M. C. A. cabinet are holding weekly meetings at the office of Doctor Holts, at which student problems are discussed. "Facing Student Problems" by Bruce Currie is used as a text. The first of these meetings was held last Thursday the topic discussed being "How Is the Christian Student Different?"

From the ears of a Wildcat in the Hal McCord window was suspended a card bearing the record of recent Aggie victories "Bring on those Cornhuskers," was the inscription at the bottom of the score card.

Crowder's shop in Aggieville used the photo of Secretary Jardine as the center of a very good window. Purple and white streamers together with red and white, the Nebraska colors, were evident in all business houses.

Although no prizes were offered for the best decorated fraternity house, practically every one had Homecoming colors flying and novel ideas in their welcome to the old grads.

CHURCH CRITICISED AT VESPERS

Reverend Halbert Will Lead Follow-up Discussion Tuesday

A follow-up of the question, "Where does the church come in?" discussed by groups in the vespers service last Tuesday, will be continued this afternoon by Reverend Walter Halbert, pastor of the first Baptist church, who will talk of the position of the church and the student's relation to it. After his talk an open forum will be conducted so that those interested may ask questions.

The discussion was quite animated at vespers last Tuesday. The church was criticized. Students declared the "church is too old fashioned in theology, that it lacks leadership, and that it spends too much time bickering over unimportant details. The sermons tell us to be good but not how, the services are not normal enough, and the church does not practice what it preaches in Christian attitudes on war, race and industry."

The aim and purpose of these discussions is to stimulate critical thinking and to build a program of action.

The Y. W. C. A. octette will give a special musical number next Tuesday. Ruth Faulconer will preside, and devotionals will be led by Nora Eshbaugh.

GRAPPLERS ENTER TRAINING FOR BETTER VALLEY SEASON

Hope to Atone for Mediocre Showing Last Year—Two Meets Under Consideration

Six Aggie grapplers compose the present varsity wrestling squad which went into training recently with avowed intentions of atoning during the coming winter for a rather mediocre record last season.

With nearly all of last year's men back, and good material cropping up in wrestling classrooms, Coach E. A. Knoth is well supported in his belief that the 1926 mat team will be well cast in the role of redeemers.

Further grounds for optimistic predictions is the interest that is evidenced through the school toward the coming intramural wrestling tournament which will probably be held just before or just after Christmas vacation.

Zur Pearson and a number of other varsity matmen are at present following a rigorous training schedule on the football field, but will settle down to the mild routine of mat and ring work after Thanksgiving.

Other men on the squad are: O. E. Walgren, Faulconer, Hinds, Schoop, and Frozier.

Two offers from Kansas university and the Kansas City, Mo., Y. M. C. A. for two meets each next year are being considered by the athletic board and will probably be accepted.

LITERARY LECTURE TODAY

Professor Conover To Speak on "Dark Laughter"

The second lecture in the series on contemporary writers and their work, which is being offered this winter by the faculty of the department of English, to students, faculty members, and the public, will be given at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, November 17, by Prof. R. W. Conover.

Professor Conover will speak on Sherwood Anderson's "Dark Laughter" and "A Story-Teller's Story." The lecture will be given in the rest room of Calvin Hall.

The series was opened last Tuesday by Dr. Margaret Russel, with an address on "Good Books Versus 'Bad' Books."

Guinea Pigs Make Record

Exhibits of college guinea pigs at the Kansas National Livestock Exposition in Wichita last week won eight first places, two second places, and four special prizes. The exhibits were in charge of Dr. H. L. Ibsen, professor of genetics.

STOCK WINS AT WICHITA SHOW

CATTLE AND SHEEP TAKE PRIZES AT KANSAS NATIONAL

Exhibits Go to American Royal at Kansas City from Wichita—General Haig at Show

Cattle exhibits from the department of animal husbandry won five first prizes, eight second prizes, and nine third prizes at the Kansas National Livestock show in Wichita last week in competition with 16 herds of Hereford cattle, 15 herds of Shorthorns, and three herds of Angus, representing some of the best stock in the state.

In competition with eight flocks, the college sheep exhibits won four championships, 16 first prizes, seven seconds, and two thirds.

Beauty Dale Sold

Beauty Dale, a junior yearling, male Shorthorn, from the college herd, that was sold at the show following his exhibition, demanded the highest price paid for any individual in the sale. The price paid was $335.

College stock shown at the Wichita show was shipped to Kansas City to be shown at the American Royal Livestock Exposition, this week. Other stock to be shown by the college at the American Royal was shipped from here last Wednesday in charge of members of the staff in the department. Cattle, sheep, and hogs are being shown this year by the college, the college horses being shown only in alternate years.

General Haig, the government horse from the army cavalry school at Ft. Riley, that has been in the department of animal husbandry since Farm and Home week last spring, was shipped to Kansas City Friday evening to be shown at the American Royal. He will be shown by officers of the school as an ideal type of sire for government remount service.

General Haig a Great Runner
In his running days, General Haig made a record that shows him to be a horse of tremendous power and endurance. During his running career he won over $30,000 in purses and established himself as one of the best race horses in the country over long distances and on soft tracks.

Probably his most notable record was the winning of the Ben All handicap in Lexington, Ky., in 1920, on a track ankle deep in mud. He won the race in one minute and 50 seconds, leading his closest contestant by nearly half a block at the finish. He will be returned here following the show in Kansas City.

Meat Inspection Class to K. C.
The veterinary meat inspection class under the supervision of Dr. C. H. Kitzelman will make their annual trip to Kansas City Wednesday morning for the purpose of visiting the meat packing houses. The class will return Thursday night. Those who expect to go are J. A. Jones, W. Wisnicky, J. G. Berthelson, C. H. Mobley, P. R. Carter, O. E. Walgren, W. L. Parrot, W. S. O'Neal, D. F. Ingal, H. FREE SPEECH?

The editor of the student publication of Trinity College in Connecticut was recently suspended from college for a month because he criticized a chapel speech made by one of the deans of his institution, according to the New Student. Aside from the question of whether the criticism was justified or not, the move seems hardly in accordance with the principles upon which a college community should be founded.

A college paper registers—or should register—the opinions of the student body as nearly as the editor can estimate them. Mistakes are made often, and youthful enthusiasm sometimes gets a bit ahead of rational thought. But in spite of misjudgments and apparently wrongly directed plans, the student individualism must be retained if the college paper is to have the place which it deserves. Although the comparison is rather far-fetched, the Connecticut situation might be likened to the case of a commercial editor being removed from his position because he dares to differ with the political boss who controls the sheet's policies.

Faculties, as a rule, do not busy themselves with student affairs. The administration of a university has to handle details which are much more important than the comments which the student press sees fit to make. If the speech by Trinity's dean was not well received by the student body, no amount of suppression of published opinion could change the campus viewpoint. After all, a college editorial on such a matter is the result rather than the cause of student opinion.

Perhaps the criticized speech may shed a little light on the rather drastic action by the faculty. "Our duty in college is to disregard the individual and to turn out a Trinity type," the speaker said. An individual raised objections, and, inasmuch as those objections were not in order for one of the "Trinity type," an attempt was made to force that individual into the line of "goose-steppers," as he termed them—men without individuality and consequently men without the courage to stand back of their convictions.—The Purdue Exponent.

This column is conducted for those who have some criticism or comment they wish to express publicly. Any material received will be published as written, with the exception of changes necessary in having it set into type. No anonymous contributions will be used, but only the initials will be published if the writer so requests. Opinions expressed herein are those of an individual, and do not voice the policies of The Collegian in any way.

STYLUS PLUS

We laugh at the Chinaman's cue and kimono suit. We ridicule the south sea islander for wearing a ring in his nose. But are our styles, as viewed by an outsider, any less ridiculous? Would not a stranger expect to see our cutely knickered lads stop for a game of marbles in Anderson hall? Would he be surprised to see one of our brilliant coeds, booted with flopping galoshes, leap upon her steed and, with flashing saber, charge across the campus shouting a Russian war cry?

College styles were always extreme and distinctive and probably always will be, but when the men go so far as to effeminate themselves by wearing pink sweaters and baby blue hose while the women destroy their grace and charm by donning their brother's striped socks and wearing unfashioned galoshes, it is about time to stop and do a little checking up.

Do such extreme clothes destroy our estimation of a man or woman? He may be the best kind of a fellow, but when we see him frolicking about with a blue sweater and yellow hose, connected by tan and white golf trousers, we begin to wonder if he doesn't wear satchel powder in his waistcoat pocket and carry his handkerchief tucked daintily up his coat sleeve. Somehow such clothes do not typify real manliness. Nor can we reconcile ourselves to the fact that the slim, graceful ankles of some winsome coed are incased to those rattling, flopping overshoes, or hidden beneath the slovenly folds of striped half hose. Even though we know that the girl is beautiful and charming, her clattering footwear distracts our interest, and we "pass by on the other side of the road."

These wild and extreme styles probably never disturb the history of our nation, but, judging by the trend of such things within the last year, it is possible that the women will a few years hence begin wearing armor, and that our beloved football will give way to London bridge as the famous intercollegiate sport.—O. D.

The Glory of a Purpose

Our Lord, Jesus Christ, came into this world with heart set toward the cross where He was to make the greatest sacrifice it was possible to make. He came with the cross in view and never once did He turn aside from His purpose.

K. S. A. C. has started to build a stadium financed by the students and friends of the school. We are proud of the start but we can never glory in the project until it is completed. So let us take Christ as an example in life and in this cause and give to the greatest measure possible that we may soon glory in a purpose completed.—A. L. F.

Dr. J. E. Ackert was in Salina last week to attend the annual Saline county Aggie banquet. Doctor Ackert gave a talk on "The Present Status of K. S. A. C."

DISCUSSES CORN BORER

Professor Dean Gives Lecture Before Science Club Meeting

The Science club held its regular meeting Monday night, November 9, in the chemistry lecture room. Professor Dean of the department of entomology gave a lecture on the subject, "The European Corn Borer in America."

During the 18 months leave of absence from the college, Professor Dean made a thorough study of this insect. No other insect is as destructive to corn as this pest.

Slides were shown of the insect at work in destroying corn, the regions infested, and the various stages in the life of the insect.

FRIDAY'S GAMES POSTPONED

Players Attended Harvest—Free Throwing Contest Next Month

Only two of eight intramural basketball games scheduled for Friday night were played last week, and these two contests were officially admitted into the standings only because the contestants elected to play Thursday evening rather than postpone to a later date.

In order to permit intramural players to attend the Harvest, Friday's games were called off at the last minute and will be played off at the convenience of the teams.

Delta Tau Delta held the heavy end of a 19 to 14 score at the end of a close battle with the Lambda Chi Alpha quintet Thursday evening and Sigma Phi Epsilon bested the Acacia aggregation 15 to 4.

The intramural court race will begin in earnest this week, with all teams meeting at least their first and usually their second opponent.

The annual free-throwing contest which is open to all will be staged within the next month and the intramural association management anticipates a heavy participation.

VALLEY MEET NEXT SATURDAY

Aggie and Nebraska Considered to Have Strongest Harrier Squad

Lawrence, Kan., Nov. 16—Cross country runners from practically all the schools of the Missouri Valley conference will participate in the valley meet at the University of Kansas Saturday morning, Nov. 21—the day of the Kansas-Missouri homecoming game.

Nebraska and the Kansas Aggies are considered to have the best teams, which will be pressed closely by Oklahoma and Ames. The race will be over the regular K. U. course, starting in the stadium at 10:30 and finishing there about half an hour later.

Each team will enter six runners, and the five finishing first for each team will count in the scoring.

Notice

There will be held a meeting of Alpha Sigma Chi, swimming fraternity, at the "K" room, Thursday evening, at seven o'clock. Important! Be there!

Dairymen and Horts Grooming Selves For Bloody Grid Classic

Student members of the dairy and horticultural clubs have been spending the late hours of the afternoons in preparation for the football clash between the teams of the two clubs on Stadium field next Saturday afternoon. Although working last week with less than enough members for a team, it was expected that some recruits may be found among the freshmen before the game is played.

No dope is available with which to predict the winner of this grueling contest, but the fact that the dairy team romped on the representatives of the department of animal husbandry two years ago gives the former team considerable confidence. No game was played last year.

ABUNDANCE OF FROSH CAGEMEN

Will Hold Practices on Tuesdays and Thursdays

Conforming with a time-honored Aggie tradition, the usual superabundance of freshmen basketball candidates turned out last Tuesday night for the first official yearling practice.

In a brief preliminary talk before the fifty frosh courtmen present, assistant basketball coach Frank A. Root, stressed the importance of conscientious practice work-outs and counseled the aspirants to show persistence in their try for the squad and to discount physical disadvantages.

Freshman basketball practice will be held during the next two months every Tuesday and Thursday evenings, for all first year men who care to come out.

MAY ADMIT WOMEN SWIMMERS

Alpha Sigma Chi May Change Requirements

Admitting girls to membership in Alpha Sigma Chi, men's honorary swimming fraternity, was discussed in a meeting held November 5 in the "K" room, under the supervision of the new president, Paul Gartner.

Several girls have passed the Red Cross life saving test, which is one of the requirements, and are interested in organizing a fraternity similar to Alpha Sigma Chi, or possibly in becoming members of the men's fraternity.

It was suggested in the meeting that the girls form a separate organization, then hold joint meetings with the men. In this way both could receive the benefits of being under the same name.

Dr. Richard C. Chatman, '16, has donated some pathological specimens to the veterinary pathology museum at the college. Dr. Chatman is connected with the United States Bureau of Animal Industry in Chicago.

AGRONOMISTS TO CHICAGO

Throckmorton and Brunson on Program of National Meeting

The agronomy department will have two representatives at the annual meeting of the American Society of Agronomy in Chicago November 16 and 17. Both men are on the program. Prof. R. I. Throckmorton will give a paper on "Controlling the Quality of Crops Through Rotation and Proper Crop Sequences" in which he will discuss some of the outstanding results of the Kansas Experiment Station work.

Dr. A. N. Brunson will present a paper on the "Relation of Inheritance Studied to Corn Improvement" which will be given as one of the numbers of a symposium on the present status of corn improvement.

Professor Throckmorton will attend also the meetings of the Soil

Survey Workers of America that will be held in Chicago November 18 and 19.

LeRoy M. Gates of the department of entomology returned Saturday from an inspection of the orchards in Shawnee county. He has been gone for several weeks and since he is an alumnus of Nebraska university, was anxious to be here for the game.

PREPARING FOR AMES CYCLONES

TURKEY DAY OPPONENTS PLAY DRAKE TOMORROW

Dope Favors and Disfavors Both Elvens—Bachman's Men in Pinnacle of Condition

A precious boon from the Kansas weatherman in the form of crisp, cloudless, fall afternoons is giving the Kansas State grid squad every chance to make the most of a dwindling week of final preparation before the Turkey Day tussle with an Ames cyclone to the northeast.

Has Respect for Whirlwinds

That Kansas is not unfamiliar with the power and velocity of a well directed whirlwind and so holds a wholesome respect for the Iowa State combination is evident in the interest that is manifested throughout the school toward the final development of the Aggie team this week and the Ames-Drake game at Des Moines tomorrow.

The surge and flow of this battle of Iowa giants will do much to shape the dope for the Kansas State-Iowa State engagement five days later. But dope on the impending Thanksgiving classic is, as usual, contradictory. Although Missouri's demolition of Ames' championship hopes with a lop-sided 23 to 8 count but a short week after the Aggies' spectacular fight against the Tigers points toward a number of saddened Turkey dinners in Iowa next Thursday, the Iowa team's showing against a number of Kansas State opponents outclass that of the Bachmanites. Thus it is that the outcome of the final Wildcat game cannot be predicted until the final result burns over the telegraph wires.

Drake Game Important

With no major injuries to deplete the lineup, the Kansas State warriors are slowly rounding into the pinnacle of shape and critics are not slow to express optimism over prospects of an Aggie rise in the final Missouri Valley standings within the next week.

Similar reports, however, filter down from the Iowa-State domicile, but just what change in color will follow the Drake conflict is widely open to conjecture.

So it is that events transpiring in the next few days will be the molders of the dope and give either support or disfavor to a secret that has leaked from Aggie conclaves to the effect that a steady, smooth sailing Aggie ship will safely weather the Iowa gale next Thursday.

MANAGING EDITOR REELECTED

Shideler Will Continue Position for Second Nine Weeks' Period

Fred M. Shideler was reelected managing editor of the Collegian for the second nine weeks' period at the meeting of the governing board of the publication last Tuesday.

Russell Thackrey and Gerald Ferris will retain their positions as editor-in-chief and business manager, respectively, these offices being filled for the entire semester, the first of the year.

A petition was presented nominating Leslie R. Combs, Miriam Dexter, Wayne Rogler, and H. D. Grothusen for members of the new Collegian board. At the election held Wednesday, these nominees were elected to the board and will assume their duties immediately. Retiring members are Genevieve Tracy and Kenneth Chappell. Prof. C. E. Rogers is the faculty member of the body.

NEW INSTRUCTOR APPOINTED

Josephine Hemphill to Fill Vacancy in Journalism Department

The appointment of Miss Josephine Hemphill as instructor of industrial journalism to succeed Mrs. Izil Polsoh Long has just been announced. Mrs. Long's resignation, occasioned by her recent marriage, will become effective December 1.

Miss Hemphill was graduated from the Kansas State Agricultural college with the degree of Bachelor of Science in Industrial Journalism in June 1924. For the past year she has been employed as proofreader and copy reader in the journalism department. She was for three years college correspondent for the Topeka Capital and has done free-lance writing for various publications.

During her college course Miss Hemphill was elected to Theta Sigma Phi, national honorary and professional fraternity for women in journalism, and to the American College Quill Club, a national writers' organization.

Miss Genevieve Martin who has been employed in the journalism department for the past two years, will succeed Miss Hemphill as proofreader.

SIXTY ENGINEERS ATTEND MEETING

INSTRUCTORS FROM K. U. AND NEBRASKA HERE SATURDAY

Chief Discussion Was Lack of Preparation of Freshmen—Committee Named to Suggest Remedies

The annual meeting of the Kansas-Nebraska section of the Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education was held here last Friday and Saturday. Sixty instructors from the University of Kansas and the University of Nebraska attended.

The chief topic of discussion was the lack of preparation of freshman engineers, especially in mathematics. Laws passed by the state legislatures governing the admittance to colleges and universities are considered too lax by those who attended this meeting. They called for the appointment of a committee of three from each of the institutions in this section to study the problem and suggest remedies.

Professor Mack Elected Secretary

Officers elected for the following year were Prof. George A. Shaad, department of electrical engineering at Kansas university, president; and Prof. A. J. Mack, of the department of mechanical engineering at Kansas State, secretary.

Dean P. F. Walker, University of Kansas, and Prof. L. E. Conrad, head of the civil engineering department here, drew up a set of resolutions which were adopted without discussion.

Meet Next Year at Lincoln

The program consisted of a round of golf on the country club course Friday afternoon, conferences Friday evening and Saturday forenoon, dinner Friday evening and luncheon Saturday noon at the Community House. They attended the football game Saturday afternoon, but the threatening weather caused some of them to leave before the game ended.

The meeting next year will be held at Nebraska university at the time of the Aggie-Nebraska football game.

RURAL PRESS CLASS WILL PUBLISH ALMA ENTERPRISE

Professor Brown's Class Will Gain Practical Experience from Work on Country Paper

An interesting feature of the work to be done this semester by Prof. Maynard W. Brown's class in The Rural Press is a week's actual work on the Alma Enterprise. Members of the class will have charge of the paper during the second week in December, going to Alma Friday morning, December 4.

Students who will make the trip are Mary Marcene Kimball, Manhattan; Velma Lockridge, Wakefield; Gerald Ferris, Chapman; Russell Thackrey, Manhattan; and Fred Shideler, Girard.

The Alma Enterprise is owned and operated by O. W. Little, secretary of the Kansas Editorial association, and Frank Sage.

This week of actual newspaper work is to be included as a permanent feature of the course in The Rural Press.

Freshman Discovers That His Knowledge of Campus Is Warped

"In what building," asked the eastern stranger of a K. S. A. C. freshman, "will I find the printing department?"

"The printing department," answered the freshman, proud to be able to direct a stranger to a building on 'his' campus, "is in the building between and a little to the west of the library and the main building."

"But," persisted the stranger, "what is the name of the building?" "It is spoken of only as the journalism and printing building," the freshman was disappointed to learn that he had not given all the information necessary. "Just a minute. Here's a K book. It says journalism and printing—Kedzie hall. Never heard of it."

"I can find it all right. Now I want to locate Thompson hall."

"Thompson hall? There isn't any such building." (Looks in K. book again.) "Thompson hall—Cafeteria. Guess I don't know much about my college."

"Now look up Calvin hall," from the stranger.

"Calvin hall—domestic science and home economics."

"Who is this guy anyway? He's sure hitting my weak spots," thought the freshman.

Then the freshman's cerebellum, reacting to this stimuli, set up the laborious process of thinking. It was plain he didn't know much about the names of the buildings. But why should he? The names weren't used in speaking of them. Upper-classmen didn't use them.

Somewhere he had heard that the names which these buildings bear were placed in remembrance of men and women who really put their life work into the making of Kansas State. Suddenly he felt a sense of guilt for himself and the whole college. So easily had these names been forgotten. Students just said "library" when they meant Fairchild hall.

Now when even a freshman thinks real hard, an idea is likely to result. It did. He would make a list of the correct names of the buildings, with their erroneous names, and put it in the Collegian.

Here it is:

Calvin hall—"Home Ec building."

Thompson hall—"Cafeteria."

Fairchild hall—"Library."

Anderson hall—"Main building."

Waters hall—"Ag building, new and old."

Denison hall—"Chemistry building."

Kedzie hall—"Journalism building."

Nichols Gymnasium—"gym."

The freshman regretted that he could not complete the list, because the other buildings do not have proper names.

However, second semester students also will have a period in which they will have a chance to be photographed immediately following the enrolment next semester.

SENIORS LEADING IN HOCKEY

Defeat Juniors and Seniors in First Games

In spite of unfavorable weather, spirited competition is being shown among the girls' hockey teams this fall. Three games have been played so far by the inter-class squads. On November 12, the seniors defeated the juniors 3 to 2, and on November 16, the seniors won again over the sophomores with a score of 7 to 2. The freshmen lost to the juniors 3 to 1 November 17.

Captains for each squad elected last week are senior, Nora Yoder; junior, Lorraine Smith; sophomore, Ruth Frost; and freshman, Elizabeth Hartley.

THANKSGIVING PARTY THURSDAY

"International Penny Party" Annual Y. M.-Y. W. Entertainment

"International Penny Party," is the name of the Thanksgiving entertainment which will be given Thursday, November 26, at 8:00 o'clock in Recreation center, for all students who do not go home during the vacation.

This party is an annual event and is given under the auspices of the Y. M. and Y. W. Milton Kerr and Ruth Bainer, who are in charge of the program and arrangements committees, are spending a great deal of time and effort in thinking up new features for the party.

For those students who stay here during the Thanksgiving vacation the party will be one of the high lights of their vacation activities. As the name of the party suggests, it will be somewhat different from any other party that has been given at K. S. A. C. for several years.

FURNISHINGS FOR DORM ARE LISTED

TENTATIVE PLANS MADE WITH STATE BUSINESS MANAGER

$30,000 Appropriation to Be Used for Kitchen, Dining Room, and Social Room Equipment

Tentative plans for furnishing the new girls' dormitory have been made with the state business manager in accordance to information given out Topeka by the furnishings committee, by a member of that committee. Lists are being assembled and prices obtained on various articles of equipment that will be used.

Dean R. A. Seaton, Dean Mary P. Van Zile and G. R. Pauling, custodian of all the grounds of the college, are members of this committee. They are to be assisted by Miss Mina Bates and Miss Araminta Holman. Miss Bates is now working on plans for the kitchen and dining room, while Miss Holman has charge of furnishings for the social rooms.

The sum of $30,000 which is available for furnishings is to be divided into three parts, allowing certain sums for the kitchen, dining room, and social and dormitory rooms.

Features that are especially attractive include a refrigerated drinking fountain system, rooms furnished with two beds which can be used as lounges during the day; outside rooms which are well lighted and well ventilated; and on each floor a kitchenette and social room for spreads, fudge parties, and so forth.

Electric fixtures are to be of special design used exclusively for the dormitory. A Kansas City firm is now working on these designs.

The dormitory will be ready for occupancy by next September if the present schedule works out satisfactorily.

HARRIERS READY FOR VALLEY MEET

WILL DEFEND CHAMPIONSHIP AT K. U. TOMORROW

Nebraska, Oklahoma and Ames Strong Contenders—Aggie Men in Good Condition

Aggie track men are undergoing strenuous training this week in final preparation for the annual Missouri Valley cross country classic to be held Saturday, November 21, at K. U. The race will be run at 10:30 o'clock in the morning preceding the Missouri-Kansas football battle.

Ames Has Well Balanced Team

Among the 10 schools who will participate in the event the Kansas Aggies and Nebraska are considered to have the edge. Closely following in reputed strength are Oklahoma and Ames, both of which have well balanced teams.

Between the Cornhuskers and Wildcats, there is little doubt other than to say that each have defeated K. U. 15 to 45, a score which designates a complete shutout for the team with the high score. The purple squad also defeated Missouri with the same score while the Nebraskans won from the latter, 19 to 41, but the race was run over a three mile course and can but approximately be used to judge strength relatively.

Dope on Ames and Oklahoma is still more indefinite because of the irregular and limited schedules. However, both have won over Drake but the Sooners were given the upper end of a 27 to 28 score in a dual meet with Nebraska. Oklahoma has also defeated K. U.

Squad Leaves Friday Evening

The Aggie team has been resting since the contest with Missouri which was run under such unfavorable conditions. According to Captain Kimport the men are in fine physical condition for the coming test of endurance. Last Friday tryouts were held and good time was made by the entire group, all of whom finished together as in previous races.

The squad is scheduled to leave Friday evening on the Union Pacific. Those who will make the trip are Captain R. E. Kimport, E. Ruthenford, A. E. MacGrath, M. Sallee, P. Axtell, and L. Moody.

Much interest is being manifested by other valley schools in the championship race, but it is expected that the Aggies will be able to retain the title which they won last year at Ames.

RIGHT USE OF LEISURE

"Guidance in the right use of leisure is vastly more important than vocational guidance." These are the words of Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University.

The use made of leisure is probably a fairly accurate gauge of the progress of the student. Therein lies the difference between the student who "gets something out of college" and the student who "gets by." The difference is great.

While Dr. Butler's statement applies to those whose school days are past the words are just as applicable to students.

Although the man or woman in a university is supposed to have somewhat of an idea of what is going on in the world outside the college walls, only a small number of students do. Many of them do not even know what is going on inside those college walls.

Right use of leisure does not mean poring over books. Still less does it mean gossiping with a group of "choice spirits." It does not imply spending this leisure in a round of amusements. It may be all, but not any of these.

The right use of leisure has been a large factor in making most great men great.—Ohio State Lantern.

On Other Hills

Extract from letter of a self made father to a son in a neighboring institution, by Leslie E. Wallace of the Larned Tiller and Toller.

I am glad you have run out of checks and will not send you any more. The deed to the university campus, which no doubt is in your possession by this time, I would keep in a safe place. When I come up you can give it to me, and I will place it in my safety deposit box. I would not part with the property, if I were you except at a profit.—It would please me if you would decide to do some work at the university. It is true it may cause you to be thought queer by others who are there and who are attending the university for an entirely different purpose. But if you should do this it would justify the establishment of the university by our forefathers, and the legislature in this event, may make appropriations for its continuance, and the legislature needs a little encouragement in this respect. Several of the boys have written back that they are homesick. They do not say homesick for what, but by a process of elimination, it has been decided, it is not for the public library.

If the students of Oklahoma university raise their $100,000 stadium quota the president has promised them a holiday.

The faculty members of Oklahoma A. and M. college are going to hold a cotton picking contest. All departments are going to be represented. The prize list was not made public.

Depauw university, numbers among her alumni four ambassadors and four consuls. Ten of her graduates have been United States senators, five governors, and 81 state legislators.

Fifty-five thousand dollars was the total gift of three large corporations to the new engineering building of McGill university at Montreal.

The interfraternity council of the University of California has recommended that fraternities not able to maintain a "C" average be put on probation for a year. They will be prohibited from holding any social functions or reserving space for their pictures in the yearbooks until their average has been raised.

Freshmen entering the University of Kansas must now have three units of English and two of social science in accordance with a recent ruling of the Kansas state board of education.

Radical departure from all accepted football customs was made in the Brown-Boston university game recently, when the stop watch was discarded and the game run on the basis of forty plays a period. It has been contended that the present method of playing 15 minute periods is of no benefit except to the team which scores first and that can use so much time by legitimate delays that its opponents are left with no chance to score.

"Modern education is developing two dimensions of man—the physical-chemical and intellectual—but it is ignoring the third dimension which includes the moral, religious and spiritual sides," declared J. Stitt Wilson, of Berkeley, Calif., in an address before the student body of the University of Indiana.

Forty-four pictures of the Oklahoma A. and M.'s girl students have been submitted by the editor of the "Redskin," the college annual, to Cecil B. DeMille, renowned motion picture director, to judge. The results, selection of the seven most beautiful by the judge, are expected to be announced some time in December.

Miss Merla K. Murphy, '24, is employed for her second year at Filley, Neb., as teacher of vocational home economics.

Beaunash, alias O. D., expressed himself or herself very thoroughly in the last issue in "Judge for Yourself."

I do not intend to take issue with Beaunash, alias O. D.

But why can't they garb themselves in any manner, form, or fashion that they choose?

Modesty seems to be the deciding factor in clothes for the young women of our college. It is a happen-chance that fashion decrees they wear'em short; but who would look the second time to glimpse a pair of pink garters?

I, at one time felt that big legged breeches for men were the height of effeminacy and dampfoolishness, but I tried a pair and found I could put on my pants without removing my shoes, and I then and there adopted the fashion.

Personally I don't think that pink sweaters and short breeches look becoming on the thin shanked young man. But he that has the calves of generous proportion, should by all means wear them if he wants. Even at that the thin shanked girl makes no effort to hide her calves.

O. D. shows some good points in his dissertation of women wearing their brother's striped Sox. It seems they should wear silk hose; silk improves the symmetrical outlines, especially adding to the beauty of ankles.

Miss Marjorie Longfellow of Denver, Col., has accepted a position as secretary to Prof. C. E. Rogers, acting head of the department of Journalism.

Sunday dinner guests at the Farm House included Mr. and Mrs. Linwood Ryherd and Miss Stella Howe of Chapman; Donald Compton, For-moso; Miss Louisa Moyer, '23, Marysville; Herbert Moyer, Holton; and Miss Mary Nuttle.

Dr. J. E. Ackert of the zoology department went to Concordia Thursday where he spoke before the Fifth District Federation of Women's clubs on the subject "The Conservation of Kansas Birds."

Kappa Phi Entertains

Iota chapter of Kappa Phi entertained Sunday morning at the home of their sponsor, Mrs. B. A. Rogers, with their annual Philathea banquet. Miss Agnes Horton, president of the chapter was the toastmistress. Toasts on the various processes of pottery making were given by Vera Chubb, Lois Richardson, an alumnae member; Stella Mae Haywood; Juanita Kirkham, of the Alpha chapter at K. U.; and Mrs. B. A. Rogers. Mrs. L. H. Limper, a patroness, sang a solo. The decorations were in the colors of the society and in pottery, the theme of this chapter for the year.

Phi Alpha Mu Initiates Four

Phi Alpha Mu, the honorary general science fraternity for women, held pledge services Monday evening in the Eurolphian Hall at four o'clock for Miss Cecille May Protzman, Mrs. Mildred Baker Fritz, Miss Anna Hochuli, and Miss Rida Duckwall. The members of this society are taken from the upper fifteen per cent in scholarship of the general science division.

More Trouble In Basket Than Girl At Cafeteria Thought

A man and woman, unfamiliar to the employees, entered the college cafeteria recently, at noon. The man carried a large, bulky, awkward basket. The girl at the counter very courteously offered to keep the basket behind the counter until the couple had eaten their dinner.

The man refused and again the girl insisted, "I don't mind in the least, I often keep packages for people, it won't be the least trouble."

The man smiled and looked at his wife then turned to the girl. "It might cause you more trouble than you think. You see it's our baby."

Adopt Department Insignia

Distinctive insignia for seniors of the University of Kansas have been adopted by journalism and engineering students. The Senior Engineers will wear a green jacket following the color scheme of St. Patrick, the patron saint of the Engineers. The Journalism students have chosen a pin or emblem bearing a design of a pair of scissors and an ink bottle forming a Jayhawk writing on a typewriter. Canes, the distinctive mark of Senior Laws, have been carried for many years, and remain the oldest distinctive mark.

Will Inspect Topeka Institutions

The Institutional Management classes will make a trip to Topeka Saturday, November 21, to visit various types of institutions. The Kansas Hotel, Kresge Five and Ten Cent store, Lux Mercantile Company, Pelletier's Tea Room, Washburn Dormitory, and the state hospital will be visited. Those who will make the trip are Esther Tracy, Emogene Bowen, Ella Schrumpt, Fannie Gorton, Mary J. Herthel, Julia Jennings, and Trena Olson.

137 Plays in Aggie-K. U. Game

In connection with the movement to play football games by the number of plays executed, instead of by 15-minute periods, it is interesting to note that the Kansas-Kansas Aggie game required 137 plays and the Kansas-Drake game 153, an average of 36 plays to the period.

ORTHOPHONIC VICTROLA DEMONSTRATED

New Invention Displayed Monday Night at Kipp's

The first hearing of the new Orthophonic Victrola was given at Kipp's Music store Monday evening at eight o'clock. This invention, together with a new process in making records, broadens the field of instrumental music that is able to be recorded.

Such instruments as basses, tympani, bassoons, cymbals, and piano may now be recorded clearly and distinctly. Formerly on most phonographs, these reproduced by a scratching or ringing that made their use for recording impractical.

The first record played was the "Anvil Chorus," by the Victor male chorus, on the old style machine, followed by the same selection of the same artists but from a record made by the new process and played on the Orthophonic Victrola.

Following this first demonstration of contrast other records were played which showed further the improvements over the old model. In conclusion "Marche Slave" by the Philadelphia Symphony was reproduced for the listeners. Each individual instrument could be distinguished while in the old process of record making and on the old machine many of these instruments were thrown together in reproduction and the result was harsh and indistinguishable.

Novel Method of Saving Stamps Innovated by United

An advertising campaign intended especially for college men and women away from home, is being started in this issue of the Collegian by the United Telephone Company. Neat little folders printed in the Aggie colors and carrying this title, "For Kansas Aggie Students who would enjoy a weekly chat with the folks back home," were distributed at the college post office Wednesday and Thursday. Extra copies of the leaflet may be had at the Collegian office.

Before being distributed on the campus, the material was approved by college authorities. As the president of one of the state schools remarked, "Such a campaign helps the student, the college and the company."

The advertising encourages students "to keep within the family circle" through the medium of the long distance telephone. By so doing they thereby eliminate the lonesomeness that so many times causes them to drop out of school.

Records at the local telephone office show that an increasing number of college men and women are getting the habit of calling home every week. Students say it saves time, is so much more convenient than writing and far more satisfactory.

DOGS MUST BE VACCINATED

Dr. E. J. Frick Issues Warning to People of Manhattan

"All dogs must be vaccinated," says Dr. E. J. Frick, of the college veterinary division who is vaccinating large numbers of dogs against rabies. These vaccinations are necessitated by the finding of a rabid, stray dog on the streets of Manhattan. Where this dog came from, and how many people or animals he had bitten before being recognized as having hydrophobia, by Doctor Frick, is not known.

Vaccination against this dreaded disease is the only possible means of preventing its development and spread, as a dog and other animal vaccinated will not develop the disease or spread it even though bitten by a mad dog.

The city of Manhattan has passed an ordinance requiring all dogs to be vaccinated or muzzled.

Returns from Month's Vacation

Miss Myrtle Zener, secretary to the vice-president, returned recently from a month's vacation in the eastern states. Miss Zener visited New York, Boston, and Washington, and surrounding points of interest. She had very enjoyable visits with C. N. Jordan, formerly of the chemistry department here, and his family in Washington, and with Mr. and Mrs. George Weckel, in St. Louis. Mr. Weckel graduated with the class of '24. Mrs. Weckel was formerly Miss Alice Patterson, '24. Miss Zener also spent a few days visiting her home in Kansas City before returning.

Miss Nelle Hord, '21, is now teaching foods in Simmons college, Boston, Mass. After her graduation here she taught in the home economics department of the University of Oklahoma, at Norman, and later went to Chicago university where she received her M. S. degree in 1924.

Dr. E. A. Sokmoker, '17, veterinarian with the Carnation milk farms, Monroe, Wis., had an article in the July number of the North American Veterinarian entitled, "Physiological Factors in Milk Secretion."

Dr. Frank B. Young, '19, Waukegan, Iowa, had an article written in popular style entitled, "Superstition and Rabies Disease," which appeared as one of the principal contributions in the Des Moines Evening Tribune News recently.

Red Cross Canvass This Week

Plans for the ninth annual roll-call of the local chapter of the American Red Cross have been completed, and the canvass will start Thursday and continue until Saturday. Although no canvass will be made on the college campus, the homes and rooming houses of the students will be visited, and students and faculty members are asked to leave their membership fees or contributions at their homes. A group of girls from the college under the leadership of Miss Mary Bell Sheet, will canvass the town.

WHEN Comp. Lit. and Physics 3-B are crowding for attention; when I've just received an over-cut notice from the Dean; when my allowance is a month off and the stub of my check-book confesses a balance of $9.32, give me a pipe and Prince Albert. I want to be happy!

Trouble's a bubble, they say. And I can prove it . . . with my jimmy-pipe and P. A. Just never was a friend like Prince Albert. Cool and sweet and soothing, P. A.'s true-blue smoke zooms up the stem, knocking troubles for a row of test-tubes.

Never a tongue-bite or throat-parch. Just cool contentment, no matter how hard you hit it up. Give me a grate fire to chase the chill of winter nights, an easy chair and my jimmy-pipe packed with P. A. Nearby, a tidy red tin for frequent refills. I know, Brother, I know!

TEAMS BUNCHED IN FIRST ROUNDS

SIGMA NUS AND DELTA TAUS SHOW BEST OFFENSIVE

Phi Sigma Kappa and Kappa Phi Alpha Also Piling up High Scores

Speeding up to a marked extent, intramural basketball entered into the second round of games Monday and Wednesday nights with all teams showing the benefit of an added week of practice.

The contenders for intramural court honors are all fairly well bunched as they round the first lap of the course and only a few aggregations show any tendency to draw away from the pack. Several teams, however, presented a brand of the national indoor game in their early encounters which will make them a formidable force to be reckoned with as the season draws out. A Sigma Nu offensive drive which garnered an overwhelming victory over the Acacia cagemen and Delta Tau Delta's decisive defeat of the Phi Delta Theta five Monday night, place both teams in favorable light for high honors.

S. A. E. Noses out Phi Kappas Other cage machines, notably those of Phi Sigma Kappa and Kappa Phi Alpha maintained a fast pace against their first opponents, both piling up heavy counts.

Evenly matched games, so far, have been the rule and the final gun in some tilts was the only deciding factor. By a field goal in a five-minute extra period, Sigma Alpha Epsilon was able to nose out the fast Phi Kappa outfit Monday night to annex their game by a 10 to 8 score. Beta Pi Epsilon broke the tape by the smallest of margins to come in ahead of Omega Tau Epsilon in a 14 to 13 engagement Wednesday.

Long range shooting is contributing largely to the general upkeep of the score and few teams overlooked this mode of attack in the first week of games.

Phi Kappa Theta withdrew their entree on a last minute decision and have caused the only gap in the schedule.

This week's scores are as follows:

Monday, November 16.
Delta Tau Delta 23; Phi Delta Theta 7.
Acacia 6; Sigma Nu 33.
Beta Theta Pi 23; Phi Kappa Alpha 18.
Phi Kappa Tau 11; Alpha Tau Omega 13.
Delta Sigma Phi 7; Lambda Chi Alpha 14.
Phi Lambda Theta 13; Sigma Phi Epsilon 15.
Kappa Sigma 6; Phi Sigma Kappa 24.
Sigma Alpha Epsilon 10; Phi Kappa 8. (Extra period.)
Wednesday, November 18.
Blue Devils 12; Kappa Phi Alpha 24.
Bluemont 5; Farm House 3.
Triangulars 7; Alpha Rho Chi 11.

HARRIERS ANNEX ANOTHER TITLE

CARRY AWAY CROSS COUNTRY HONORS FOR SECOND TIME

Ames Places Second in Valley Meet at Lawrence—New Course Record Set by Oklahoma

Six Aggie runners—Captain R. E. Kimport, M. Sallee, R. Rutherford, L. Moody, A. E. MacGrath, and P. Axtell—carried the purple and white, for the second time in as many years, across the finish an easy winner of the annual Missouri Valley cross country meet held last Saturday morning at Lawrence. The score was 50, just 31 points lower than that of Ames, winner of second place.

Seven Schools Entered

Seven teams from valley schools competed, Missouri, who in spite of her bitter defeat from the Jayhawkers, earned the valley grid title, finished last. The complete result is as follows: Kansas Aggies, 50; Ames, 81; Nebraska, 85; Oklahoma, 92; Drake, 99; Kansas, 104; Missouri, 119.

Individual honors went to Captain "Red" Rutherford of Oklahoma who finished a few yards ahead of Conger of Ames. Rutherford who holds a record of 26:19.6 from last year's run, set a new mark of 26:06.9 for the five mile course. Following Conger were Kimport and Sallee respectively while Moody, third purple runner, was unable to overtake Wahl of Drake who came in fifth.

Ideal Running Conditions

MacGrath and Rutherford crossed the tape eleventh and twenty-sixth respectively while Axtell, the sixth man on the team was unable to finish on account of sickness. Axtell who has shown up remarkably well all season, winning first place both with K. U. and Nebraska, took sick at about the three mile mark and after fighting for another mile was so overcome that to finish was impossible.

The race took place under ideal weather conditions and was run over the regular course which requires two laps for an even five miles. The ground was firm although in good condition for the use of short spikes.

LECTURES TO JOURNALISTS ON WORLD COURT PROBLEM

"Nothing New or Revolutionary in Court Idea," Says Professor Peine in Thursday Afternoon Talk

A lecture on certain aspects of the proposed World court was given in journalism lecture last Thursday by Prof. A. F. Peine, of the department of history.

Professor Peine told of the gigantic attempt being made to sell the idea of the court to the American people. "There are thousands of bulletins issued containing matter about the World court exclusively," he said. "There is no peace association, no church, no charitable organization that does not have World court program planned."

The speaker stated that there is nothing revolutionary in the World court. The protocol, the league, all represent some new idea. The court is merely a technical improvement over the other methods of settling international disputes.

Professor Peine is also of the opinion that the present way of spreading the information concerning the World court is too expensive. In spite of the fact of the large amount of material that has been sent out to the country at large, very few people really know much about the court.

Concerning those opposed to and those in favor of the league, he classified into different types, and gave the outstanding characteristic of each type. Those who were on neither side he classified as unthinking.

Willard Gives Reasons for Flunks

Freshmen and special students of the division of general science have received circular letters from Dean J. T. Willard in which he gives helpful suggestions for studying. He is sending these out because of the usual number of failures in the freshman class this year which he is trying to eliminate. In the letter Dean Willard gives as the reasons for failure too much outside work, lack of the right kind of high school training, failure to study the required number of hours for the subjects carried, or a lack of concentration during study hours.

SEE THE GAME

The Iowa State-Aggie game Thursday will be shown on the electric scoreboard of Sigma Delta Chi, which will be operated from the stage of the Wareham theater. Between halves the Wareham management will furnish a comedy, and it is probable that the Wareham orchestra will play.

Four Aggies will be playing their last football in the valley against the Iowa State team, which has lost only one game this season.

Admission will be 30 cents.

HOPE TO RETURN THE COMPLIMENT

WILDCATS WILL FIGHT TO AVENGE LAST YEAR'S DEFEAT

Game Will Start at 11 O'clock—All Valley Quarterback May Be at Stake

Spurred on by memories of a humiliating defeat handed them before a home crowd last year, 30 members of the Kansas State football squad will leave Tuesday evening at 5:15 for Ames and the final game of the season on Thanksgiving day with Iowa State college. Wednesday the Aggies will work out on the Drake field in Des Moines, and probably will not make the trip over to Ames until the morning of the game.

Administered Aggies' Worst Downfall

The season's finale will be called at 11 o'clock in the morning, in order to give the Iowa State followers opportunity to enjoy Thanksgiving dinner. Just about a year ago the Iowa State team journeyed down to Kansas in fine fettle, and took the Wildcats to the worst cleaning experienced by the Wildcats since C. W. Bachman has had charge of football hereabouts. Thursday Kansas State hopes to return the compliment.

Ames will be battling for the undisputed right to second place in the valley which will be hers with a victory or a tie, while an Aggie victory will put the Wildcats in a tie for fourth with Ames.

"Johnny" versus "Chill"

A side issue also may be decided in the game, the same being the question of quarterback on the All-Valley eleven. Johnny Behm of Ames was considered the most likely candidate for the place early in the present season, but since then Owen "Chill" Cochrane of the Aggies has been performing in a style calculated to give Mr. Behm a race for his position.

Origin of Charleston Is In Doubt—Drunken Sailors Are Suggested

The origin of the Charleston, is like some of the dizzy steps, hard to trace. Some say that in the good old pre-Volstead days sailors had a habit of making many and odd steps along the gang-plank after a night of celebration. Dusty sons of Ham, according to the legend, were wont to mimic these enebriated sea dogs—and so the Charleston. The craze has spread and Charleston no longer has a monopoly on this particular step. In New York, in Frisco, and even across the pond everyone who is not doing it is trying to learn.

Manhattan has become a center for this taperschorean art, and "Stu," Stout an illustrious exponent. A list of "Stu's" victories in Charleston contests, would read like the report from an Aggie stock judging team. Among the more recent contests at the Orpheum in Topeka he placed second, and will be entered in the finals there Saturday night. "Stu" also took second place in the Junction City event Wednesday.

Wallie Fair, and Andie Rumbaugh are adding strength to the belief that Pi K. A. house has become a young dancing academy. Many more contests are scheduled for this week. The Wareham is offering $100 in prizes in a contest which will be held the first three days of this week. The Pi K. A. troupe will be entered in this event and according to Jack Gross, manager of the Wareham they will have plenty of competition.

KANSAN ELECTED HONORARY NATIONAL PREXY OF S. D. X.

Donald Clark of St. Louis Is National President—Next Convention at Wisconsin

William Allen White, prominent editor of Emporia and a graduate of Kansas university, was elected honorary national president of Sigma Delta Chi, men's professional journalistic fraternity, at the national convention in Boulder, Col., last week.

Joseph Pulitzer, Jr., was elected to honorary membership in the organization. Such election requires unanimous vote of all delegates and can go to only one man each year. Mr. Pulitzer is the editor of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

The Kansas City Star was selected as the newspaper to be used during the next year in all ceremonies of the fraternity.

The national presidency of the organization went to Donald H. Clark of St. Louis, editor of the American Banker. Roy L. French, an instructor in journalism at the University of North Dakota, was elected national secretary, and Mortimer Goodwin of Chicago, was chosen national treasurer. The Wells Memorial key, given each year to the member adjudged to have done the most good for the organization during the year, went to Mr. Clark.

The annual contest for chapter efficiency was won by North Dakota university, with Iowa State second and Colorado third. Delegates at the convention represented schools in both the United States and Canada. South Dakota university and Butler university were granted charters by the convention.

The session next year will be at the University of Wisconsin.

KNOTH LEAVES KANSAS STATE

PHYSICAL ED PROF RESIGNS TO GO WITH SPALDINGS

Was Responsible for Growth of Intramural Program Here—No Successor Chosen Yet

Resignation of Prof. E. A. "Bud" Knott, assistant professor of physical education, to take effect at the end of the present semester has been announced by M. F. Ahearn, director of athletics. Knott will leave Kansas State to become traveling representative for the A. G. Spalding company in the states of Arkansas and Tennessee. Several applications are under consideration to fill the vacancy. Mr. Ahearn said.

Here Since 1920

Knott came to Kansas State in 1920, and has built up the program of intramural athletics from the low state in which it existed at that time to a point where nearly 1200 men participated in sports in 1924-25. He also has coached all minor sports over a five year period.

Under Knott's direction the Kansas State swimming team always has ranked high in valley meets. Two years ago it placed second in the valley, and Burton Colburn, captain, was one of the outstanding speedsters of the conference. Last year the Aggie boxing team also ranked well, and Z. Pearson, heavyweight, was the recognized but uncrowned title holder in his division.

Well Known in State

Knott is well known over central and eastern Kansas as a referee in high school games. On various occasions he has represented Mr. Ahearn on the state boxing commission. He also has been prominent in state American Legion work and has promoted several boxing bouts for the local post.

ANNIVERSARY OF STATION KSAC TO BE CELEBRATED

Singing Broadcast by Campus Organizations—Prize to One Receiving Most Applause Cards

In order to celebrate the first anniversary of radio station KSAC, which was dedicated just a year ago, an inter-society sing will be broadcast by various organizations on December 1, beginning at 7:30 o'clock in the evening and lasting until 1:30 o'clock the next morning.

The entire program will be the student's expression of the college atmosphere to the alumni who will be listening in all over the United States. An entrance fee of one dollar will be charged each organization entering the sing. This money will be used to purchase a suitable reward for the organization winning the sing, judged by the greatest number of applause cards received by any organization.

The anniversary program will be given widespread publicity and thousands of communications are expected from the radio audience. It is planned to make this sing so successful that it will become an annual institution.

The organizations are not handicapped by rules, but Sam Pickard, director of radio, has offered some suggestions, namely that the programs shall be from 10 to 15 minutes in length and that vocal music is more popular than instrumental over the radio. The programs are to be submitted to Mr. Pickard and approved by an advisory committee composed of Prof. H. W. Davis, Dr. H. T. Hill, Prof. C. E. Rogers, and Prof. Albert Dickens, and Prof. L. C. Williams.

POULTRY TEAM PLACES FIRST

KANSAS STATE RANKS HIGH AT AMERICAN ROYAL

S. M. Raleigh Top Individual Scorer—Third First in Five Years for Aggies

In competition with teams representing four other colleges and universities of the middle west, the poultry judging team from the Kansas State Agricultural college won first at the American Royal contest in Kansas City last Friday. It was the second time that this team has won first at the show, and is the third time in five years that teams from the college have won the contest.

S. M. Raleigh of Clyde won the high individual honors of the contest. Fifth individual honors were won by Walter Wisnicky of Green Bay, Wis., and twelfth high honors by Albert Watson of Osage City. Other members of the squad who competed in the contest but whose scores did not count in the contest were Kenneth Knechtel, W. W. Mann, G. A. Newlin, and F. A. Peterson. The team is coached by Prof. H. H. Steup.

Compete at Chicago Next Month

The five teams competing in the contest are as follows in the order of their placing: Kansas State, Iowa State, Texas university, Missouri university, and Nebraska university.

The second and last contest in which the college team will participate will be the Coliseum show held on December 9 and 10 in connection with the International Livestock exposition in Chicago. It is believed that the local team will rank high in the Chicago contest by virtue of its winnings at the American Royal.

Butcher's Heirs Have Edge In Dissection of Pickled Kitties

"Wanted a kitty." That is the universal demand of the students of zoology as the time nears for the dissecting of that domestic animal, found in alleys or sorority houses.

Since summer the department has been busy collecting the specimens, skinning and pickling them so those students who enrol in zoology, can reap full reward for their wise judgment.

And as soon as the powers that be have decided that the embryonic zoologists are ready for the test, each one will be presented a Christmas present of a real cat. Some consideration has been given to the subject of back work by the professors of the department.

What is required for this dissection? Love and understanding of the subject is the most important. But mastery of the gentle art of fishing is certainly an aid to the student who attempts to recover his cat from the pickle barrel. Daughters and sons of butchers are at a distinct advantage, being able to practice father's profession in the laboratory.

Each student in addition to his cat, is given a tag which denotes ownership of the animal. But after the second week he really doesn't need it. "For by the smell ye shall know them."

Aggs Attend American Royal

A special car on the Union Pacific train going east early last Wednesday morning carried nearly 50 students in the division of agriculture to the American Royal show in Kansas City to take advantage of the special Aggie day held at the show each year. Passes to the show were given the students, and the railroads gave reduced fares of rate and a third.

SOUSA HERE NEXT MONTH

WORLD FAMOUS BAND SECURED TO PLAY DECEMBER 15

Renowned Leader Rounding out Sixtieth Year as a Musician—Now Has 100 in Organization

John Philip Sousa, America's premier bandsman, and his organization of 100 people, have been secured by H. P. Wheeler, head of the music department, for a concert in Manhattan December 15. Sousa is now covering this part of the country on his third-of-a-century tour and is as well known as any musician in America today.

Organized Band in 1892

Lieutenant Commander Sousa is making his tour at the head of his own organization, but this is his sixtieth year as a musician. Sousa began his musical career at the age of eleven as a cymbal player in the United States Marine Band at Washington. In 1880 at the age of twenty-six he became its director with the rank of Lieutenant, resigning in 1892 to form his own organization, which has been in existence ever since.

The organization which will appear here is about twice the size of the organization which he led about America during his first independent tour the season of 1892-93. His first band contained about 50 men, this year he has an organization of 100 bandmen and soloists.

"The Stars and Stripes Forever?" one of Sousa's famous marches is almost a byword in all American homes. He has written one hundred and four marches, about twenty dance numbers, a jazz humoresque, and various operas such as "El Capitlan," "Desiree," and "The Queen of Hearts." Practically every person in America is familiar with some of Sousa's productions, and with his reputation as the conductor of the most famous band America has ever known.

Has Traveled 835,000 Miles

One of the ambitions of this director is to travel a million miles with his famous band. This present season finds Sousa with a travel record of about 835,000 miles to which he will add about 25,000 miles before March 6, 1926 when his journey ends. At his present rate Sousa will reach his goal six or seven years from now.

The appearance of this band in Manhattan December 15 is an important achievement of the music department this year, and is an opportunity of which every student in the college should take advantage.

TOO MUCH "THOU SHALT NOT" DECLARES DOCTOR BENJAMIN

Saint Paul's Rector Speaks to Students on "A Living Or a Life" in Assembly

"A Living Or a Life" was the subject of the speech given in student assembly Thursday morning, by Dr. Benjamin W. Washburn, a graduate of Dartmouth and rector of Saint Paul's church in Kansas City.

Doctor Washburn's talk was replete with illustrations and quotations, as well as much of his private philosophy. The speaker told of the lives of several famous men who had believed in a life and not a living. "That great scientist, Agassiz, once said 'I am too busy to think of making money.' Life is filled with so many things that turn to dust while doing them."

"There is too much goodness in this world without the flavor of attractiveness. There is too much 'thou shalt not' that leads to the development of negative physical goodness. Real law is the expression of the average conscience. The first ten amendments are examples of this."

"If we want a life and not a living, we must learn to do things better than we are paid to do them. This oftentimes necessitates extreme courage and unselfishness."

"You have to more and more remember the privilege of life and its relationships. When life is an institution of self-sacrifice, there is no joy; but when we think of the privilege of love and the many joyful things of life, we get the most out of it," he concluded.

Prof. J. W. McColloch and H. L. Gul of the department of entomology left Monday for southeastern and southwestern Kansas where they will hold demonstration meetings on the Hessian fly with the county farm agents.

CALL THEM BY THEIR NAMES

Last issue of The Collegian contained a doleful account of a visitor who was unable to locate certain college buildings because none of the students knew them by their proper names. While such account may have been exaggerated slightly for purposes of emphasis, it does delve into a condition which may or may not be worse on our own campus than on others, but which should be corrected in any case.

Various committees have passed through much mental anguish and not a little wire-pulling in naming college buildings. The building and repair department has been put to no end of trouble in providing name plates for them. And the student body goes merrily on nick-naming one and all.

Thompson hall, which contains several class rooms as well as an eating place, still goes as "cafeteria," and Waters hall suffers from such cognomens as "ag," "west and east wing," and "farm hall."

Anderson also is among the multi-nomered, masquerading variously as "ad," "rec," "postoffice," and "main hall."

It is barely possible that at least a portion of the student body will discover that the building containing the library is known properly as Fairchild hall by the time the books are moved into the new building.

Only a little care on the part of each member of the present student body will be necessary to do away with our present, "Babel," and once done away with, the nick-names will scarcely return. Traditions have a habit of remaining once they are established.

"BUD" KNOTH

Students who have attended Kansas State during the past six years will regret the resignation of E. A. "Bud" Knoth, assistant professor of physical education. The present intramural program, which has made inter-organization competition the real "variety" sport at Kansas State is due almost entirely to his vision, and hard work.

The resignation of an instructor who is both popular and efficient always brings a recurrence of the unpleasant thought that Kansas State loses a great deal of its best talent each year because of lack of funds to compete with the world for men who are worth having.

As the resignation of Prof. E. A. Knoth, or "Bud" as most of the upperclassmen know him, is a loss to Kansas State, we are sorry for it. But as it represents an advantageous step in the career of a friend Kansas State wishes to congratulate "Bud" on his new job.

As the Kansas State football team departs for Ames Wildcat fans are hoping that Bachman has followed the parable sufficiently to have been able to pluck the "mote" from the eyes of his own team in order to operate with success on the well known "Behm" of Iowa State.

On Other Hills

A social etiquette class for men will be established at the Oklahoma A. & M. college.

The average expense of the student at the Oklahoma A. & M. college should not exceed more than $350 for the nine month's time according to President Knapp of the college.

A Bachelor club has been organized at the University of Arizona and has a total membership of 259. As a punishment for "dating" a member is forced to wear a "Mother Hubbard" on the campus for the entire day.

A total of $21,338.61 in 845 loans is included in 16 loan funds of Indiana university. The most widely used fund is the "floating $10." A $10 bill was left at the dean of women's office 10 years ago and has been lent to women in financial difficulties. In each case the loan has been repaid.

When you see a slouch, look at his haircut, according to the director of physical education at the University of Denver. Ninety per cent of the slick-haired students have poor posture.

Should kissing be taboo? Dr. Albert M. Bielle of the physiology department of the Ohio State university states that every time this pleasant osculatory pastime is engaged in, approximately forty thousand bacteria are exchanged. Must be hard on the bacteria.

The freshmen at the University of North Dakota are required to abide by the following rules: must wear green caps, must enter the freshman gate, no talking to coeds allowed, and they must step off of the side walk when meeting upperclassmen.

A men's dormitory is to be built at the Iowa State college. This is probably the first dormitory of its kind at any state institution in the country.

HOMECOMING

I stood at the entrance of Anderson, an intruder, stepping on the toes of memories recalled by the old grads. I was not in the picture which flashed in their minds of happy days spent on the hill. I was the usurper and they the dethroned.

I heard a grey-haired man boast of the class spirit of '12. I saw another remove his hat as he stood looking at Anderson hall. And I didn't understand.

But I wondered as I stood there what K. S. A. C. meant to them. What it would mean to us 20 years from now. Why could grown men and women forget the worries of the office, forget about the second mortgage, and return to their alma mater and to their class again.

I watched that jovial crowd of Saturday and then I knew. And in the tear dimmed eyes of the old grad as he sang our song I found an answer to my question. Those men and women who watched a new team of the old school play that of another state were not of K. S. A. C., they were K. S. A. C.!

They were the teams that our alma mater had sent out to fight a harder game than that of Nebraska. And the faces of the old grads showed that some were discouraged and ready to quit, while others were listening eagerly to the signals and responding with the old "Let's Go."

What is Homecoming to the classes that have gone before? It is the return from a hard trip to tell the coach, who taught them the rules of the game, that they have been playing squarely and are carrying the colors of purple and white straight down the field to a goal.

Homecoming, when the youth of today and the youth of yesterday linked arms! I knew that the teams who had played their hardest games, and the teams whose hardest game still is in their tomorrow would uphold the spirit of K. S. A. C. And the feeling that swept that huge audience as they heard that old yell, "Jay Rah,"—once again I understood.—M. G.

ON RURAL SOCIAL COMMITTEE

Professor Burr Member of Body to Recommend Research Projects

A meeting of a committee on rural social organizations and agencies essential to permanent and effective agriculture, of which Prof. Walter Burr, head of the department of so-ciology, is a member, will be held in connection with the annual meeting of the Association of Land Grant Colleges in Chicago this week.

The committee was appointed last summer and was given authority by the association to canvass the situation throughout the nation to determine what sort of researches should be engaged in concerning the rural social life of America. The committee was scheduled to report at the meeting of the Association of Land Grant Colleges in Chicago this week, and to recommend research projects to be paid for out of funds provided by the Purnell Act.

Wales May Lose Title
Equestrian achievements of Prince of Wales bid fair to be eclipsed by the spectacular method of un-horsing employed last Sunday by R. L. Youngman, of Kansas City, junior in industrial journalism and assistant business manager of the Collegian.

Prior to embarking on a horseback ride with two companions, Mr. Youngman explained that such entertainment had not been one of his pastimes in the city. It seemed to be a case of love at first sight, however, as he locked both arms around the pony's neck immediately after the start was made.

After negotiating some little distance on a rough trot, the pony decided to go home, but Mr. Youngman was otherwise inclined and proceeded on in the original direction. When asked where he lit, he said, "Well, both hands and both feet flew up in the air."

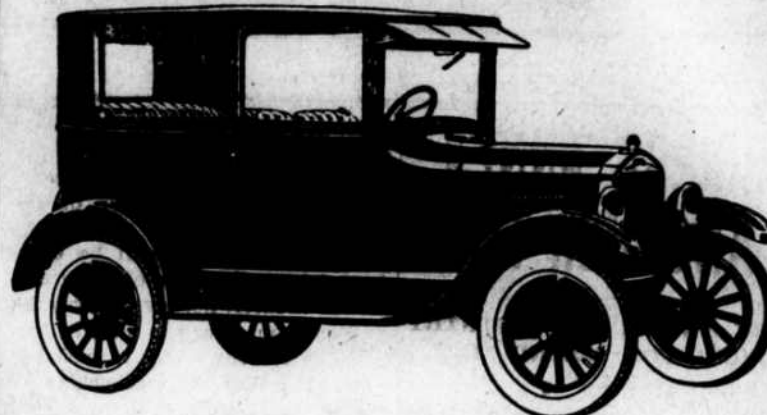

Dr. Minna E. Jewell of the zoology department lectured Thursday afternoon before the Fish and Game association at Pratt. Her subject was "Fish Problems of Kansas."

GAMES WAXING SOMEWHAT HOT

BETAS AND DELTA TAUS INVOLVED IN CONTROVERSY

Last Minute Attempt to Safeguard Beta Lead Contested by Delta Captain—Up to Corsaut

Out of the maze of week end basketball games, two contests stood out last Thursday and Friday nights as the best so far witnessed on the intramural court.

Using the lowly set-up with deadly effect, a smooth Sigma Phi Epsilon quintet Thursday night demonstrated that fast teamwork is not impossible in cramped half-court quarters by piling up a 33 to 13 score against Alpha Tau Omega.

Throws Ball into Gallery

Court fans Friday evening saw a furiously contested tilt between two well-organized Delta Tau Delta and Beta Theta Pi crews with the Betas in final possession of the longest score but disputed victory.

In an attempt to safeguard his team's one point lead, a Beta player in the last two seconds of play heaved the sphere into the gallery from out of bounds. The Delta captain protested this breach in the technical rules and claimed his right to a try-for-point and chance to knot the 20 to 19 score. The game was a minute old, however, before the referee had reached the end of his deliberations and the Betas then protested that a foul could not be called after the end of the contest. So it was mutually agreed to put the issue before the supreme arbitrator, Varsity Coach C. W. Corsaut.

Sigma Nus Smother Kappa Sigas
Sigma Nu was responsible for the second walk-away of the week end series by deliberately amassing 30 markers against a fighting Kappa Sigma 5. All other contests averaged close. One and two point victories proved unusually popular with five such games enlivening the week end card.

A number of entrees comparatively weak at the start are rounding out into strong contenders and are making a steady ascent up the ladder, but more can be told about the situation after the first month of action. With exception of the games last night the intramural court will be kept clear till the end of the Thanksgiving vacation.

NEED OF EARLY PAYMENT OF NATIONAL DEBT EMPHASIZED

Professor Englund Talks Before Regular Meeting of Honorary Rural Commerce Fraternity

Emphasizing the need for early payment of the national debt, Prof. Eric Englund, of the department of agricultural economics, spoke on the topic "The Present Status of Federal Tax Revision," to the Delta Phi Upsilon, honorary general science fraternity, at their regular meeting Thursday evening at the Pines cafeteria.

Professor Englund in his lecture reviewed the recommendations of the ways and means committee. He discussed briefly the significance each recommendation would mean when presented to the house of representatives.

Delta Phi Upsilon is an honorary fraternity of the rural commerce department. Speeches are given by authorities to the members of this fraternity on economic facts and governmental affairs at each meeting.

MILLING DEPARTMENT GETS CHLORINE BLEACHING OUTFIT

Industrial Appliance Company Donates $500 Machine to Kansas State—To Be Installed Soon

A gift in the form of a chlorine bleaching outfit valued at $500 has been made to the department of milling industry, it was announced by Dr. C. O. Swanson, head of the department. The donor is the Industrial Appliance company of Chicago. The machine has been received here, and it is expected that the company will send a representative here soon to supervise the installation.

Although the department has had a bleaching machine that was made by members of the staff in the department, the new machine will greatly increase the means of carrying on experiments in the department on effective bleaching with chlorine, according to Doctor Swanson. Chlorine gas is now one of most extensively used agents in the bleaching of flour, it is said.

The foreign students attending K. S. A. C. entertained Saturday evening for the Filipino orchestra from K. U. which played at the Marshall Theatre over the week end. Francisco Taberner of K. S. A. C. is also a member of the orchestra.

Dr. Howard T. Hill will spend Thanksgiving at his old home in Ames, Iowa, and will attend the Aggie-Ames game there.

WILDCATS GET SWEET REVENGE

LAST MINUTE TOUCHDOWN BRINGS 12-7 VICTORY

Aggies Outgain Ames Nearly Four Yards to One—Haskard Scores After Blocked Kick

Statistics of the Game		Aggies	Ames
Yards from scrimmage	217	55
First downs	12	4
Passes attempted	22	16
Passes completed	9	4
Passes intercepted	2	1
Yards made on passes	127	93
Number of punts	13	17
Total yardage of punts	504	633
Average yardage of punts	38	37
Penalties	5 for 25, 3 for 25

A blocked place kick, which, momentarily won the Thanksgiving day game for Ames against the Kansas State eleven, resulted in a touchdown for the Aggies and enabled them to mark up a 12 to 7 victory over the Iowa Cyclones, and tie for third place in the final Missouri valley standings.

The deciding points came in the last quarter with only two minutes left to play. After a pass, Haskard to Enns, failed, the Aggie quarterback chose to punt instead of attempting a line plunge for the four yards and a first down. He kicked to the Ames 7 yard line. Johnny Behm attempted an end run and was thrown for a 6 yard loss, putting the ball on the Ames 1 yard line. Norton Behm kicked out of danger to his own 30 yard line.

Complete Passes in Rain
At this point a pass, Enns to Rands, netted 10 yards. Another fumble, Enns to Smith chalked up another 5 yards. Smith lost 6 yards in an attempted end run. Line plunges by Haskard and Smith carried the ball forward 4 yards to the Ames 17 yard line.

A place kick would win the game, Enns shook the mud from his cleats and prepared a spot from which to kick. The ball was snapped back from center, carefully placed on the improvised tee, and immediately was sailing for the goal posts. It got but a few feet, however, before the Ames line surged in and knocked it down. There was a mad rush on the center of the line. Suddenly a figure was seen circling around left end, and Mr. Haskard, Aggie right half, had the ball planted between the Ames goal posts while most of the Cyclone players were still fighting to see "who had the ball." McGee failed to kick the point after touchdown—but who cared anyway?

Ames Scored First
The Ames touchdown was made in the first quarter. The two teams had been battling on about even terms, neither one being able to gain an advantage. The Aggies had punted out of bounds on the Ames 48 yard line. Norton Behm was stopped in his tracks on the first down. On the next play, Hill stepped back several yards and threw a long pass to Norton Behm who caught it on the Aggie 25 yard line and ran for a touchdown.

Before the second half was three minutes old, the Wildcats had taken the ball from Ames 15 yard line, and in five successive plays carried it over for their first touchdown.

Thomas kicked off to the Aggies and the ball was dead on the 15 yard line. A line smash by Enns netted 2 yards. A pass, Enns to Feathers, was good for 43 yards, putting the ball on the Ames 35 yard line. Another pass by the same combination advanced the ball 18 yards to the Ames 17 yard line. On the next two plays, Feathers carried the ball over for the first Wildcat tally, making 14 yards on the first down. McGee's try for point failed.

Had Five Chances
Five times in the first half were the Aggies within scoring distance. Twice when within the 20 yard zone, place-kicks failed; twice they lost the ball on downs; and the other time they were stopped from their fast advance by the timer's pistol. The only other threat that Ames made was in the third quarter, when Coo attempted a drop kick from the Aggie 28 yard line.

A glance at the summary will explain who had the edge in the game. In spite of the difference in yardage and first downs, the game was hard fought. The Aggies deserved to win, and took advantage of the only break in the game to register the winning points.

Cory, Ames fullback, and N. Behm, left halfback, were the outstanding players for the Cyclones. The Ames line did good work, but was unable to withstand the strong charging Kansas forward wall. Aggie stars are hard to pick, just as they have been all season, because of their machine-like teamwork. However, the work of Feather and Enns in the backfield, and of Captain McGee and Tombaugh in the line, probably stood out a little above the others.

Receive Petrified Stump
The geology department has received a 585 pound petrified tree stump from the board of water supply of the city of New York. According to Prof. Arthur Sperry of that department, the value of the stone has been raised a great deal by the amount of energy used to get it inside of the museum.

NEW RECORD IN AMERICAN ROYAL

COLLEGE STOCK MAKES BEST SHOWING IN HISTORY

Win Eleven Championships at Kansas City—Sheep Exhibits in Chicago This Week

In competition with stock from several states that made the American Royal livestock show of Kansas City the best in history, the college livestock shown by the department of animal husbandry made the greatest record since the college has been exhibiting stock at that show, according to Dr. C. W. McCampbell, head of the department.

The college record for the various departments of the show is as follows: hogs—three championships, seven first prizes, nine second prizes, and five third prizes; cattle—five first prizes, eight seconds, and nine thirds; sheep—four championships, 16 first prizes, seven seconds, and two thirds.

Pet Stock Does Well

In the pet stock department, rabbits and guinea pigs were shown by the college, under the direction of Dr. H. L. Ilsen. College rabbits won one first prize, one second, and one fourth. The guinea pigs won four championships and ten first prizes.

Upon returning from the show, Doctor McCampbell said he believed the show was the best ever held at the American Royal. Although 145,000 persons were admitted to the show, many were turned away for lack of room. Doctor McCampbell said.

Two representatives of the college were officials at the show. Prof. H. E. Reed, in charge of the college sheep exhibits, judged the Chester White hog exhibits at the show. Doctor McCampbell was in charge of the draft horse department and was assistant manager of the night horse show.

McCampbell and Reed in Chicago

This week the animal husbandry department is represented at the International Livestock Exposition by Doctor McCampbell and Professor Reed. The department is showing only sheep exhibits at the Chicago show. Doctor McCampbell is scheduled to attend the meeting of the American Society of Animal Production and the annual meeting of the National Association of Livestock Registry Boards, of which he has been president for the past twelve years, while in Chicago.

Jamal Hamad and Abdul Elzer Talk to Cosmopolitan Club

Arabia in all her native beauty was pictured by Jamal H. Hamad of Palestine and Abdul Elzer of Mesopotamia in illustrated lectures to the Cosmopolitan Club at Calvin Hall, Thursday, November 18.

Explanatory lectures of customs and culture of their country were given by the Arabian students. An exhibition of Arabian silks, books and paper, and the book by Koran were also displayed.

Mr. Hamad and Mr. Aceveda sang Arabian songs and at the close of the program presented to each person in the audience a gift from their country wrapped in the Arabian colors.

The next program of the Cosmopolitan Club will be "A Night in Old Mexico" on December 3.

Enchiladas, women's dancing fraternity, held its annual fall dance at the Elks' hall on the Tuesday before Thanksgiving. Jimmy Mitchell's Jayhawk orchestra furnished the music.

BEAUTY CONTEST STARTS TODAY

ENTRANTS' PICTURES WILL APPEAR IN JOURNAL-POST

All College Girls Eligible Except Those Placing Last Year—Competition Closes December 12

"Who will be the 1926 Aggie beauty?" This question is the keynote of a letter sent out by Genevieve Tracy, assistant-editor of the 1926 Royal Purple, to all sororities, fraternities, literary societies, and other organizations in announcing the rules for the 1926 beauty contest.

Any girl that meets the requirements of the contest is eligible. The pictures of the entrants will appear in the rotogravure section of the Sunday Kansas City Journal-Post during the Christmas holidays and will be sent to Cecil B. De Mille to be judged January 1. The pictures of the winning beauties will be printed in the Journal-Post immediately after the announcement in the spring.

Pictures Taken by December 19

The rules state that the contest will open December 1 and close December 12. All entrants must have their pictures taken by the Royal Purple photographer before December 19. Any college girl may enter who is enrolled in 10 hours of college credit work at the time of the contest. No pictures for the contest will be taken, however, until a petition, signed by at least twenty subscribers, to the Royal Purple is filed in the Royal Purple office.

Any sorority, national or local, must enter at least two girls. The number of entrants from each organization is not limited except that each must have the required number of signatures to the petition and no girl who placed in last year's contest may enter the 1926 contest. All petitions must be handed in at the Royal Purple office before 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon, December 12. Every subscriber who has made the full payment of $4.50 or the half payment of $2.50 will be entitled to sign a petition.

Check out Receipt Books Today

It is hoped that not only the sororities and literary societies will enter the contest but that every student will see that his beauty is entered, and that the classes and the political parties will try their strength in defense of their favorites. The more entrants the more representative will the Aggie beauties be, and the more exciting the contest.

All who desire to sell annuals for votes may check out receipt books from the Royal Purple office December 1. The books and money must be returned to the office by noon December 12.

T. B. Reed, '23, of the Coast and Geodetic survey, has been spending his vacation in Glasco. He spoke in the student branch of the American engineering seminar recently on the methods used in taking off shore soundings.

AGGIES FINISH IN THIRD PLACE TIE

MISSOURI TAKES TITLE FOR SECOND SUCCESSIVE SEASON

Teams in Valley Evenly Matched—None Undefeated—Drake Showed Best Defense

Final Missouri Valley Standings		W.	L.	T.	P.	OP.
Missouri	5	1	0	110	44
Drake	5	2	0	59	20
Kan. State	3	2	1	70	43
Iowa State	3	2	1	107	93
Oklahoma	3	3	1	93	44
Nebraska	2	2	1	52	29
Grinnell	2	2	1	82	69
Kansas	2	5	1	30	68
Washington	1	4	1	29	96
Okla. Ag.	0	3	1	34	106

The eager fingers of Dick Haskard of Hutchinson, which scooped up a blocked Aggie place kick and carried the ball on over the goal line in the last seconds of the Iowa State-Kansas State game Thanksgiving morning pulled the Wildcats from seventh to third place in the conference standings by that one act. Had the Aggies lost to the Ames crew, their final standing would have been just ahead of Kansas university and just below Grinnell, but that last minute coup was sufficient to put the team where it logically belonged in the standings, just behind the only two teams to defeat it.

Missouri took the conference title for the second successive season in spite of the defeat by Kansas, as Ames for the second successive season threw Drake out of the running for the title by a somewhat unexpected victory. The valley season just closed was perhaps the most even in the history of the conference. No team escaped undefeated, and every one but the Oklahoma Aggies managed to win at least one conference game.

The champion Tigers won the title by their ability to sit back and wait for the breaks and then make them good. They were considered by many to be the strongest team in the middle west, and yet were far from being "head and shoulders" above the rest of the conference. The Tigers defeated Nebraska and Kansas State by only three points, nosed out Oklahoma by two points, beat Washington and Ames by rather lopsided scores, and were defeated by Kansas.

Though Drake university had a light fine, the Bulldogs hung up their successful record chiefly by virtue of their defense, which held seven conference opponents to 20 points, an average of less than three a game. The Drake defeats were at the hands of Oklahoma and Ames, both of whom were defeated by Kansas State, but the Bulldogs won victories from the Aggies and Nebraska, two of the strongest teams in the conference.

The season just past was marked by the decisive breaking of the dominance of Nebraska over conference football. Last year Oklahoma defeated Nebraska, the first time a conference team had turned the trick in three years, but the later record of the Sooners and Huskers showed the victory to be somewhat flukish. This fall, however, Nebraska was conquered by Missouri and Drake and tied by Kansas State. Playing outside the valley, the Huskers whipped Illinois and Notre Dame, and tied Washington university, undefeated champions of the Pacific coast. Nebraska had perhaps the most difficult schedule in the country, as the strength of the valley teams left the Northerners with a hard game every Saturday.

Until Thanksgiving day the leaders of the valley had not lost a single game played against teams outside the conference. Missouri and Tulane, champions of the south, tied on the Tulane field early in the season, and Tulane later defeated Northwestern, claimants of the Big Ten title. The three Nebraska games and the Aggie win from Marquette kept the slate clean. Drake took a bad tumble Thanksgiving day to Southern Methodist university, a team which previously had been defeated by Oklahoma Aggies, rated as the weakest team in the valley during the past season.

Attendance records in the valley were broken by the 45,000 who saw the Nebraska-Notre Dame game. The second largest crowd was one of 32,000 which saw Kansas play Missouri. Rainy weather which marred practically every game day except the last two served to hold down the crowd for other feature games.

Missouri, title winners, had the strongest offensive in the valley, and piled up 110 points, followed closely by 107 amassed by Iowa State. Ames, however, had the weakest defense among the valley leaders, the Cyclones having 93 points scored on them. Nebraska had the second strongest defense in the conference, having 29 points scored against it, and had a harder schedule than the Bulldogs to contend with. The Aggies were third in the valley in defensive ability.

Hockey Spread Thursday

The annual Hockey Spread, an event of much interest to team and squad members, will be held in the girls' gymnasium on Thursday, December 3, at six o'clock. All girls who are interested, are urged to sign up at the gym and to bring twenty-five cents for lunch. Ruth Frost has charge of the plans.

JUDGERS PLACE LOW AT CHICAGO

Oklahoma A. and M. Wins First in Stock Judging—North Carolina First in Grain Contests

Grain and livestock judging teams from the college, placed sixth and seventh, respectively, in the annual contests held at the International Livestock Exposition and the International Hay and Grain show at Chicago. Both contests were held last Saturday.

Miss Halse Shows up Well

Miss Mary E. Halse, the only girl ever to be chosen to represent the college on the livestock judging team, was tenth high individual in the contest. A. McGuigan of the Ontario Agricultural college was high individual by virtue of amassing a total of 924 points out of a possible 1,000. Other members of the college team are A. C. The first 10 teams in the order of their placing in the livestock judging contest were Oklahoma A. and M., Illinois university, Ontario Agricultural college, Iowa State college, Texas A. and M., Purdue, Kansas, Colorado, Nebraska, and Missouri. Texas placed fifth at the American Royal this year, the Aggies placing fourth. The college won the International contest two years ago.

Runs Away with Honors

North Carolina amassed 4,281.5 points out of a possible 5,000 to win the grain judging contest. This institution won not only the team honors but also the individual honors, the three members of the team placing in the order, one, two, three, Ernest Lyness, a member of the Kansas team, won fourth high individual honors. The Kansas team won 3,891.5 points.

The first eight teams in the order of their placing in the grain judging contest are North Carolina, Iowa, Ohio, Oklahoma, Michigan, Kansas, Nebraska, and Indiana. Members of the college team are E. B. Coffman, Robert Fort, S. F. Kollar, and Ernest Lyness.

FIRST GO-TO-COLLEGE TEAM OUT

Gives One Act Play at Wakefield Last Wednesday

The first go-to-college program of the year was given last Wednesday when Lynn Fayman, Ralph Mohri, and Milton Kerr, representatives of Purple Masque went to Wakefield to put on a program at the high school in the interest of K. S. A. C.

"The Medicine Show," a one act comedy was enacted. The characters are typical backwoodsmen, lazy and uneducated, and the play deals with their views on medicine. The setting is on the bank of a creek. The program following the play was devoted to educational talks on K. S. A. C.

FRENCH POSTERS ON DISPLAY

Lithographs of Scenes in France in Architectural Department

The architectural department has on display over 35 French railroad posters, depicting scenes and famous places to be reached by rail on the different French lines.

The posters are truly beautiful works of art, since in Europe many of the artists devote their talent to painting scenes used as advertisements for railway and steamship lines.

Lithographs are made from the original paintings, and expert reproduction gives the lithographs the exact color schemes of the artist's scene.

TENTH AGGIE POP THIS WEEK END

ANNUAL SHOW IN AUDITORIUM FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

Present a Wide Variety of Entertainment—Permanent Possession of Cup May Be Decided Annual Aggie Pop stunts will be given in the college auditorium on Friday and Saturday nights, December 4 and 5. Unusual interest is being shown this year in stunts that are of wide variety and type and a great deal of competition is being shown. The program promises to be interesting and unique, consisting of an entertainment of stunts which depict a wide range of events—a radio concert, a movie, a trip to Santa's workshop—by means of color, dancing, beauty, rhythm, and fun.

Present in-between Acts

Between each stunt there will be an in-between act to entertain the audience while the stage is being set for the next one. These will be given by the college orchestra under the direction of Prof. H. P. Wheeler, Professor Brainard will sing, and the W. A. A. and Royal Purple will each present a stunt.

Two organizations are especially interested this year as they are both in line for possession of the loving cup which is being offered to the organization which presents the best stunt. The rules state that if any organization wins the cup for two out of three consecutive years, the cup becomes their permanent property. The Chi Omega's won the cup in 1923 with the stunt, "All Through the Year," and last year Pi Beta Phi's won it with "Note Us."

Pi Phi's Hold Record

This is the tenth year for Aggie Pop. The winners during past years are as follows: 1916, Kappa Kappa Gamma; 1917, Pi Beta Phi; 1918, Eurodelphian Literary Society; 1919, Aggie Press club; 1920, Ionian Literary Society; 1921, Pi Beta Phi; 1922, Kappa Kappa Gamma; 1923, Chi Omega; 1924, Pi Beta Phi. The Pi Beta Phi's hold the record for having won three out of nine times, the Kappa's second having won twice.

The stunts are judged by seven people, three of whom are out of town judges, the other four come from the college and the town of Manhattan. The stunts are graded according to their originality of idea and cleverness and effectiveness of production, and are given first, second and third places.

Beta's Have Withdrawn

It was hoped this year that more of the men's organizations would compete and plans were made to give a loving cup to the men's organization presenting the best stunt and one to the women's organization presenting the best stunt. Since only two men's organizations, the Alpha Beta literary society and Beta Theta Pi, placed in the finals, this plan was impossible. Instead of seven stunts which has been the custom, there will only be six presented, as Beta Theta Pi withdrew from the program last week too late for any other organization to try out.

Tickets will be on sale in Anderson Hall, or may be obtained at the door. Admission is 25 cents. The program will start promptly at eight o'clock.

FRESHMAN DEBATING TEAMS OPEN SEASON THIS MONTH

Contests Scheduled with Park and Bethany Colleges—Both Men and Women to Participate

The men's freshman team will open the season with a debate at Park College, Parkville Mo., on the subject resolved: that by constitutional amendment congress should be given the power to regulate child labor in the United States.

The freshman women's team will debate extemporaneously in the afternoon, December 9th, with Bethany College at Lindaborg. In the evening the freshman men's team will debate on resolved; that the United States should recognize the present government of Soviet Russia. OF COLLEGE SPIRIT

NOT THE VICTORY BUT THE ACTION: NOT THE GOAL BUT THE GAME: IN THE DEED THE GLORY.

So reads an inscription on the walls of Nebraska's football stadium. And, in our saner moments, we heartily agree with it. But when mob hysteria before a game grips us, we forget that there is such a thing as a game, and cry only for victory. We adorn our vehicles and ourselves with placards declaring that we MUST win. We sing unmusical songs in classes demanding that our 15 to 20 football representatives now "cleave for last year; make them pay; beat Notre Dame." Again, we bellow that "we don't give a damn for the whole team of Notre Dame." So college!

For the past several days the pre-game hysteria has prevented any serious study. Midnight rallies and singing and shouting in classes have utterly disrupted class work. Yesterday this reached a climax. For all that was accomplished, school might as well have been dismissed. A professor of philosophy amidst the noise from the hall, asked, "How can I talk of the wisdom of Plato with this going on? I know that winning of this game is the most important thing in the world, but—" Fresh roars from outside drowned him out. He dismissed the class.

This carefully organized and planned "enthusiasm" is becoming an Old Man of the Sea to the University. Spontaneous enthusiasm is all right, but our enthusiasm now is becoming like that following the nomination of a candidate at a national political convention. Spontaneous? No, of course not; it was planned beautifully.

Another professor sat for 20 minutes while his class sang songs, stamped and whistled. His efforts to begin his lecture met with new outbursts. Great spirit!

After all, though the idea may now seem idealistic and visionary, we came here to be educated. Football was begun as a means for exercise, without anyone caring particularly who won. The interest in the sport today is because of this competition. Finally a new attitude became apparent: "The team must win; if it does not—well if it does not..." Students at Northwestern university exemplified the extreme of this particular type of insanity recently. Because Michigan claimed the championship, disregarding Northwestern's claims, Northwestern students burned down a house, tried to burn their old stadium and cracked the mayor and policemen over the heads with clubs.

We love football, believing it to be the finest of all games. And we therefore hate to see it prostituted to this win-at-all-cost spirit. Let us remember the inscription:

NOT THE VICTORY BUT THE ACTION: NOT THE GOAL BUT THE GAME: IN THE DEED THE GLORY.

....Daily Nebraskan.

"The Harper Prize Short Stories," (Harper & Brothers, New York.)

"It is lazy and sweet along the Cote Joyeuse and on into the piney red-clay hills—a land which for nearly 400 years has been held enthralled by a river."

Thus the melodious beginning of Ada Jack Carver's "Redbone," the story of Baptiste Grabbo, "an uncouth, oafish little man, thin and pointed and sly," who set out one summer morn at a "peep o' day" hour to celebrate the birth of his son—"a man-child born in the crook of a horned moon and destined for great good fortune."

He must get drunk, of course; he must visit the shrine of his patron saint, a little blue figure in a niche of the church; and he must find a gift for his wife.

"On the edge of the commons the breath of sweet-olive rushed at his lips like a kiss; and it is here that the road grows into a street, with quaint little sociable houses that squat on the sidewalk like children."

But what should he bring to Clorinda, mother of his son?

"Something . . . not to break," he begged the merchant. "Something to set up in the parlor, maybe, like a what-you-call-'em. Something my son can say: 'Look here, this here my papa he brought one time when I was born.'"

Baptiste's cousin was a crafty monument man, with beautiful marble shafts to ensnare "Papa Grabbo." Wreaths of lilies and wide-winged angels—here was a "different" gift. "Something nobody ain't had." Two tombstones, one for Baptiste and one for Clorinda, his wife and the mother of his son. He would like to see them set up as statues in the parlor.

It isn't quite fair to quote so much from one story, when there are 12 in the book, but then it isn't often that one finds a story so charmingly written, so alluring, as the tale of Baptiste and Clorinda.

Meredith Nicholson, Zona Gale, and Prof. Bliss Perry of Harvard judged the 10,370 manuscripts submitted in the four contests conducted by Harper's Magazine last year. The first two contests were won by established writers, Alice Brown, with "The Girl in the Tree," and Fleta Gale Springer, with "Legend." Incidentally, five of the six prize winners in these first contests were women.

The third competition was won by a new writer, Ada Jack Carver, with "Redbone," and the fourth contest by Wilbur Daniel Steele, with "When Hell Froze."

It is an unexpected delight to find 12 stories so beautifully written as the Harper prize-winners. "Wavering Gold" and "Wild Geese" are almost as fascinating as Ada Jack Carver's story, but if I were awarding a grand prize to the best of the four firsts, it must go to the tragic, whimsical, rhythmical tale of Baptiste Grabbo.—J. F. H.

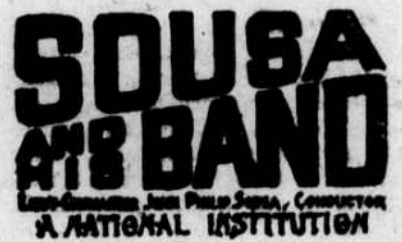

Campus Echoes shall soar from the depth of the ridiculous to the apex of sublimity by exposing to the world the most viperish, cruel and inhuman deed that has been consummated in the annals of our college history. Further than that Campus Echoes will register a complaint with the proper authorities and request that the perpetrators of this dastardly deed be punished severely . . . here is the story and judge for yourself.

This dastardly plot was hatched while most of you were away eating turkey and kidding papa about the next big check for Christmas.

It was hatched by a few cruel girls who were left in a big house with a roof on it. (The plot thickens.)

The dastardly plot: A big house with a roof on it; the few cruel girls mentioned above; the rest of the girls who had gone home to enjoy a Thanksgiving; a "For Sale" sign on the house to greet incomers as they bounded happily in the house anticipating the date later in the evening with their sheik they hadn't seen for a few days; two persons to casually view the house lending the psychological effect that they were prospective purchasers; the dastardly plotters coached and rehearsed as to "dialogue" for the victims; dialogue in part as follows: "I guess we can keep the furniture until next week."

"Wonder what we all shall do."

"Reckon some of the girls will have to go home when the house is sold?"

Being letter perfect in their cues, these inhuman, fiendish arch-plotters, despatched a pretty little girl, who had been slightly naughty, to comb the town and report back not later than 3 o'clock with a "For Sale" sign and display it conspicuously on the front of the house. After innumerable hardships the pretty little pledge returned with the coveted sign and everything was made ready for the "rising action."

Finally those tired, shiny nose victims came trooping in. And alas! They were greeted at the door with: "Did you see the 'For Sale' sign on our house? They are selling our house because of overdue taxes, O! what shall we do?" "I am so sick over everything!" "We will have a meeting this evening to decide what to do; but I expect some of the girls will have to go home."

Oh, the bitter tears! Poor little girls, my heart bleeds for you and I think it was a rotten joke; but I can hope you have dried your tears by this time; but if you have not, please some kind person, tell them about the joke.

Ye Hard Cider Wins Fierce Grid Battle of Horts vs. Dairy

Before a frenzied mob of rooters that overflowed the sidelines at the headlinesman's back, two football elevens the Saturday before Thanksgiving in a wind-swept Memorial stadium fought a battle royal which ended with an aggressive Horticulture machine in possession of a last-minute touchdown and 6 to 0 victory over their bitter rivals, the Dairymen.

For three and nine-tenths quarters the battered pigskin had changed hands constantly, suffered unmerciful pummeling beneath the grind of churning bodies, but kept always within the confines of the goal lines.

Then, in the last few minutes of play, came the deciding break. A misplaced ball; recovered; another exchange of fumbles and the ball rested in the hands of the begrimed Horticulturists on the 20-yard line. Time out was taken and the embattled grid enemies refreshed themselves each with their own favored beverage. Play again started and in a few more minutes the game was history. Hard apple cider had proven superior in nutritive value to the cream-enriched milk of the Dairymen, for the Horts in a final desperate surge, swept aside their opponents to score the winning marker.

Elation is the key note in the Horticulture camp, but the Dejected Dairymen have already commenced talk of "next year."

LOW QUINTETS FIGHTING BACK

INTRAMURAL "UNDER DOGS" MAKING LEADERS SWEAT

Valiant Efforts Produce Little Change in Divisional Standings, However—Leaders Retain Position

Objecting vigorously to further degradation in their standings, low-ranking aggregations Monday, November 23, featured the intramural court controversies of the evening with determined and bold stands against stronger opponents.

Competition Is Stimulated

These valiant efforts succeeded in stimulating competition during the pre-Thanksgiving series and giving the spectators their due of entertainment, but accomplished little else in the way of downing logical contenders for the court throne or uncovering dark equines in the intramural chase. Although weaker outfits in most cases forced the leaders to make use of their full strength, primitive law was in order and the stronger machines usually rode over the opposition.

Sigma Phi Epsilon and Sigma Nu strengthened already secure positions at the head of respective divisions with all expenses charged to the Phi Kappa Tau and Phi Sigma Kappa representatives. In a third notable encounter the Beta Theta Pi machine, managed to subdue the Lambda Chi Alpha belligerents and eliminate this combination temporarily from the association race. This dispute furthermore brought out the fact that any aspiring pennant winner will have to decide the issue with the Betas along the journey.

Other Contests Fairly Even

Other games were as a rule, evenly matched as was the case in the Phi Lambda Theta win over Kappa Sigma, the Delta Sigma Phi victory over Sigma Alpha Epsilon and the Delta Tau Delta and Alpha Tau Omega laurels.

AMES NOTES

As the team walked down the street from the train to their hotel in Des Moines, many words of encouragement were forthcoming from the early morning workers who recognized the Wildcats. "Show 'em up, men; they beat us last Saturday" was a common expression.

The team worked out on the Drake field Wednesday afternoon and stayed in Des Moines that night. They went over to Ames on an interurban about an hour before the game Thursday morning.

The Aggies did not feel just at home during the first quarter, but it started raining early in the second quarter, and continued for the rest of the game. Apparently the rain had little effect on the type of game which the Aggies had anticipated on playing for 18 of the 22 passes which they attempted were thrown in the last half.

Substitutions for the Aggies were numerous. Coach Bachman using 23 men during the game. Captain McGee and Tombaugh were the only ones who played the entire game.

Aggie players suffered several bad injuries. Holsinger's shoulder was knocked out of place and the ligaments torn loose in the third play of the game, and he was unable to get in again. Springer suffered a similar injury in the second quarter. Cochrane, who already had two broken ribs, had some shoulder ligaments torn. Feather and Price were badly bruised. Several other men are limping from minor injuries.

Gloom settled over the Aggie bench during the latter part of the first half. Springer who substituted for Smith, and Cochrane substituting for Enns, were both injured and unable to carry the ball. Substitutions could not be made because all available men had played previously in the half. Meek and Feather bore the weight of the attack until Douglas relieved the Aggie fullback, when the ball was on the Ames 46-yard line. However, a 15-yard penalty on Ames, two runs by Meek and a nine yard gain through center by Douglas placed the ball on the Ames 18-yard line with a first and 10 for the Aggies when the half ended.

The Behm brothers failed to make a spectacular final appearance in valley football. Johnny Behm, the nightmare of the game here last year, was thrown time and again for losses, and was seldom able to get past the line of scrimmage. Norton played a more consistent game than Johnny, snagging the long pass from Hill and racing for the Ames touchdown. He also did some of the Cyclone punting and passing.

After the Aggies had made their second touchdown and kicked off to Ames, the Cyclones made a desperate effort to score via the aerial route. Douglass intercepted a long pass and then another Aggie offensive started which only the timer's gun was able to stop.

The squad left Ames shortly after the game for Des Moines, where they had a Thanksgiving dinner followed by a party.

The players were surprised to hear Aggie cheers from the east stands all during the game. After the conflict they discovered that the rooting came from a group consisting of Drake students and Kansas State graduates.

AGGIE POP ON TONIGHT'S BILL

LOVING CUP AWARDED TO WINNERS SATURDAY EVENING

Six Novel Stunts to Be Presented in Auditorium at 8 o'clock—Four in-between Acts

Last rehearsals have been staged and everything is ready for the final performances of the tenth Aggie Pop tonight and tomorrow. All six of the organizations are working hard and the performance promises to be very good.

The complete list of stunts to be presented is as follows: "Christmas Eve," Ionian Literary society; "Evolution," Chi Omega sorority; "Tuning in on Aggie Pop," Pi Beta Phi sorority; "The Silent Drama," Alpha Beta Literary society; "Parcel Post," Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority; "Memory Lane," Alpha Xi Delta sorority.

Tickets Only Two-Hits
Tickets are being sold by a committee of girls under the direction of Merle Nelson. They will sell in Anderson Hall all day Friday and Saturday morning. Tickets are 25 cents and are of two different colors, white for Friday night and red for Saturday night. The different buildings will be canvassed and also the business sections of the town by members of this committee.

Aggie Pop is put on through efforts of a number of people, committees of judges and advisors. This year the following persons acted as preliminary judges: Dean Van Zile, Miss Jessie Machir, Prof. H. W. Davis, Miss Bunn, Prof. W. E. Grimes, Miss Arnold, Prof. C. W. Matthews, Prof. Miles Heberer, and Prof. J. G. Emerson. The Aggie Pop committee is chaired by Miss Achsa Johnson. The business manager is Merle Nelson. Members of the committee have been Dorothy Sheets, publicity; Hazel Moore, concessions; LaVange Le Vitt, in-between stunts; and Esther Ott, committees.

Hazel Moore and her committee of freshman women will have charge of concessions and will sell candy and peanuts to the audience between stunts.

Seven to Judge Stunts
On Friday and Saturday nights the stunts will be judged by seven judges, four men and women from the college and Manhattan and three from out of town. The town judges score on Friday night and the out of town judges on Saturday night, all decisions held until the final night when a loving cup is awarded to the organization presenting the best stunt.

Much interest and competition is being shown as two organizations are in line to keep the cup as permanent property. According to the rules any organization which wins the cup two out of three consecutive years wins the cup permanently. The Chi Omega's took first place in 1923 with "All Thru The Year" and the Pi Beta Phi's won last year with their stunt "Note Us."

There will be in-between stunts to entertain the audience during scene shifting. These numbers include the college orchestra under direction of Prof. H. P. Wheeler; a vocal solo by Prof. P. P. Brainerd; and acts by the W. A. A. and the Royal Purple.

Military Organization Formed
A meeting of the advanced course men of the R. O. T. C. was held Tuesday, November 24, for the purpose of forming a permanent organization of the advanced course men of this unit. W. H. Schindler was elected president, Ben Coffman secretary and I. K. McWilliams treasurer.

NATIONAL Y. W. WORKER HERE
Miss Juliette Dericotte to Speak Sunday and Monday

Miss Juliette Dericotte, national secretary of the Y. W. C. A. will be a visitor at K. S. A. C. Sunday and Monday, December 6 and 7.

Miss Dericotte works with the colored colleges and with inter-racial groups in white colleges. She will speak on "Our Inter-racial Relations" at 7:30 Monday evening in the home economics rest room. This will be an open forum for both men and women, faculty members and students.

On Sunday Miss Dericotte will speak at the Christian Endeavor of the Presbyterian church from 6:30 to 7:30, and at the Congregational church from 7:30 to 8:30.

Members of committees and those interested will be served supper in the home economics rest room at 5 o'clock Monday evening. Reservations should be phoned to 926 by noon Saturday.

Fourth Instead of Seventh.
Fourth place, rather than seventh as was first reported, was the correct placing of the college stock judging team at the International Livestock Exposition in Chicago, later counting of the scores revealed. The team placed first on beef cattle, sixth on horses, seventh on sheep, and ninth on hogs. High ranking teams made higher scores than have ever been made in the history of the International contest, according to Prof. F. W. Bell.

Prize Dairy Cow Slaughtered For Study of Organs

The K. S. A. C. dairy department, in cooperation with W. W. Swett of the division of dairying of the United States department of agriculture, has slaughtered one of its former highest producing cows in order to get weights and measurements on numerous internal organs of the animal.

According to Prof. R. H. Lush, of the dairy department here, this is one of the largest phases of research work which has ever been carried on in regard to studying the dairy cow's anatomy. The idea of the experiment is to find the correlation which probably exists between the capacity that a cow has for food in relation to her ability to produce milk. Professor Lush said that the research work had only begun recently and that no definite results were available as yet. Only high-producing cows are being slaughtered at present and later on similar experiments will be made on low producing cows.

Carlotta Empress Fobes, the Holstein cow which was killed, was one of the highest producing cows which the college has owned. She has a record of over 27,000 pounds of milk and 1,000 pounds of butterfat per year. The cow was 11 years of age and was no longer a profitable dairy animal.

The cow's intestine measured 244 feet. This, according to Mr. Swett, is the longest intestine which he has found after having supervised the experiment on approximately 50 head of dairy cattle belonging to colleges all over the United States. The intestine of the average cow measures about 200 feet. A total of 80 internal and external measurements were taken of various organs of the cow throughout the experiment.

STATION KSAC HOLDS PARTY

FIRST BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATED MONDAY NIGHT

Twenty-two Organizations Take Part in Inter-society Sing—Several Short Talks

Station KSAC held a birthday party all its own Monday night, December 1, and friends and alumni of Kansas State were its guests. The party started at 7:30 when KSAC took the air with an inter-society sing. Over 1,000 congratulatory messages have been received and the affair promises to become an annual event. So far as is known this is the first program of its kind ever broadcast by any school.

Trophy to Most Popular
Twenty-two social and literary organizations gave musical numbers and the one receiving the most messages of congratulation from the listeners-in will receive a trophy. The winner will be announced Tuesday evening December 8. The sing was held to celebrate the first anniversary of the establishment of the station. Special numbers were given by E. A. Stoddyk and Don Porter of the extension division and short talks were given by President F. D. Farrell, Coach C. W. Bachman, Prof. Albert Dickens, Prof. J. W. Emerson, Prof. H. W. Davis, and Prof. L. C. Williams.

Messages from Everywhere
At 1:30 Tuesday night more than seventy-five telegrams and one hundred long distance telephone calls had been received congratulating the participants, coming from points as far distant as Burlington, N. J., Newman, Ga., Baton Rouge, La., and Grand Forks, N. D.

The organizations which entered the contest were Alpha Delta Pi, Chi Omega, Delta Zeta, Phi Omega Pi, Kappa Delta, Alpha Theta Chi, Beta Theta Pi, Alpha Tau Omega, Pi Kappa Alpha, Phi Mu Alpha, Farm House, Lambda Chi Alpha, Delta Sigma Phi, Mu Phi Epsilon, Phi Beta Sigma, Sigma Phi Epsilon, and Browning, Ionian, Athenian, Eurodolphian, Franklin, and Alpha Beta Literary societies.

MAY GET "BIG TEN" GAME

Coach Bachman Attending Conference in Chicago this Week

New worlds to conquer will be at the disposal of the 1926 Aggie football aggregation if Coach Charles Bachman is successful in the quest that took him to Chicago the first of this week for the meeting of Big Ten conference representatives.

Before leaving Coach Bachman gave out the information that he would attempt to secure a date with either Northwestern or Iowa for the 1926 Aggie football schedule.

After negotiating with these schools in Chicago, Coach Bachman will return to St. Louis where he will represent K. S. A. C. in the Missouri Valley mentor's meeting and frame the major part of the schedule.

INTEREST TURNS TO BASKETBALL

FOUR OF LAST YEAR'S REGULARS ARE BACK

Squad Has Been Practicing Since September—Sophomores Bid for First String Berths

Leaving the basketball men both the center of the platform and a brilliant record to emulate, the Aggie apstles of King Football retired last week behind the scenes and eyes of sport followers now shift from chalk-ribbed fields to hard-floor courts.

Since late September the basketball squad has undergone a gradual process of development which, gaining speed in the latter weeks, is expected to land the courtmen into playing form by New Years Day.

To Have Mighty Scrimmages
During the long fall backstage months Coach Charles Corsaut has kept a watchful eye over his charges, not permitting them to round into shape too fast or relax too far, and ever guarding against any staleness that might creep in from early over-practice.

Now, with Thanksgiving and its brief respite—but a memory, the Aggie court mentor has laid plans to stiffen the training routine of the ringmen with a nightly dose of scrimmage and drill in plays and tactics and by January aims to have the quintet nicely balanced at all five positions. Four returned 1924 regulars have spared Coach Corsaut the task of filling their places but the fifth position left vacant by the graduation of Bunker, renowned forward and hoop wizard of last season's machine, still remains an aperture.

Captain Fritz Koch, H. M. "Doc" Weddle, Eric Tebow, and C. A. "Lefty" Byers compose the nucleus and four-fifths of the coming Aggie combination. According to present indications Captain Koch will retain his location at guard, Byers his job at forward, and Tebow his place in the jumping ring. Weddle, who won the letter last year at guard, is now being groomed for the other forward position, but is receiving strong competition for this particular station from R. R. Osborne and G. L. Davidson, two first year varsity men. Weddle, with C. J. Tangeman, is also listed in Coach Corsaut's leather notebook as a reserve center.

Expect To Uphold Prestige
A sixth former varsity squadman now serving on the present squad and who saw considerable action last year on the court is M. B. Miller who is making a forcible bid for a regular job at forward.

R. H. Mertell and C. B. Dicus, hold-over guards from the last freshman force, are exhibiting a fast style of play and should both, Mertell especially, fit in nicely with Koch in the rear of the court.

The Aggie team through the past week has been cultivating a threatening attack with scrimmages against a picked freshman five and the consistency with which they cage the ball in these skirmishes points toward the K. S. A. C. court prestige being preserved for another season.

CONTRACT FOR FIXTURES OF VAN ZILE HALL AWARDED

Furnishing Contract to Be Let Later—Purchases for July 1 Delivery.

Contract for the light fixtures for Van Zile hall, the new women's dormitory, was awarded in Topeka last Tuesday to the Bailey-Reynolds Chandelier company of Kansas City. The contract price was $2,553.13. Five representatives from the college were present at the awarding of the contract.

The contract for the fixtures was awarded early to allow the manufacturers ample time to make the specially designed fixtures called for in the contract. The contract for the furnishings will not be let until later in the month, according to Supt. G. R. Pauling, a member of the faculty committee in charge, but purchases for the fixtures and furnishings are being made for July 1 delivery.

Those from the college who were in Topeka at the time the contract was awarded were Dean Mary P. Van Zile, who will have charge of the new home, Dean R. A. Seaton of the division of engineering, Superintendent Pauling, members of the faculty committee in charge of arrangements for the building; Miss Araminta Holman of the applied arts department, and Prof. R. G. Kloefler of the electrical engineering department.

Dr. F. L. Duley of the agronomy department delivered an address at the annual farm bureau meeting in Miami county Tuesday evening. He discussed soil fertility.

Receives All-American Mention
Zurlinden Pearson, tackle of the 1925 Kansas State football team, has been selected by Charles P. Crowley, coach of Columbia university, New York City, for a position on his second All-American team.

The announcement, which appeared in last Sunday's New York Times, stated that Pearson had been "a bulwark of power to his team and stood out in every game as an exceptional tackle."

Dick Haskard, Aggie right half, received honorable mention by this same coach.

Wild Catmosphere Slowly Supplanting Spirit of Thanksgiving

"It didn't seem a bit like Thanksgiving," so say the majority of students who returned from a holiday which is quite generally reported as dull. According to the lamentations there was a decided absence of the holiday spirit. One comes to the conclusion that a greater feeling has supplanted this holiday atmosphere of turkey, cranberries, and whatnot. It is the Wild Catmosphere.

Aggies at this season are more interested in how the All-valley is picked, than in how the Puritans convened to pick Thanksgiving day.

Colors serve as a sort of almost tangible handle by which one may grasp certain seasons and the accompanying "feeling." For Thanksgiving—ordinarily—it is red and brown; red for the cranberries and sparkling red Home Brew (or what have you?); and brown for the festive turkey. At K. S. A. C., the purple and white which stand for, (see student's handbook)—have eclipsed the red and brown of many years' standing. Maybe Dean Mac will be able to train Touchdown II to grow tail feathers and gobble—maybe so.

ORATORIO DECEMBER 13

Soloists Are All from K. S. A. C. Music Faculty.

Rapid progress is being made on the "Messiah," which will be presented by the Manhattan Choral Union on Sunday, December 13, according to Prof. Harold P. Wheeler, head of the music department, who is directing the chorus.

Soloists, who have been selected are Miss Marjorie Schobel, soprano; Maurine Smith, contralto; Edwin Sayre, tenor; and William Lindquist, bass. All of the soloists are members of the music faculty.

Approximately 200 students and townspeople are now enrolled in the chorus, which has been meeting every Monday night in the auditorium for rehearsal. Accompaniment for the "Messiah" will be played by the college orchestra.

THEATRE FOR AGGIEVILLE

Universal Film Company Has Lease on New Building

Plans have been completed for the new theatre at the west end of Moro, according to Harry Miller, who is building it.

The Universal Film company has the lease on the theatre, but the store rooms at either side of the lobby have not yet been leased. The theatre will have a seating capacity of 800.

The three small store rooms and the lobby will have tiled floors. There will be six offices upstairs. The front of the building will be trimmed with five colors of polychrome Terra cotta and a plate glass front. The building was begun October 25, and will be completed February 15.

Miss Schobel in Recital

The regular weekly recital of the music faculty will be held Sunday, December 6, in the auditorium at 4 o'clock. Miss Marjorie Schobel, soprano, will give the recital with Miss Alice Jefferson as her accompanist on the piano.

Miss Sarah Tracy will have as her guests for Aggie Pop, Saturday night, Misses Lillie and Neva Helffinger of Junction City.

To Take Pictures Monday
Group pictures of the varsity and freshman football squads and cross country team will be taken Monday, December 8, for the Royal Purple, Coach Charles Bachman announced before leaving for Chicago early this week. All men who have remained on the squads through most of the season are requested to make their appearance.

PLAN CAMPUS CHEST WEEK

ANNUAL MOVEMENT HAS SANCTION OF ADMINISTRATION

Christmas Ceremonial to Close Drive for Donations to Off-Campus Organizations

Plans for the annual Campus Chest week were practically completed at a meeting of representatives from every student and faculty organization on the hill, last Wednesday afternoon.

President F. D. Farrell made a short talk in which he assured members of the general committee that the college was in sympathy with the movement and that it had the official approval of the administration.

Will Exchange Greetings
It was planned to wind up the canvass with a Christmas ceremonial, which will probably be held at 5 o'clock, Friday, December 18. At this time, all students and faculty members will get together, witness a small pageant and exchange holiday greetings before departing for their winter vacation.

The following committee chairmen were elected at the meeting: Canvassing, Paul Artell; Christmas ceremonial, Dorothy Rosebrough; publicity, Charlotte Swanson. Paul Pfeutze and Fred Shideler were elected sub-chairmen of the publicity committee.

Decide Beneficiaries This Afternoon
No definite action was taken on the beneficiaries of the funds derived from the Campus Chest drive, although the American Red Cross, the Student Friendship Fund, the Canton Christian college, and the Salvation Army will be considered. The executive committee, composed of Dean Mary Pierce Van Zile, Dr. A. A. Holtz, Miss Lols Wildy, Paul Pfeutze, Dorothy Rosebrough, Margaret Burtis, and Fred Shideler, will meet this afternoon to decide who will receive funds and what percentage each will get.

The Campus Chest was innovated at K. S. A. C. last year, after several years of objectionable solicitation by off-campus organizations for funds from students. Conditions reached such a point two years ago that a student was stopped and asked to donate to some organization, that may or may not have been approved, on an average of twice a month.

Unites All Drives
The Campus Chest unites all of these off-campus drives into one drive, with the added feature that every organization deriving benefits is approved by a representative group from the whole college.

Students should not get the impression, however, that the Campus Chest finances organizations that exist on the hill. It merely combines all the drives for off-campus activities that are supported by charity and donations.

Prof. W. H. Andrews, who successfully conducted the drive last year, is again chairman of the general committee this year.

BASKETBALL FREE THROW NEXT INTRAMURAL EVENT

Last Year 200 Men Participated in Contest for Hoop "Crack Shots"

Beyond the current basketball turmoil no athletic event is in sight upon the 1925 intramural horizon except the approaching freethrow contest which draws annually perhaps the largest participation of any athletic event in the school.

Two hundred acquaintances of the national court game last year tried their skill at hitting the hoop and more are expected and invited by the association manager, E. A. Knott, to make their appearance for the contest this December.

The method that will be used in determining the winner of the tournament, which is scheduled for the week preceding the Christmas holidays, is as follows:

Ten shots will be taken around in the initial round of the contest and 15 high-point men survive. The field is further narrowed to 10 in the next 10 tries of these entries. This squad is cut in half at the third round and the remaining five fortunate take 15 throws each with the high scorer adjudged winner of the contest and award.

The intramural wrestling tournament will not be staged until early in the new year.

WHY NOT A FIELD HOUSE?

Agitation for a field house for Kansas State basketball games has come to the fore this week as the basketball team starts work for the 1926 Missouri Valley season. This year the team will start the season playing on a home court in Nichols gymnasium which has a maximum capacity of only 3,000 persons, and there are more than 3,000 students and faculty activity tickets out, which makes absolutely no provision for townspeople and followers from over the state to see the games.

Last season people were turned away from Nichols gym at every important home game, while hundreds of others made no attempt to come, as the word was spread that there were no available tickets.

"I believe that, with reasonable success in winning games, the Aggie basketball team can fill a house seating 6,000 persons within two years' time," says C. W. Corsaut, head coach of basketball and baseball. "At the present rate of increase in popularity of the sport, and plans for a house designed primarily for basketball games should include space for 6,000 to 7,000 persons."

In the opinion of Corsaut, such a field house could be made to pay for itself in a comparatively short time, especially since other valley schools are building to accommodate larger crowds. Nebraska will open a field house seating 9,000 persons at the Nebraska-Kansas basketball game this coming season, and the University of Kansas expects to have its house completed and in use by the season of 1927. Several members of the "Big Ten" conference have such houses already built.

In practically every case where the field house plan has been used, the house has not been built to supplant the gymnasium, but to supplement it. Nearly every college gymnasium now in use was built before basketball became popularized as a sport, with the result that both courts and seating accommodations have become inadequate. Though Nichols gymnasium is one of the best in the Missouri Valley, there are several high school gymnasiums in the state with much better basketball accommodations, and the varsity practice sessions frequently conflict with gym class work.

Most of the present type of field house construction simply calls for a playing field and bleachers, enclosed and roofed. Several schools in need of new auditoriums have found it convenient to combine an auditorium building with a central floor which may be used for basketball, track, or for other purposes, as is the case with Convention hall in Kansas City.

Attending Cleveland Meeting
Mrs. Lucile Rust, Prof. A. P. Davidson, and Dr. C. V. Williams of the department of education are in Cleveland, Ohio, this week attending the annual meeting of the National Society for Vocational Education, in session December 3, 4, and 5. Enroute to Cleveland they planned to visit the Merrill-Palmer school and the Ford trade school in Detroit, and also to visit in Chicago and Toledo.

On Other Hills

Professor Burr of the psychology department of the Ohio State university says: "All experiments conducted in the department have shown no bad effect of smoking upon the grades of students. If a student thinks smoking helps him to study it will tend to do it, but if he thinks that it will decrease his efficiency, it will tend to do that."

Football men are good dancers, according to the coeds of the Oklahoma A. and M. college. Knute Rockne, famous Notre Dame coach, also is said to favor dancing for football players. Dancers make the best backfield men, Rockne has been quoted as saying.

Baseball will be discontinued at Nebraska this year. Lack of facilities for carrying on the work of the team was given as the reason for abandoning the sport.

Engagement rings, fraternity pins, and sorority pins almost head the list of articles pawned by Ohio State students, according to several Columbus pawnbrokers.

Six hundred girl students at Florida State college in Tallahassee, narrowly escaped serious injury last week when the floor of the gymnasium, in which they were holding a pep meeting, collapsed and fell eight feet.

Ohio Wesleyan has passed a rule forbidding women to attend public dances or to go on automobile rides after 7:30 o'clock.

Of the 4,169 students enrolled in the University of Kansas, a total of 2,134, or more than half, are either wholly or partially self supporting, 764 men and 241 women are wholly self supporting, and constitute 24 per cent of the total enrollment.

NINE RECEIVE RED CAPS

Pass Tests for First Emblem of Swimming Achievement

Successfully passing all the required tests, nine girls won the right to wear a red cap, first emblem of swimming achievement.

The girls are Janice Plant, Wichita; Ruth Varney, Manhattan; Hope Dawley, Manhattan; Josephine Trindle, Hugoton; Mildred Worster, Manhattan; Hester Smith, Manhattan; Irene Compton, Manhattan; Josephine Ricksecker, Galena; and Grace Noble.

To obtain a red cap the girls had to pass the following tests: float on back 30 seconds; tread water 30 seconds; bob 15 times with support; swim two lengths of pool in perfect form; stay up in water for three minutes; plunge from side of pool in perfect form; plain front dive from spring board.

Failure to pass the test on diving prevents many girls from a cap this early in the year. A red cap counts as 50 points in W. A. A.

The new group which will move into the Ellen Richards lodge Sunday includes Vera Alderman, Mrs. S. Keeler, and Ferrol Stickel. The group starts its six weeks of work Monday morning.

Miss Mary Worcester, formerly of the department of clothing and textiles, has accepted a position with the division of extension.

All the brawn of all the workers of the world would fail to supply the power needed for our construction and production requirements. Modern civilization is based on cheap power readily applied to tasks of all kinds.

Machinery works: Man thinks

According to college tests, man develops one-eighth horsepower for short periods and one-twentieth in steady work. As a craftsman—a worker who uses brains—he is well worth his daily wage. But as a common laborer, matching brawn against motorized power, he is an expensive luxury.

With a fifty-horsepower motor, for instance, one man can do the work of 400 common laborers. He is paid far more for his brains than his brawn.

The great need of this and future generations is for men who can plan and direct. There is ample motorized machinery for all requirements of production and construction. But motorized machinery, no matter how ingenious, can never plan for itself.

And that is precisely where the college man comes in. Highly trained brains are needed more and more to think, plan, and direct tasks for the never-ending application of brawn-saving electricity.

In most long-established industries the General Electric Company has brought about important changes making for better products with minimum human labor and expense. And in many new industries the G-E engineers have played a prominent part from the very beginning.

A new series of G-E advertisements showing what electricity is doing in many fields will be sent on request. Ask for Booklet GEK-1.

U. S. FARMER HAS LITTLE TO LEARN FROM EUROPE

Co-operative Farming Not a Success in Europe, Says Mr. Nichols

"There is very little that the American farmer can learn on the subject of co-operative farming or production from the European or Canadian farmer," said Floyd B. Nichols, managing editor of the Capper Farm press in his speech "Glimpses of European and Canadian Agriculture," given before the last student forum of the year at the cafeteria.

The co-operative systems of marketing and production of Europe which Americans hear so much about are not so successful, according to Mr. Nichols, as are those of the United States. The farmer's union of England has been only partially successful. "The extreme provincial attitude of the peasant in France has prevented any co-operative progress in that country. Denmark is the only country which has an outstanding co-operative system and it is only in regard to production.

"The traveler who sees the defective system of the farmers of France and England comes back to America with a greater belief in our agriculture than ever before," Mr. Nichols continued. "The French farmer is still using crude machinery and tilling his small fields with much handwork. It is encouraging to notice, however, that 91 per cent of the war-devastated land of France has been reclaimed. The average farm size in England is 70 acres, and is much less in France and Italy. It is inconceivable to think of the busy Kansas farmer stopping work every day at 4:30 to drink tea or eat cake as the English farmer is in the habit of doing."

Mr. Nichols stated that the opportunity for agricultural expansion is practically unlimited in Canada. There are 300 million acres suitable for agriculture and only one-fifth actually under cultivation. Canada represents United States' most serious competitor for the markets of the world. American agriculture must keep in mind two things: first, it must develop the home market and second, American agricultural products must be protected by a tariff on foreign goods because it is in America that the highest buying power exists at present.

"Wages in European countries are far below the level of those in America," Mr. Nichols pointed out. "In Italy the average daily farm wage is only 96 cents. In France it is $1.35, Germany $1.55, England $2.28 and in the United States $5.60."

Though more than a thousand kinds of fossil insects have been discovered near the base of Pike's Peak, no trace of the common house fly has been found.

College Life in Sweden

If a student from an American college were to spend a year at the Swedish universities of Upsala or Lund he would experience a series of surprises. He would find a life of personal freedom there, which, if attempted in America, would result in a speedy expulsion. He would find little bustle and show of work and yet when the days of examination came around, he would be amazed at the store of learning which the Swedish student had accumulated. Swedish students are fond of outdoor sports, yet there is never any danger that organized athletics will interfere with their studies.

When a young Swede is ready to enter Upsala or Lund he is at first concerned, not so much what courses to select, as he is with the question of what "nation" to join. A "nation" is a sort of club which is the social home of the members as long as they are at college, where the most intense fraternal spirit is fostered. In after years, when graduates are introduced to each other, the names of their respective "nations" are invariably mentioned in the first breath.

The "nations" are named after Swedish provinces, and the student may choose the one that corresponds to the province of his birth, or later residence, or, if he is the son of a university man, he may choose the one to which his father belonged. There is no ceremony of election. He is admitted immediately to all the privileges of the club house. During the first year he is known as a "reconitor" or as a "novis," after which he may be a "junior" during all the rest of his years at the university, unless he is lucky enough to be elected to the little group of potentates known as "seniors."

At Swedish universities there are no "campuses." The entire town is the "campus." There are no college dormitories and no separate dining-rooms. Meals are taken in public restaurants where the students take complete possession.

At night the student may rest like any gentleman of leisure. He rises when he is no longer sleepy. Alarm clocks are rare. There are lectures some time during the day, of course, but no one has to attend them unless he wishes to do so. There is somewhere in town a university officer called a "dean," who is to be honored, but never feared, for no one in his office keeps any record of absences from lectures.

Songs are always in order, wherever two or more are assembled. In "nation's house," restaurant, home, or out upon the street one may almost at any time hear the bright melodious voices of eager youth. Often of a calm spring night one may hear the strains of a quartette—which is serenading some young lady, who comes to the window to acknowledge the fine tribute arranged for her by her sweetheart, perhaps himself among the singers.

"Foolish Fiction" by Christopher Ward (Henry Holt and Co., New York).

"Of books how few
We find just right;
Some are too-too
And some not quite."

—Keith Preston.

If you have read a best seller recently and found it "just right," and don't want anybody to insinuate otherwise, better not add "Foolish Fiction" to your holiday list.

But if you have read a popular novel that you feel is "too-too" and another that you know is "not quite," you will enjoy "So Little" by Edna Fervor, "Barrels and—Bar-Barrels" by J-s-ph H-r-g-sh-im-r, and "The Greener Hat."

Jerry Delane, "a poor orphan and an athlete," is the hero of "The Roughneck" by Robert W. Surface. Jerry is addicted to quoting such euphonious quotations as this:

"Oh, hark to the toot of the malamute that's known as Dan McGrew."

I'll bust the snoot of the damn galoot that stole my Lady Lou."
"The Older Gentlemen" by Hugh Tophole will be recognized as a companion piece to "The Old Ladies," written by one Hugh Walpole.

Besides the major parody, "Robinson Crusoe," illustrated with 15 grotesque woodcuts, there are such intriguing titles as "Hard Sarker," "Country People," "The Tittattoed Countess," "Jenny Forlorn," "Rose of the New York Journal," and "The Enchanted Hell."

Those who enjoyed "Twisted Tales" will want to read the parodies in "Foolish Fiction." Aside from their humor, they are very clever reviews of present day novels. J. F. H.

"Everything's Jake"
when you smoke P. A.

TROUBLE'S a bubble, just as the song says. And you can stick it with the stem of your old jimmy-pipe, filled to the brim with good old Prince Albert. A remedy? It's a specific! Ask any jimmy-piper who ever butted into trouble.

Cool as the zone-of-kelvination you read about in the refrigerator ads. Sweet as the kiss of spring on a winter-weary brow. Fragrant as locust blossoms. Soothing as a cradle-song. And—P. A. can't bite your tongue or parch your throat. The Prince Albert process fixes that!

Get on the sunny side of life with a jimmy-pipe and P. A. Tie a tidy red tin to trouble. Smoke the one tobacco that's got everything you ever wished for—Prince Albert. Quicker you get going, the sooner your worries will be over. Men who thought they never could smoke a pipe are now P. A. fans. You'll be a cheer-leader too!

PRINCE ALBERT

—no other tobacco is like it!

Look at the U. S. revenue stamp—there are TWO full ounces in every tin.

"It's Jim—Telephoning from College!"

Jim hasn't a motor-car. Jim hasn't a Fraternity Pin. He isn't what you would call a Social Lion. Neither is he a star athlete.

Yet, if you were to ask the first man you met on the Campus—who is the best-liked man at college—he would, in all probability, mention Jim's name!

Because—Jim has a reputation for being a good-fellow—one of those jolly, hearty, kind-hearted chaps who figures that the other fellow's feelings come first.

That this reputation is well founded is proved by the fact that every week of his College Life (and he is a Senior now) he telephoned his Mother and his Dad. A worthy habit—a mighty worthy habit.

If you only knew how much your Mother and Dad would enjoy a weekly telephone chat with you, if you only knew how much you would enjoy these little chats yourself—you would certainly emulate the example of the well-liked Jim!

LEADERS BARELY ESCAPE A DROP

THREE INTRAMURAL "TOPPERS" ZEALOUSLY CLING ON

Week's Games Eliminate Several
Champ Hopes—Pi K. A. and
S. A. E. in Victory

A none-too distant season finale looming ominously ahead, Monday and Wednesday night intramural cage activities increased in pace with leading contenders striving desperately to retain their championship chances and lesser lights fighting with equal ferocity to redeem unenviable records.

Leaders Pull Through

Clinging zealously to their top-rung positions, three leading outfits barely escaped demotion in the first series of the week. Sigma Phi Epsilon tottered near the brink of a precipitation many times in its 16 to 14 win over the Phi Sigma Kappa tribe and Sigma Nu, trailing the Sigma Eps but half a game in third division standings, was forced to the limit in a 19 to 14 decision over Alpha Tau Omega. The A. T. O.'s were, as a result, eliminated from serious championship contention in the future. The Kappa Phi Alpha craft, resting at the helm of the first division, also came dangerously near being pulled under in its encounter with the Sigma Phi Sigma cagers, but was kept above water by a dogged defense and the shooting of Dettmer and Youngman.

Football Men Add Strength

A rejuvenated Pi Kappa Alpha five Monday night vanquished the Phi Delta Theta floormen in a 30 to 10 surprise. The addition of two lately retired varsity gridsters, Smith and Tombaugh, rendered Sigma Alpha Epsilon too strong for the Delta Tau Delta quintet, which, although fortified with the redoubtable Art Doolen at guard, saw its championship hopes obliterated in a 22 to 19 defeat.

During the course of the evening the Acacia quintet incidentally broke into the win column, outpointing a mired Kappa Sigma outfit 8 to 7.

Beta Theta Pi Monday evening fattened its record with a substantial victory over Delta Sigma Phi and the Phi Lambda Theta entry made use of its opposition for a like purpose.

No Games Tonight

Lambda Chi Alpha, by annexing a 26 to 16 match from the Phi Kappas, drew up on a plane with the slipping Delta Tau Deltas and gave indications of ascending yet higher.

The Aggie Pop absorbing all Friday night space on the calendar, no intramural games have been scheduled for tonight, although six contests will warm the court Saturday afternoon.

AGGIES TO VOTE ON WORLD COURT

POLL IS PART OF A NATIONAL STUDENT MOVEMENT

Resolutions Will Be Sent to Congress—Court to Be Discussed at Assembly Friday

Kansas Aggies will be given their first opportunity to express themselves as a whole on the question of the World Court next Friday, December 11, by voting at the student poll to be held after the assembly address on the subject by Dr. Burris Jenkins, pastor of the Linwood boulevard Christian church of Kansas City, Mo.

The purpose of the World Court polls, which are being held at all leading colleges and universities over the country, is to start the students thinking about national and international affairs, and to give the United States Senate the benefit of definite expression of opinion from the student bodies when Congress brings up the subject of the court for debate on December 17.

Forum Group Sends Resolution

At K. S. A. C. the question of whether the United States should adhere to the court or not, has been brought up at young peoples' meetings in the churches and before literary societies for debate. On November 9-11 a very small group of students, who were attending the noonday forum meetings held here, sent in a K. S. A. C. resolution on the subject, but this is the first time that students have been offered a chance to express themselves as a body.

The student World Court movement first began at an intercollegiate conference in New York City where representatives from the student councils, self-governing associations, christian associations, and papers of such schools as Vassar, Dartmouth, Yale, Harvard, and Bryn Mawr gathered and sent in a World Court resolution to Congress.

Many Colleges Take Active Part

Following this first step, a general movement began over the country to conduct student polls in colleges where the students might vote. On practically every campus in the United States some educational publicity has been given to the registration of student opinion through forum meetings and similar institutions.

As a result, over 200 colleges have already sent in their petitions and resolutions to the senators and the president, asking that their support be given to the measure. The significant fact about this is that it is the first time in student history that students have taken an active interest in national affairs.

What the World Court Is

The World Court is just what the name suggests—an international court for the settlement of affairs between nations. The foundations for it were laid at the Hague in 1899 when different nations came together to form an international court which they called the "Permanent Court of International Justice." The present court was created by the League of Nations and first began to operate in 1920. It is composed of eleven judges and four deputies selected by the assembly and council of the League.

One American, the Honorable Basnet More, serves as a judge, not because the United States elected him, but because the League did. The members of the court act as an impartial group; not as representatives of countries.

The court can, like the League of Nations, function without the aid of the United States and indeed is so doing at the present time. But the president himself states "I can conceive of nothing that we could do, which involves assuming so few obligations on our part, that would be likely to prove of so much value to the world. It would be the beginning of a new world spirit."

VITAMIN C IN GUINEA PIGS

Absent in Rats According to Nutrition Experts

Another addition of six guinea pigs has been made in the animal experiment laboratory in Calvin hall conducted by the department of food economics and nutrition under the supervision of Dr. Martha Kramer. The experiments are being made to determine the vitamin C content in fresh pear and peach. Later canned pears will be used.

Guinea pigs must be used to test for the vitamin C content since rats will not react to the test for vitamin C. The rats in the laboratory are being used to test for vitamin B in peach.

EXTEMPO TEAM SELECTED FOR TRIANGULAR CONTEST

Good Prospects for K. S. A. C. Victory in Third Annual Kansas Triangular Meet

Washburn, Emporia Teachers, and K. S. A. C., composing a group known as the Kansas Triangulars, will meet in Emporia Thursday, December 10, to engage in their third annual extempore speaking contest.

The contest two years ago was held at Topeka, last year K. S. A. C. entertained, and this year the three teams will meet at Emporia. The Washburn team won first place last year, the Aggies second, and Emporia third.

The Aggie material for the team is unusually good this year and according to Coach H. B. Summers the prospects for a winning team could not be better.

Tryouts for the Aggie team were held last Thursday afternoon in the public speaking auditorium. The men who were selected to compose the team are: Carl Taylor, junior, Arkansas City; Robert M. Hedberg, junior, Oklahoma City; and Frank Glick, sophomore, Junction City.

Taylor, who is a general science junior, has an enviable public speaking record. He won first in the Oklahoma State high school extempore speaking contest in 1922 and 1923. He has participated in 14 intercollegiate debates as a representative of Park college, Parkville, Mo.; and Phillips university, Enid, Okla.

Hedberg won the Oklahoma State high school extempore contest in 1921 and has participated in a total of 20 intercollegiate debates. He won first place last spring as representative of K. S. A. C. in the Pacific coast Pi Kappa Delta oratorical contest and also first place in the extempore speaking contest held while he was in California. Other titles annexed by Hedberg last year were first in the Kansas Pi Kappa Delta extempore contest and second high point man in the Kansas triangular.

Glick, the third member of the team, has participated in four intercollegiate debates and two extempore contests. Last year he won fourth place in the Kansas triangular.

PICKARD TO BE CHIEF OF RADIO

IS APPOINTED BY JARDINE TO POSITION IN U. S. D. A.

Will Leave for Washington, D. C., Soon—In Charge of Station KSAC Since Its Installation

Appointment of Sam Pickard, who is in charge of the radio extension department of the college, to the position of chief of radio service of the department of agriculture is considered practically certain according to an Associated Press dispatch received here Saturday.

Official notice will not be made until final certification is given by the civil service commission and Mr. Pickard will not begin his work until January 1. Mr. Pickard for the last three years has been in charge of Station KSAC, the college broadcasting station, and has handled the press matter for the extension department.

The appointment was made by Secretary W. M. Jardine of the United States department of agriculture, who became interested in the possibilities of education by radio while he was president of the college here. Prof. N. A. Crawford, who is serving as director of information for the department of agriculture, has charge of the press and radio for the department and although he will remain in charge of both, direct responsibility for the radio will be assumed by Mr. Pickard.

Position Involves Many Duties

In a letter received by Mr. Pickard from Professor Crawford some of the duties of the chief of radio service were enumerated. Mr. Pickard will supervise the distribution by radio of educational information from the United States department of agriculture, he will be expected to make extensive and comprehensive plans for the use of radio by all officers of the department, and to arrange for the broadcasting of addresses.

No successor to Mr. Pickard here has been chosen as yet, according to Dean H. Umberger of the extension department.

Mr. Pickard has sold his home at 1723 Leavenworth street to Prof. H. R. Summers and expects to leave December 15 for Washington, D. C.

RECEIVES FIRST ARTS DEGREE GIVEN BY CHICAGO UNIVERSITY

Miss Ethel Arnold Took Work for Master's Degree Under Walter Sargent and Emerson Swift

Miss Ethel Arnold, '18, instructor in the department of applied art, has the distinction of having received the first master's degree granted to any person in the new art department created last year in the University of Chicago, and also of having earned a graduate honor scholarship in recognition of the excellent work she had done upon completion of one quarter of study.

The master's degree was given in the department of arts with Walter Sargent, nationally famous landscape painter and art educator, at its head. Miss Arnold's thesis consisted of research in the history of art under Dr. Emerson H. Swift, a Princeton archeologist, now at the University of Chicago.

Miss Arnold was granted a leave of absence from the Kansas State Agricultural college last year to attend the University of Chicago and complete work on her master's. She returned to the college at the beginning of the 1925 term of summer school to resume her teaching in the department of applied arts.

AGGIE POP CUP TO CHI OMEGAS

"EVOLUTION" BRINGS PERMANENT POSSESSION TO CHIO'S

"Parcel Post," Presented by Kappa's Places Second—Alpha Beta Literary Society Third

The much coveted Aggie Pop cup is the permanent possession of the Chi Omegas. After two exciting nights of the closest competition in Aggie Pop for several years, the decision of seven picked judges was announced. "Evolution," the Chi Omega stunt showing the evolution of love from cave man days to the present day of the hectic Charleston, was given first place.

Kappa Kappa Gamma won second place with "Parcel Post" a regular Aggie stunt. Third place was given to the Alpha Beta literary society, which presented "The Silent Drama" the production of a movie followed by an actual showing on the screen.

Variety of In-Between Stunts

Solos and special stunts entertained the audience between acts. Professor Edwin Sayre sang "Rose Marie," Miss Maurine Smith gave a group of negro spirituals, and Professor Brainerd sang a group of songs showing that even love songs evolve.

Royal Purple showed typical Aggie students representing divisions of the "Royal Purple" for 1926. There were the stately senior, the hopelessly green freshman, the dainty beauty queen, the dancing sorority girl and fraternity man, the much abused military man, the anemic football hero.

The out of town judges were: Miss Florence Helzer, of Washburn formerly of K. S. A. C.; Doctor Carl Meninger, Jr. of Topeka; and Miss Rathburn, director of physical education of the Y. W. C. A. at Topeka. Town judges were: Mrs. R. K. Nabours, Miss Araminta Holman, Morse Salisbury, and Major C. O. Peirce.

Aggie Pop is sponsored each year by the Y. W. C. A. The auditorium was filled to its capacity both Friday and Saturday nights. Nearly $700.00 was taken in.

PRIZES FOR BEST HUMOR

Best Jokes and Cartoons Desired by Brown Bull Board

The Brown Bull staff is offering a special inducement to its contributors to the forthcoming edition, the Wrong Number. Two cash prizes will be awarded, one $2.50 for the best joke or poem and $2.50 for the best cartoon turned in.

Jokes may be on any subject but those which have a "wrong" idea will be preferred. Originality is, of course, the chief requisite.

The prize winning jokes and cartoons will be selected by judges chosen by the Brown Bull staff. The editor reserves the right to alter or change the contributions. Everyone is encouraged to enter the contest. The cartoon contest closes December 18 and the other will be open until January 8.

Contributions should be mailed to R. Youngman through the college post office.

COMMITTEE PLANS PROGRAMS FOR SPRING FORUM MEETINGS

Major Religions, Science and Religion, Education, and Modernism to Be Discussed

Topics to be discussed in eight spring term student forums and speakers who will be asked to lead them were tentatively agreed upon in a joint meeting of the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. student forum committees Monday evening, November 30.

According to the program decided upon, three forums will be devoted to a comparison of major religions, to be led if possible, by foreign students of the college; three others will bear upon the subject of "Science and Religion," with a scientist, clergyman, and layman presenting the views on this theme, and the remaining two discussions will concern "Education" and "Modernism" with eminent ministers from Salina or Topeka as speakers.

Forum meetings will convene Wednesday noon during the spring term instead of the customary date of Thursday.

DIETETIC STUDENTS TO SERVE LUNCHEONS TO PUBLIC

Girls Will Have Entire Responsibility in Preparing Meals to Be Served in Calvin Hall

Meals are to be prepared and served by the girls enrolled in dietetics laboratory, in the dining room in Calvin hall from December 14-18 and from January 4-21. Forty cents will be charged for each meal. Those who wish to eat at Calvin hall should make arrangements by calling 919, on Friday or Saturday for any meals in the week following.

On the four days of the week the meals are to be served by a host. Any college men who would like practice in serving may feel free to come. Questions as to serving will be gladly answered by any members of the foods staff.

The dinners are being served as a part of the course in dietetics and twenty-three girls enrolled in the classes will be given opportunity to act in the capacity of waitress, cook, and hostess for one week each. The girls work in groups of three and upon them devolves the responsibility of buying, preparing, and serving. Seven kitchens make it possible for all those enrolled in the course to have opportunity to serve in all three capacities.

Miss Margaret Ahlborn and Miss Ruth Tucker of the department of food economics and nutrition who are instructors in the laboratories, will supervise the dinner work.

Dr. Margaret Justin and Miss Maurine Smith of the faculty appeared on the program at the banquet of the fifth district Federation of Women's clubs held Thursday evening at the Presbyterian church. Miss Smith sang and Dr. Justin spoke on the subject, "New Opportunity for Solving the Home Bakers' Problems."

VARSITY LETTERS TO 22 GRIDMEN

BOARD ALSO AWARDS FRESHMAN NUMERALS TO 23 MEN

Randels Receives His Fourth "K" This Year—Freshman Squad Hailed as Great One

Twenty-two varsity letters and 25 freshman numerals were awarded by the athletic board at its meeting yesterday noon to members of the two squads which have comprised the Aggie gridiron personnel during the past season.

Fourth Letter to "Proc"

H. M. "Proc" Randels, left end, holds a unique place among the 22 honored by the athletic board. He was awarded his fourth football letter. Although competition in the Missouri Valley conference is limited to three years, Randels is getting his fourth "K" by virtue of the fact that his first was awarded in 1918, the S. A. T. C. year which did not count against him in the conference eligibility ratings of subsequent years. Randels received his third letter in 1920, and returned this year to complete his work for a degree and incidentally to add to the luster of his name upon conference rolls of football fame.

But two members of the squad were awarded their third "K." They are J. W. Ballard, Almena, and O. H. Wilson, Jennings. The second season of competition for Captain H. L. McGee, Ramona; Donald Meek, Idana; Owen Cochrane, Manhattan; J. W. Krysl, Lucas; S. L. Tombaugh, Kansas City; E. E. Feather, Assaria; H. J. Dayhoff, Abilene; M. W. Reed, Norton; and Raymond Smith, Manhattan, was rewarded with a letter.

Ten Get First "K"

Those receiving their first football awards here were James Price, Manhattan; H. A. Fleck, Maple Hill; A. R. Edwards, Fort Scott; Z. L. Pearson, Manhattan; C. W. Brion, Manhattan; K. W. Enns, Inman; Dick Haskard, Hutchinson; James Douglas, Burlington; Joe Holsinger, Kansas City; Donald Springer, Manhattan.

Fresh awards were made to a group of players said by their coaches and the varsity mentors to present as promising a crop of reserves and first-string men as any first-year eleven in recent Aggie history. Stars of the freshman team were Bert Pearson, Manhattan, center; Richard Newman, Junction City, fullback and captain; W. G. Halderman, Garden Plain, halfback; M. C. Bryon, Greensburg; P. J. Householder, Scandia; and George C. Lyons, Manhattan, tackle. The latter three will form a "three musketeers" advance guard averaging 208 pounds for the off-tackle smashes of Bachman's half-back cavalry—Holsinger, Meek, Springer, Smith, Haskard, et al—next fall. C. N. Hinkle, Lucerne, a 185-pound end, is praised as an adept at pass-snatching.

A Kansas Bred Squad

Other fresh awarded numerals were as follows: J. M. Barger, Manhattan; H. A. Brown, Valley Falls; H. H. Carothers, Topeka; W. Cunningham, Manhattan; C. E. Dunlap, Roswell, N.M.; P. C. Davidson, Topeka; Leo Hammond, Osborne; O. L. Kershner, Paola; D. O. McIntyre, Herington; C. F. McWilliams, Paola; W. D. Moore, Copeland; C. A. Ratz, Valley Falls; R. T. Smith, Junction City; Harold Stover, Goddard; I. V. Webb, Dodge City; H. H. Vaughn, Hartford; J. T. Vigus, Oskaloosa; W. Ward, Highland.

NEW EQUIPMENT FOR HOME ECONOMICS RESEARCH WORK

Remodel and Redecorate Experimentation Laboratory in Basement of Calvin Hall

The home economics research laboratory has recently undergone a process of remodeling and redecorating which has made it very attractive. The furniture, shelving and woodwork are all in white. The tables have ebony tops, and the iron furnishings are black. The laboratory is located in the basement of Calvin hall, in rooms 17 and 18.

New equipment has also been added to the laboratory. There is apparatus for general analytical work, for protein, fat, moisture, ash, and fibre determinations, and for special determinations in research problems.

On the top floor of Calvin Hall are kept the rats upon which many of the food experiments are conducted. Rats are used because their process of digestion is similar to that of human beings.

CAMPUS CHEST

Upperclassmen at Kansas State who two years ago passed through one big, glorious tag day which lasted nine months are in a position readily to appreciate the value of the campus community chest proposition.

Last year was the first in which the campus chest idea was really carried out, and the experiment was a decided relief, being particularly welcome after a season in which scarcely a day passed that did not mark the grand finale of one campaign or the equally hectic opening of another.

Most of these campaigns were worthy of a certain degree of student support. Some were more deserving than others, and some were not deserving at all.

The campus chest committee has made a sincere effort to include only those enterprises in the present drive which legitimately come within the field of student contribution. Apportionment of funds raised will be in accordance with the value of the project, so far as possible.

Contributors should remember that the campus chest drive is not an ordinary "tag day" for a single "cause." It represents the whole contribution of the Kansas State student body to charity, to student friendship, and to world-fellowship, and is conducted in such a manner as to reduce to a minimum the drain upon student time and finances.

If campus chest fails, the only alternative will be a return to the old "tag day" method, which was a constant source of annoyance.

Show the home folks new Charleston steps when you go home for Xmas.—G. S. Wheeler.

On Other Hills

At Temple University all examinations have been abolished because the Psychology department there believes them to be inaccurate, antiquated and influenced by personalities.

Every student who plans to graduate at the University of Denver must complete fifty hours of junior and senior subjects. So many upperclassmen take freshman and sophomore subjects which they consider "snap" courses, that this has a poor effect on the underclassmen, it is declared.

The coeds at the University of Missouri have taken a definite stand against drinking. Men who call at a coed's residence in an intoxicated condition will be barred from dating at that house.

A senior at the University of Kansas has refused membership in Phi Beta Kappa. His reason is that he considers the grading system at the university inadequate and a poor judge of a student's intelligence.

Phi Beta Kappa will celebrate its 149th anniversary this month. Each member will be asked to contribute $25 which will be used to build a memorial building and to encourage scholarship among high school students. Seven presidents of the United States have been members of this fraternity.

"Red" Grange says he will return to college after he has cleaned up in football. The editor of the McGill Daily wonders how many thousands have made like statements—and then decided not to.

The largest faculty in any American college is the faculty of the University of Minnesota which numbers 1,250 members.

Northwestern University has set aside Monday, Tuesday, and Thursday nights as dateless nights. The school legislatures have the following goals in mind: they hope to mini-

Do College Students Insure Their Lives?
The Answer Seems to be "Yes"

Do You Know

That in a test recently made with upper-class students of both sexes in fourteen representative colleges, 140 out of 351 said they carried life insurance policies?

It is significant that 40% of undergraduates have insurance on their lives—a notable advance over what prevailed twenty, or even ten, years ago. This shows that college students and their parents think life insurance is of considerable use in connection with the educational program. Parents believe in it because they have something invested for the benefit of their children. Students realize that their lives have an economic value.

The John Hancock is particularly interested in insuring college men and women and in obtaining college graduates for the personnel of the field staff.

TAKE MEASURES AGAINST "PROS"

CONFERENCE DISAPPROVES OF PROFESSIONAL FOOTBALL

May Have Time Limit for Football Practice Periods—Five Games Are Scheduled

As a means to discourage professional football, faculty representatives of Missouri Valley conference schools, at a meeting at St. Louis, December 5, passed a ruling that any man who has been connected with professional football as player, coach, official manager, or publicity agent cannot be employed in the conference, on a staff or as an official. Furthermore, any man who has participated in a program which contained a match or bout in which there were professionals is ineligible for competition in any sport in the conference. However, an offender of this rule may appeal to the eligibility committee for a consideration.

Golf No Longer Valley Sport

A time limit for football practice periods was recommended at the session and a committee was appointed to report on the advisability of such a change. A limit of two hours is likely to be adopted, the same as is now being followed in the Big Ten conference.

Players on any valley football team, who are sometimes excused from classes on the day preceding a home game, will be required to attend those classes. This prohibits teams leaving town before a homecoming celebration in order to avoid the noise and excitement before an important game.

Golf was officially abolished as a valley conference championship sport, although invitation contests will be permitted.

Aggie Schedule Incomplete

The Aggie football schedule for 1926 as arranged at the conference meeting, promises four good home games, including one intersectional contest, and four games on foreign fields.

Texas university, a leader in the Southwestern conference, is to play at Manhattan either on October 2 or October 9. On the one of the two dates which is not taken by the Longhorns, Coach Bachman expects to schedule a game with either Drake university or Oklahoma Agricultural and Mechanical college, to be played at Manhattan. The remainder of the schedule is as follows: October—16, Kansas university at Manhattan; 23, Oklahoma university at Norman; 30, Missouri university at Columbia.

November—6, Marquette university at Milwaukee; 13, Nebraska university at Lincoln; 20, Iowa State college at Manhattan.

Dr. H. H. King as faculty representative, and Coach Charles W. Bachman were in attendance at the athletic directors' meeting. Doctor King was appointed on the committee to have charge of all conference athletic enterprises.

The first of the intersociety debates is to be held next Friday, December 11. It is planned to have all the debates scheduled so that they will be over before the Christmas holidays.

NEW RULING ON FRESHMEN CAPS

YEARLINGS MUST WEAR HEADGEAR AT CAGE GAMES

Rule Will Be "Rigidly Enforced" By K Fraternity—Lettermen Initiated Next Tuesday

Freshman caps will be in vogue during the basketball, as well as the baseball season, this year. This ruling was passed last Tuesday night at the regular meeting of the K fraternity. However, the freshmen are required to wear the distinctive headgear only on the days on which home basketball games are played, but must wear them at the games just as they did during the past fall. An added clause—the important item, perhaps—states that the ruling will be rigidly enforced.

New at Kansas State

First year men at practically every other school in the valley are under this same ruling. It is something new at K. S. A. C., and all freshmen are expected to enter into it with the proper spirit, according to members of the fraternity.

The annual K dance will probably be held at Harrison Hall, Thursday evening, December 17. Arrangements are in charge of "Doc" Weddle and "Lefty" Byers. Freshman football numeral men, freshman basketball luminaries, and high school stars will be invited guests of the lettermen.

Initiation for newly elected members of the K fraternity will be held Tuesday night, December 8. "Chili" Cochrane and Ray Smith, are planning the reception for the new initiates.

PLAN TO BUILD NEW THEATER

NEW OUT-DOOR AMPHITHEATER FOR EAST CAMPUS

Professor Helder Also Plans Many Other Campus Improvements—Walks and Walls Will Be Built

A new outdoor amphitheater for the staging of plays, pageants, and fetes is to be constructed on the campus according to Prof. A. H. Helder of the landscape gardening department. Other important improvements which will add to the convenience and attractiveness of the K. S. A. C. campus are being planned, and it is certain that some of them will be completed by the end of the present school year.

Students and instructors interested in pageantry are very enthusiastic over the plans for the amphitheater. According to Professor Helder the two perennial gardens just east of the Horticulture building are being reconstructed into one garden by raising the grade from one to three feet. The slope facing the east below the perennial garden will then be terraced into convenient seats for the amphitheater. The level space at the foot of the slope which is now used as a vegetable garden will be transformed into the pit of the structure. The stage will be constructed near the pinery facing the west. The pines are to be left as a background for the stage. The completion of the theatre will require from one to three years, owing to the fact that it will take considerable time to transplant the vegetable garden to another site.

To Reconstruct Stone Wall
The stone wall on the east side of the campus is to be reconstructed about 40 or 50 feet east of its present line. This will enlarge the campus and put the wall in line with Manhattan avenue. The walls are to be improved around the entire campus, Professor Helder said.

Sometime this winter earth will be filled in, south of the Engineering building, forming a plaza. The drive in front of the Engineering building and extending down by the stadium to Anderson avenue is to be improved and lined with trees.

Plans are being drawn for a new greenhouse which will be built directly north of the present tier of greenhouses. Earth for grading up the perennial garden is being removed. The excavation will be used to form a lake. A part of this lake will extend west of the new greenhouse and will be used as an aquatic garden.

Drives and Walks Receive Attention
The drive along the creek on the north side of the campus is being improved and at the same time several small ponds or lagoons will be made. The drive is being so laid out that it will begin directly east of the east wing of Waters hall and terminate at the Bertrand, Manhattan avenue corner.

A series of walks, drives, and terraces will be constructed in the form of a semicircle in front of the new dormitory. Spaces on both sides of the dormitory now under construction are being reserved as sites for two new dormitories which will be constructed sometime in the future.

A walk extending from Denison hall to the east wing of Waters hall will be constructed as soon as the new library is ready for occupancy.

The slope extending west from the gymnasium to the drive will be terraced and walks and steps put in. Trees will be planted between the walks. Old shrubbery joining drives and walks all over the campus is being torn out and replaced by more suitable and attractive shrubbery.

Will Confer with Jardine

Prof. George A. Dean, head of the department of entomology leaves Friday for Washington, D. C., where he has been called for an entomological conference with W. M. Jardine, secretary of agriculture. Professor Dean is considered one of the leading authorities on entomology in the United States. He was chief of the division of cereal and forage insect investigation of the bureau of entomology at Washington from September 1923 to June 1925 when he tendered his resignation in order to continue his work here. His advice however is sought not only all over the state but all over the country on matters of insect control.

Professor C. H. Scholer, of the engineering department, went to Topeka today to consult the State Highway engineer in regard to testing road materials for some of the new roads which are to be constructed in Kansas this spring.

HAS RECOGNITION SERVICE

Y. W. Consecration for New Members—"Light" Is Theme

Recreation center, lighted by many candles, was the scene of the recognition and consecration service of the Y. W. C. A. last Tuesday night. This is an annual ceremony which is the initiation into the Y. W. C. A. More than 75 new girls took part in the service.

New girls followed the quartet in the procession. Katherine Welker, president of the Y. W. C. A., gave an address of welcome, which was followed by a prayer.

"Light" being the theme of the service Miss Welker talked on the "Meaning of Light" and the quartet sang "Send Out Thy Light." A short silence was closed by the beginning of soft music.

Each girl dressed in white and carrying a small white candle walked to the front of the room where she lit her candle from a large one representing the Y. W. C. A. The girls with their lighted candles formed a circle around the hall. The quartet sang "Hymn of Lights."

A benediction, "My Peace I Leave with You" was sung. The service was closed with the recessional, "Follow the Gleam."

READER GETS WHAT HE EXPECTS FROM FICTION

Works of Romain Rolland Discussed at English Lecture by Prof. H. W. Davis

The good reader of fiction is looking for his truth "straight and raw," according to Prof. H. W. Davis, head of the department of English, in an address upon two volumes of the three-volume novel of Romain Rolland, which he discussed Tuesday afternoon at the rest room in Calvin Hall.

Professor Davis insisted that what the reader expects from fiction, he will find, and that the reader should expect more "than to have his emotions and instincts toyed with, his social sanctions exploited, or to be led into the fields of the unknown."

The good fiction reader realizes that his own experience is not wide enough to cover the field of the world, and he reads fiction in order to extend that experience, Professor Davis said. "For this reason, and because he knows that life is really a jumble of good and bad, and not all of either, the good reader of fiction doesn't care to be led to or tricked when he is trying to extend his experience," said the speaker.

Professor Davis applied these principles in explaining the value of the Frenchman's novel, which deals with the emotional life of two Frenchwomen and which is to be in three volumes. Two volumes only, "Annette and Sylvie" and "Summer," have been published. A third is awaited. The whole work is to bear the title "The Enchanted Soil."

Rolland believes that the record of the actual life of his characters, is the only justifiable story. He makes no attempt to regulate or govern them or their emotions—only to truthfully describe them. Professor Davis is of the opinion that he has most vividly and acceptably done this.

Professor Davis's talk was the fourth in the series which is being offered this winter to the students and faculty members and to citizens of Manhattan by the department of English.

The next address, by Prof. Charles W. Matthews, will be given in Calvin Hall at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, December 15. Professor Matthews will discuss three middle western writers, Ruth Suckow, John T. Frederick and Glenway Wescott.

To Select Rifle Team

A picked squad of 21 men is trying out for the rifle team which will be selected by Captain W. P. Waltz as soon as the tryouts are finished.

According to Captain Waltz, the scores of those who have completed their tryouts are very satisfactory. W. S. Mayden, the high point man of last year's squad has the highest score yet made.

Vespers Has Christmas Theme

Christmas is the inspiration of the vespers service to be held in Recreation center Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

The program will consist principally of music, Christmas carols, negro spirituals and a special song by the octette. Inter-racial relations will be the topic of discussion.

Photography has been substituted for typewriting in the office of the Registrar of Chicago, where a great saving is anticipated.

FAMOUS BAND TO PLAY HERE

SOUSA'S BAND WILL GIVE TWO CONCERTS TUESDAY

Leader Has World Reputation as Composer—Band on Thirty-Third World Tour

Lieutenant Commander John Philip Sousa and his world famous band will give two programs in the college auditorium, Tuesday afternoon and evening, December 15.

Although it has not yet been announced the program will be one of wide variation, according to Professor Wheeler. Sousa will probably open his concert with one of his marches and will include several solos sung by Miss Marjorie Moody, a harp solo by Miss Winifred Bamberick, and a number by a saxophone octette.

Sousa is one of the most prolific of American composers. He has composed hundreds of regional selections and has done an even greater number of arrangements and transcriptions.

Two New Marches

Recently he has composed two marches, "The Black Horse Troop" and "The National Game," a new suite, "Cuba Under Three Flags," a new foxtrot, "Peaches and Cream," and a new waltz, "Co-eds of Michigan." He has also done two arrangements and transcriptions, his new humoresque based on "Follow the Swallow" and his "Jazz America," a fantasy upon current syncopated tunes.

"Stars and Stripes Forever," the most famous of his marches was written in 1899, five or six years after he had formed his famous organization with which he is now making his third-of-a-century tour.

Many Compositions

In a little red book, which dates from his days with the United States Marine band, Sousa has set down a record of his compositions as he has written them. During his career as a musical director he has written no less than 104 march compositions, 80 songs, 16 suites, one Te Deum, one cantata, two hymns, and enough miscellaneous compositions to bring the total to 272.

Sousa and his band were in Manhattan a good many years ago. This second appearance marks the completion of his thirty-third world tour. Tickets for the concert, are on sale today and may be reserved.

President F. D. Farrell went to Salina yesterday to address a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of that city. He is scheduled to appear on the program at a joint meeting of the Chamber of Commerce and the county farm bureau in Newton today and a meeting of the Shawnee County Teachers' association in Topeka, Saturday.

BEGIN TO FILL CHEST MONDAY

CAMPUS CHEST DRIVE IS FOR OFF-CAMPUS CONTRIBUTIONS

Money for Student Friendship Fund, Canton Christian College, and Red Cross

The second annual drive for Campus Chest funds will begin next Monday according to Miss Lois Wildy, Y. W. C. A. secretary. Contributions for all off-campus purposes are included in the Campus Chest, and no other solicitation of this kind will be permitted, during this school year. Those in charge of the drive want the money collected to come from the whole student body and not just a small and liberal group.

The Campus Chest is the result of a resolution passed last year by the S. S. G. A. council which reflected student opinion by disliking constant drives for student money. The K. S. A. C. plan of consolidating drives is not original but had been tried at Yale, Princeton, Northwestern, and other leading universities before the S. S. G. A. decided to use it here.

Proceeds to Three Organizations

The organizations which will be the beneficiaries of the drive are the Student Friendship Fund, the Canton Christian college, and the Red Cross. The Friendship Fund will receive 60 per cent of the proceeds of the drive, and the Red Cross and Canton Christian college each 20 per cent.

Five years ago, just after the end of the war, the Student Friendship Fund was established. While the Red Cross was caring for the disabled and helpless of Europe, the students and faculties in the universities and colleges had been slowly starving. It was in answer to their call for help that the Fund was started under the auspices of the World's Student Christian Federation, an organization of all student Christian movements. For several years the money raised by the federation went for loans to students, for capital to start printing presses and book shops, for second hand clothing, soup kitchens, and bureaus where students could find employment.

International Uses Now

But now, in 1925, when physical need has become less imperative, the funds are divided in a different way. They are portioned out for the relief of Russian refugee students still in Europe, sent to Russia for medical and agricultural aid, to the World Student Conference Federation for use in international conferences, to the Christian World Education committee which provides material and authorities on international questions for students and to the Friendly Relations department in this country which helps all foreign students who are studying in America.

Canton Christian college is one of the finest Christian educational non-denominational schools in China. Instructors from K. S. A. C. have been on the faculty there, and students from the college have attended Manhattan.

Part of the money which goes to the Red Cross will be used for local and part for national relief work.

Colored Lights to Mark Progress

The progress of the drive at K. S. A. C. will be marked by means of colored lights on a Christmas tree in Anderson hall. On Thursday afternoon the college bell will ring in place of the customary five o'clock whistle, and students and faculty will meet in the auditorium for the Christmas ceremonial which will complete the drive.

Professor Sayre has charge of the music for the ceremonial and, with the help of the glee clubs, is preparing old Christmas carols for the ceremonial. Miss Osceola Burr, who is experienced in pageantry, has planned to present several scenes from the nativity, at the end of which three wise men will carry the donations to the Campus Chest to President Farrell.

If the weather permits, there will be a decorated Christmas tree out on the campus, and after the ceremony, the audience will follow the glee clubs out of the auditorium in a procession for a short ceremony around the tree.

Entries to the Royal Purple beauty contest are being made this week, and the complete list of girls nominated will be announced Saturday evening. Pictures now on display in Anderson hall are not limited to girls in the contest but include many photographs found to be very good.

The votes of 20 Royal Purple purchasers are necessary for nomination in the contest. A tentative and incomplete list of the beauty contestants is as follows: Katherine Schaffner, Helen Cortelyou, Clarabel Grover, Helen Kimball, Marjorie Schindler, Lucile Hall, Dorothy Johnson, Audrey Hybaskmann, Roberta Owens, Frances Schepp, Gladys Stover, Mary Belle Sheetz, Nancy Carney, Mildred Read, Glenna O'Connell, El Delle Johnson, Rosetta Kreps, Alice Lane, Martha Griffin, Mildred Osborn, Louise Loomis, and Carolyn Gruger.

Cecil B. De Mille is to select the six pictures which will appear in the beauty section of the Royal Purple.

CHINESE SPEAKER EXPLAINS STUDENT ATTITUDE THERE

Says Shanghai Affair Due to Political Domination and Economic Exploitation

"Our two worlds, the eastern and the western, cannot afford to assume a relationship of hatred and militarism," Dr. Paul Meng of Pekin, China, a graduate of Columbia university, said in his talk on "The Shanghai Affair" at the student forum Wednesday noon.

"The whole of the Shanghai affair," said Doctor Meng, "is due to political domination, economic exploitation, and racial superiority."

At the end of the nineteenth century Chinese students searching for knowledge discovered America to be congenial to their ideas of culture. Since then they have been attempting to solve their own industrial problems by a study of the industrial situation in the United States.

Students have started a mass education movement and during their vacation and spare time instruct small groups of workers, who promise, in their turn to pass these teachings on to their fellow workers. The students have also been publishing newspapers and magazines, and have been instrumental in the formation of labor unions.

In a recent demonstration by the students and laborers protesting the unfair hours and wages of women and child laborers, nine unarmed students were killed at the order of the police commissioner, who was an Englishman. The lack of respect for education and for life itself is shown in his answer as to why he ordered them fired upon, "I didn't suppose that shooting down a few students would cause such a fuss." Of this Dr. Meng said "The Chinese are not anti-Christian or anti-foreign but they are anti-that attitude of the west."

In conclusion Dr. Meng said "I hope that minorities here and there will inform themselves of the true conditions and will convince others. The influence of the minority will influence international good will and justice."

R. L. Foster, alumni secretary, expressed his appreciation of the cooperation of the various organizations in putting on the program and of the alumni who listened in and voted on the program.

TOMBAUGH IS GRID CAPTAIN

WILDCATS ELECT SI TOMBAUGH TO PILOT 1926 TEAM

Bachman Says Chances Are Good for Record-Breaking Team—Tribute to 1925 Eleven

Si Tombaugh is the man. Upon his shoulders shall rest the captaincy of the 1926 Wildcat football eleven—such was the sentence pronounced last night by 23 judges, all fellow members of the 1925 football squad. The squad convened for the purpose of choosing a pilot to guide the next Aggie grid machine during the annual football banquet, sponsored by the Manhattan Chamber of Commerce and held at the Community house.

"Elect Another McGee"

"If only you'll elect another 'Maggie' McGee, I will be satisfied," Coach C. W. Bachman had told the lettermen as they filed out of the packed banquet hall to ballot. Fifteen minutes later a roar of approval from 500 Aggie backers heralded the introduction of the new leader and Coach Bach admitted that his faith in the team's judgment had been justified.

Simon Tombaugh, a resident of Kansas City, and two letterman in the gridiron sport, first wore the varsity purple last year at guard, where he performed throughout the season in a manner to win commendation over the valley. This year he was shifted to offensive center position and in the first few slipper games acquired an extraordinary reputation for reliable ball passing an all-round stellar line play.

Chances Good for Next Year

"The best team I have ever coached, and one of the best teams in America," was Coach Charles Bachman's tribute to his 1925 eleven and as an afterthought he added that prospects for a record-breaking team next year were even brighter.

Dan Casement, widely known Manhattan ranchman and class of '89 graduate of Princeton university, spoke in place of Leslie Edmonds of Topeka, who was unable to appear in his scheduled role of principal speaker because of a threatened serious illness in the family. In an address agreeably colored with reminiscences of his old football days at Princeton, Mr. Casement praised the ancient traditions and spirit of sportsmanship that he had known at his alma mater, urged the fostering of like sentiments in K. S. A. C. college life, and decried the modern tendency to turn collegiate gridiron contests into enormous spectacles for resulting financial profit. "The qualities gained on the football field are the qualities needed to win and hold leadership and success in after life," Mr. Casement said in his eulogy of the grid sport.

Yearling Squad Presented

Twenty-five members of the yearling squad were introduced in turn by freshman coach, A. A. Holtz, and toastmaster Howard T. Hill of the college public speaking department performed the same office in presenting the six varsity cross country men.

President F. D. Farrell was unable to attend the banquet but had read before the assemblage a brief written address in which he praised the record of the 1925 Aggie football team and commended the fine spirit of sportsmanship that is inherent in football.

Music was furnished by the Aggie male quartet and the combined vocal efforts of all present, who were led in several prevailing song hits by Chester Guthrie of Manhattan.

Cochrane Gets Honorable Mention

Owen "Chill" Cochrane, Wildcat quarterback for the past two seasons, has been given honorable mention as an All-American player by Collier's Eye, national sport weekly. Two Missouri valley players, Captain Ed Weir of Nebraska and Lindesmeier of Missouri, were chosen All-American tackles by the same publication.

Other Missouri valley players receiving honorable mention as All-American players by this publication are: Sloan, Drake; Baker, Kansas; Hutchinsom, Nebraska; Ferguson, Missouri; Jackson, Missouri; Behm, Ames; and Rhodes, Nebraska.

George S. Knapp, state irrigation commissioner for the state board of agriculture, gave the weekly address at the seminar of the division of agriculture on Thursday afternoon.

WE ARE FAMOUS

The Collegian feels flattered. All unknowingly it has become "one of the leading farm papers in the United States." Our "discussions of a number of questions concerning the farmers movement of this country," have reached the eyes of the International Peasants council.

Along with the other farm papers and publishers we shall keep the Praesidium of Krestintern informed of our activities for the benefit of the farmers of our country.

All this we have learned from the contents of a squarish looking envelope placed in our box at the post-office. We had been expecting a letter from Lawrence, from Florida, from Indiana, or perhaps from a certain town in Kansas. One from Russia was too much.

We looked at the postmark. "Mockba," it said. And on the return, "Consell Paysan International, Moscou, Bojarski Dwor 5/8 No. 1814.

"Curious," we thought, "must be our K. U. friend trying to get smart."

Inside were a bulky lot of papers, the topmost of which had a green and red letter-head. The design had a lot of sickles and anvils and blacksmiths and factories mixed up together. We really couldn't make much out of it, except that we finally gathered that around it, in 17 different languages up to and including the Manhattanese, were the words, "International Peasants council."

"Sir" (it said)—"The International Peasants' council (Krestintern), uniting the peasant organizations of the most diversified political tendencies in 40 countries throughout the world, attentively follows the program of the farmers movement of your country, — — — etc."

We must have met the writers somewhere, for one signed himself in a friendly tone, "Orloff" and the other, "Harry."

We have showed our letter to every one in the industrial journalism department, and they are beginning to duck when we come in sight with it.

So we take this method of announcing at large that any one wanting to read our letter needs only to wander within hailing distance of Kedzie hall, and then try to get away inside of an hour.

We are very proud of our letter from Orloff and Harry. For we have become a famous farm paper. It said so, right close to the top.

Judge for Yourself

Opinions expressed herein are those of an individual, and do not voice the policies of The Collegian in any way.

JUSTICE OR TROUBLE?

For the last several weeks there has been an intensive campaign on all the American campuses to create sentiment in favor of the World Court. At present this movement seems to be limited to the schools and universities, but the amount of material that has been unloaded on American students is enormous. Nor is the campaign limited to printed matter, but we have been given ample opportunity to hear prominent members of our faculty speak in favor of this international organization.

First of all, the World Court is dependent upon the League of Nations. It was made possible by the League, and had first to be approved by the League before it could come into existence. It is financially dependent upon the League, for all expenses; so that the League could at any time destroy the Court by refusing to grant appropriations for it to carry on business. The judges are elected by the League, not by direct voice of the member nations. The League controls the membership of the Court. Only by a special act of the Council was it made possible for the United States to join without becoming a member of the League, for the Court protocol expressly states that "Only States or Members of the League of Nations can be parties in cases before the court." "Strictly speaking, this organization is not a court at all; for representatives of the parties in the dispute sit in the court, and cast their votes as judges. This would be akin to placing the defense and prosecuting attorneys in a criminal case on the jury, and was the fatal weakness of the old Hague Tribunal.

Furthermore, our participation would automatically project us into all the brawls of European political strife. This is not so evident at first, but when we consider that one of the chief functions of the Court is to advise the League of Nations on international problems, and that this advice is given before the League takes action if it is desired, it is evident that we as members would be constantly forced to assert opinions on questions which concern only the European nations. This indeed would be a regrettable condition. Last, but by no means least, we must consider that no important world power has been willing to give the court jurisdiction over its affairs. At the present time not one of the greater nations has ratified the provision for compulsory judicial settlement, and without this in force any nation is free to disregard the court if it sees fit to do so.

A great deal of money is being spent now in advertising the World Court, and it is being held up in most alluring terms. Many fine explanations of its powers and actions have been put forth. But I have based all the above objections on provisions in the Court protocol itself. Think it over, then vote.—William N. Moreland.

SCHEDULE TRACK MEETS AT M. V. CONFERENCE

Wildcats to Compete in Six Contests
—K. U. and Nebraska Here
May 7

Besides the various rulings in football, several track meets, both indoor and outdoor were definitely decided upon at the meeting of the Missouri Valley conference representatives at St. Louis, December 5. The conference indoor meet will be held at Ames, Iowa, March 13, while the outdoor event will take place at Lincoln, Nebraska, May 21 and 22. The Aggies start the coming track season with a strength yet incapable of being judged. There are many competent men to take the place of those of last year's squad who will not be back, although so far there has been a lack of individuals for certain events.

Of the mile relay team which placed second in the valley meet last spring, there are three who will not return, Knouse (former captain), Brockway, and Russell. Loren Davis is the only man of that group back. These lost men will be supplanted by quarter miler who showed up well in the intramurals last year: H. Schaefer, Dodge City; L. Moody, Junction City; P. Gartner, Manhattan; and F. W. Shaw, McPherson.

In the distance races and longer relays the wildcats will be strongest, considering the recent championship cross country team. Captain R. E. Kimpfort, Norton; P. Axtell, Argonia; A. E. MacGrath, Paola; L. Moody, Junction City; E. Rutherford, Manhattan; and M. Sallee, Manhattan, will take care of the longer runs and relays.

P. Shaw, P. Gartner, R. Demitt, W. Amps, V. Fairchild, and Loren Davis, who earned his "K" in the low hurdles last year are coming out regularly for the hurdles and sprints. P. R. Carter, Bradford, two-letter man, is out again for the pole vault. The applicants in the jumps are new yet with possibilities for development. Weight events hold only a small place in indoor track, for which the men are now in training. The shotput is the only weight event indoors but should be well taken care of by Z. Pearson and H. McGee.

The meets now definitely on schedule in which the Aggies will compete are as follows: February 5, K. C. A. C. invitation meet indoors at Kansas City; February 27, Illinois relays at Chicago; April 17, Kansas relays at Lawrence; April 24-25, Drake relays at Des Moines; May 7, triangular Nebraska-Kansas-Kansas Aggies at Manhattan; and May 21-22, valley outdoor meet at Lincoln. The schedule will be announced later in the season.

May Revise Home Ec Study

Dean Margaret M. Justin has returned from Topeka where she attended the state council of the Home Economics association. Plans are under way for a revision of the state course of study in this field, and the heads of departments of the various state schools are actively engaged on the project.

H. L. Richards of the United States department of agriculture, who for some time has been stationed here doing cooperative work with the members of the agricultural economics department, has completed his work and has returned to Washington.

Interesting reports are being received from Miss Louise Everhardy who is in New York on a year's leave of absence, continuing her studies toward a master's degree. Miss Everhardy has had the opportunity to study not only in the museums of New York but also those of the Barnes Foundation near Philadelphia which contain the outstanding work in this country in modern art.

Graduates from the division of veterinary medicine, numbering 268 since the first veterinary degrees were conferred by the college in 1907, are engaged in 28 different industries, according to figures given out by Dean R. R. Dykstra. Of these the occupation of one is unknown, 18 are out of veterinary work, and five are dead.

General veterinary practice claims 125 of the 268 graduates, according to the figures. The next largest group is composed of 20 instructors of veterinary medicine. Fourteen are vaccine manufacturers, ten are small animal practitioners, eight are in the state veterinary service, eight are meat inspectors, and seven are army veterinary officers.

Miss Martha Foster, graduate assistant in the zoology department, has turned in her resignation, which will become effective January 31. Her successor in the zoology department will be Gilbert F. Otto, a graduate of Kalamazoo college.

FIVE CORNHUSKER BASKET-BALL REGULARS INELIGIBLE

Season Starts December 18—New Field House Will Seat 8,500 Spectators

Basketball holds the center of the athletic picture at the University of Nebraska now that the football season has seen its demise. Coach Ernest E. Bearg, football and basketball mentor at the Husker institution, started his cage artists through their paces Monday afternoon and is working them hard in preparation for the first game of the schedule, a practice tilt with South Dakota December 18 at Lincoln.

Coach Bearg is starting the basketball season with a far from rosy prospect, since five of last year's team have been declared ineligible. Fred Ekstrom, forward and center, is the only regular back. However, there are four substitutes returned all of whom earned letters in the 1924-'25 season.

The new Nebraska Field House and Auditorium, capable of seating 8,500 persons when used for basketball and 11,000 when used as an auditorium, will be the scene of most of the home games. The structure will be finished January 15.

HOME EC MAGAZINE OUT

Fourth Issue Contains Articles by Alumnae and Faculty Members

The Home Economics News, Volume 1, Number 4, official organ of the home economics division, is just off the press.

Bernice Flemming, M. S., '25, has an article on "A Study of the Sleep of Young Children." Hildegard Kneeland, a former professor in the department, and now with the United States Department of Agriculture has an article on "Twentieth Century Thrift." There is also a little poem by Fanny Vaugh Davis, '21, called "A Housekeeper's Symphony," a department of "College Notes," one on "Who's Where, and Why," and one on "Please Tell Me How."

The editorial staff is composed of Mary Elva Crockett, editor, Kate M. Penn, question editor, and Josephine Brooks, advertising manager.

U. S. D. A. Agent Here

H. W. Dixon, agent in charge of the farm management work in the United States department of agriculture arrived at the college Tuesday and spent Wednesday and Thursday conferring with I. N. Chapman of the department of agricultural economics concerning farm management in this state. Professor Chapman is farm management demonstrator for Kansas.

Mr. Dixon spoke at a meeting of the executive board of the Riley county farm bureau Tuesday afternoon and at the meeting of the agricultural economics club Tuesday evening.

Mr. Dixon and Professor Chapman reviewed the work of the last year and made plans for next year. By getting farmers to keep an account of expenditures and receipts the department is attempting to teach the use of better business methods.

Mrs. Fowler in Chicago

Rose (Straka) Fowler, who graduated from the home economics division in 1918, is chief dietitian at the Presbyterian hospital, Chicago. She is also vice-president of the Chicago Dietetic Supply House, of which her husband, W. M. Fowler, is secretary. This firm specializes in diabetic and dietetic materials, and Mrs. Fowler has been quite instrumental in building up a large business. She is a member of Omicron Nu.

The study of the growth of children in state institutions is the problem on which Dr. Margaret M. Justin, dean of the division of home economics, and Professor Pearl E. Ruby of the same department are beginning work. Monday, December 14, Professor Ruby will make the first of a series of visits to various state schools in connection with the problem. She will go to the Boy's Industrial school in Topeka, the School for the Blind in Kansas City, and the School for the Deaf in Olathe. The problem will probably take more than a year for completion.

TO MARK OLD BUILDING

Bronze Tablet to Be Placed on Blue-mont College Building

A bronze tablet mounted on a native stone boulder will be placed on the original stone building, birthplace of old Blue-mont college which grew into the Kansas State Agricultural college, by the Polly Ogden chapter of the D. A. R. and the Riley County Historical Society, it was announced Monday night at a meeting of the D. A. R. The building is located on the agronomy farm and is used as a barn.

The work of mounting the tablet will be done next spring, it was said. Landscape gardening to beautify the surroundings of the building are also planned, and will be done under the direction of Prof. Arthur Helder, landscape gardening specialist of the horticultural department.

ADVISES "GET MELLOWER"

Miss Owen Tells Journalists Not to Get Grouch

"To get along with your job you must get mellow and mellow," Miss Jennie S. Owen of the Eldorado Times and author of "Fodder," told the journalism students in lecture period Thursday. "If you are getting grouchy and grouchy, get out of it."

"Write about what you understand and what you are interested in," said Miss Owen. "Usually you will find your own at home." Miss Owen has found her own by writing about the home folks in her column, "Here and There."

Miss Owen told the young journalists that the ability to write about people depended on being in contact with them. She advised all young reporters to begin on a country newspaper.

Prof. Amy Jane Leazenby Englund, head of the department of household economics, spoke Monday afternoon to the members of Dr. Martha Kramer's seminar in food economics and nutrition, on the eating habits which she observed this summer among the Scandinavian peoples. She brought out how the diets of these peoples differ from the diets of Americans.

"East of Eden," Lynn Montrose (Harper & Brothers).

Excepting the bright red cover, there is nothing cheerful or stimulating about "East of Eden." The co-author of "Town and Gown" has deserted the popular literary field of the modern college youth for another equally as popular—that of the Main Street family, only this Main Street family lives on a farm, in Dry Creek, Illinois.

Fred Derring, slow-witted, inarticulate, his dull mind aching with thoughts he could not formulate, joined the United States Grain Growers, Inc., in a vain attempt to save his produce, and his independence. The failure of the Grain Growers wrecked his hopes, and he left the life he never could understand, a murderer and a suicide.

Mrs. Derring, to whom the progress of the world was an unsolvable puzzle, her son Augie, and her elder daughter Ida are commonplace characters. Louisa is the heroine. She typifies the youth of the present restless age—what would the story writers do without restless youth?—rebellious against an unsympathetic family and an environment she seemed unable to rise above. Her love affair with Milt Bowen was the usual love affair of the contemporary novelist's small town girl who is "eager for life."

I do not like to label a new book "uninteresting." It makes me feel as if I had stared some homely child out of countenance and then ruthlessly explained his defects—freckles, pug nose, and all. But as long as there are more attractive brain children than "East of Eden"—

I think I shall let the sordid problems of the sad old earth alone for a while and read Michael Arlen, or Christopher Ward's "Twisted Tales," if whoever borrowed my copy of the latter will please bring it back.—J. F. H.

World Fellowship

On the occasion of the annual convention of Memphis in February, 1925, a beautiful Hungarian flag was given by an old political organization of Budapest to the National Student Union of Hungary. This flag was dedicated at a most impressive ceremony, attended by every one who counts for anything in Hungary. This ceremony occurred in the largest concert hall and auditorium of Budapest. Government officials, royalty, foreign ambassadors, educational authorities, and students were present.

After the singing of the national hymn by the men students' glee club, the flag was brought in at the head of a procession of 63 women students all in white. Each girl carried a shield with the coat of arms of one of the 63 comitats originally belonging to Hungary, of which, however 37 are now under foreign rule. Each of these 37 shields were heavily draped in black. The effect of this escort of girls was electric.

A presentation speech by the president of the political party donating the flag was followed by the speech of acceptance by the president of the National Student Union.

Finally the entire flag was draped in black by one of the university girls. Then followed a veritable funeral dirge but ending with a ringing challenge—"Nem! Nem! Soha!" (No! No! Never!)

It was a tremendous national demonstration to keep alive the spirit of hope for a future recovery of lost provinces and a reunited Hungary as it has stood during the past ten centuries.

A one-act play emphasizing the need of better feeding methods for dairy animals was presented by dairy students at the regular meeting of the dairy club last Monday evening. The play was coached by W. P. Hays of the Purina Mills, St. Louis.

Mr. H. L. Ikeberg, Domain Chief of the Phi Kappa Tau fraternity spent the week-end visiting the local chapter.

"Our pioneering work

RECENTLY some one said to a prominent official of the Bell System:

"Your pioneering work is done. You have created a system that makes a neighborhood of the nation."

The executive replied:

"Our pioneering work has just begun. Each day brings new problems, new discoveries, new developments, all calling for broader-visioned handling on a larger scale than ever before. If I were a young man again in years, I would choose the telephone business for my life work even more quickly than I did before."

KOLLEGIAN KWIZZES

Question: Should women have the same smoking privileges as men?

Martha Griffin—"So far as the moral part of smoking is concerned, I think it is just as right for women as for men. But when conventions and all of our social customs are considered, it is rather vulgar for them to do it."

E. M. Amos, instructor in journalism—"Women shouldn't smoke any more than men—if as much."

Nora Eshbaugh—"As long as women are entering all other fields formerly occupied by men alone, I think that smoking is their own business."

R. L. Youngman—"If a woman doesn't have any more respect for herself than to smoke, then she should be allowed to any time, any where, any way. But certainly, if girls are going to smoke—and it seems that they are—they shouldn't expect the men to furnish their cigarettes."

Irene Austin—"In eastern schools where smoking is practiced all the time by women, it is not a question of right or wrong. However, there is no need to start it at K. S. A. C. just to try to be ultra-modern. I don't think any girl gets by with smoking, because it makes the fellows lose what little respect they may have for her."

L. N. Gibson—"There is really no question about women smoking now. This country should be taken out of the hands of the W. C. T. U. workers —the old, Puritahical idea of the double standard is not held by anyone but yokels any more. It is in the colleges that the world has to look for the ideas of the future, and the colleges must have liberalism with no more narrow mindedness."

Miss Ruth Morris—head of the Physical Education department—"In theory, smoking is all right, but practically, I don't like it. It is an affair for older women; if they want to do it it is their own business, but for young women it is certainly a mistake."

H. W. Davis—head of the English department—"I have so much confidence in women that I think they will work out their own problems. It has been my experience that women will ultimately do as they please anyway."

H. H. King—head of the chemistry department—"I am in favor of women smoking just so long as they stay out of my family."

THIRD DIVISION LEADERS CLASH

SIG EPS WIN INTRAMURAL
BATTLE WITH SIGMA NU

Decided Shake-Ups in Standings of Basketball Teams Results
From Recent Games

Intramural standings underwent a decided shake-up as a result of the outcome of several momentous court engagements Monday and Wednesday nights. The temperature of contests both evenings ranged abnormally high and in several instances weak outfits showed reversals in form by downing their superiors in the standings.

Two Play-Off Periods

A resounding clash between two determined Sigma Phi Epsilon and Sigma Nu fives settled the supremacy issue of the third division, drew the record crowd of the year, and presented a premier exhibition of the court game. Two play off periods prolonged this dispute which went to the Sigma Eps by a 15 to 12 count. Endless friction between players, although adding to the heat of battle, marred the general play with too many fouls. In the final extra period Houdysheill shot the length of the court to cage the winning Sigma Eps goal.

Close guarding was the outstanding feature of a tight contest relinquished to Delta Tau Delta by Delta Sigma Phi Monday. Phi Lambda Theta, in another tilt on the same program, acquired half ownership in the third division runner-up position as a result of an easy win over the Acacia five. Pi Kappa Alpha likewise experienced little difficulty in downing Phi Kappa, 13 to 2.

Decisive Victory for Phi Sigs

Phi Sigma Kappa and Alpha Tau Omega, for some time joint holders of fourth notch in the third division, reached a settlement of their controversy Monday with the Phi Sigma Kappa crew annexing a 21 to 8 game. Kappa Sigma, in the curtain match, displayed unexpected punch by more than tripling the score over Phi Kappa Tau in an 18 to 5 win.

Kappa Phi Alpha opened the conflicts Wednesday with a 12 to 9 victory over Beta Pi Epsilon. Farm House nosed out the Sigma Phi Sigma cagers 15 to 13, in an erratic contest. A broken nose forced Belden of the Farm House team to retire from this fray.

Poultry Judges to Chicago

K. S. A. C. poultry judges left Sunday for Chicago where they will compete in the poultry judging contest held in connection with the Coliseum poultry show this week.

The members of the team who made the trip are Walter Wisnicky, Albert Watson, Stephen Raleigh, and Kenneth Knechtel. The team took first place at the poultry judging contest at the Royal livestock show in Kansas City, Mo., two weeks ago.

Teams from other colleges which will be entered in the contest will be from Ohio, Purdue, Michigan, Wisconsin, Illinois, North Dakota, Missouri, Nebraska and Oklahoma.

Doctor Bullard to Kentucky

Resignation of Dr. J. F. Bullard, instructor of surgery and medicine, in the division of veterinary medicine has been announced. The resignation will become effective February 1. Doctor Bullard has accepted a position as research veterinarian in the agricultural experiment station of the University of Kentucky, Lexington.

Doctor Bullard was graduated in veterinary medicine from Cornell university in 1922, and the following year accepted the position here which he has held since that time.

CEREMONIAL TO END CHEST DRIVE

CHRISTMAS CELEBRATION WILL BE HELD IN AUDITORIUM

Will Provide Opportunity for Whole Student Body to Meet Together and Get Holiday Spirit

The Campus Chest drive, which is being made at K. S. A. C. during the week of December 14 to 17, will culminate on Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock, with a Christmas ceremonial in the college auditorium.

The ceremonial is being planned and directed by Miss Osceola Burr, of the public speaking department, with the help of representatives from 50 different organizations on the campus. It will be the first Christmas production of its kind at K. S. A. C.

Program a Series of Tableaux

The program is to be a series of tableaux with appropriate music. Those taking part are Marie Correll, Madonnas; Lee Thackrey and Alfred Shelders, wise men; Charles Gill and five other shepherds; L. J. Richardson, Joseph; Glyde Anderson, Faith; Mary Russell, Hope; Mildred Read, Love.

The purpose of this ceremonial is to provide an opportunity for the whole student body to participate in a Christmas celebration and to witness the formal presentation of the gift to the Chest.

Representatives of 50 organizations each dressed in an appropriate costume, will compose the processional which will carry the donations to President Farrell, who will receive them for the three organizations included in the chest. The audience will then follow the glee clubs out to sing around the Christmas tree which is to be placed on the campus east of the auditorium.

Drive Completed Tomorrow

The drive, which began Monday through the social organizations, continued through Tuesday, and will be completed in the class rooms during the third and fourth periods on Wednesday. Subscriptions will also be taken in Anderson Hall until Thursday evening, when all contribution must be complete.

The committees in charge of the drive are Dorothy Rosebrough, chairman; Professor Sayre, music; Mildred Leach, processional; Mary Worcester, costumes; Theodore Keller, stage manager; and Leonard Brubaker, Christmas tree.

Big Scandal in Ballots on Recent Inter-Society Sing

Devotion of brother Delta Taus and sister Delta Zetas is partly responsible for the votes cast for those two organizations before they had broadcast their number at the first annual intersociety sing contest, broadcast from Station KSAC last week.

Hundreds of letters, telegrams, postcards, and long distances calls have been received at the office of Sam Pickard since the intersociety sing, but the only votes that were received before the sing were those cast for the Delta Taus and Delta Zetas.

Evidently some of the Delta Zeta sisters at Colorado and Nebraska universities were quite well informed of the programs station KSAC broadcasts, but it is evident they were mistaken as to when the intersociety sing was to take place. Perhaps the 18 Delta Zetas at Boulder had such confidence in the ability of their Manhattan sisters to produce a winning program that they mailed their postcards anyway.

Varied Fashions In Horseshoes In Collection Willed To Vets

Do you believe that finding a horseshoe brings good luck?

It surely was a lucky day for the veterinary division when Dr. Charles Saunders of El Dorado willed to it his famous collection of horseshoes. There are approximately 50 mounted horseshoes, all shoes and hoofs being highly polished, in a specially constructed walnut case having glass sides and a heavy plate glass door.

Until one looks in this case one has no idea of the variety in styles of horses' shoes! There are big ones and little ones, wide ones and narrow ones, shoes with rubber heels and some with no heels at all. There are shoes for the horse that has corns, and shoes for the horse that interferes—pigeon-toed maybe—there are shoes all scalloped to prevent slipping, and shoes with a trailer to prevent twisting. There are shoes to put on when the toenail is cracked, and very light weight shoes for the race horse—dainty like milady's dancing slippers perhaps—there are shoes for big draft horses, and for little Shetland ponies, shoes for mules, and shoes made in two sections for oxen.

These shoes all serve certain scientific purposes and the collection therefore is of great educational and historical value. Since the horse is no longer used widely on the city streets the reasons for shoeing have partially passed away, but the shoes show the obsolete methods and harmful practices in shoeing, and the style of shoe then necessary for corrective measures.

Doctor Saunders was one of the best known and oldest veterinarians in the state, both in length of service and length of years. He was 78 years old at the time of his death, November 5. He made all the shoes by hand, and with the collection is a set of silver medals awarded to Doctor Saunders for his exhibit at different times.

The collection was received December 5, and has been placed in the veterinary hospital where it may be seen daily by the students and visitors passing through.

Martin of the extension division.

Prof. Albert Dickens of the horticultural department presided at the joint banquet Wednesday evening of those attending the Central States horticulture exhibit and the American Pomological society which met at the same time. He delivered the address of welcome. Prof. R. J. Barnett, was head judge of fruit exhibits. Dean L. E. Call, Prof. G. A. Dean, Prof. E. A. Stokdyk, and Prof. E. B. Wells also attended.

FIRST MONTHLY DISCUSSION MEETING OF "Y" LAST NIGHT

Problems Confronting Organization
Will Be Discussed in Series of Conferences Next Semester

The first of a series of monthly meetings to be held by the Y. M. C. A. took place last night in Recreation center.

Devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. W. U. Guerrant after which an address was given by Frank West of Topeka, who is the state executive secretary of the Y. M. C. A. A one-act play was presented by three Purple Masque players, Milton Kerr, Lynn Fayman, and Ralph Mohri.

In order to discuss the problems of all the activities which are sponsored by the Y. together at a certain time and place. Dr. A. A. Holtz and the chairmen of the various committees have arranged to have the meetings once a month. These meetings will usually be held on Tuesday night but due to Sousa's band concert tonight, the meeting was held yesterday.

K. S. A. C. WINS EXTEMPO CONTEST

Frank Glick High Scorer in Kansas
Triangular Meet

K. S. A. C. won first place in the third annual Kansas Triangular extempo speaking contest at Emporia Teachers' college Thursday, December 10.

Frank Glick, Kansas State sophomore, was the individual high point man of the contest. Robert Hedberg, junior, placed second; and Carl Taylor, junior, tied for fifth place.

Third and fourth individual places went to members of the Washburn team, which gave Washburn second and Emporia Teachers' third in the contest. Last year the contest was held here and the Washburn team placed first, K. S. A. C. second, and Emporia third.

The three members of the Aggie team are also members of the varsity debate squad. Hedberg and Glick were on the varsity squad last year. Although this is Taylor's first year at K. S. A. C. he has had considerable intercollegiate debate and oratory work at Park college, Parkville, Mo., and at Phillips university, Enid, Okla.

POULTRY JUDGERS WIN EIGHTH

Strengthen Theory That Teams Cannot Win Twice Same Year

Again demonstrating the unwritten law that no college judging team can win the two major judging contests in one year, the college poultry judging team, coached by Prof. H. H. Steup, was given eighth place in the annual Coliseum contest in Chicago last Thursday. The team won first at the American Royal show contest in Kansas City this year.

Although placing eighth in the contest proper, the Aggie team was third on examination, seventh on exhibition, and ninth on production, according to a message received from Professor Steup. The ten teams participating in the contest were rated in the following order: Purdue, Ames, Oklahoma, Ohio, Michigan, Illinois, Missouri, Kansas, Wisconsin, and Nebraska.

Members of the team are Walter Wisnicky, A. M. Watson, Stephen Raleigh, and K. W. Knechtel, alternate.

THE MISSOURI GAME

The question of a football game with Missouri will be taken up at a meeting of the athletic board today. At a conference in Kansas City Saturday, it was decided that the game which Missouri contracted to play at Columbia next fall would not be played, provided Missouri agrees to sign a four year contract with Kansas State, starting in 1927. This will eliminate the two Kansas teams coming to Missouri the same year. If a signed four year contract is not received from Missouri, it is probable that the matter of the game next year will be referred to the valley conference.

FAVORS WORLD COURT PROPOSAL

NO NATION CAN RISK ISOLATION, SAYS JENKINS

Chapel Speaker Talks to Students in Favor of U. S. Entry Into International Tribunal

"No nation can stand alone, no nation can risk isolation or the ill-fate of civilization," said Dr. Bur-Jenkins of Linwood avenue church, Kansas City, Missouri, speaking on the "Permanent Court of International Relations" in the weekly student assembly held last Friday morning. "I am of the opinion," he said, "that the United States should take measures to safeguard their security, but not to safeguard isolation."

Presidents Favor Court

"Coolidge, as well as the last six presidents of the United States, is of the opinion that there should be a World court of international justice. The interdependence of peoples and nations is too great not to have a body of this type."

Doctor Jenkins gave a brief history of the World court, beginning with its proposal twenty-six years ago, when the first plans drawn up for it were entirely unworkable, and ending with the scheme of Elihu Root and the present court. "And we," he said, "one of its chief founders, aren't in it."

"After the war we came home and sat down, officially, disdaining to help Europe in the mess that was left over there, a mess for which we were as much responsible as any other nation. We fail to realize that any big European war ultimately will involve us. It is to our interest to get into the affairs of the nations. We were quick enough to ask for our unpaid debts. Partisan politics interfere with our getting into the World court, says The Nation. Europeans, and a great many of us, cannot see how politics of different parties could be so influential in our international obligations."

Answers Critics

Regarding those who are opposed to entering the World court on the ground that it is in opposition to the principle of Washington to "make no entangling alliances," the speaker said "That was in our infancy, in the days when we were in the cradle and a war between France and England was raging with certain of the people desiring to repay Lafayette. But everyone knows that we have descended from the cradle a long time since, and that we are undoubtedly the strongest and the most influential nation in the world today. If we are now unable to take our place in the affairs of the day, when will we ever be?"

FAIL TO APPREHEND BURGLARS

Thieves Who Robbed Fraternity
Houses Still Free

Thieves who stole approximately $200 in cash and jewelry from four fraternity houses and the Manhattan high school last Friday night are still free.

Fifty dollars and a gold watch taken from the Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity was the greatest loss reported. The heaviest individual losers were Paul Stebbins of the Acacia fraternity, and L. N. Harter of Lambda Chi Alpha who lost $30 and $25 respectively.

Other fraternities who reported money having been taken were Delta Tau Delta, $41; Sigma Nu $35, and a gold watch; Acacia, $37. The Manhattan high school also lost $9 in the raid.

The robbery took place after 2 o'clock, it is thought.

ALL ENTERTAIN TITLE HOPES

OPTIMISTIC REPORTS COMING FROM EVERY VALLEY SCHOOL

K. U. Cagers Working Hard to Retain Dynasty—Nebraska Loses
Nearly Whole Team

Optimistic reports being contributed with little restraint from all points on the Missouri Valley circuit, assembled indications point toward a big conference basketball season but a few short weeks in the offing.

Chief among factors tending to confirm this favorable forecast is a current rumor, founded on reliable reports of the strength of the 10 conference contenders, to the effect that play on Valley floors next year will be of a most superlatively warm variety.

Hardly a team in the conference is not, to some extent, entertaining designs on the 1926 championship and a subsequent deposition of the K. U. court dynasty.

Jayhawks Lose Tus Ackerman

The Jayhawker cagers, it seems, do not take kindly to the idea of losing their throne, acquired by dint of three unbroken, well-won championships, and to avert any such disaster are expending considerable energy toward the development of the coming five.

Tus Ackerman, famed forward, was lost from the Kansas court squad, but otherwise the roster of last years outfit has not been seriously altered. Captain Belgard, Gordon, Schmidt, Zuber, Peterson, all-valley forward, and Campbell, together with a host of non-lettered material of some experience, make up the 1926 K. U. squad.

Outlook Bright at Missouri

The outlook at Missouri is described as unusually bright with six lettermen in a squad of fourteen. Regulars back in the Tiger lineup are McMullan, Buchner, O'Sullivan, Bacchus, Joyner, and Laughlin. The Missouri quintet will follow the lead of the Aggies in making an early invasion in the east, meeting among other teams those of Michigan and Purdue.

Because of certain post season basketball activities, the bulk of the last Nebraska varsity has been declared ineligible for participation next season. This has sent Nebraska hopes glimmering as it means that practically a new team must be constructed.

Reports from the two Oklahoma and three Iowa institutions show that these aggregations must not be discounted in naming likely title contenders and Washington U. is said to be shaping another traditionally good team.

Kansas State will be heard from later.

INTRAMURAL FREE THROW CONTEST AT GYM TONIGHT

Entries Will Be Taken on Floor at 7:30—Intramural Basketball on Incline

A large field of contenders are expected to try their luck in the impending intramural free-throw contest scheduled for Tuesday evening, December 15, at 7:30 in Nichols gymnasium.

Entries in this contest, which requires less exertion than any other form of athletic competition on the K. S. A. C. sport curricula, and consequently is expected to prove quite an athletic attraction, will be taken on the floor. One point is to be awarded for participation, and another for each round of the tournament survived. Additional points of 5, 4, 3, and 1 strength will be awarded the four entries placing highest.

Commenting last week upon the brand of intramural basketball now in evidence, manager E. A. Knoth said that present intramural play is as far above that of five years ago, when intramural athletics saw its innovation, as a college court team is superior in form to a high school aggregation. Competition has a flavor of keenness this year not apparent in past seasons, Knoth said.

Among the last intramural events to be staged under the supervision of director Knoth, whose resignation from the college athletic staff takes effect at the end of this semester, will be the wrestling tournament immediately after the Christmas vacation. Plans for this event are to be laid during the holidays.

A FINE THING

It was a great thing for Kansas State when President W. M. Jardine was appointed secretary of agriculture. "It's a great thing for the school," people said.

But K. S. A. C. lost a good president when he left.

It was a fine thing for Kansas State when Prof. N. A. Crawford, head of the journalism department, went to become director of information for the U. S. D. A.

But Kansas State lost one of its best men when he left.

Now, it spoke well for the college when Sam Pickard went last week to take charge of radio, also for the U. S. D. A.

But we lost the man who made Station KBAC first in its field.

It's a fine thing, this department of agriculture, but perhaps it's time for "Bill" Jardine to call a halt?

CONCERNING THE COURT

The Collegian wishes to correct an impression concerning the world court campaign which may have gained some foundation on the campus. The Collegian as a newspaper is not in favor of the world court. Neither is it against it.

We do not believe it is the business of a student newspaper to concern itself with politics or propaganda, except as such things may be "news" on the campus at Kansas State.

The Collegian has covered all campus world court meetings, believing that since a part of the students have attended them, they constituted news. If the meetings had been against the court, they would have received just as much attention.

The staff has received reams of propaganda on the court during the past month, and has consigned practically all of it to the waste basket. Fortunately, our reporters are able to gather enough material to fill the news columns without help from committees located in the east.

It is to be regretted that both sides of the court question could not have received equal discussion before the recent vote, if it was necessary to have a vote. Without having heard the results, we venture that they will be strongly in favor of the court, and that practically every student voting belonged to the Y. M. C. A., which apparently was handling the campaign.

The Collegian has nothing to say on the world court question. Whenever The Collegian wants to boost something it will be a campus project.

Right now The Collegian wants to know, "How about a field house?"

The Sophomores Meet

Last week the sophomore class had a meeting. It was well advertised over the campus by placards which were put up in plenty of time. But there were only nine people present.

There was important class business to transact. The sophomore president had taken time to get an intelligent program worked out for the class, and incidentally had worried not a little about the problems confronting it. But only nine people showed up, after all the smoke of the political campaigns. After all the anxiety to really get "something doing" in student government.

Small wonder that class officers get disgusted and quit trying.

Members of the freshman girls' Sunday school class of the First Presbyterian church enjoyed a hike and wicker roast at K hill recently. Prof. E. V. Floyd, teacher of the class, and Mrs. Floyd were chaperons.

Have you heard the new electrical process records? Kipp's.

Suppose —

SUPPOSE Purina Mills were set down overnight in your own home town. Suppose every feeder should suddenly find —mighty machines to relieve him of the hard work of mixing his own ration

—grain buyers who know where and when to buy

—a staff of chemists to test each ingredient for quality and again test the finished product to see that it is balanced according to formula

—a service organization to show him how to get the most from his home grown grains and roughage.

Wouldn't it be wonderful if this service cost him only a little more than the price of the ingredients? Wonderful? No more wonderful than the service Purina already gives your own home town.

There is a great Purina Mill near every town. The Purina dealer and field man in your town bring Purina service to your back door.

Next time you visit St. Louis, East St. Louis, Buffalo, Fort Worth, Kansas City, Nashville, or Minneapolis, drop in and see how Purina is doing for the feeder exactly what he would do for himself if he had a mill in his backyard.

MANY K. S. A. C. ENGINEERS ARE ON MEETING PROGRAM

Division to Be Well Represented at K. E. S. Meeting

The Kansas Engineering society, of which Prof. L. E. Conrad, head of the civil engineering department, is president, will meet at Emporia Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday of this week. Many graduates and members of the engineering division faculty are on the program of the meeting.

Prof. C. H. Scholer, head of the department of applied mechanics, will give a report of the committee on material of construction; Prof. L. V. White of the civil engineering department, will report for the committee on surveys; and Prof. F. F. Frazier, of the same department, for the committee on railroads. Dean R. A. Seaton and Prof. J. P. Calderwood, head of the mechanical engineering department, have prepared a report for the committee on central power stations. This report will be given by someone else, however, as neither Dean Seaton nor Professor Calderwood will attend the meeting.

Arthur Groesbeck, graduate in mechanical engineering, and now local manager for the United Power and Light corporation, is on the program for a report of the committee on refrigeration. W. A. Schuster, '13, mechanical engineering, will report on the fuels committee. Con M. Buck, B. S., '96, M. S., '98, C. E., '16, former city engineer of Manhattan, and now division engineer with the Santa Fe railroad, will give his report as a representative of the engineering council which is a national association of all engineering societies. George S. Knapp, '14, mechanical engineering, and now state irrigation engineer, will report on irrigation.

The society will be invited to hold its meeting here next year.

Manhattan Presbyterians Win

Consistent effort on the part of church workers in the local Presbyterian Sunday school enabled the local church to win the annual nine weeks' attendance contest between the Manhattan and Junction City Presbyterian Sunday schools. The contest closed last Sunday with the locals leading by a margin of 377. The local church had an average attendance for each of the nine Sundays of 534, and only once did the attendance fall below the 500 mark. Junction City won the contest last year. Prof. L. F. Payne, head of the poultry husbandry department, is superintendent of the local school.

Booklets Shown at Food Clinic

Booklets and literature on how to prepare various foods for various persons was the exhibit at the food clinic in Calvin hall last Friday afternoon. Government bulletins, college extension bulletins, commercial bulletins, and literature from other sources were used in the exhibit.

Dean R. A. Seaton, as secretary of the Association of the Presidents and Deans of Land Grant Colleges, has finished his report on the proceedings, papers, and extempore remarks of the last meeting. He has sent this report to the editor of the proceedings for the association, and they will be published early next year.

Walk-Over
SHOES for Men and WomenHoliday Style with vacation comfort

CHRISTMAS joy comes but once a year. You can give your feet holiday style with vacation comfort, all year round. Surround your feet with the smartest-looking style shoe you can find. That is a Walk-Over.

Then just revel in foot comfort, with never a pinch or twinge. Walk-Over shoes fit. They are made to fit real feet—your feet. You'll like to walk in them and feel the toe-freedom and tread ease that proper width and design of tread can give you. You'll like Walk-Overs because they are friendly. They stick to you. They don't wiggle and wobble around all over the back of your heel. They don't gap at the sides to let in winter snow and summer dust. The pear-shaped heel, the uncopiable Walk-Over heel shape, makes every Walk-Over cling at the heel and fit at the sides. You'll find, here at the Walk-Over store, a shoe to suit your style taste, to fit your foot, and match your budget. Walk-Overs are priced at $7, $8.50 and $10. Choose any style. Then see if it doesn't prove itself to be the best shoe you ever wore at the price.

Some Walk-Over styles are made with the Main Spring Arch concealed in the sole. This diagram shows the arched and slotted construction, the three point support, and the rubber pad at the tread that give feather-bed comfort to your feet.

NO DECIDED WALKAWAYS IN COURT SERIES

Betas Win from S. A. E.'s in Running Game on Large Court Friday Evening

Intramural basketball in the week-end series, Friday and Saturday, was marked by low scores and small margins of victory. Points were lavished grudgingly with contenders garnering an average quota of only twelve markers. The winning leads averaged around five.

Not one of the five games played during the week-end dissolved into a walkaway—indication that the play reached a rare degree of closeness.

Betas Now Serious Title Contenders

Using the large court, Beta Theta Pi and Sigma Alpha Epsilon staged a running match for the only game Friday night which ended with the count standing 17 to 6 for the Betas. The ball was worked continually from one end of the floor to the other, with the Beta five edging the Sig Alphas in teamwork but not in aggressiveness. Inability of the Sig Alph forwards to split the net from close in under the basket together with a defense which leaked with chronic regularity gave the Betas this game. No other contests were played Friday. As a result of this outcome the Betas must be considered among foremost title contenders.

A close contest with the Bluemont cagemen went to Alpha Rho Chi, 14 to 9, Saturday afternoon. At the same time a flashy B. H. S. crew managed to down the Omega Tau Epsilon outfit by the width of a field goal.

Another Triangular Forfeit

The Triangulars, who have been the only aggregation to throw up the sponge, forfeited another match, this time to Alpha Sigma Psi.

Beta Pi Epsilon spilled the dope with a 17 to 9 win over the Farm House team, which has been ranking up among first division leaders, in another tilt Saturday. This contest marked the second Beta Pi victory of the year.

Field goals were quoted at a premium in a Sigma Phi Sigma-Blue Devil engagement. Both disputants were forced to resort to long range methods of scoring in this clash, which was stowed away with a 16 to 7 count by the Sigma Phis.

ROOT CUTS FROSH CAGERS TO SQUAD OF ELEVEN MEN

Seventy-Five Yearlings Have Been Reporting for Practice—Selections not Permanent

The first informal slice in fledgling basketball ranks was made last week by freshman coach Frank Root. Seventy-five frosh basketballers have been reporting regularly for each freshman practice and this squad Coach Root has tentatively narrowed down to eleven men, who will be used for scrimmage opposition against the varsity.

This selection is by no means complete, Coach Root told the yearling squad Thursday, as any man making a good showing on the reserve force will be promoted upon notice to the first string. All men not included in the present first squad were encouraged to continue practice.

A number of former high school stars illuminate the freshman crop this year, and Coach Root is making favorable predictions concerning their careers as freshman cagers this season and as varsity men in 1927.

Members of the present squad are C. M. Gray, Newton; W. R. Houdyshell, Pawnee Rock; C. B. Crossette, Wichita; E. J. Skradski, Kansas City; R. D. Caughron, Manhattan; E. L. Hartley, Manhattan; D. J. Packer, Ozawie; L. A. Day, Hebron, Neb.; W. M. Holsinger, Rosedale; Harold Stover, Goddard; L. C. Campbell, Salina; C. H. Miller, Garden City; W. Cunningham, Manhattan.

Other men, who have not been issued suits, but are likely to be promoted any time are J. Cunningham, Manhattan; G. M. Boyd, Phillipsburg; C. H. Trapp, El Dorado; A. W. Higgins, Seneca; H. H. Carothers, Topeka; W. A. Copenhafer, Manhattan; and J. L. Ruggles, Jewell.

Quinn Buys Caldwell News

A former K. S. A. C. journalism student, Henry Quinn, has purchased the Caldwell News, a weekly newspaper at Caldwell. Quinn was on the Manhattan Mercury staff last summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Quinn went to Caldwell from Manhattan late last summer. Since then Quinn has been employed as business manager and news editor of the Caldwell Messenger.

Plans to Contractors

Plans are now in the hands of contractors in order that they may figure on bids for contracts for the general building, heating, and plumbing, and electric wiring of the new library building. These bids will be opened in the office of the state business manager at Topeka on December 17.

President F. D. Farwell; Miss Grace E. Derby, associate librarian; Superintendent G. R. Pauling, and Dean R. A. Seaton will attend the letting.

SHORT HOLIDAY FOR BASKETEERS

RECEIVE ONLY TWO DAYS CHRISTMAS VACATION

Men Not Yet Selected for Eastern Invasion the First of January—Gridmen Strengthen Squad

With only a brief two day Christmas suspension to momentarily halt preparation for the impending eastern swing, practice in the Aggie basketball camp will continue through the holidays along lines of the present steady routine. Nearly full use is to be made of the two weeks of grace yet remaining before the initial engagement with Northwestern at Evanston, January 2, and encounters with the teams of two other formidable mid-eastern universities.

Freshmen Provide Scrimmage
A varied assortment of drills in plays, individual tactics, and goal snaring comprise the regular late afternoon program of basketball practice. Ample opportunity for the practical application of knowledge gained thereby is being given the squadmen each evening in scrimmages with the frosh.

The short pass method of advancing the ball and finer technique of the game are being worked upon in these nightly entanglements, which in Coach Charles Corsaut's favored school of development for prospective basketball men.

Members of the varsity squad of twelve who are to carry the Aggie banner eastward early in January for encounters on foreign courts with Northwestern, Jan. 2, Illinois, Jan. 4, Notre Dame, January 5, and the Schooley A. C. at Kansas City, January 8, have not been selected. From the number making this trip will probably be picked the bulk of regulars and reserves who are to represent K. S. A. C. on Valley courts this winter.

A Good Supply of Forwards
Three lately retired gridmen, Joe Holsinger, R. E. Edwards, and J. F. Price have checked out court togs and are all making a good showing.

The basketball squad as it now stands includes the following twelve men:

Centers—Eric Tebow, letterman and permanent fixture in the jumping ring; and C. L. Tangeman, a senior of some varsity experience.

Forwards—C. A. (Lefty) Byers, letterman, classified among the best shots in the conference; M. B. Miller, unlettered 1925 varsity man; R. R. Osborne, G. L. Davidson, James F. Price, all of the last freshman outfit, and H. M. (Doc) Weddle, regular of last year and, according to present plans, reserve center for the coming season.

Guards—Captain Fritz Koch, veteran in the back court, and four graduates of the 1925 freshman squad; E. H. Mettall, Austin Lovett, R. E. (Monk) Edwards, and Joe Holsinger.

Six Home Games

The Aggie team is facing the most portentous court season in K. S. A. C. annals, meeting outside of the conference six reputable opponents. Six of the total 18 games are to be decided on the home floor. The Valley season will be opened in Manhattan January 13, with the Jayhawk five from K. U. furnishing the opposition. Two nights later, January 15, the Grinnell combination will be met here for a second tilt.

The basketball schedule, recently made complete with the addition of two athletic club games, stands as follows:

January 2, Northwestern at Evanston.
January 4, Illinois at Urbana.
January 5, Notre Dame at South Bend.
January 8, Schooley's at Kansas City.
January 13, Kansas U. at Manhattan.
January 15, Grinnell at Manhattan.
February 5, Missouri at Columbia.
February 6, Washington at St. Louis.
February 9, Nebraska at Manhattan.
February 13, Iowa State at Manhattan.
February 15, Nebraska at Lincoln.
February 17, Creighton at Omaha.
February 18, K. C. A. C. at Kansas City.
February 19, Washington at Manhattan.
February 20, Missouri at Manhattan.
March 1, Kansas U. at Lawrence.
March 4, Ames at Ames.
March 5, Grinnell at Grinnell.

Sallee Harrier Captain
M. Sallee, Long Island, two-letter man in cross country, was elected captain of the 1926 cross country in a meeting of track men Wednesday night in the "K" room. Sallee is also a letter man in spring track.

Five out of this year's championship cross country will be back for competition next fall.

R. E. Kimport, L. Moody, A. E. MacGrath, P. Axtell, and M. Sallee. R. Rutherford is the only man lost to the squad.

Entertainment in 1863 Different But Coed's Goodbye the Same

When the ghosts of memories which lurk in the dark corners of Anderson hall commune together wintry nights, what do they talk about? Do they shake their heads and mourn for the good old days when Manhattan, a true "Main Street," provided no more than horse-shoe pitching and "socials" in the way of recreation?

In the ancient records of 1863 of our school a modern Captain Kidd would find a hidden treasure in the picture of his alma mater as it existed sixty-two years ago. He would see a campus that had cottonwood trees for its only shade and walls of buildings not yet clad with the traditional ivy.

The students would resemble in this modern age characters that had stepped from the daguerotypes and made their way over hills by the aid of cow paths. Small figures dressed in jackets with their tight fitting sleeves struggled with their voluminous, flounced skirts to escape the cockleburrs that clung so persistently.

A mile away from the village, the college was located. Here the classes were held six days out of every week and eight hours every day.

Rush week and fraternities were unheard of, and the nearest approach to those organizations was a family boarding house. Board and room could be had for $3.00 a week. And the slightest misdemeanor on the part of a student was reported by the landlady—a true patriarch, to the president of the college.

"Domestic Science" was given to "females" of the college by the professor of chemistry. There was no kitchen laboratory and the recipes which he probably persuaded his wife to loan him, were carefully copied down by members of his class. Next day the professor was allowed to sample a pudding that had been baked according to his instructions. There is no record of any casualty as a result of some student confusing her recipe notebook with that of her chemistry.

Socials were given by the faculty for the benefit of the students. Old fashioned games were played but no refreshments were served; that was before such a luxury could be afforded. These socials were always dismissed by 9:30 as the professors were firm believers in that proverb, "Early to bed and early to rise makes a man healthy wealthy and wise."

And so the couple who had met during third "talk" walked through Lovers' Lane across the fields to the weather beaten house with its white sign "Board, Home Cooked, 15 cents a Meal" gleaming in the moonlight. Here, if the porch was crowded, they would be forced to endure sly teasing about their "sparking." But if the porch was empty and the hour late, she would say "goodbye" quite in the usual way of the coed of today.

In the room on the northeast corner of that rooming house she would wake her roommate and tell her what had happened all the evening concluding her enthusiastic narration with, "He's wonderful! He is the one that threw a three ring when our house pitched horseshoes against the Benson house last spring."

Perhaps the old ghosts gossiping in sepulchral tones decide times haven't changed so much after all.

CAMPUS CHEST IS PRESENTED AT CHRISTMAS CEREMONIAL

Representatives from All Hill Organizations Take Part in Interesting Pageant

The Christmas ceremonial for presenting the campus chest fund was held Thursday evening in the auditorium.

The spirit of Christmas was felt throughout the pageant. A quartet in the balcony sang "Holy Night," and Mary, represented by Miss Marie Correll, appeared with the Christ child. Shepherds, guarding their flocks saw a star and followed, as a second quartet sang "While Shepherds Watch Their Flocks by Night."

Three wise men came forward from the back of the auditorium while the quartet above sang "We Three Kings." "The First Noel" was sung in a third scene and Mary with the cradle, Joseph, the wise men, and figures representing faith, hope and love appeared.

A procession composed of a representative group from each organization on the hill marched down the aisles of the auditorium. These vividly robed men and women carried lighted candles. Miss Charlotte Swanson presented the Campus Chest to Dean Willard that he might give it to the causes for which it was intended. The audience followed the procession out to the Christmas tree in front of the auditorium, where carols were sung.

The persons who made the ceremonial possible are as follows: Osceola Burr, public speaking department; Mary Worcester, extension department; Prof. H. M. Heberer, public speaking department; Prof. H. P. Wheeler, music department; Ted Keller, stage manager; Maurine Smith, music department, and Leonard Brubaker.

Education Students Have Seminar

The fourth of a series of seminars given for students of education was held Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock in Denison hall. Miss Orpha Maust, instructor in psychology, was the speaker and her subject was, "Psychology and Its Application to Everyday Life."

Prof. Lillian Baker, Mrs. Katherine Hees, and Mrs. Florence Clark Sewell of the department of textiles and clothing will attend the American Association for the Advancement of Science in Kansas City, December 29, 30, and 31.

In answer to my questions said, "Jazz has come to stay, there is no way of getting around that for people have changed—" "Mr. Sousa your car is waiting." Sousa took from his pocket a heavy gold watch, seven minutes had come and gone. He shook his hand and murmured something about my school work and was gone. He had escaped!

SOUSA ENTERTAINED LARGE AUDIENCES HERE TUESDAY

Liberal Encores Enable Students and Others to Hear Nearly All of His Compositions

Sousa's band entertained large audiences at both the matinee and the evening performances Tuesday. Sousa was very liberal in granting encores, and consequently the audience was able to hear practically all of his most important compositions, as well as many other numbers.

Sousa has often expressed his preference for college audiences, as he believes they have more appreciation than a metropolitan audience. When asked Tuesday to contrast and compare Europeans and Americans as to musical appreciation, Sousa said:

"The human family is much the same. I play the same programs everywhere, and find conditions much the same in Europe and in America. Audiences are much the same. A real audience knows what it wants and turns up its nose when it doesn't get it. I think a real audience is one that knows when to applaud in the proper place."

This is the thirty-third year of touring for Sousa's organization, and he expects to continue touring as long as possible. There are only two foreigners in the entire band, and the organization includes two women. Marjorie Moody, coloratura soprano, and Winifred Bambrick, harpist.

The addition of one section of jazz to his program is rather an innovation, and is greatly appreciated by the modern offices. Perhaps the most impressive thing in the entire evening was the ease with which Sousa conducted the band, resorting to no gymnastics which so often mars similar performances.

BROADCASTS FROM KSAC

Emma Scott Wins Contest Conducted by Home Ec Department

Selected by a contest to represent the clothing and textiles department Emma Scott, senior in home economics, broadcast her paper on "Qualities of Wool" from Station KSAC for the woman's club program Tuesday afternoon, December 15.

The contest was conducted among the 36 enrolled in textile laboratory. Members of the class acted as judges for the elimination of the contestants. Papers which were selected by the students were read before faculty judges who made the final decision.

The paper of Miss Lorene Wolfe was chosen as the best for publication.

Miss Laureda Thompson, '25, director of physical education at William Woods college, Fulton, Mo., will return Wednesday to spend the Christmas holidays at home.

Assistant Director of Charter Assn.

Alice Loomis, '04, has accepted a position as assistant director of the National Founders Association which passes on charters of all national organizations. Until recently Miss Loomis has been supervisor of part time and evening home economics work in Nebraska. She has done outstanding work in adult education and gave one of the interesting addresses before the Parent Training conference held recently in New York City, for a selected group of individuals especially interested in this problem. Miss Loomis' headquarters will be in Chicago. Her address is 411 Winthrop Avenue.

DEPARTMENTAL HEADS TO HONOR MEMBERS OF AGGIE TEAMS

Five Teams Have Made Excellent Showing—Stock Judging Team Maintains High Average

Members of the five college judging teams—livestock, dairying, poultry, grain, and horticulture—will be entertained by heads of the departments of the division of agriculture, Dean L. E. Call, and President F. D. Farrell with a banquet in Thompson hall this evening.

Several members of the faculty and a member of each of the judging teams will speak. Miss Mary E. Halse, member of the stock judging team, has been chosen to speak as a representative of all the teams.

Kleinenberg to Return to South Africa

Miss Halse gave a dinner for the other members of the team of which she was a member, and Prof. and Mrs. F. W. Bell at her home last Friday. The other members of the team were forced to admit that she is not only an expert judge of livestock but also a master of her duties about the household. At the dinner, Professor Bell, coach of the team, was presented with a smoking set by the team.

T. M. Kleinenberg, senior in the division of agriculture and a member of the livestock judging team this year, will leave during the holidays for his home in South Africa to take charge of the 9,000 acre ranch belonging to his father. He will spend some three months enroute studying the livestock industry in several European countries. Kleinenberg was prompted to remain this semester in order to work for membership on the judging team, although he would not have graduated had he left as he planned last summer.

Stock Teams Best in U. S.

Aggie stock judging teams, under the direction of Professor Bell, have maintained the highest average of any team in the United States or Canada at the International Exposition at Chicago. This year, the team ranked fourth, instead of seventh as was first reported, which is a very high placing considering the fact that 22 teams were entered in the contest.

All of the college judging teams won comparatively high honors in their respective contests, but few exceptionally high honors were won. The horticultural team was the most recent to win honors, placing second in competition with teams from Missouri and Oklahoma at the Central States horticultural exhibit and National Fruit show in Kansas City, December 8, 9, and 10.

Members of the various teams are as follows: livestock—Mary E. Halse, T. M. Kleinenberg, A. C. Hoffman, Lionel Holm, W. H. Atzenweiller, and Wayne Rogler; dairying—C. W. Thole, Harry Rust, Guy Falconer, and E. M. Knepp; poultry—Walter Wisnicky, Albert Watson, Stephen Raleigh, and Kenneth Knechtel; horticulture—Fred Eshbaugh, Henry Lobenstein, John Shirkey, and Fred Shultz; grain—Robert Fort, E. B. Coffman, Ernest Lyness, and S. F. Kollar.

Will Attend Chemists' Meeting

Dr. Martha Kramer of the department of food economics and nutrition will attend the meeting of the Society of Biological Chemists which is held this year with the Federation of the American Society for Experimental Biology in Cleveland, Ohio, at Western Reserve university, December 28, 29, and 30.

Hill Speaks in Topeka

Dr. Howard T. Hill of the department of public speaking addressed a meeting of the Topeka Chamber of Commerce Wednesday noon. Dr. Hill told of the conditions in Europe and discussed the local civic problems.

S. S. G. A. MAKES ACTIVITY BUDGET

FEW CHANGES IN APPORTIONMENT OF LAST YEAR

Athletic Department Percentage Raised—Band, Debate Suffer Cuts—Judging Increased

Apportionment of the varsity activity fee among the various student activities for the current year has been made by the committee on the budget fund and approved by President F. D. Farrell. Athletics, which receives the bulk of the apportionment, profited more than any other activity, receiving an increase of one per cent.

The committee on apportionment of the varsity activity fee consists of five members—a student chairman and two faculty members appointed by President Farrell, and two members selected from the student body by the S. S. G. A. council.

Basis of $27,500

Following is the apportionment for this year as compared with that of last year. The amount each activity gets is computed on a basis of $27,500, which includes the fees for both semesters.

Activity	Pct.	T. Fund	Amt.
	'24-'25	'25-'26
Athletics	71.00	72.00	$19,800
S. S. G. A.	7.39	7.39	2,032
Band	7.00	6.00	1,650
Debate	5.44	5.00	1,375
Stock judging	4.00	4.29	1,180
Oratorical	2.08	2.00	550
Judging
Dairy	1.58	1.58	435
Poultry	.80	.88	242
Grain	.71	.71	195
Apple	.15	.15	41

Total 100.00 100.00 $27,500

Very few changes will be noticed in the apportionment this year from the apportionment of former years.

The apportionment for debate work last year was somewhat higher than the year previous due to the Oxford debate team which was quite expensive. This year's apportionment puts debate in what the committee considered as its proper allotment.

Band Had Balance

The amount given the band last year left an appreciable balance at the end of the year. This fact, together with the music department's failure to submit a statement asking for additional funds resulted in the slight decrease.

A new team which received a small allotment this year was the apple judging team, which the committee considered worthy of some support.

The increase resulting from the band, debate, and oratory cuts, went to the stock judging teams and the athletic department. Additional funds were allowed the stock team since only approximately half of their expenses were provided for in the budget. Athletics received the other portion of the percentage since this department is essentially the main object for the $5.00 fee and the finances of the other smaller activities.

The S. S. G. A. received the same percentage they had last year. This organization acts as a "Santa Claus" to practically every worthy cause on the hill when financial aid is needed. Five hundred dollars out of their fund goes to the K. S. A. C. committee on publicity.

According to the budget, students paid only $3.60 for admission to four home football games and two basketball games, besides admission to several intramural contests. The other $1.40 is divided among other organizations on the campus that require student aid. A study of the budget will enable one to determine the exact amount that he pays for the support of each activity.

Members of this year's committee are Christian Rugh, chairman; Prof. Eric Englund, Prof. H. W. Davis, Russell I. Thackrey, and Fred M. Shideler.

Doctor Hill to Speak in N. Y.

Dr. Howard T. Hill, head of the public speaking department, will speak in New York City on December 30 before a meeting of the National Association of Teachers of Speech. His subject will be "Preparing a Sophomore to Meet an Audience."

WERE THEY TOO HASTY?

It was unfortunate that officials of the athletic department were a little hasty about carrying on negotiations for a game with Creighton university, with only four valley games on the schedule. The Creighton date was the only one on which there was any chance of getting another valley team, and present indications point to the possibility that Drake may not play Notre Dame on that date, leaving the Bulldogs open for a conference contest.

Negotiations with Creighton were opened at a time when scheduling of another conference battle seemed out of the question, though the Oklahoma Aggies was a possibility that was not tried. Washington university of St. Louis also was a Thanksgiving day possibility.

There is no complaint to be made on the present schedule, except that it puts the Aggies in a rather bad way in case of a close conference race. The Creighton team is more desirable as an opponent, perhaps, than some of the weaker members of the conference from the standpoint of value received to spectators.

But other members of this Valley conference and of the Big Ten have set a precedent by indulging in the pastime of fattening percentages, with the possible exception of Kansas and Nebraska, who take them pretty well as they come. We would not for the world trade jobs with the makers of schedules. They have a hard time of it, and considering everything, do nobly. But we really would like to have waited a bit, to see about the possibility of that fifth conference game.

BASKETBALL PRACTICE IN FULL SWING AT KANSAS U.

Jayhawks Prepare for First Court Game Against Washington January 11 at Lawrence

Lawrence, Kan., Dec. 13.—Basketball practice is in full swing in preparation for the first game this season on January 11, when the Jayhawks meet Washington university. The Jayhawks play 12 valley games this season.

With six lettermen back from last year's team, a strong quintet is promised for the coming season. This year's team will be built around these men, of which only one, "Frenchy" Belgard, captain and guard, is playing his last year.

The other lettermen back are: "Al" Peterson, center and All-Valley forward; Harold Schmidt, forward; Cliff Campbell, forward; Gale Gordon, guard; and Harold Zuber, forward.

Other men from last year's squad who are working out are: Harold Baker, Wade Cloud, Fred Daniels, Gregory Hodges, James Jarboe, Ted Sanborn, Wilbur at the Enley Lindley, and Bill O.

"Al" Peterson, pivot man, will be the only man from last year's mythical all-valley five who will compete in the conference this season. Schmidt, forward and Captain Belgard, guard; are the other two regulars from last year's team who are returning.

Among the new men Herbert Froudfit, Kansas City, Kan., is the outstanding prospect. Froudfit was captain of the Kansas City, Kan., high school quintet of Coach C. W. Corsaut that won the state and later the national championship in 1923. He is a forward.

The Jayhawker five will be playing a hard schedule this season, being the only team with a complete round-robin schedule. Kansas meets every other team in a home and home game.

Kansas quintets for the past four years have won the championship of the Missouri Valley conference, undisputed, except for the tie with the University of Missouri in 1922.

AWARDED THIRD FELLOWSHIP

Graduate Assistant Goes to Merrill-Palmer School

Mary Margaret Shaw, graduate assistant in the department of food economics and nutrition, is the third student from Kansas to be awarded the honor of Josephine in the Merrill-Palmer school in Detroit. Ruth Kell and Bernice Flemming received similar honors and are at present at the school.

The Merrill-Palmer school is a school of home economics specializing in nursery school experiments. Very few scholarships are given and because of this and the exceptional staff a scholarship is highly prized.

Miss Shaw completes work leading to a master's degree at the end of this semester.

RECEIVE UNUSUAL GOPHER

Albino Will Be Placed on Exhibit in Museum

An unusual pocket gopher has been received by the zoology department from Perry Wisemiller of Marysville, according to Dr. George E. Johnson, mammalogist of the experiment station. This animal is entirely white instead of the usual brown and its eyes are pink instead of black. Such a gopher is known as an albino. The eyes appear pink because the blood in the walls inside of the eye is seen, not being hidden by pigment as is normally the case. The forelegs of the gopher are somewhat injured by the trap in which it was caught, but it is believed the animal will live a few days at least so that it may be exhibited in the museum.

KOLLEGIAN KWIZZES

Discussion of building a field house at K. S. A. C. has been taken up by some of the Aggie students and faculty. Following are the opinions of a few persons on the advisability of such a project.

Glen Graham, sophomore—"We should not build a field house because we don't need one. We have a gym which is plenty large enough for this school—and it is up-to-date with a large basketball court. Finances at this time are scarce, now that we are building a stadium, and such an affair would be impractical."

Frank Root, athletic coach—"We need it mightily badly, worse than anything else, but we can't build it because we haven't any money. We need either a field house or an armory. If the former was built the gym could be used for the armory and the field house for gym classes and athletics, or vice-versa. Also it would help the men out for athletics in winter conditioning."

Albert Ward, sophomore—"A field house would certainly be a great help for track men who wish winter training. As it is now, a person working out for track usually has trouble with the basketball men and, naturally, the latter with the tracksters."

Captain Bowen, military science department—"I think a field house would help a great deal. There is one game I would like to see started here, speed ball. It's a wonderful intramural sport, a combination football, soccer, and baseball. Such a structure would make this game possible at K. S. A. C."

Professor Amos, journalism department—"In order to keep up to the times with modern equipment we ought to have a field house—but I can't see where the money would come from. It would put K. S. A. C. on an equal footing with or even above other institutions."

L. N. Gibson, sophomore—I wish they would build a field house if it would mean more lockers,—a locker for every six men at least. I imagine a new building would help a whole lot. As it is I believe some pressing interest is the opposition to having more lockers in the gym."

Ralph Kimport, track captain—"We need a field house. It would help develop a track man earlier in the season. And, too, it would mean from 10 to 16 more handball courts, a great necessity for the college."

KANSAS HAS GREAT RECORD AGAINST CONFERENCE FOES

Aggies Have Come Nearest to Holding Jayhawk Even in All Time Record

Lawrence, Kan., December 17.—As the somewhat disastrous football season of the University of Kansas fades into the past, the eyes of the sport followers review again the basketball history at the university against Missouri Valley conference opponents.

The 1926 season will mark the 23rd year that the Kansas basketball teams have contested for supremacy in basketball against schools which are now members of the Valley. The first game against a Valley team was played in 1902 against the University of Nebraska which returned victorious 29 to 35. In the 22 seasons that have followed, 278 games have been played against members of the Missouri Valley conference. No games were played against present members of the Valley in 1904 and 1905. Each year since then has seen the increase in numbers of games scheduled against conference members, until this year the K. U. team meets every team twice, making a total of 18, the maximum allowed.

Of the 278 games which have been played, the Mount Oread team has won 196, and lost 82. Missouri has played more games against the Jayhawkers than any other team, having played in 67 games. Forty-two of the games have been victories for the Crimson and Blue, while the Jungle beast has won 25, the largest number to have been won by any one team from Kansas. Kansas State has the best record, however, having won 23 games to K. U.'s 27.

In the matter of points, 14,911 points have been scored, in the Missouri Valley games in which Kansas has competed. The Mount Oread team has scored 8,389 of these, or more than half the total.

The summary:

MERRY CHRISTMAS—

After the fashion of numerous eastern coaches, and some not so eastern, The Collegian wishes to announce its 1926 All-American football selections as a jolly Christmas surprise for all the loyal Aggies. Choosing the all-stars has been delayed this long in order that the judges might have time carefully to consider the merits of every outstanding player in the country.

Honorable Mention

Quarterbacks—Hamilton, Kansas; and all the other members of the Kansas U. team whose names we can't remember.

Also—all the rest of the members of the Kansas Aggies squad, all the members of all the squads of all the Missouri Valley teams, and several Kansas conference players.

Also—A man from California, a man from Dartmouth, a man from Michigan, and Flournoy of Tulane.

The board selecting the teams realizes that there probably were many good men kept off the three teams whose work might have been worthy of mention, especially in the east, the western conference, and the far west. However, the relatively low standing of their teams proved an insurmountable handicap.

KLOEFFLER AN AUTHOR

"Telephone Communication Systems" Just Off the Press

Prof. R. G. Kloeffler of the electrical engineering department is the author of a new text book entitled, "Telephone Communication Systems." The book, published by the Macmillan company of New York, is just off the press. It is the latest of their science series, and contains 284 pages with 213 illustrations covering the typical circuits of telephone engineering.

The Massachusetts Institute of Technology has adopted the text for use of students there, a fact believed to be worthy evidence of the merits of the book. Thorough knowledge of the material contained in the text, in addition to an ability to present it in an acceptable manner, was required of the author.

FIRE IN WOODWORK BUILDING

Little Damage Resulted—Burning Out of Wires, However

Discovery of a fire in its early stages and quick use of the fire extinguisher probably saved the woodwork building from serious damage when the electric wiring burned out and set fire to the wood partition in the building early Tuesday forenoon.

The fact that the fire severed the wires and caused the lights to go out in the drafting room brought about investigation of the cause and subsequent discovery of the fire. Little damage was done except to burn the wires and switch board and a few square feet of the woodwork in the room where the fire occurred.

Brooks Sixth in Essay Contest

Paul Brooks, Columbus, senior in the division of agriculture, placed sixth in the annual Saddle and Sirolo essay contest, according to word received by Prof. C. E. Rogers, acting head of the department of industrial journalism. The placing was won in competition with 130 students of agricultural colleges of the country. The award is a medal.

Dean and Mrs. J. T. Willard entertained Wednesday evening with a dinner party at their home on Houston street, for the following guests: Colonel and Mrs. C. Enos of Fort Riley, Colonel and Mrs. F. W. The Newman club entertained Sunday morning with a breakfast at the church hall, following church services. Fifty members of the club were present. Preceding the breakfast, the Rev. Father Lucky talked on the purpose of the organization, and announced a lecture to be given the first Thursday after the holidays, by Doctor Lapp, an eminent speaker. After breakfast talks were given by members of the faculty, officers and alumni of the club. Musical entertainment was provided.

Closing 1925 intramural basketball play Wednesday evening pursued an unhurried but abnormally clean trend.

Although the number of fouls committed in basketball is usually proportional to the speed of play, Wednesday night frays, the last on the intramural court till the new year, failed to observe this natural law. No speed limits were broken, but the play progressed at a fairly fast clip without the expected rate of fouls keeping pace.

O. T. E.'s Trounce Farm House
Omega Tau Epsilon opened the evening performance Wednesday with a substantial 22 to 8 victory over the Farm House five, piling up therein a larger score than the dope predicted beforehand. The second dinner hour match, between Kappa Phi Alpha and Alpha Sigma Psi, made a fast get-away but dragged to a finish. Close work by guards of both teams and occasional long range hitting by Youngman of the Kappa Phi crew were the only redeeming features of this contest, which went to the Kappa Phis by a 16 to 8 count.

After a bad first half, the Blue Devil quintet staged a determined come-back in the second two quarters of their game with the Bluemont five, but failed to overcome an eight point lead. The final outcome was Blue Devils 9; Bluemont 11.

B. H. S. Are Victors

Although a 22 to 9 score might indicate quite a different story, the Sigma Phi Sigma-B. H. S. clash was almost as evenly contested as is possible in a court game. Only good work on the part of B. H. S. forwards, who seldom lost track of the basket, turned the balance of power in favor of their team.

The Kappa Phi Alpha win clinched for that combination at least half ownership in the final first division top notch. The second and third division races have already been decided with Beta Theta Pi and Sigma Phi Epsilon being the respective winners.

NEW CULTURE IN MIDDLE WEST

Matthews Says New School of Literary Art Possible

There are, in the middle west, the three essentials for the raising of a new school of literary art—a new culture—and the possibilities of the establishment of such a school are excellent, in the opinion of Prof. Charles W. Matthews of the department of English, who spoke Tuesday afternoon on the works and characteristics of three middle western writers—Ruth Suckow, John T. Frederick and Glenway Wescott.

There are in the middle west the artists who are willing to write about the people and the things they know; a reading public ready to read what these artists have written, and critics who understand what is being done and are willing to defend and interpret this work," Professor Matthews said.

He emphasized his belief that literature, to be good, "must have its roots in the soil upon which it is produced"—that is, that the writer must write about the material which constitutes his own environment, and pointed out that the writers which he discussed have written about the middle west and its people.

The next lecture in the series will be presented Tuesday, January 12, at 4 o'clock in Calvin hall, by Prof. Ada Rice, who will discuss "St. Joan" by Bernard Shaw.

clinic, is planning this clinic especially for college students and they are especially invited to attend the demonstration.

Byers Stars in Road Trip Game and Scores Winning Basket—Play Notre Dame Tomorrow

BULLETIN

The Kansas State Basketball team was defeated last night by the University of Illinois 30 to 28. The Aggies led from the start of the game until the last minute of play, when an Illinois player hooked the winning basket from mid-court. Tonight the Aggies play Notre Dame.

Vanquishing the Northwestern basketball team in an overtime contest by a 30 to 28 score, the Aggie Wildcat quintet made its 1926 debut the evening of Saturday, January 2, by breaking both into Big Ten circles and a W column.

A short shot called by Byers in an extra period of play decided the game in favor of the Aggie Wildcats, who, after leading the Big Ten Wildcats through a greater part of the game, were denied an unprolonged victory by the work of "Moon" Baker, Northwestern forward. Baker tied the game in the closing minutes of play by squeezing in two baskets ahead of the final gun.

In the overtime play Byers, who starred for the Aggies with five goals and three free throws, accounted for the only score with a single shot from close-in.

The half found the score almost balanced, 13 to 12, for the Western Wildcats. This lead was later lengthened to 28 to 22.

Final appearance outside of the Missouri Valley realm will be made tomorrow night by the Aggies at South Bend, Indiana, where the Notre Dame five is to be met. On their homeward journey the Aggies will stop off at Kansas City long enough to meet the Schooley team, January 8.

JARDINE AND CALL HONORED

Science Magazine Announces Elections to Honorary Memberships

New honors have come to Secretary W. M. Jardine of the United States department of agriculture, former president of the college, and Dean L. E. Call of the division of agriculture, it is announced in the current issue of Science.

Doctor Jardine was elected to honorary membership in the American Society of Agronomy, an honor which carries greater distinction since he is the only member to hold the rank of honorary member. He has been a member of the society since 1903 and was president one year.

Dean Call is one of twelve agronomists in the country given the rank of fellows in the society at the meeting held in Chicago at the time of the meeting of the Association of Land Grant colleges. Dean Call was formerly head of the agronomy department.

WORK BEGINS ON LIBRARY SOON

MURCH BROTHERS, ST. LOUIS, GET GENERAL CONTRACT

Building Will Be Completed by July 1, 1927—Scheduled to Break Ground January 4

With the awarding of contracts completed, construction of K. S. A. C.'s new library building may be started in the near future, although it is probable that the work will not get well under way before spring. Contracts for the building were let in Topeka, December 17.

Murch Brothers construction company of St. Louis received the general contract for $203,998, underbidding eleven others. The Manhattan Sheet Metal company was awarded the contract for heating and plumbing at $21,042, and the Nelson Electric company of Ft. Scott that for the electric wiring at $3,360, making a total contract price of $228,400.

The state legislature appropriated $250,000 for the construction of the building, which leaves $17,000 for grading, lighting, connection with the sewer, installation of gas and fixtures, and other detailed work of the construction.

Owing to the fact that appropriations for the furnishings will not be made until the next session of the legislature, it will not be necessary that the building be completed before July 1, 1927, the date of the appropriations for the construction work. Students of the engineering division have completed the surveying of the building site just south of Waters hall.

The building will have a basement and three stories in the front part. The basement will be used as a periodical or reference room, and the first, second, and third floors in the front part will be used for large reading rooms. No offices will be located in the building, but there will be special seminar rooms for the use of all departments.

On the third floor will be located seminar rooms and an exhibition gallery. The south wall of this gallery will have an arch in which will be imbedded stones from the original Blumont college building, bearing the words "Blumont College." Two keystones from this same building will also be placed in the library walls.

Will Have Marble Interior

Much time and thought have been given to planning the interior finish. The corridors will have Tennessee marble wainscoting and the stairways also will be of marble. The floors of the corridors as planned will be of terrazzo while in the reading rooms, battleship linoleum will be cemented to the floors.

Stakes indicating the exact location have been set, and breaking of ground for the new building was scheduled to get under way Monday, January 4, according to word from Charles Cuthbert, state architect. A conference was held during the holidays in the office of President F. D. Farrell to determine the exact location of the structure.

The building will have a "T" shape and will face Waters hall, lying about 400 feet south of that building. The top part of the "T" will come to about the middle of the east and west road across the campus, and the stem of the "T" will come within ten feet of the office of G. R. Pauling, superintendent of maintenance.

ALPHA DELTA HOUSE DAMAGED

Plumbing System Damaged by Freezing During Holidays

Several hundred dollars damage was done to the Alpha Delta Pi house during the holidays when their water pipes froze and burst. The ice melted and the water running from the cracked pipes and radiators damaged the floors and walls. Every radiator in the house was broken.

When the members of the sorority left for their Christmas vacation, orders were left with the janitor to turn the water off and drain the pipes, but due to some misunderstanding, it was not done.

The Alpha Deltas are rooming at various houses in Manhattan until their house is repaired, which will require nearly a month.

John S. Houser, '04, of Wooster, Ohio, entomologist at the Ohio State experiment station, visited at the college January 2, after the meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science at Kansas City.

FARM AND HOME WEEK FEB. 8-13

MORE THAN 2,000 EXPECTED TO ATTEND THIS YEAR

Program Made More General and Less Complicated—W. A. Cochel Banquet Speaker

Farm and Home week will be attended by approximately 2,000 people this year, believes Prof. L. C. Williams of the extension division, who announces that the program of the week's activity will be off the press in a few days. The fifty-second annual observance of Farm and Home week will be February 8 to 13. Last year's attendance was estimated at 1,500.

Several new features have been woven into the program this year, Professor Williams said, with the aid of farmers who have attended the programs in past years. The principal new feature will be a general program for farmers of diversified farms. Questionnaires were sent to 100 farmers who have attended Farm and Home week programs, asking for suggested changes in the program.

Two Days of Specialized Study

Three-fourths of the farmers said they preferred the same date, when questioned in this respect, and an equal number said the program was too complicated. To satisfy these demands, a general program, in which all departments will take part, with the idea of giving farmers new plants on agricultural processes in general, was arranged.

However, each department of the various divisions will offer its specialized programs regardless of the new arrangement, Professor Williams announced. The departments, except those in home economics and engineering, will devote only two days this year to their programs, rather than four as customary in the past, he added.

Morning assembly programs will not be held as in the past, but the special speakers will be placed on the general program. Assembly programs will be held in the evening, however. Less effort is being made this year to secure outside speakers, local men to appear for the most part.

Weekly Star Editor a Speaker

W. A. Cochel, managing editor of the Weekly Kansas City Star, will be the principal speaker at the annual banquet on the night of Thursday, February 11. Following the banquet that night, all will attend the annual livestock show in the pavilion. This part of the program is recognized as one of the big attractions of the week, an estimated crowd of 1,500 attending last year.

Hugh J. Hughes of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Tidewater Association will also be on the speaking program. Special attractions on the night assembly programs will include a one-act comedy by students in the public speaking department. Students in the music department will also furnish entertainment and motion pictures have been provided for.

Tull formerly owned the Blumont pavilion which burned last year.

ELECT NINE TO PHI KAPPA PHI

EXCEPTIONALLY HIGH GRADES WARRANT SPECIAL ELECTION

Another Group Will Be Taken Next Semester—Doctor Andrews Speaks at Dec. 16 Meeting

Nine students were initiated into membership in Phi Kappa Phi, honorary society for all departments of the college, at the regular meeting in the rest room of Calvin hall on the afternoon of December 16.

Names of the new members are: George A. Jensen, agriculture, Manhattan; Benny Albert Rose, engineering, Waldron; Ralph L. Beach, engineering, Chanute; Josephine E. Brooks, home economics, Manhattan; Walter Wisnicky, agriculture and veterinary medicine, Green Bay, Wis.; Constance Erma Hoefler, home economics, Kaw City, Okla.; Charles W. Stratton, music, Manhattan; Martha E. Foster, graduate student, Leon; Louis Edmond Fry, engineering, Manhattan.

Members of Phi Kappa Phi are selected from the upper ten per cent of the graduating class. It is not customary to select new members at this time of the year, but the exceptionally high grades of the new members were acceptable assurance of their merit, it is said. Another group will be elected into the society before the close of the next semester.

Dr. W. H. Andrews, acting head of the department of education, was the principal speaker at the meeting taking for his subject, "The Obligations of the Scientific Man," given chiefly for the benefit of the new members. The chapter voted unanimously for the organization of a new chapter at Coe college, Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

EXTENSION COMMITTEE TO CONDUCT RADIO PROGRAMS

Professor Gemmell in Charge of "College of the Air"—Williams to Manage Entertainments

With the departure of Sam Pickard, formerly in charge of the college radiocasting station, to be chief of radio for the United States department of agriculture, a new arrangement has been made in the extension division to handle the duties connected with the radio program.

Under the new arrangement a committee of three members of the extension division staff was appointed by Dean H. Umberger, who is chairman of the committee, and the radio work has been divided between the other two members of the committee. With this plan, L. C. Williams, in charge of the extension specialists, takes charge of the noon-day program, the matinee program, and the question box.

Prof. George Gemmell, in charge of the home study department, has been appointed to take charge of the college of the air and the rural school program. Each member of the committee will be responsible for his part of the program. This arrangement may not be permanent, but it is very probable that it will be so, according to Dean Umberger.

Some time after the first of the year it is expected that an extension editor will be appointed to take over the publicity work formerly handled by Pickard, but he probably will not be given the duties of handling the radiocasting station, Dean Umberger said.

It is necessary that the radio work be divided among several members of the extension staff, since no appropriations have been made by the legislature for the financing of the work.

Spith to Professorship

Benjamin Spith has been appointed assistant professor in the department of applied mechanics to take the place of I. O. Wojtaszek, who left the college on account of ill health.

ARTS ESSENTIAL TO JOURNALISM

CRAWFORD SAYS AESTHETIC KNOWLEDGE IS NEEDED

Charges "Typical Journalist" with Gross Ignorance About Arts, in New York Speech

The following story of the talk given by Prof. Nelson Antrim Crawford, head of the department of industrial journalism now on a year's leave of absence while he is director of publicity for the United States department of agriculture, recently appeared in the New York World:

The newspaper reporter of the future will know as much about Picasso, Stravinsky and Freud as he does about murders, divorces, strikes and typhoons of his time, if suggestions made by Nelson Antrim Crawford of Kansas State Agricultural college are followed by the students of journalism.

Speaking yesterday at the meeting of the Association of American Schools and Departments of Journalism, Professor Crawford charged the "typical journalist" with gross ignorance about music, painting, architecture and literature, and asserted "a student graduated from a school of journalism without any knowledge of the arts is blind and will blind his readers." "A large proportion of what is best in human life," The social sciences, the natural sciences and the arts are fundamental to the education of a journalist, Professor Crawford declared.

The average journalist has little more knowledge of aesthetic principles than a policeman, according to Professor Crawford.

Journalism Teachers Speak

Other distinguished teachers of journalism who addressed the meeting were: Dr. Willard Grosvenor Bleyer, University of Wisconsin; Alton Sinclair Will, Columbia university; Grant M. Hyde, Wisconsin, and Joseph S. Myers, Ohio State university.

Professor Myers, secretary and treasurer, was elected president to succeed Prof. Charles P. Cooper of Columbia. L. N. Flint of Kansas was elected vice-president, succeeding Dean A. L. Stone, University of Montana, and Dean Stone became secretary and treasurer.

Three new members were elected to the association. They are Syracuse university, University of Illinois and University of Iowa. To be eligible for membership a school must maintain a course of instruction in journalism with a dean or professor at its head.

Two resolutions were adopted. One favored formation of an honorary journalistic society, members to be chosen by the faculty on a basis of scholarship. The other recommended that some way be found to cut the cost to members of existing societies.

Professor Crawford, in his talk on "Background Studies in Preparation for Journalism," said a "journalist needs a solid grounding in those subjects which are of greatest human concern, sufficient for him to have reasonable intelligence concerning them and to be able to consult competent authority on matters which are not clear to him."

Science and invention have been slighted for politics in newspapers, Professor Crawford intimated. "I venture to say that Albert Einstein or Thomas A. Edison is more significant than any living statesman you can name," he challenged.

Urges Students to Read

College students should read much more than they do, Professor Crawford declared, for no group of employed persons in the world has so little to do.

"School must make students critics and leaders of the crowd, not followers of it," he concluded. "Journalism requires this to an extraordinary extent because of its relation to every human activity."

Professor Crawford is the retiring president of the association.

Produces "Synthetic" Guinea Pigs

"Synthetic" guinea pigs have been produced by Dr. H. L. Ibsen, geneticist in the animal husbandry department, he revealed in a paper read before a group of geneticists interested in agriculture at the annual meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science in Kansas City last week. His experiments on these little animals, he hoped, would lead to a better understanding of the factors entailed in the breeding of livestock.

The railroads of Colombia, South America, are not standard gauge throughout, making it necessary to break bulk at each railroad.

THE KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Editor-in-Chief . . . Russell I. Thackrey
Managing Editor . . . Fred M. Shideler
Business Manager . . . Gerald E. Ferris

TUESDAY, JANUARY 5, 1926

GREETINGS

We have been waiting rather anxiously this past month for some one to ask us for a statement as to our hopes for Kansas State during 1926. We had expected a letter from the president asking for a little advice on running the school, and had given no little thought to a program for development which would, we feel, have made Kansas State a Leading Educational Institution, not only of the United States, but of The World.

But President Farrell, being no doubt of a jealous nature, did not ask for our advice, and since we believe in conserving such great thought we present it herewith. It is neither as serious nor as humorous as it might appear at first glance.

Firstly—We should like to see more five hour courses offered in the basic subjects, and a corresponding reduction in the mania for specialization. In common with other colleges Kansas State has fallen somewhat into the error of teaching its students how to make a living, instead of educating them. Strictly vocational courses should be left to the trades schools if a college degree is to continue to mean anything.

Secondly—We should like to see nine-tenths of the honorary and professional societies and clubs on the campus disbanded immediately and permanently, and the remaining tenth should be subjected to severe scrutiny as to their fitness for existence.

Thirdly—The plan of having a student manager for each major sport has found favor in many of the larger schools, and might be investigated by the athletic department to determine its feasibility here.

Fourthly—We should like to see the no smoking tradition so revised as to exclude private offices in campus buildings. A tradition against smoking on the campus is conceivably justifiable as it makes for a neater dooryard but the present much-violated "rule" which extends to include quarters which should be private is downright silly and should not be tolerated.

Fifthly—The need of a field house for basketball is even more imperative than the completion of the stadium, and should be so recognized.

Sixthly—Steps should be taken toward formulating a new plan of regulating attendance at classes of those students who have been in college for at least a year and have proven capable of doing superior work. The "cut" system is no doubt effective and necessary in the case of new students and others unable to take care of themselves, but in cases where it is not needed it is irritating, trivial, and ridiculous.

Seventhly—College discipline should be taken out of the hands of the S. S. G. A. in name as well as in fact.

Eighthly—An intelligent, understandable statement in the catalog as to the responsibilities of the student in connection with his courses might not be amiss for the benefit of the freshmen. It is doubtful if one out of 100 incoming students are able to read the catalog intelligently, and pick the proper electives and options from it, and the assigners are not much better.

Ninthly—The student body should see to it that the signboards are removed from Anderson avenue. Whenever the sentiment against them reaches the point where it is actually detrimental to the signboard advertiser, the boards will be removed. Removal of the signboards might furnish a good platform for the next student election.

Tenthly—There is very little possibility that any one of the above reforms will be effected, and we wish to announce that we will go blithely on suggesting them frequently whether they are or not.

Announcement

We wish to announce to the people of Manhattan and surrounding territory that, because Mr. Grossman has decided to enter the wholesale business at Omaha, we have been able to complete a deal by which we become the sole owners of Where motorized power is virtually unknown, men toil yet accomplish little. The United States has over one-quarter electrical horsepower installed per capita. Japan, leading country of the Orient, has but .04 horsepower. Electric shovel and storage battery locomotive are shown at a completely electrified open-pit coal mine, at Colstrip, Montana.

Work without Toil

Ten or twelve hours a day toils the coolie. If he carries all he can, he moves one ton one mile in one day. For that he receives twenty cents.

Cheap labor! Yet compared with our American worker, receiving at least twenty-five times as much for an eight-hour day, the coolie is expensive labor. In America we move one ton one mile for less than one cent. The coolie, working by hand, accomplishes little; while the American, with electricity's aid, accomplishes much.

Plenty of electricity and cheap electricity—these are two great advantages which America enjoys over the rest of the world. While our present generating capacity is 20,600,000 kilowatts, new developments call for 3,000,000 kilowatts more per year.

To college men and women—potential leaders—will fall the duty of finding more and still more work for electricity, with less and still less toil for our workers. For the task is but begun!

G-E Motorized Power—an ideal combination of electric motor and control properly fitted to the individual task—is at work the world-over, relieving workers more and more for better and more profitable pursuits.

A new series of G-E advertisements showing what electricity is doing in many fields will be sent on request. Ask for Booklet GEK-1.

CITY KEEPS PACE WITH COLLEGE

CITY'S BUILDING ACTIVITIES PARALLEL CAMPUS GROWTH

New Schools, Church, Business Structures, Telephone System Contribute to Improvements

Kansas State was equalled in growth, and in forward progress during the great year of 1925 by the city of Manhattan. A greater spirit of willingness upon the part of the city to cooperate with the students was shown during the year than perhaps ever before.

This spirit showed its greatest fruition in the work of the city planning commission, the creation of which was a great forward step in the awakening of a real civic consciousness. In zoning the city into industrial and residential districts the commission showed intelligence, far-sightedness, and a spirit of fairness which impelled them to protect the interests of the college as against business interests.

New building in Manhattan has paralleled and even exceeded development on the college campus. Manhattan's first six story building is now being built by Harry Wareham at a cost of approximately $80,000.

A New Telephone System

Since the first telephone in Kansas was made in a blacksmith and carpenter shop at K. S. A. C., the United Telephone company thought it only fitting that the finest telephone building in Kansas should be located at Manhattan. More than $250,000 is being spent on the exchange and equipment. Local and district offices of the telephone company will be in the lobby.

The dial system will be installed with the completion of the new exchange which, it is estimated, will care for the city's telephone needs for 25 years.

Two other outstanding building developments of the downtown district are the Middleton-Quinnan building and the Coffman building. The Mid-Quinn structure is an addition onto the present plant of the company on east Poyntz avenue, and virtually will fill the last gap on east Poyntz. It is two stories high and has a basement. The front is of pressed brick, and the building as a whole has a floor space of 40,000 square feet.

The Coffman building, near Fifth and Poyntz, is an indication of the tendency of the city to grow westward in a business way. The structure is owned by Walter E. Moore, local Ford agent, and is one of the largest store rooms in the city. It was built at a cost of $25,000.

To Education Its Share

That the city is beginning to grow out of the small town class is indicated by the construction of a new apartment building, the Rex Arms, at Sixteenth and Leavenworth. The apartment is modern in every way, and will provide for 10 families.

Educational facilities in the city have been greatly increased by buildings added during the year, the Woodrow Wilson school and the addition to the high school being the chief developments.

The addition to the high school plant gives Manhattan an auditorium with a seating capacity of 1,100, a much needed new gymnasium, and space for laboratory and shop work in printing and vocational agriculture. The addition cost $150,000. The triumph scored by the Ljungdahl brothers in the state and international livestock show is indicative of the work being done at the high school.

Completion of the new Methodist Episcopal church is expected by the time 1926 is well started. The unit containing the auditorium is the first being built, and will provide for a seating capacity of 1,250. A dining room, kitchen, office, and a few class rooms also are provided for in the present unit, though the remainder of the building as planned will not be constructed for some time to come. In the mean time, the old church building and annex will house Sunday school and league work. The present unit is to cost over $100,000.

Additions to Aggieville

Aggieville has kept abreast of the rest of the city in new building, the summer building of 1925 did not quite equal that of the great "boom" of 1924. The Forrester building, the Swenson building, the La Shelle building, the Cress building, and the new brick theater now under construction all serve to make the college business district thoroughly equipped to handle the demands of the students and of townspeople in the western part of the city.

Civic health and student health was well guarded, not a single death from contagious disease occurring during the year. The birth rate of the city was as usual more than twice the death rate, the births being 223 for 11 months as against 98 deaths in the same period.

Building permits totalled $1,300,-

LET'S MAKE 1926 A BANNER YEAR!

CHEER UP! The business world marks 1925 as the most prosperous year we have had in many years, and prophesies 1926 will be as good or better. We, the merchants and business men of Manhattan, as noted below, have had our share of the year's prosperity, and take this means of thanking our patrons, and especially the student body and faculty of K. S. A. C., for the large part they had in making 1925 such a full year in a business way.

Manhattan is a fine little city and is growing at a rapid rate. We are proud of our home town, and will do our best to make it known as a safe and dependable place in which to do your buying. We are glad to say, too, that our K. S. A. C. is also growing rapidly, both in enrolment and equipment, and we are just as proud of it.

Thus we find ourselves keen to welcome the new year with all sails set to beat the record of 1925.

Let's go!

1925 YEAR OF GREAT PROGRESS

JUNKING OF "INFERIORITY COMPLEX" MOST OUTSTANDING FEAT

National Reputation Raised by Jardine's Appointment—School Had Successful Year Athletically

The year 1925 at Kansas State college was most encouraging, especially when viewed in the light of the future of the school.

While the increase in attendance, the addition of buildings, and the purchasing of new equipment were very gratifying as signs of the onward progress of the school, perhaps the greatest accomplishment of the year 1925 was in making great advancement toward the junking of an "inferiorty complex" which has burdened the college through so many years of its existence.

Outgrowing Apling

Gradually, but none the less perceptibly, the student body has come to realize the superiority bred of admitting the equality of others. The custom of speaking disparagingly of other colleges, and at the same time pointing out enviously that "so and so does it, so we ought to," still exists, but Kansas State is outgrowing it.

So far as "advertising" the college is concerned, the appointment of Dr. W. M. Jardine to be secretary of agriculture probably did more to spread the name of the college abroad than any other one thing. This appointment was followed by the selecting of Nelson Antrim Crawford, head of the department of industrial journalism, to be head of the information service of the department of agriculture, and of Sam Pickard of the college extension department to be chief of radio work for the department of agriculture.

These appointments have had a marked value in raising the standing of the school nationally, and at the same time the "replacements" have been such as to keep up the standard of instruction and administration in a highly satisfactory manner.

Two New Buildings

The starting of the new dormitory and completion of plans for the new library have constituted practically the only building activities carried on during the year. Ground breaking on the library started last week, while the new dormitory is well along toward completion, which is to be effected before next fall. The library is to cost $250,000 and the dormitory approximately $200,000, housing 130 girls.

No progress was made in the building of Memorial Stadium, but matters were arranged so that building of the third unit probably will be done next summer. Agitation also has been started for a field house to care for increased crowds at basketball games.

The increase in enrolment during the year was normal, and the close of the college year found attendance passing the 4,000 mark for the first time.

The school enjoyed an athletic year which was on the whole a marked success. Starting with the feat of Balzer and Kimport in breaking the valley indoor two mile and mile records at Kansas City early in the spring, and finishing with the victory of the football team over Ames on Thanksgiving day, Kansas State athletes conducted themselves in a manner very gratifying to Aggie fans, and as successful as could be desired so long as the aims of competitive athletics are kept in mind.

Harriers Win Second Championship

The basketball team administered the only defeat of the season to the championship Kansas team, and finished their season by winning five straight games to tie for third with Washington.

The baseball team came through the conference race with an even break, taking three out of four from Kansas, two out of two from Missouri, and dropping three out of four to Oklahoma and Nebraska.

The football victories over Kansas Teachers, Kansas, Oklahoma, Marquette and Ames and the tie with Nebraska much more than counterbalanced the Drake catastrophe and the even, but losing, Missouri game.

Cross country took its second straight conference title at Kansas State toward the last of the season, and 1925 marked time for 1926 to begin with a victory over Northwestern in basketball.

Burnellian III at Kearney, Neb.

According to word received here, Zaven K. Burnellian of Armenia, a student in the college last year, is confined in the State Hospital at Kearney, Neb., with tuberculosis. He left the college last June to take up work in the interest of Near East relief, and became ill before returning to his work here. He expected to enrol again at the beginning of the second semester this year, and would have been a senior in agricultural economics.

000 for the year, almost double the record of two years ago, and Manhattan passed the 10,000 mark in population in going toward its goal of 22,000 by 1940.

H. A. SWIM GETS B. AND R. JOB

Engineering Graduate Comes from Westinghouse Company

H. A. Swim, graduate in electrical engineering from the college at the end of the fall semester last year, has been appointed assistant superintendent of the building and repair department. He will take over part of the work of G. R. Pauling, superintendent of maintenance, who last June, following the retirement of Jacob Lund, was given charge of heat and power in addition to his duties as superintendent of building and repair.

Since graduation from the college, Swim has been taking further work in the plant of the Westinghouse Manufacturing company, Pittsburg, Penn. While a student here he was in charge of electrical work for the building and repair department, working his way through college in this manner.

Howard Speaks to Science Club

The Science club held its regular meeting Monday evening in Recreation center at 7:30 o'clock. Dr. L. O. Howard, chief of the bureau of entomology of the United States department of agriculture was the speaker. His subject was, "Biological Control of Insects."

AGGIE RIFLE TEAM TO FIRE IN 24 MATCHES

Fifteen Men Are Chosen to Make up Squad—Enter Three Teams in Hearst Shoot

Fifteen men have been selected by Captain W. P. Walz to represent the R. O. T. C. in the spring rifle shooting matches, following a six weeks' tryout. Members of the team were chosen from the standpoint of "fighting spirit" and ability to hit the target or to score the largest number of points out of a possible 1,400.

The fifteen members of the team and their scores are: W. S. Mayden, 1,289; R. L. Roberts, 1,284; H. A. Senior, 1,284; T. H. Long, 1,268; M. T. Means, 1,263; L. J. Richards, 1,258; I. K. McWilliams, 1,255; Fred Schultz, 1,222; A. W. Clark, 1,220; O. K. Correll, 1,219; D. H. Schultz, 1,213; O. E. Tainter, 1,210; G. Koger, 1,201; F. H. Peterson, 1,190; and G. R. Borgman, 1,183.

"During the firing period each candidate was closely checked as to his shooting ability and his fighting spirit," said Captain Walz. "Some of the men had had more shooting experience than others, while again some new shots with little experience had more fight in them than some of the older experienced shots and as a result, obtained a higher score than the older shots."

The schedule for the season includes contracts to fire against 24 of the leading institutions of the country. The first intercollegiate match will take place during the week ending January 23. The Seventh Corps Area intercollegiate match was scheduled to start immediately after the holidays and extend to March 15. The four highest scoring schools in the corps will be entered in the national intercollegiate match to be fired March 15 to April 15.

The college will enter three, five man teams in the Hearst trophy match, firing against all the schools of the United States.

GROSSMAN SELLS STORE

Romig and Thomson to Manage New Manhattan Business

Harry G. Thomson, an associate of the Grossman store, and Fred C. Romig, formerly assistant cashier of the First National Bank, have purchased the Grossman clothing store, Morris Grossman having decided to enter the wholesale clothing business at Omaha.

Mr. Thomson has been associated with the Grossman store for some time and has had a heavy share in its management. He is an experienced clothier.

Mr. Romig, a graduate of the college, has held his position at the bank since 1918 when he resigned as assistant postmaster to become a bookkeeper at the First National Bank.

The new management plans to carry a most complete and up-to-date line of men's clothing and furnishings, and ladies' ready-to-wear and men's, women's and children's shoes.

VET STAFF TO TOPEKA

Attending Meeting of Kansas Veterinary Medical Association

All members of the staff of the division of veterinary medicine, except Dean R. R. Dykstra, will attend the twenty-second annual meeting of the Kansas Veterinary Medical association in Topeka, Wednesday and Thursday. Dean Dykstra is in California attending and speaking at a University of California veterinary meeting.

Two members of the college faculty are serving on committees of the association meeting in Topeka. Dr. J. H. Burt is on the executive committee, and Dr. E. J. Frick is a member of the committee on necrology.

Dean Dykstra was scheduled to appear twice on the program, but will be represented by other members of the faculty from the college. Doctor Frick will read a paper prepared by Dean Dykstra.

VOL. XXXII

KANSAS STATE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, MANHATTAN, FRIDAY, JANUARY 8, 1926

NO. 29

Varsity Boxers Selected Soon

Battles Wednesday Night
Aid in Choosing Team

Final Selection Will Be Made Just Before Squad Leaves for Ames and Notre Dame

Ushering in the new boxing season, the squad of Wildcat fistic artists fought among themselves in five fairly fast ring battles Wednesday night for the right to represent Kansas State against Ames and Notre Dame ringmen January 13 and 15.

Winning pugilists were decided in each bout by two judges, E. A. (Bud) Knoch and Gerald Fitzgerald, and the referee, Martin Gross. Bouts were limited to three rounds, but in cases of close showings an extra round was resorted to before a decision was awarded. This fourth round was twice deemed necessary. No encounter ended in a knockout or anything approaching that type of finish.

Bailey Shades Callahan

In the initial bout of the card, L. W. Bailey of Manhattan, 125 pounds, shaded F. H. Callahan, Abilene, 115 pounds. A longer reach was used in this match to good advantage by Bailey in bombarding his shorter opponent at a long range. O. E. Walgren, 125 pound letterman was slated to meet Bailey, but was kept from the ring by a bad cut over an eye.

The pace picked up in the second bout of the evening, with Capt. C. F. (Pug) Hoelsel, Manhattan, and E. A. Stephenson, Alton, 145 pounders, giving a good exhibition of fast, footwork and hard punching. A more scientific application of boxing fundamentals won an easy decision for Hoelsel.

L. J. Richards, Manhattan, and J. J. Hendrix, Lone, 135 pounders, presented the most evenly matched and one of the most strenuously contested fights of the evening, being forced to go an extra round before the tribunal arrived at a decision naming Hendrix the victor.

Pearson Unable to Appear

T. H. Hays, Manhattan, and J. L. Dalrymple, Simpson, who both tip the scales around 155 pounds, started their engagement in a whirlwind fashion, which, although slowing in the later rounds, was maintained in sufficient quantity through the four rounds to give the spectators their due of entertainment. This was the second bout in which a fourth round was deemed advisable. Hays, who was awarded the judge's decision, will meet C. H. Towle, 175 pound man, soon to decide the championship of this class.

Zur Pearson of Manhattan, Aggie heavyweight ace, was kept from meeting his scheduled opponent, N. P. Olson of Brookville, by the revival of an old football charleyhorse, which he believes will be subdued in time to make the coming eastern trip.

J. Brink and E. O. Fort, heavyweights, figured in the last match which proved to be a desultory fast performance, cut short in the last round by an injury to a month-old broken finger sustained by Fort. Brink, having led his opponent through most of the fight, received the winning decision.

About 200 fans paid a small admission price to see the five ring battles.

Although in some cases places on the representative Aggie boxing squad were clinched by the victors of these bouts, the coaches will not name the first squadmen until the eve of the eastern trip.

Because he will be absent for a greater part of next week, and also because of the proximity of final examination week, the wrestling tournament has been postponed by Physical Director E. A. Knoch until next term.

STUDY FOR UNITED EMPLOYEES

Engineering Department Conducting
Special Classes at Abilene

Several members of the staff of the engineering division are cooperating with officers of the United Power and Light company and the United Telephone company of Abilene in offering a special extension course to employees of those companies.

The course started with lectures Wednesday night in Abilene, and will continue for three months, with lectures one night each week. About 200 of the companies' employees and townspeople have enrolled in the course, which is the first of its kind to receive the cooperation of the engineering division.

MAKING GREENHOUSE PLANS

New Structure Will Cost $10,000—
Completed This Year

Prof. Paul Weigel, head of the architecture department, is working on the plans for a new greenhouse. The structure will consist of two units, one for the botany department, and one for the agronomy department. These units will be connected by a head greenhouse.

The recent state legislature appropriated $10,000 for such a building at K. S. A. C. Five thousand dollars is available at the present time for the beginning of work, and the other $5,000 will be available after July 1.

The building will be completed sometime this year.

Suspension for "Pony" Addicts

43 Cases Before Cribbing
Committee Since Spring

Offenders Given a "Black Mark"
Which Is a Permanent Handicap in Later Years

Cheaters are being suspended from school by the dozens, yet it does not quell the tendency for a certain type of students to use "ponies" in passing their examinations, according to Prof. J. V. Iles, faculty advisor of the cribbing committee of the S. S. G. A.

Easy to Get on "Black List"

Since the beginning of the spring semester last year and up to the present time the S. S. G. A. has handled 43 cases of cribbing. In practically all of these cases enough evidence has been furnished by the instructors to authorize the suspension of the students involved. If the student is suspected of having cribbed but enough evidence has not been secured to warrant his suspension the committee puts him on what is called the "black list." If a second offense is reported on this student he is nearly always immediately suspended. However, there is no set rule in regard to this procedure. In cases where the student's offense, in the eyes of the committee, is of a slight nature the offender is put on probation and is thus given a chance to continue his work under the close observation of his instructors.

Some students who are caught cribbing leave school without reporting to the S. S. G. A. committee, thinking that when they return nothing will be said. Contrary to this opinion, however, Professor Iles said that the cases will be taken up when the student returns for enrollment and the offender will be suspended for another year. Two cases of this type are now pending on the book in the registrar's office.

Going several years back in K. S. A. C. history we find that students who were suspended from school had their names read in student assembly. It is a common question at this time among those who are having to deal with the "cheating" problem, as to whether the names of suspended students should be published or not.

Cribbing Record Hangs to Student

Professor Iles said that he had heard of one of the students, who was suspended from this college, making the statement that he had left K. S. A. C. to go to another institution so that he could be with his girl friend. This is not an easy way out of a difficult situation, since the suspended student's record is placed on the registrar's books and these records will be sent to the school where the student applies for enrollment.

Professor Iles believes that if the students are brought to realize the difficulties under which a record of cribbing listed on the registrar's books here will place them when they try to enroll in schools elsewhere or try to get occupation somewhere, there will be a decided decline in cheating.

A failing grade in any subject, received because of cheating is also recorded in the registrar's office.

Select Chapel Play

Chicago Papers Declare Aggie- Northwestern Tilt Best Ever

By Tom F. Blackburn
Editor, Kansas State Collegian, 1915

Chicago (Special to the Collegian)—A great athlete almost snatched victory from the Kansas Aggies when they defeated Northwestern university 30 to 28 at Chicago, January 2.

The game over, timekeeper's pistol in air, "Moon" Baker, pride of the East, grizzled veteran of a thousand tussles, showed the pure gold great athletes are made of by tossing a basket and tying the score 28 to 28. It was one of those desperate things that turn defeat into victory. The Kansas Aggies, with the game virtually salted away, gasped with dismay.

His throw was in midair when the gun cracked. The crowd was donning overcoats, ready to go out in the snowy night.

Silence fell. All knew that the payoff would be desperate, savage as a duel with bowie knives on a quarterdeck.

Phantoms of the teams of the last twenty years floated before the memories of old Aggie grads in the audience. They remembered teams—ay, better than this one—who had been crumpled in defeat by such crises. Lack of self confidence—that had been the Aggie jinx. Deep in their hearts they had feared that the older, eastern players knew something that they didn't. And lost. Would it happen again?

The scuffle was a revelation. It proved that a mighty change had come over K. S. A. C. since Ray Watson and the last two or three football eleven had been revealing that all men are mortal.

No longer does the magic of a name scare the Aggies. "Red" Grange himself, former teammate of "Moon" Baker, would have been slapped on the wrist.

Into a furnace seven times heated went the Aggie five. Northwestern got new strength by a new chance to win the game. Cannons to right of them, cannons to left of them rolled and thundered. There was a flying mess of arms and legs, a red head bobbing wildly about. It will make Prof. H. W. Davis lift an eyebrow, but the only word to describe what the Aggies had is—intestinal fortitude. They won: 30 to 28.

Most Aggie teams of the long years past would have booted something, folded up, and telegraphed: "We have met the enemy and we are theirs."

To eyes used to watching eastern teams it looks as if the Kansas State men win by individual excellence rather than teamwork. A lot of energy is wasted on long range grandstand shots, and the art of having a man on deck where needed has not been entirely mastered yet.

But alas! The Chicago newspapers pronounced it the most exciting racket ever played in Northwestern's gymnasium. The crowd got $5.85 worth of excitement for each $1 pasteboard.

Old grads saw several things about the K. S. A. C. aggregation that were new.

A decade ago the team trotted out on the floor showing their pink and white legs. Now they wear pretty purple pants. Gone is the "Kansas Aggies" from their breasts and in its place a neat "Kansas State."

But you can send them East next time with plunk bows of rib in their hair—if they have the guts this game has.

Alumni in the East felt that the athletic authorities are to be congratulated for arranging the game. It gave K. S. A. C. much needed publicity. Eastern newspapers have had a habit of printing Aggie scores only when K. U., Nebraska, or Missouri was played. An invasion brings recognition—and causes us fat old birds who sit around Chicago offices to get heart failure from the excitement.

Delta Taus Suspended From Men's Panhellenic

Penalty for Violation of Rules Will Depend Upon Their Compliance of Rules While Out

By a vote of 12 to 1, the men's Panhellenic council decided to suspend Delta Tau Delta indefinitely from the fraternity organization at its meeting last Monday night.

Penalty for violation of the Panhellenic rules by the Delta Taus has been under discussion and investigation by the discipline committee of the council since early last fall, but final action on the case was deferred until Monday night.

The Delta Taus are charged with violation of the men's panhellenic rule which provides that a man must be pledged at least a full half semester before being eligible for initiation. According to members of the discipline committee, they initiated two members on May 29, 1925. This is said to be their second offense against the panhellenic rulings.

Their reinstatement in the organization will depend upon their abstinence with the rules during the period of their suspension.

Taylor and Hughes Give Technical Exhibition at High School

Carl Taylor and Harold Hughes, members of the men's varsity debate squad, left yesterday for Belle Plaine where they gave a technical exhibition of a debate for the benefit of the debate squads of the high school. The extension department sponsored the trip, and the team was coached by Prof. H. B. Summers, debate coach. The purpose was to give material on the child labor question and to demonstrate a technical debate.

This division intends to send teams to various high schools which are using this particular question for their debates this year.

LAST HALF THE AGGIE WATERLOO

CAGERS RETURN FROM BIG TEN INVASION WEDNESDAY

Notre Dame Wins 38 to 23, "Getting Hot" the Last Half—Corsaut Satisfied

The eastern invasion of the Kansas State basketball five, which opened with an auspicious victory over Northwestern, Saturday, closely followed by a heart-breaking defeat at the hands of Illinois Monday, was brought to a close Tuesday night with an additional loss to Notre Dame, who sounded the Wildcat combination for a 38 to 23 win.

All three of these intersectional encounters, according to team followers who returned with the Purple squad Wednesday, pursued a closely paralleled course. In each fray the Aggie play reached its peak of effectiveness in the first half and except in the tight 30 to 28 Northwestern win, the last two quarters occasioned the downfall of the Wildcats.

Illinois Outplayed

After neatly disposing of the Northwestern Wildcats Saturday, the Aggies met Illinois in their Urbana haunts, and according to competent observers, clearly outplayed these opponents, losing by a point, 30 to 29, through a sensational long range hitting spree unleashed by the Illinois in the last few ticks of the timekeeper's watch.

With Notre Dame Tuesday night, the Aggies failed to obtain the conventional lead in the first half and the score stood 16 to 10 for the Irish at that intermission. Led by "Red" Mertell, the western five staged a determined comeback at the resumption of play, but was unable to check the mounting Notre Dame score. The play of Captain McNally and Nyikos kept the Notre Dame attack functioning in the latter portion of the game while quashing any extensive Purple attempt to reciprocate in kind.

Play Schooley's Tonight

On his return Wednesday, Coach C. W. Corsaut expressed himself as satisfied with the showing of his proteges against the university teams. These early non-conference contests, he said, were beneficial both as developers of the cagers toward mid-season form, and in giving the players a chance to prove their respective worth under fire.

The team left this afternoon for Kansas City, where they are scheduled to meet the strong Schooley A. C. crew this evening.

SHADES OF SHERLOCK

Amateur gate-breakers attempted to make a "cleaning" in some of the college buildings on Monday night, but about all that was accomplished was the damaging of a few doors and some furniture and mislaying papers. Only a small amount of cash was obtained. Indications are that the work was done by amateurs.

Action of the college authorities in muzzling faculty members and college employees in connection with thefts made from college buildings Monday night came as a distinct shock to those who had been complimenting the college on the common sense shown in most matters of administration. In addition the censorship was handled in a manner calculated to arouse resentment from both the city newspapers and The Collegian.

At 9 o'clock Tuesday morning a Collegian reporter was told that G. R. Pauling superintendent of maintenance, was the only person allowed to make a statement. Mr. Pauling refused to "say anything" until 11 o'clock, which was too late for the college paper. Some time after fifth hour, the president's office issued carbon copies of the above misstatement. Incidentally, the burglaries were not reported to the police until several hours after they were discovered, if at all.

Why the fact that college buildings were robbed should be suppressed is not entirely clear to one not possessed of super-intelligence. Perhaps the building and repair department was doing a little Sherlocking on its own hook.

At any rate, it was a case of distinctly poor judgment.

The ultra-wide trouser is going out, according to members of the National Association of Clothing Designers. Soon the college man will have to increase his time allotment for changing clothes to include removal of the shoes during the process.

Judge for Yourself

This column is conducted for those who have some criticism or comment they wish to express publicly. Any material received will be published as written, with the exception of changes necessary in having it set into type. No anonymous contributions will be used, but only the initials will be published if the writer so requests. Opinions expressed herein are those of an individual, and do not voice the policies of The Collegian in any way.

Concerning the World Court Discussion at K. S. A. C.

To The Collegian:

It seems that some one accused the Collegian of taking a partisan viewpoint of the World Court, and in a hasty reply by the Collegian staff in correction of this impression certain statements were made which I think are unfair and not in accord with the usual sane and fair policy of the Collegian.

In the first place the World Court issue is no longer a partisan issue. It has been endorsed by both major political parties in their platforms; by the American Legion; by the World War Veterans; by the Federal Council of Churches comprising thirty of the leading denominations; by the National Federation of Women's clubs; by the National Students Council of the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A.; and by many smaller groups and individuals of all beliefs and interests. The most ardent opponent of America's entrance into the World Court is Sen. W. E. Borah, whose position as Chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee attracts attention to his opinions and requires that his arguments should be met. I do not want to, nor do I have the space, to in any way defend the Court or its technique, except to say that it is a step toward world peace; and that since the war was hastened to a victorious end because of our participation, I believe that America can do more than any other nation at the present time to establish world peace—it she only will.

I think the Collegian is to be commended upon the manner in which it covered all World Court meetings on our campus. However, it seems to me that since the World Court is such a vital issue in our nation at the present time, it would have been well for the Collegian to have done much more to educate the students in regard to this matter and our part in it, whether the material and information came from our own campus or "from committees located in the east."

Again the Collegian regretted "that both sides of the court question could not have received equal discussion." I would like to remind the Collegian that the committee in charge did what they could to promote free and open discussion upon both sides. Stories and editorials upholding both sides of the questions have appeared in the Collegian. World Court meetings were held in Calvin Hall for three days in November at which meetings the World Court was presented as it is by some of our own professors who have studied into the world court. The topics discussed were: "What is the World Court," "The Significance of America's Entry into the Court," and "What Can American Students Do?" or "What Part Can the American Students Play in U. S. Policy." Does that look like a biased approach to the subject? I am wondering if the ones who are criticizing the committee were in attendance at those meetings. If they were not they have no room to kick. The World Court and all its phases were discussed in all the churches and young people's meetings and literary societies. I was called upon to present the World Court to one of the literary societies, and although I am in favor of the court, I took particular pains to present the Court as it really is and without any bias or propaganda. In addition to all this the announcement was made in the Collegian, at all the meetings possible, and by placards in the library that an International Book Table had been installed in the library which contained all sorts of books and pamphlets dealing with both sides of the Court. An attempt was made to schedule a debate for chapel, but was not successful; so the committee secured Dr. Jenkins to speak in chapel, expecting that he would deal with the technique and significance of the court in detail. As it turned out he did not say much about the court as such—but I did enjoy his talk to the utmost. I think the committee did a pretty good job, and if more students did not know about the court and its implications it is their own fault—due to their own mental laziness. It was hoped that with all the talk of the court the students would make a special effort to become informed about the World Court.

It is true that the Y. M. C. A. had a part in promoting the World Court educational program on this campus. I do not, however, think it is true that only Y. M. C. A. or Y. W. C. A. members were affected and interested by the campaign. Granting that it is true, perhaps it is only the members of the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. that are enough interested in the world's problems that confront us, and alive enough to the privileges and responsibilities of the students of this country to take the time to inform themselves about the World Court sufficiently to intelligently vote upon the question when the student poll was taken, whether they voted for it or against it.

It is my hope that through such educational programs the students of the United States can be aroused to a more intelligent interest in, and continual, effective influence upon the determination of the foreign policy of the United States. There is no limit to the indirect influence students can exert, if our convictions are strong enough, our information adequate, and if we have a means of expressing ourselves. This was really the purpose of the World Court educational program and student poll upon our campus—or at least it is my conviction that this was the real object in view.

Respectfully submitted, with the hope that this will be printed.
Paul Pfuetze.

OKLAHOMA AGGIES' COURT PROSPECTS LOOK BRIGHT

Five Members of Southwest Conference Champs of 1925 on This Year's Cage Squad

Stillwater, Okla., Jan. 4 (Special) Oklahoma Aggie cagers, facing their first season of basketball in the Missouri Valley conference, are far advanced in pre-holiday court practice preparatory to the opening of the 1926 season when Missouri invades Stillwater.

With five members of the Southwest conference championship squad of 1925 again available, Coach Johnny Maulbetsch faces prospects of a much brighter hue than the problem which confronted him in the football season just closed. With the veteran group rounding into condition, Sooner Aggie fans are looking forward to a brilliant season.

Twelve valley games are scheduled for the Oklahomans. Led by Captain Clyde Hall, pivot man, the returning stars of last season are Gordon Peery and Cliff Elder, forwards; George Connor and Neil Hartgence, guards. Connor has twice been all-Southwestern guard selection and Peery gained a forward berth on the all-Southwestern outfit last year, his first on the squad. Both were members of the grid team.

Augmenting the list of veterans which, fans point out, might make up the regular personnel of the varsity are several non-letter varsity last year besides a host of first year men eligible for varsity competition for the first time this winter.

Four non-conference contests will be scheduled to complete the Aggie program. Conference games are:

January 8—Missouri at Stillwater
January 9—Washington at Stillwater

January 15—Drake at Stillwater
January 22—Drake at Des Moines

January 23—Grinnell at Grinnell
February 5—Grinnell at Stillwater

February 11—Kansas at Lawrence
February 12—Missouri at Columbia

February 13—Washington at St. Louis
February 16—Oklahoma at Norman

DR. J. D. RIDDELL DEAD

Prominent K. S. A. C. Alumnus Dies From Heart Failure in Salina

Dr. John DeWitt Riddell, physician and surgeon, a graduate of K. S. A. C. with the class of 1893, died suddenly of heart failure on Monday morning, January 4, while performing an operation at St. Johns hospital in Salina.

Doctor Riddell is survived by his wife, Mrs. Doris Riddell, and two children, Mrs. Doris Riddell Harkins of Olathe, and John C. Riddell of Lawrence. All three are graduates of K. S. A. C. His father and two brothers, Milan and Hugh, and two sisters, Mrs. Charles Helstrom and Mrs. Charles McGiffen still live in McPherson.

Doctor Riddell and his family were well known in Manhattan and had many friends here.

Attends Meeting in Topeka

Dean Margaret M. Justin went to Topeka Monday for a conference with the committee of the Kansas Dinner club, of which she is vice-president. The biennial meeting of the club, whose membership consists of the leading educational women of the state, will be held at Topeka in February.

Miss Leona Baumgartner, province president of the Pi Beta Phi chapter here, will be a guest at the house this week end.

THIEVES STILL UNAPPREHENDED

Obtain About $50 in Cash from Four College Buildings

No clues have yet been announced by G. R. Pauling, superintendent of maintenance, who is conducting an investigation to determine the identity of the thieves who broke into several college buildings Monday night. Fairchild hall, Calvin hall, Nichols gymnasium, and the auditorium were entered.

The buildings were broken into by removing panes of glass from the doors. Most of the offices in the buildings were thoroughly searched by the thieves and torn up quite generally.

A little less than $50 in cash was obtained in the haul, $30 of which was stolen from the music department, $10 from Calvin hall, and a little less than $10 from the athletic office.

The damage done to furniture and equipment will represent the greatest loss, according to members of the departments.

Students Speak at Wakefield

Four foreign students of the college, Jamal Hammad, R. V. Macias, J. P. F. Sellschop, and Ramon Acevedo, went to Wakefield the week before Christmas to speak on the Christmas program of the high school there. These four students represent four different countries—Palestine, Mexico, South Africa, and the Philippine Islands.

State architect, Charles D. Cuthbert, arrived Wednesday to confer with the contractors of the new library and dormitory buildings, and with the officers of K. S. A. C.

DOWN SCHOOLEY FIVE 44 TO 28

LAST YEAR'S KANSAS CITY CHAMPS DEFEATED

Coach Corsaut Uses Every Member of Squad in Encounter—Byers the Scoring Ace

Indication of what may lie in store for the bulk of Aggie adversaries to be met this winter was forcibly demonstrated Saturday night, January 9, to the Schooley cage crew, who fell before the weight of the Wildcat attack and were smothered under a topheavy 44 to 28 count on their Kansas City preserves.

The five man Aggie machine gained momentum early in the game and from that time on traveled at a speed which soon found the clubmen trailing at a distance.

Score 19 to 10 at Half

At half-time the Schooleys were still in sight, the chalking standing at 19 to 10 for the collegiates. Within a few minutes after the start of the second half, the Aggie offensive resumed its whirlwind attack and the Schooleys were left far enough behind to escape the dust.

Byers, Wildcat offensive ace, was up to par with seven goals and a free-throw to his credit. His running mate, Mertell, who was recently shifted by Coach Corsaut to a forward position, functioned smoothly in his new location, snaring five tries from the court.

Captain Fritz Koch at guard, Eric Tebow at center, and Osborne at forward, played aggressive games while rendering a good account for themselves on the score sheet.

Coach Charley Corsaut gave the entire Purple squad a chance to perform in some stage of the fray, and several of the reserves took advantage of this opportunity to heighten their prestige. All entered in the contest proved themselves worthy of a place in the box score.

Play Grinnell Friday
Kansas State will play its second valley game of the season on the home court Friday night against the strong Grinnell five coached by Charley Black, former University of Kansas star. Last year Grinnell beat the Aggies out 25 to 24 at Grinnell, but took a drubbing when they came to Manhattan. The game will be called at 7:30 o'clock.

JAYHAWKS HERE TOMORROW NIGHT

FEATHER-FOR-FUR DETERMINATION TO UNDO FOE

Little Dope on K. U. Five—Aggies Have Advantage of More Pre-Season Practice

By tomorrow night the Jayhawk force will have arrived from down the rapids for a brief 40 minutes sortie against the Wildcat courtmen, and instilled either with a desire to avenge that resounding defeat at the feline animal's claws last year or with a charitable spirit more becoming to a Sunday school and humbly turn the other cheek to be slapped.

Humility, charity, the golden rule, and like doctrines, are, as customary, quite absent from either Wildcat or Jayhawk camp this year, and instead the keynote is one of cold-blooded, eye-for-eye, feather-for-fur, determination to undo the traditional foe. Both belligerents entertain a wholesome respect for the enemy and both have kept through the practice season next Wednesday's battle well in mind.

A Blue-Ribbon Band

Until the results of the Kansas U.-Washington U. dispute in St. Louis Monday night becomes a subject for current history classes, little will be known of what the Jayhawk boys have to offer. That the K. U. cage crew is composed of a blue ribbon band of performers, and that they will not without an effort relinquish their nearly unblemished championship record, may be taken for granted. How their crimson five will stack up against the Aggie warriors tomorrow can only be guessed, and with the date the question is to be answered so near, guessing will only be misdirected and unnecessary effort. Until F. C. (Phog) Allen, coach of the Jayhawk quintet, deigns to enlighten the score keeper, the general public must remain ignorant of the exact Crimson starting lineup for the impending Aggie tussle. Judging from their present showing the opening K. U. personnel will probably read like this: forwards, Proudfit and Campbell; center, Zuber; guards, Gordon and Peterson.

Several Aggie Stars, Also

These, with several other court satellites brighten the Jayhawk chances for a win, while on the other hand the Aggie combination boasts almost as many illuminating luminaries. Beyond the usual run of basketball heavenly bodies the Aggies are featuring this season at least a pair of shooting stars, namely: "Lefty" Byers, and "Red" Mertell. The roster of the rest of the Wildcat regulars reads like a page from an astronomy text, containing the surnames of Captain Fritz Koch and Doc Weddle, guards; E. Tebow, unlikable but robust center; and Osborne, reserve forward, with the usual host of others.

The Aggie team will go into the clash having a considerable advantage over their university opponents, in the way of considerable experience and hardening gained during the late eastern trip.

The two teams described in above passages may be seen in action Wednesday evening at 7:30 in Nichols gymnasium, and all Aggie loyalists are formally invited to attend.

Discusses "St. Joan" Today

Miss Ada Rice of the English department will discuss the play, "St. Joan" by George Bernard Shaw, Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the rest room of Calvin hall. This is the sixth of the series of addresses on the works of contemporary writers being given by the members of the English department.

Ackert Speaks at Ottawa

Dr. J. E. Ackert of the zoology department delivered addresses at Ottawa and Baker universities Thursday. At Ottawa he addressed the student assembly and the Kiwanis club. At Baker he gave an illustrated lecture on "The Hookworm and Other Parasites."

Collegian Board Organizes

Miriam Dexter was elected president and Wayne Rogier secretary-treasurer of the new Collegian board at a special meeting held Thursday evening. Other members of the new board are H. D. Grothues, Leslie Combs, and Prof. C. E. Rogers.

650 Girls Cramped in Quarters Provided For Physical Ed Course

At about four o'clock one Tuesday afternoon, a visitor in Manhattan decided to go on a tour of the college and chanced to wander into the girls' gymnasium. The clamor of a hundred voices, each trying to outshout the other, the bang of many locker doors, the thump of hockey clubs, and the splashes of a determined class of swimmers combined to produce a very good imitation of bedlam.

The visitor was dazed. A Collegian reporter, who happened to be dashing by, saw the stranger's bewildered expression and came to the rescue.

"Is there a special contest or something going on?" timidly inquired the visitor.

"Gosh no! It's only three different classes trying to get dressed at once!"

And the reporter went away, thinking hard, and proceeded to find out a great many things about conditions in general.

The girls' gymnasium is composed of two rooms: the main gymnasium, and the locker room about 70 by 60 feet, which contains the swimming pool and shower baths in addition to the lockers. Between four and five every afternoon, in these limited quarters, there are over a hundred girls trying to dress at the same time—40 to leave, 40 to play hockey, and 25 to swim.

The main gymnasium is in use at every hour of the day until six o'clock, except at eight on Tuesday and Thursday mornings. During the volley ball season, it was used at noon and until nine and ten in the evenings.

There are approximately 650 girls enrolled in physical education classes, and almost every one of them has two working outfits—a regular gymnasium uniform, and a swimming suit or dancing costume. Some girls who are enrolled in the physical education curriculum, have three. All of these clothes have to go into 317 small lockers of two hooks each!

There are no dressing rooms, and the congestion in the locker room is increased by the space taken up by several shower baths and the swimming pool. This pool is not regulation length, being only 50 by 20 feet, and the girls are unable to try for any record distances because of this fact. No spectators can be present at any of the swimming events because there is no room for them. The location of the pool directly in the locker room is also very bad for the ventilation.

The gymnasium has no dryer and sterilizer for the swimming suits, although one would be provided if there was room for it, and the girls are forced to hang their suits over the locker doors to dry. The evaporation of the water from so many suits gives the room a decidedly musty atmosphere.

The main room of the gymnasium, which is used for floor work and dancing, is over-crowded with almost every class. Some classes have an enrolment totaling 80 girls. For this reason, one floor is not enough, and two are badly needed, one for floor work and the other for sports. The fourth and eighth hours of the day are the most popular because of laboratories, and three classes could be run at these hours if facilities permitted.

When consulted on this really serious problem, Miss Ruth Morris, head of the department, said, "We are not complaining; the girls have simply outgrown their quarters and need a new building."

TOO MUCH PROPAGANDA BEING SPREAD SAYS LAPP

Newspapers in Trying to Satisfy Reader's Desire, and Anti-Prohibitionists Responsible

"College people must be depended upon to handle the social problems which are confronting us; we need people who can dig down and find the cause; we need those who can get the real truth and who are not afraid to expose a lie when they have found it," exclaimed Dr. John A. Lapp, president of the national welfare society, in his address before assembly, Friday. His subject was entitled, "Some Dangers of Propaganda."

Doctor Lapp went on to say that, our daily newspapers are filled with propaganda. "For example," he says, "we are told that there is a great increase in crime. The people have accepted this as a fact. No one looks to see how things really are. If we would find that such statements are not well founded."

Doctor Lapp gave as reasons why this propaganda is being broadcast, is that the people like to read accounts of crime and, in satisfying their readers' wishes, the newspapers have written a great deal about crime, and also that anti-prohibitionists have tried to "sell" the idea that restriction of the use of liquor from many men have caused them to commit crime.

"It would be absurd to think that prohibition has done this," said Doctor Lapp.

"Propaganda is also being spread in regard to taxes," stated Doctor Lapp. "Our taxes in the United States amount to about one billion dollars per year which is in reality only a slight burden when distributed among a great number of people, over long length of time, and in a country of such vast wealth. Each person seems to think that they must stand the entire burden. The facts are not known."

In conclusion Doctor Lapp said that, although the people had from $4,000 to $5,000 invested in every college graduate, they did not expect to be actually repaid in money but they should be repaid in terms of service. He said, "The best way to give this service is to stand for truth and justice in public affairs and to have willingness to lead where the truth leads us."

JUNIOR LIVESTOCK JUDGING TEAM SELECTED LAST WEEK

Will Compete in National Western Show at Denver January 16—Have Won Three Times

Students who will represent the college on the junior stock judging team in the intercollegiate contest at the National Western Livestock show in Denver, January 16, were selected last week by Prof. F. W. Bell, coach of the junior and senior livestock judging teams in the animal husbandry department.

Members of the team, one of whom will serve as alternate, are E. F. Carr, Byers; Raymond Davis, Effingham; Harold Johnson, Norton; George J. Stewart, Manhattan; C. W. Thole, Stafford; and Howard Bennett. Members of the team are selected from the junior class, and must have had no experience on either the junior or senior judging team. C. W. Thole was a member of the dairy judging team last fall.

In the six years the college has been represented at the contests in Denver, K. S. A. C. teams have placed first three times, second twice, and third once. The team placed second in the contest last year, Miss Mary E. Halse, member of the senior team last fall, placing second in individual ratings.

Freshman Caps Tomorrow
Freshmen will be required to wear their green caps all day tomorrow and at the K. U.-Aggie game tomorrow night in accordance with the action of the K. U. fraternity several weeks ago. The rule will be enforced—by paddle lines, if necessary—according to Harry McGee, president of the fraternity.

NO MORE CUTS FOR "G" SENIORS

COUNCIL OF DEANS MAKES NEW CLASS ATTENDANCE RULING

Seniors Making at Least 32 Points and Average of Two Points Per Hour Effected

Seniors who have made 32 points and an average of not fewer than two points per credit hour of his assignment during the first semester of the present school year will be exempt from the college rule, covering attendance at classes, during the second semester of the same school year, according to an announcement sent out from the president's office January 8.

The council of deans and the president have taken this action as an experiment in giving recognition to superior students by increasing their academic privileges. It is hoped that the results of the experiment will justify an extension of the principle to other students besides seniors.

Effects Only Those Indicated
The rule as passed on by the council of deans is as follows: "Any student regularly classified as a senior during the first semester of the college year 1925-'26 and making, during the semester, a total of not fewer than 32 points, and an average of not fewer than two points per credit hour of his assignment, shall not be subject, during the second semester of the same college year, to the college rule, covering attendance at classes."

The council wishes it to be understood that the rule quoted above does not effect any student except those indicated and that it does not effect college rules except the one requiring regular attendance at classes.

As soon as practicable after the close of the first semester a list of the seniors effected will be published.

DEBATE AT OTTAWA TOMORROW

Freshman Women to Engage in Extemporaneous Contest at O. U.

The freshman women's extemporaneous debate against Ottawa university which was to have been held at Ottawa yesterday, has been postponed until tomorrow. Ritchie, head of the department of public speaking at O. U., requested this change in dates in order to avoid a conflict with other debates.

According to Prof. H. B. Summers, coach of debate, the team that will be sent to Ottawa is made up of Nola Hoover, Mount Hope; Gladys Suiter, Mackville; and Merle Grinstead, Mulvane. Miss Grinstead is a senior. Rules allow anyone who has not had experience in debate to be used on this team.

Other members on the freshman women's squad are Florabel West, Newton; Lucille Taylor, Oswego; Louise Child, Manhattan; Pauline Christenson, Mount Hope; Blanche Myers, Americus; and Glens O'Connell, Oswego.

MORE INTEREST IN FARM LIFE

ROGERS SAYS WAR AND DEFLATION THE CAUSE

Aggie Journalist Tells of Agricultural News in American Dailies at National Meeting

A deepening interest in agricultural and rural news has been one of the notable features of the last decade of American journalism, declared Prof. C. E. Rogers, of the department of industrial journalism, in a paper presented before the annual meeting of the American Association of Teachers of Journalism in New York recently.

The war and agricultural deflation were held responsible for the growing interest in farm and rural life evidenced by the daily press.

"American agriculture was dragged into the limelight with the biggest news event of modern times, the war," asserted Professor Rogers. "Feeding the belligerents and supplying them with agricultural products came in for exploitation as news on a large scale for the first time."

Deflation Big News Story

Then came the deflation of 1920, he said, "bringing rural distress and affecting every American industry, every home. This was even a bigger news story. Part of the agricultural stimulation had been government propaganda; the deflation was a great tragic story not all of which has yet been told."

Another factor which has won front page space for the farmer in the metropolitan press, and which is still a most important factor, is the linking of town and country by modern science: the telephone, the automobile, radio, improved roads and rural free delivery. Better understanding of economic and social interrelations have resulted, city trade territories and newspaper circulation zones have widened, town and country have become neighbors in needs, in tastes.

A study of the treatment of agricultural news in the American daily press was recently completed with the aid of the American Association of Agricultural College Editors, Professor Rogers told his audience. The newspapers, he said, fall into six classifications: (1) The farmer's newspaper, published at the center of an agricultural area and circulating among readers who are wholly dependent economically upon the agriculture of the community; (2) the newspaper which treats all farm copy from the point of view of the city reader; (3) that which treats farm copy from the point of view of the suburban reader; (4) from the point of view of the mail edition or state reader, and (5) from the point of view of both urban and rural readers; and (6), the newspaper which publishes a separate edition weekly or twice a week for rural free delivery readers.

Weak Market Department
The weakest department of the daily newspaper, from the point of view of the farm reader, Professor Rogers declared to be the markets. "Farmers are dependent upon market quotations for data with which to determine the disposition of their products," he asserted. "The well informed business farmer wants complete data, not merely the superficial current quotations concerning prevailing prices of a given commodity. He can get this information only by most diligent search in the market pages of his daily newspaper. The modern farmer's leading interest is the economics of his occupation. He has been forced to a realization of his dependence upon a knowledge of demand and supply factors governing his products. The daily newspaper which is seeking conscientiously to serve a farm reader clientele can best achieve its purpose by presenting in as simple form as possible market information intelligently interpreted from the producer's point of view."

The speaker enumerated nine types of material appearing in daily newspapers as farm copy: news stories of individual experiences of farmers; articles of direct and indirect advice; general agricultural news stories; editorial comment; home making articles; survey articles which mingle news, feature and editorial; markets; questions and answers, and letters from readers.

Earl Johnson, agricultural engineer, 25, visited his parents in Manhattan during the holidays, and was also a visitor at the college. He has a fellowship at the University of Nebraska where he is studying for his master's degree.

A PROGRESSIVE STEP

The president and the council of deans merit the thanks of the entire student body for their recent decision to try removing the "cut" rule of attendance at classes from second semester seniors with a creditable scholastic record. It is to be hoped that those benefited by the new plan will so conduct themselves that it eventually will be extended to cover both upper classes.

The experiment probably will have very little effect on attendance at lectures. It will, however, reward effort by removing a petty nuisance, and serve partially to distinguish those students capable of handling their own affairs from those who have no business in college.

THE RADIO STATION

A change in the policy of the Kansas State radio station is needed if the college is to regain the position of leadership which it once held by virtue of being first from a chronological standpoint in its field. The slump in popularity of Station KSAC cannot be laid to its management since the time the former head of activities was called to Washington, but has been going on every since the novelty of educational broadcasting began to wear off.

The station seldom is heard outside the state except when it broadcasts athletic events, as it is on the air from 6:30 to 7:30, and most radio enthusiasts do not tune in until later in the evening. Neither, incidentally, is the farmer apt to be able to stop his work that early in the evening to listen in.

Part of the lack of popularity may be attributed to the fact that the station is not listed with any of the national, or even mid-western broadcasting time tables which are published weekly. It also may be, that the publicity measures used have not been effective.

Since the legislature, after building the station, refused to appropriate funds to carry on its work, control of the programs are in the hands of men who already have too much to do.

But whatever the handicaps under which it labors, the fact remains that Station KSAC is not and cannot be highly successful under the policy it has maintained the past year.

It is wonderful to see the happy childish faces appear on the campus once more again. The wonderful stories that are told; wild and hectic nights; blissful nights; intoxicating nights; and too, glorious days!

But some of you will be wanting your pin back before many days have passed.

The New Year's resolutions are nice to make, but darn hard to keep.

That wonderful person you made love to while away is making love to someone else now; why remain in love?

Probably if you had a long distance to travel back to school, you only loved her for the first thousand miles.

Mine lasted 500 miles, and then I slept it off.

I didn't have a pin; but there are other things that take the place of the pin.

Therefore, I have RESOLVED: That the day after the night before equals a dark brown taste.

That an ass is a man who allows a wonderful person; a fireside and conglomeration of other things conquer discretion.

That poker is ungentlemanly.

That shoes purchased with money won at dice will hurt one's feet.

That prohibition is necessary.

That I'm darn glad that Christmas holidays are past.

That I've been a darn fool.

That I'm glad to be back.

THEREFORE,

Come down out of the clouds and get your feet on terra firma.

H. L. P.:

You're right and also wrong. I know one that can blush like they did it back in '89. She's an exception for I know many more that make me blush. Webster defines blushing as: suffusion of the face caused by exhilaration of the heart; usually seen in the female of the specie. Webster's unabridged further states that the word blush has become obsolete since the advent of rouge and the 20th century female. Best data I can gather for you.

A fulcrum for every modern Archimedes

"GIVE me a fulcrum—and I will move the earth" said Archimedes: Too bad that he lived twenty-two hundred years too soon.

For you modern followers of Archimedes, you men who apply his well known principles in the study of mechanical engineering, the fulcrum is ready. If a part in helping the earth to move appeals to you, look for your fulcrum in the communication art.

A world of possibilities opens up here for the man whose bent is mechanical. Distances shrink because mechanical engineers have found how to draw well-nigh every bit of air out of a repeater tube. A million telephones are made—and the millionth is like the first because mechanical ingenuity has shown the way. Quantity production in a great telephone plant calls for constant improvement in mechanical technique.

Every day is a day of new facts, new things, new achievements by mechanical and electrical engineers. Nothing stands still. Here the world does move.

A Few Cents Puts this Chemist on Your Payroll

MIXING a livestock or poultry ration is largely a matter of chemistry.

If every feeder had this expert chemist and his equipment to test ingredients for protein, minerals and carbohydrates then he would be sure his home mixed ration was properly balanced.

Chemists and chemical laboratories are too expensive to have one in every barn. But any feeder can purchase the service of a whole corps of expert chemists by buying Purina Chows in Checkerboard Bags.

For a few extra cents any feeder can put the Purina chemists on his payroll and thus insure a ration that is always scientifically balanced and always of the same high quality ingredients.

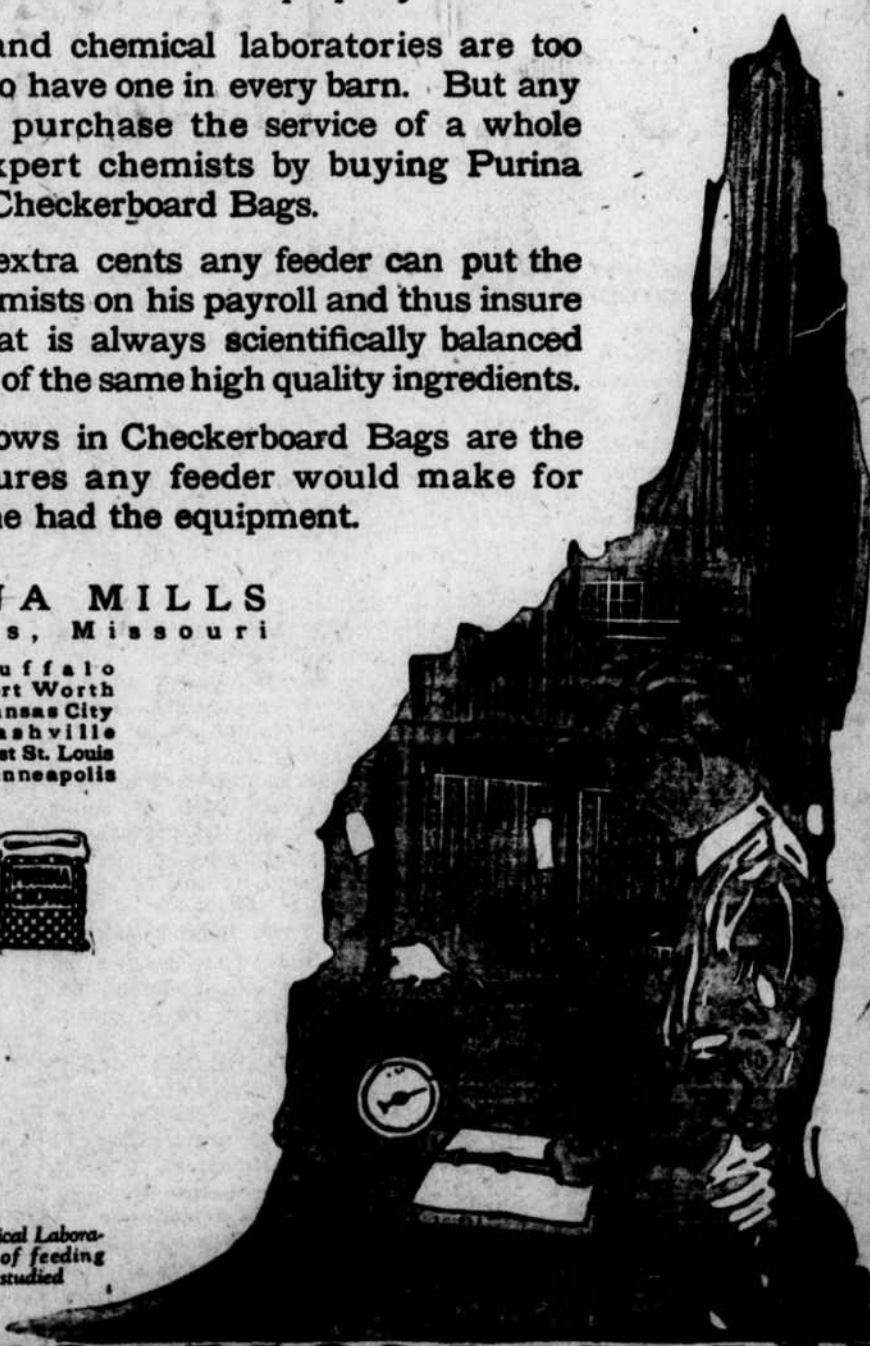

Purina Chows in Checkerboard Bags are the very mixtures any feeder would make for himself if he had the equipment.

SHAKEUP IN FIRST DIVISION

KAPPA PHI ALPHA LOSES LAST TWO GAMES

B. H. S., Alpha Rho Chi, and Kappa Phi Members of Triumvirate in First Bracket

Intramural basketball opened the new year with a bracket of lukewarm encounters Thursday night, January 7, followed by a few engagements of a higher temperature Saturday afternoon.

First division standings, verging on a shakeup after the closing games of 1925, have undergone a radical rearrangement as a result of games last week. Kappa Phi Alpha was deposed from the lead that has been theirs for a greater part of the season, losing to Omega Tau Epsilon Wednesday, and Alpha Rho Chi Saturday. Alpha Rho Chi is equal in the standings with Kappa Phi Alpha as a result of their Saturday win. Both these teams should have defeated their scheduled opponents in final intramural conflicts last night to end the first division race in a tie.

B. H. S. Crew in Race

In the meantime a comparatively obscure team has emerged from the background to make itself formidably felt in the race. The B. H. S. crew, which has through most of the season been quietly engaged in recovering from a bad start, by dint of two topheavy victories, slipped into a tie with the leader.

In less significant games last week, the Blue Devil five defeated Beta Pi Epsilon with a baseball score, 4 to 3, and Alpha Sigma Psi beat the Farm House combination 24 to 4. A third game, the Sigma Phi Sigma-Bluemont clash, resolved into a fairly fast tussle with Nash, star forward of the Sigma Phi entry, being mainly responsible for a last half rally that brought his team from behind to win, 19-15.

B. H. S. outclassed their Saturday adversaries, Beta Pi Epsilon, in every phase of the game. Their encounter with the B. P. Es provided the best exhibition of fancy looping and floorwork yet seen on the intramural floor.

BETAS ARE CHAMPIONS IN NATIONAL FRATERNITY GROUP

Win from Sig Eps 40 to 25 in Final Game Friday Night

Displaying an all-powerful offensive the Beta Theta Pi intramural basketball leaders in second division standings, overwhelmed Sigma Phi Epsilon 40 to 25 in their match Friday, January 8, to decide the championship of the national fraternity group. The Beta cagers will play the winner of the as yet undecided first division chase for the college title.

From the opening to final whistle the Beta machine maintained a steady and at times brilliant attack, completely demoralizing the opening Sigma Ep defensive. The Sigma Ep attack was smothered by the weight of the Beta offensive play, and confined to occasional long shots. At half-time the Sigma Eps had scored from the floor only thrice, a 20 to 7 chalking telling the trend of the game.

The entire Beta team starred in the second half, which was, excepting for an improved Sig Ep showing, a repetition of the first two quarters, with the score lengthened to 40 to 25.
